

The Growth 561

Chapter 561 - 31: Fishing with a Straight Hook

"From a personal perspective, let me kindly remind you..."

"The system you're currently using has actually surpassed the scope of 'Implant' and is closer to a full-body 'Prosthetic Modification'."

Looking at the indifferent Yu Wei, Duo Mu couldn't help but give her a reminder.

"Your body can break through its limits and grow infinitely because each part has been implanted with various functional implants."

"They cannot directly enhance your abilities, but they can gradually transform your body."

"And with such a large number of functional implants, aside from the Skeletons, you are the first in the Mountain and Sea Realm."

The initial technology for implants originated from the Skeletons.

Due to the unique nature of the Skeletons, they have no biological structures except for their bones.

So continually implanting various biological structures has no effect on them.

This is why the products of implant technology are called 'Implants' and not 'Prosthetic Modifications'.

But for Yu Wei, who has normal biological structures, small-scale implanting of 'Implants' is fine.

However, such a large-scale implantation of 'Implants' might lead to unforeseen side effects waiting for her.

"I know, that's also the reason why that leader chose me, isn't it?"

Still smiling, Yu Wei glanced at Duo Mu and added nonchalantly.

"Because I'm not a Mountain and Sea Person, I'm just an unnoticed Foreigner..."

"And since this was my personal request, it made experimenting with this 'theoretically feasible' system on me without burden possible."

This time it was Duo Mu's turn to be surprised while looking at Yu Wei.

"So you knew, huh? Seems I've been meddling unnecessarily."

Raising an eyebrow in surprise, Yu Wei was somewhat curious about Duo Mu's attitude.

"It's not meddling."

"I'm just surprised that someone like you would actively remind me..."

"Truly deserving of being called the 'Eldest Son of God' race, there's no prejudice against even a Foreigner like me."

Whether due to shyness or not wanting to continue entangling with Yu Wei on this issue.

Duo Mu turned to look at the distant frontline battlefield and decisively changed the subject.

"You just said, this war initiated by the Demon King is a trap, so who is the 'prey' he wants to catch?"

Faced with Duo Mu's question, Yu Wei's thoughts returned to the current situation.

"I have a suspicion, but I'm still not quite sure..."

Narrowing her eyes in slight hesitation, Yu Wei quickly activated the memory recall function of the [Brain-Machine Implant].

Scenes from the past flashed like images deep in her mind, finally stopping at the last moment of her former self's fight to the death with Haoguang.

Since learning of the Sun Star Monarch's reappearance, Yu Wei had been pondering the Sun Star Monarch's identity.

First dismissing the real Sun Star Monarch because Yu Wei had witnessed his death and confirmed this ironclad fact over the following two hundred years.

So who was targeting the Celestial Beings under the guise of the 'Sun Star Monarch' after their return?

Though it seemed inconceivable, Yu Wei at once thought of Haoguang, who theoretically should have already died.

If she could be resurrected with the Creator's help, why would Haoguang be definitively dead?

After all, when the Sun Star Monarch was alive, Haoguang was known for his 'Fortune' and 'fear of death.'

As long as no one witnessed the dissipation of his Primordial Spirit, no one dared to assume he was dead.

So the question now was.

If this current Sun Star Monarch is indeed Haoguang.

Why would the Demon King hidden within the Ten Thousand Mountains go to such lengths to set a trap to draw him out?

According to normal logic, shouldn't these returning Celestial Beings continue to hide their tracks and quietly aid more in returning?

"I also have a guess, should we share our guesses?"

Suddenly lowering his voice in excitement, Duo Mu's unserious attitude remained unchanged.

Thankfully, Yu Wei had no such interest, rolling her eyes and revealing her suspicion.

"It's the Sun Star Monarch. The Demon King's trap is set to lure the Sun Star Monarch."

The excitement on his face dropped instantly, and Duo Mu glanced at Yu Wei in disappointment, speaking sarcastically.

"You're as much of a buzzkill as the Celestial Monarch Yan, I'll definitely introduce you two next time."

Before his voice died away, a dazzling light suddenly burst from the sky.

Whoosh!

As if another sun appeared in the sky.

The blazing light appeared from the horizon to before their eyes in an instant, its speed and intensity capturing the attention of everyone on the battlefield.

"It really was that guy, falling so easily for the trap!"

Whether in shock or frustration...

Yu Wei could not have imagined that such a simple trap would truly draw him out.

What happened next further validated the speculations of Yu Wei and Duo Mu from all angles.

Boom!

With a huge explosion, an angry roar echoed from deep within the Ten Thousand Mountains.

"Haha, you came just in time!"

"Whether you are the real Sun Star Monarch or not, I've been waiting for you for a long time!"

Massive mountain peaks rose into the sky, and vast Primordial Qi shook the eight directions.

The Demon King, who single-handedly stirred Primordial Qi tides in the Celestial Human Realm, officially appeared, showing might not much inferior to Haoguang.

Bang!!!

In a flash of lightning, a colossal mountain range clashed with the golden light falling from the sky.

As both sides' power far surpassed mortal limits, they equaled the Gods in unparalleled existence.

Thus, when the "Mountain Shifting and Mountain Overturning Skill" collided with the "Vertical Earth Golden Light Technique," countless debris fell from the sky like raindrops, covering an area of a thousand miles in an instant.

The one thing to be thankful for is that both sides maintained their rationality, preventing the fallout from affecting the frontline battlefield.

Nevertheless, when mountains flew from the depths of the Ten Thousand Mountains into the sky, and dazzling golden light like the sun shot from the heavens, this mythical battle became the decisive force in determining the course of the war.

When Celestial power manifests in the world, its might exceeded anything mortals could imagine.

In fact, this far-exceeding battle image with Haoguang's every past interception of celestial descents was rapidly transmitted into the eyes of various major forces.

Only at this moment did people realize that Haoguang had never really exerted full power in his past battles.
