

The Growth 563

Chapter 563 - 33: Demon King's True Form: The Shadow-Covering Dragon Bird!

Boom! Boom! Boom!

For the moment, let's not discuss the little schemes of those Celestial Beings.

The battle between the Demon King and Haoguang was intense from the very start.

But the more he fought, the more shocked Haoguang became.

Compared to other Celestial Beings who descended to the world, this Demon King was abnormally strong.

The "Mountain Shifting and Mountain Overturning Skill" was wielded with ease, and the entire Ten Thousand Mountains served as his arsenal, with thrown mountains even breaking the sound barrier.

Fortunately, Haoguang had perfected the "Vertical Earth Golden Light Technique," allowing him to traverse through the mountains within milliseconds.

When necessary, turning into light and escaping into the mountains was not beyond possibility.

Unfortunately, the Demon King had clearly seen through Haoguang's intentions.

Realizing that ordinary attack methods couldn't suppress his opponent, the Demon King began hurling mountains towards the human lines and villages behind Haoguang.

Forced into a corner, Haoguang had no choice but to confront the Demon King directly, slowly depleting his own Primordial Qi.

As for the Demon King, though his Primordial Qi was far superior to Haoguang's, he didn't care at all, focusing solely on weakening his opponent's power.

[He wants to capture me alive...]

Realizing this, Haoguang felt a real sense of crisis for the first time.

However, recognizing it was one thing, but Haoguang knew he couldn't stand by and watch the Demon King hurl mountains at the mortals behind him.

Because he was no longer the mortal who was used to avoiding.

Now, Haoguang was the Inheritor of the Sun Star Monarch, the true Second Generation Sun Star Monarch.

Having experienced life and death, and reaching an epiphany, Haoguang understood that many things were more important than life and death in this world.

Reflecting on this, Haoguang finally gathered into a human form in the sky again, with a halo behind his head radiating like the sun, faintly exuding a thread of sacredness.

"I knew it, it's you!"

Gazing at the halo behind Haoguang's head, the Demon King paused his actions timely and shouted in high spirits.

The Demon King knew he had gambled correctly this time.

The Sun Star Monarch before him was indeed the most treasured "Treasure" of this world, the long-sought "singular existence of all realms" by the Godslayer Civilization.

"Hand over the 'Heavenly Father's Treasure' in your possession!"

"Perhaps, in the name of that treasure, I'll let the mortals behind you continue to survive in this world!"

Looking at the Demon King with a calm face, Haoguang showed no sign of surprise.

After learning the name [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] from Li Hao's mouth, Haoguang had been searching for the secret information about Sun Hunter Ra in the [Civilization Game].

Even though Haoguang hadn't collected all the information about the Fourth Celestial Father, he knew the Supreme Treasure he possessed.

In fact, this was also an important reason why Haoguang, despite having interacted with the Mountain and Sea Civilization, remained wary of it.

The Mountain and Sea Civilization wasn't the Creator, after all, and no one could guarantee that they wouldn't have some ill thoughts regarding his [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin].

Born as a mortal, Haoguang never liked to gamble on human nature.

It was true in the past, true now, and would be true in the future...

"I never trust the promises of invaders, especially those selfish Celestial Beings like you."

Speaking his mind calmly, seemingly having made a decision, Haoguang reached into his chest.

"What are you trying to do?"

Feeling a sudden sense of dread, the Demon King unhesitatingly revealed his true form.

"Roar!"

It was a Dragon Bird with fiery wings on its back and surrounded by ominous black flames.

Its massive size overshadowed the sky, turning the entire sky into a realm of darkness cloaked in shadow the moment it appeared.

Under this dark shadow, Haoguang became the sole light.

What this Black Flame Dragon Bird intended to do next was to completely swallow this one and only light, taking away the "singular existence of all heavens" coveted by the Godslayer Civilization.

"You bastard! What do you think you're doing?"

At the critical moment, Yu Wei's voice suddenly came from below.

A moment later, her figure tore through the sky like lightning, punching the Dragon Bird fiercely on its beak.

Boom!

The force of this punch was so powerful that even the Dragon Bird, weighing thousands of pounds, was uncontrollably knocked back for a long distance before it could barely disperse the force of the punch.

However, Yu Wei was not Haoguang.

Her combat style was renowned for its ferocity, long accustomed to overpowering and overwhelming strength.

The saying "kick them while they're down" was a creed Yu Wei firmly upheld, as she again closed in rapidly, delivering another punch to the Dragon Bird's jaw.

Whoosh!

This time, the Dragon Bird finally reacted, unfurling its wings to stir up a violent whirlwind.

The terrifying storm turned mountains to grit, reducing everything to dust...

Everywhere the eye reached, the black storm mixed with the power of flames seemed to ignite the sky and earth simultaneously.

In such a dire scene, even someone as formidable as Yu Wei had no choice but to retreat three feet to avoid being swept into the storm and black flames.

"You... Yu Wei?"

Not until then did Haoguang see the newcomer clearly, his jaw dropping in shock.

Though the other had drastically altered her physical appearance, that familiar feeling from the Primordial Spirit made Haoguang immediately recognize Yu Wei's identity.

"I don't know what the 'Heavenly Father's Treasure' that guy is talking about refers to..."

"I also don't want to delve into whether these Celestial Beings came for you..."

"All I want to tell you now is that it's not yet time to give up entirely."

"If you have a last straw to break the stalemate, at least wait until he's defeated me before using it!"

To be honest, if it weren't for seeing that familiar determination in Haoguang's face, Yu Wei never would have shown up at this moment.

Because that determination reminded Yu Wei of the former Sun Star Monarch and his actions to send her away before the final battle.

"I never thought we'd have a day to fight side by side again."

Obediently withdrawing his hand from his chest, Haoguang's memory returned to two hundred years ago.

Back then, Yu Wei was always like this, showing up on time whenever he was in danger, and then fighting alongside him to face the crisis.

"Hmph! I just don't want you to die so easily."

With a disdainful snort, Yu Wei's cold eyes swept over Haoguang, finally resting again on the Dragon Bird opposite them.

"If you're really going to die, it should only be by my hands!"

Facing Yu Wei's harsh words, Haoguang merely smiled calmly and then turned his gaze to the Dragon Bird opposite.

"Now it's two against one, and it seems the scales of victory are beginning to tip in our favor."