

The Growth 587

Chapter 587 - 57: Causal Law Weapon

In fact, upon discovering the Celestial Human Realm, Li Hao found the world that nurtured the Celestial Human Civilization to be somewhat abnormal.

Li Hao's initial impression of the Celestial Human Civilization was that they used the curse of "Celestial Five Declines" to kill the Long-Eyed God, even further infecting the world created by the Long-Eyed God.

If it weren't for the Long-Eyed God's powerful strength, forcibly transforming into the Void Divine Hall, they would have been doomed to fall into the Fallen Area.

Li Hao might not have encountered the Long-Eyed God's incarnation, nor followed the clues to find those Ancient Celestial Monarchs.

Who is the Long-Eyed God?

He is the Creator who has existed since ancient times!

To kill such an ancient Creator, the overall strength of the Celestial Human Civilization must have reached a corresponding level, right?

However, according to what Li Hao had observed, the Celestial Human Civilization seemed to be a rather ordinary Hero's Civilization.

Forget about the Supreme God level Creators, they had very few individuals of Main God level.

This was clearly abnormal and even extremely incongruous.

Li Hao once attempted to use the Celestial Tao System to trace back the past of the Celestial Human Realm, but this trace was blocked at a certain time node.

Li Hao originally thought that it was a certain god in charge of time within the Celestial Human Civilization who deliberately sealed the relevant history of the Celestial Human Realm, forming a special closed loop of time.

This kind of manipulation is not uncommon, especially for divine level civilizations that control the power of space-time.

Sealing off the vulnerable beginnings of their civilizations to prevent other civilizations with the same power from exploiting and subverting one's timeline is a perfectly normal tactic.

But the problem is, in the subsequent history with the timeline sealed, the Celestial Human Civilization still doesn't seem that powerful?

Forget about being able to curse and kill the Long-Eyed God; even the Celestial Human who sealed the timeline never appeared again.

Hmm, if that Celestial Human indeed existed.

It wasn't until the birth of the Human Path that Li Hao realized that his preconceived notions had ultimately affected his judgment.

Because the blocked past wasn't actually the work of a God of Time, nor was it the fragile period of the Celestial Human Civilization's early days.

Quite the opposite, it was the turning point of the Celestial Human Civilization from prosperity to decline.

To fight against the gods ruling the world in ancient times, besides a few choosing to ascend, many Celestials studied how to kill God.

As for the final result of that resistance?

It can be seen from the current state of the Celestial Human Realm.

The gods' rule was ended, and the Celestial Human Civilization survived.

Yet there's a critical question Li Hao had previously overlooked—why did the Celestials continue to ascend?

Clearly, the gods' rule was over, seemingly leaving the Celestials with no reason for further ascension.

This led to a new possibility.

As long as the Celestials did not ascend, the Celestial Human Realm likely wouldn't have entered the current End of the Dharma era.

What happened from the end of the gods' rule to the Celestials still choosing to ascend?

What drove the remaining Celestials to continue choosing ascension?

Until it became a habit and custom.

The answer is the demise of the Heavenly Dao.

The Celestial Human Realm's Heavenly Dao wasn't the Creator or the will of the Celestial Human Realm.

It was a "Causal Law Weapon" created by the Celestial Human Civilization at its peak to destroy the gods, concentrating the will of all beings.

—Concentrating the will of all beings, forcibly twisting the world's rules.

Those powerful Celestials fundamentally destroyed the possibility of gods' birth, making it impossible for the Celestial Human Realm to give birth to Natural Gods again.

Even due to disdain towards the gods, the conventional Ascension Ladder was discarded, replaced by the increasingly perfected Tao of Celestial and Human.

—Having the power of gods but not bearing the responsibility of gods.

This is the path the Celestials had always pursued, and the pride of the Celestial Human Civilization at its peak.

The Long-Eyed God encountered the Celestial Human Civilization during this period and was finally cursed by that Causal Law Weapon known as "Heavenly Dao," falling into the extreme plight of the Celestial Five Declines.

Afterward, something unknown happened in the Celestial Human Realm.

Perhaps they encountered an unbeatable enemy, or maybe it was their own internal strife among the Celestials...

Of course, the biggest possibility might involve some secrets related to the Fourth Celestial Father—Sun Hunter Ra.

After all, everything currently happening in the Celestial Human Realm is directly or indirectly related to that Sun-Hunting Gold Coin left by Sun Hunter Ra.

All in all, the Heavenly Dao was destroyed during the Celestial Human Civilization's prime, causing it to decline, and the past history was sealed off together.

[So, is someone restarting...]

[No, more accurately, it should be reforging that Causal Law Weapon?]

.....

Chaos Region, battlefield edge.

With the descent of the true form of Wanbian Demon Monarch, the world fell into silence.

Whether Celestials, cultivators, or Mountain and Sea People, they all seemed so fragile and small before that absolute pressure.

However, not everyone submitted to the majesty of Wanbian Demon Monarch.

"Bring peace to the world!"

"Raise civilization high, commoners!"

Accompanied by a high-pitched and abrupt roar.

Bai Shasheng, who was always at the front lines of the war, formally sounded the horn of desperate counterattack.

Under the quiet might of the gods, Bai Shasheng appeared so unique with resolute determination and a firm expression.

So unique that even the true form of Wanbian Demon Monarch couldn't help but cast a gaze upon that mortal who dared to resist him.

"Kill! Kill! Kill!"

"Expel the Evil God!"

"Return to peace!"

As if responding to Bai Shasheng's roar.

The camp of Taiping Taoist Soldiers was first to inspire by it, moving again in full force.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

The sound of firearms and cannons was deafening, and the visible brilliance of the Human Path emanated from the Taiping Taoist Soldiers.

Subsequently, the world began to respond to the will of these Taiping Taoist Soldiers.

The mountains shook, the earth quaked, and the wind howled...

The once outwardly expanding Chaos Region was suddenly thwarted by the world's instinctive counterattack.

The "Space-Time Secret Wheel" above Wanbian Demon Monarch's head even ceased to rotate and change, as if caught by a real gear.

"How... possible..."

This was the first time Wanbian Demon Monarch had shown such a shocked expression since his descent into the world.

A mere End of the Dharma World, capable of gathering the will of all beings again at a moment of crisis.

In fact, the resistance of the Taiping Taoist Soldiers was just the beginning.

When the radiance of the Human Path spread from the Taiping Taoist Soldiers.

Every life form touched by this light felt empowered with strong belief and strength.

Especially those who acknowledged and practiced the ideology of the Taiping Taoist Soldiers.

Regardless of whether they were Celestials, mortals, cultivators, or Mountain and Sea People, they all unwittingly developed a heroic spirit and determination to fight heaven and earth, unwilling to concede.

——Distorting rules, inverting causality.

——Disregarding facts, being idealistic and egoistic.

As long as beings make a wish, they can achieve results.

It's not because they gained belief and strength that they could repel Wanbian Demon Monarch.

But because they would inevitably repel Wanbian Demon Monarch, they obtained their current belief and strength.
