

The Growth 568

Chapter 568 - 38: The True Sun God

"Celestial Human Realm... What has happened?"

Standing blankly in front of the large screen of the "Heaven Peeping Array," Tianyou looked at the images from the Celestial Human Realm with a face full of astonishment.

In Tianyou's hand, a [Creation Gold Coin] was tightly clutched.

This [Creation Gold Coin] came from Haoguang, thrown out before he decided to perish together with the Twisted Beast.

Because Haoguang had previously promised to use the [Creation Gold Coin] to exchange for assistance from the Mountain and Sea Civilization.

Though Haoguang had an eccentric and lazy disposition, he was never someone who broke his promises.

Thus, at the moment of final decision, Haoguang chose to return the [Creation Gold Coin] to the Mountain and Sea Civilization, keeping his promise.

"Is that the Celestial Human Realm?"

"This is completely different from what we previously observed!"

Equally shocked, Chi Qiu and Celestial Decree remembered vividly that the Celestial Human Realm they had seen before was not like this.

From a vast macro perspective, the Celestial Human Realm seemed like a marble on the verge of shattering.

Sky, earth, ocean...

Space-time rifts could be seen everywhere throughout the world, fall into one if careless.

In fact, many mortals and cultivators had already fallen into those space-time rifts, entering other time-spaces entangled with the Celestial Human Realm.

These time-spaces were not always complete worlds.

Many were just fragments of time-space that couldn't even be called worlds.

Due to the curse of the Chaos Seventeen Ancestors, the Celestial Human Realm, which originally had unstable time-space barriers, suddenly became a hub connecting All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

Especially those worlds already associated with the Celestial Human Realm discovered a new time-space channel leading to it.

Truth be told, if the Celestial Human Realm were a normal world, it would be absolutely impossible for so many space-time rifts to appear.

No world could simultaneously connect with so many worlds and time-spaces.

Let alone use it as a coordinate to completely connect two worlds.

However, those ascended celestial beings from the Celestial Human Realm were themselves "living coordinates" able to connect with the realm itself.

So, when the curse of the Chaos Seventeen Ancestors took effect, every time-space where celestial beings had appeared spontaneously intersected with the Celestial Human Realm.

This is the reason the Celestial Human Realm became so riddled with holes.

If such conditions are allowed to persist, the Celestial Human Realm will sooner or later be torn apart by the frequently appearing space-time rifts.

When that time comes, the Celestial Human Realm will become countless fragments of time-space, losing even the qualification to fall into the [Fallen Area].

Fortunately, the Celestial Human Realm's fate was not sealed.

Just as the world was on the brink of shattering, Haoguang transformed into a "Great Sun" to stabilize those space-time rifts.

Despite more space-time rifts continually appearing, it at least bought time to delay the complete breakage of the Celestial Human Realm.

In the Celestial Human Realm, countless creatures looked up at the sky.

They were either mortals, cultivators, demons, or immortal spirits...

No matter what identity they previously had, or what stance they held, they now gazed at the sky with shock and devotion at the newly appeared "Great Sun."

Compared to the original high-above sun of the Celestial Human Realm, this newly appeared "Great Sun" was so close to the earth, nearly within arm's reach.

However, those witnessing the birth of this "Great Sun" knew it was the "Boundary-Protecting Divine Artifact" formed by the Sun Star Monarch sacrificing his life.

As the curse of the Chaos Seventeen Ancestors descended, Haoguang had long realized the impending fate of the Celestial Human Realm.

Having already embraced the intent to die, he almost without hesitation, reforged all the Ancient Egyptian Divine Artifacts he exchanged with the [Sun-Hunting Gold Coin] into one.

Tutankhamun Mask, Eye of Horus, Death Balance, Mummy's Coffin...

As each artifact merged into Haoguang's body, his power began to soar infinitely, seemingly without end.

But as the price of forcibly boosting his power, Haoguang's body and will began to mutate.

His body transformed into a true sun...

His will changed into the rules that sustain the sun's movement...

When the "Great Sun" officially took shape, Haoguang as a human, a cultivator, a Second Generation Sun Star Monarch, had disappeared, replaced by a new Power of Dimension, Primordial Power.

This is the dimension symbolizing "Life," the power capable of nurturing a true Sun God.

[Unfortunately, this is the most I can do...]

Before his will vanished at the last moment, Haoguang regrettably sighed.

Even though he forcibly used the power of so many Ancient Egyptian Divine Artifacts...

Even though he reignited the faith of the Sun God amidst the crisis of world destruction...

This level of struggle was still not enough to save the Celestial Human Realm from impending doom, nor even seal those space-time rifts.

The only consolation was that Haoguang's self-sacrifice enabled the Celestial Human Realm, which had been robbed of all Primordial Power, to regain a new dimension.

As long as the remaining space-time rifts get resolved, the Celestial Human Realm would gradually proceed towards glory again.

[Yu Wei, the coming matters can only be entrusted to you.]

The Great Sun formed by Haoguang began to rotate at this moment, like a real sun moving away from the earth.

"You damn fool... don't make such decisions on your own!"

Like a ferocious beast, the Celestial Child crawled out from the depths of the earth.

Yu Wei, with wide eyes, looked at the slowly ascending Great Sun, growling in a suppressed voice.

"When did I ever agree to handle such trouble for you?"

"You are as stubborn and stupid as Bai Xiao, completely clueless about people's hearts!"

No matter how Yu Wei shouted or roared, the Haoguang that had completely transformed into the Great Sun could no longer hear.

A new vitality was brewing in the Celestial Human Realm, and all cultivators felt a new kind of "Qi" being born.

This Primordial Qi was so abundant, so astonishing...

It felt like returning to the Celestial Human Realm's peak period, before the arrival of the End of the Dharma.

Any cultivator could easily utilize this Primordial Qi to break through their current limits.

Unfortunately, accompanying this "Qi" was a rule, a rule to maintain the Celestial Human Realm's normal operation — Celestial Tribulation.

Anyone daring to perform the Ascension ritual again, forcibly seizing the Primordial Power originally belonging to the Celestial Human Realm,

This "Qi" would transform into a calamity, descending to kill them, converting their millennia of cultivation back into Primordial Qi to nourish the Celestial Human Realm.
