

The Growth 611

Chapter 611 21: Artificial God·Nuo God

It turns out that when the Mountain and Sea People of the Combat Sequence no longer care about the potential destruction they might cause, they display an overwhelming strength that is almost one-sidedly crushing.

The steel ground cracked, towering buildings began to collapse...

A variety of powerful weapons, whether individual or collective, emerged in an endless stream, almost pressing down upon the Cat-headed Wizard and the Armored Apostle relentlessly.

The Cat-headed Wizard was fine, having long known the formidable power of these Mountain and Sea People through certain future fragments it controlled with the Power of Space-Time.

But it was different for the Armored Apostle, which was knocked down almost immediately by an Incarnation of Marquis Yi.

Unrestrained and unrestricted, Marquis Yi this time utilized not only his own Five Colored Divine Light but also the Standard Combat Implants of the Mountain and Sea People.

The Scanning Implant that can briefly predict actions...

The Autonomous Implant with an independent combat mode...

The Enhancing Implant that can significantly boost one's abilities in a short period...

These implants, each with distinct yet universally powerful functions, combined with Marquis Yi's Five Elements Escape Technique, could be said to reach the extreme that ordinary Ascenders could achieve.

Aside from Demigods with higher-dimensional perspectives, or special existences like the Cat-headed Wizard who had mastered the Power of Space-Time, no one was a match for him.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

With assistance from other Mountain and Sea People, the aggressively charging Marquis Yi quickly overcame numerous obstacles and approached the original Cat-headed Wizard.

Unfortunately, the well-prepared Cat-headed Wizard didn't even move.

An Alternate-Space-Time Identical Body with a calm face, whose body seemed like an illusory foam, intercepted Marquis Yi in advance.

"Your opponent is me."

This was also the Cat-headed Wizard, but this Alternate-Space-Time Identical Body seemed to have undergone some sort of modification, or perhaps it had inherent traits from another dimension, rendering it entirely unobservable.

Brush!

When the five-colored stream of light swept past this Cat-headed Wizard, Marquis Yi was surprised to find that his invincible Five Elements Escape Technique had no effect whatsoever.

On the contrary, the Cat-headed Wizard merely waved its magic wand lightly, and the foam on its body transformed into a flying Flame Lion that pounced toward Marquis Yi.

In fact, the Cat-headed Wizard Marquis Yi faced was not even the most troublesome among the Cat-headed Wizards.

.....

"A two-dimensional cartoon character?"

Staring at the distinctively marked Cat-headed Wizard before him with a strange expression, Kangtao muttered upon formally entering combat mode.

The Mountain and Sea Civilization, having developed to its present state, had naturally long since engendered concepts like two-dimensional, cartoons, animations, comics, and games.

Within the current Mountain and Sea Civilization, there were even Ascenders exploring these corresponding concepts, attempting to use them for Divine Investiture.

Yet Kangtao never imagined that he would actually encounter a character straight out of those comic animes.

The Cat-headed Wizard opposite him seemed as if it walked out from a gag manga.

The Immortal Body was only the foundation, and it was the more exaggerated and nonsensical displays of abilities that forced Kangtao into combat mode as a necessary response.

Putting on a pair of glasses could make other Mountain and Sea People ignore its existence...

Assuming a sneaky demeanor could allow it to sneak behind any Mountain and Sea Person...

Crying out in pain one moment and reverting from a paper-thin state to its original form the next...

Such dimension-breaking antics, akin to two-dimensional beings invading the third dimension backwards, made it impossible to counter the Cat-headed Wizard through conventional physical rules and logic.

"Hee hee, more accurately an upgraded low-dimensional creature."

Correcting Kangtao's words with exaggerated terms, the cartoonish Cat-headed Wizard continued with a winking expression.

"Just as you will become Gods upon Ascension, we low-dimensional creatures also gain a three-dimensional physical form akin to yours upon upgrading."

"But we still retain some traits of a low-dimensional creature — like the form you see now."

Pausing briefly here, the cartoonish Cat-headed Wizard then smirked and continued speaking.

"Of course, I'm not sure if I'm a real low-dimensional creature or merely a byproduct of that Alternate-Space-Time Identical Body exploring the Ascension Ladder."

"The only thing I am certain of is my willingness to help other 'me's unveil your trump card!"

As one of the few Mountain and Sea People capable of ignoring the influence of the cartoonish Cat-headed Wizard, Kangtao was evidently reaching the limits of the Ascension Ladder.

Because only those with a life essence nearing that of a Demigod, those who instinctively possessed a high-dimensional perspective, could naturally overlook the influence of the cartoonish Cat-headed Wizard.

As for truly discerning the essence of the cartoonish Cat-headed Wizard?

That would require a true Demigod!

In the current Sky City, perhaps only the yet-to-awaken will of Sky City could truly be called a "Demigod."

However, although Sky City does not have a resident true Demigod, entities comparable to Demigods are not uncommon.

As the best graduate of the Mountain and Sea Academy—Kangtao was evidently among them.

"Since you want to uncover my trump card, naturally, I won't let you be disappointed!"

Before the cartoonish Cat-headed Wizard could continue, Kangtao's Flesh and Blood Armor rapidly grew and proliferated, forming hundreds of superconducting optical fibers with quantum communication functions behind his head.

Those superconducting optical fibers danced wildly like nimble snakes, with certain special interfaces vaguely visible at their ends.

Once these hundreds of superconducting optical fibers were fully deployed, a massive subspace unfolded behind Kangtao.

"Come on!"

"Let me see if the God behind you is truly qualified to decide the future of Sky City!"

Within the massive subspace behind Kangtao, a God of Giants with a cyan face, fangs, red hair, and a golden circlet was slowly emerging.

Especially when those hundreds of superconducting optical fibers were connected to the brow of this God of Giants.

This originally inert God of Giants suddenly opened its glaring angry eyes, as if awakened with intelligence.

No one would doubt the abilities of this God of Giants; its appearance even temporarily stilled the air of the entire Sky City.

"This is my trump card — are you ready to face it directly!"

Guided by the superconducting optical fibers, Kangtao slowly merged into the brow of this God of Giants, taking control of its voice to speak.

—Artificial God·Nuoshen!