

The Growth 545

Chapter 545 - 15: Artificial God Plan

"..."

Feeling slightly awkward, she watched the interaction between A Lang and Flora.

Yu Wei considered herself quite worldly, yet she had never met someone as... pure as A Lang.

Yes, after thinking for a long time, Yu Wei could only use the word "pure" to describe A Lang.

Whether it was his complete obsession with the Sword Dao, or his way of speaking without any malice...

All proved that he was not an ordinary person; at least, his mindset had transcended that of ordinary people.

"Since you were introduced by Quan Ke, you must have already familiarized yourself with our little shop, right?"

After routinely correcting A Lang's wording, Flora turned her curious gaze upon Yu Wei once more.

"What do you want to buy? Visitor from the Otherworld!"

The awkwardness on her face suddenly turned into surprise as Yu Wei stared at Flora for a long time.

Since arriving in this world, it was the first time someone so directly revealed her identity.

Moreover, from the tone and words of the other person, she didn't seem to be probing like Quan Ke, but indeed knew her origin.

"I want to restore my cultivation, restore my power."

After a brief moment of surprise, Yu Wei spoke this way.

"If you can't do that, then make it so I have the power to participate in the upcoming war."

This time, it was Flora's turn to be somewhat surprised, her eyes widening. She thought the person from the Otherworld before her would at least argue for a couple of sentences?

"You even know about the upcoming war?"

"It seems you have an unusual relationship with Quan Ke? He has taken a liking to you?"

Such blunt questioning instantly made Yu Wei's expression freeze. She seemed to understand why Quan Ke always had that expression when talking about this proprietress.

No, not just this blunt proprietress, the proprietor was the same.

It's only reasonable that the two of them ended up together.

"If you want to restore your power, or even become stronger, that's no problem."

"But since you were introduced by Quan Ke, you should know the rules of our shop, right?"

"What do you intend to exchange for this power?"

As Flora mentioned, when dealing with special customers like Yu Wei, this shop doesn't deal in cash payments.

As the Guardian of the Divine Treasure Vault, one of A Lang's duties is to collect treasures from all over the world.

Only if Yu Wei could offer equivalent treasures would Flora choose to help her restore her power, or even become stronger.

"I indeed have nothing on me that could catch your interest."

"But, what if I use this to pay?"

As expected, Yu Wei calmly turned her palm, and a Creation Gold Coin appeared in her hand.

The moment the Creation Gold Coin appeared, A Lang, who was immersed in Swordsmanship, immediately stood up.

Even Flora was surprised as she looked at the Creation Gold Coin in Yu Wei's hand, unable to regain her composure for a long time.

"Deal!"

After a brief silence, Flora agreed to the transaction without hesitation.

At the same time, Flora finally understood why even with her identity as the God of the Star River, she couldn't completely grasp the origin of the woman before her.

It turned out the other party possessed a token from the Creator and was someone who once gained the Creator's favor.

.....

Luo Fu is a genius among the Immortals, but also a restless character.

Especially when Balian had no time to restrain her, she decisively brought along her Contractor, Bone Chant, with whom she shared life, and joined the "Artificial God Plan" led by the Mountain and Sea Civilization.

Bone Chant is the second leader of the Mountain and Sea Civilization and also an extremely outstanding researcher.

During Bone Chant's tenure, it led a series of transformative research for the Mountain and Sea Civilization, being idolized by the entire civilization as a result.

If Bone Chant had the desire to become a deity, it might have long become the God of Science or the God of Research for the Mountain and Sea Civilization.

Even so, when the "Artificial God Plan" secreted by Tianyou encountered difficulties, it still chose to seek Bone Chant's help.

Honestly speaking, Bone Chant itself didn't really want to participate in the "Artificial God Plan."

Because Bone Chant is by nature a person from the Outer Realm, a parasitic beast and shapeshifter from the Marz World.

If not for the Creator's tolerance, Bone Chant wouldn't have been able to survive in the Mountain and Sea Realm, let alone become the second leader of the Mountain and Sea Civilization.

For any research project involving encroaching upon the Creator's domain, Bone Chant was unwilling to partake.

Even though everyone knew that the Creator wasn't so concerned about these matters, it was, after all, Bone Chant's bottom line.

However, ever since it signed the Immortal Technique contract with Luo Fu, Bone Chant rarely disobeyed her wishes.

This wasn't due to any contractual or brainwashing effects.

Simply because Bone Chant cherished this Immortal who gave him "new life" and "immortality" very dearly.

In Bone Chant's eyes, Luo Fu, whose mind could never mature, was its closest family, regardless of what she wanted to do, it would always back her up.

So, despite knowing that the Mountain and Sea Civilization's "Artificial God Plan" wasn't very reliable.

Bone Chant still joined this unreliable research plan upon Luo Fu's pleading and coquetry.

Yet it wasn't until Bone Chant glimpsed the full picture of the "Artificial God Plan" that it realized how heretical the Mountain and Sea Civilization had become under Tianyou's leadership.

In Bone Chant's initial imagination, the so-called "Artificial God Plan" was most likely researching shortcuts to divinity.

For example, exploring the limits of the Ascension Ladder...

Or further researching the high-dimensional nature of Gods...

At most, using technological means to create individuals with Divine-like Power...

But what Bone Chant never expected was that the "Artificial God Plan" led by Tianyou actually aimed to grant mortals the power to slay Gods!

It wasn't about researching becoming a deity or how to enable more people to embark on the Ascension Ladder.

The plan under Tianyou's lead was to create a Divine Armament that even ordinary mortals could use!

Most crucially, this "Artificial God Plan" had already secretly entered the experimental stage.

Next, all they needed was to select suitable candidates who could use this Divine Armament and collect enough data.

The "Artificial God Plan" could then proceed to the next phase, realizing true mass production.

Without exaggeration, in today's Mountain and Sea Civilization, perhaps only a fearless leader like Tianyou would have the audacity to advance the "Artificial God Plan" to this stage.
