

The Growth 614

Chapter 614 - 24: New God Awakening

"My Alternate-Space-Time Identical Body is not like your avatars..."

"As long as there's one more Alternate-Space-Time Identical Body, my will is immortal..."

"If I calculate carefully, you should be the seventy-third existence to kill me..."

"It's just a pity about that Energy Body, that form was actually quite useful, and I am already starting to miss it..."

...

This series of dialogues was not spoken by a single Cat-headed Wizard, but by several Cat-headed Wizards closest to Feng Xi speaking together.

Although each person only said one sentence, the tone and demeanor seemed as if it was a single person.

In fact, it was essentially one person speaking, but switching between different bodies with each sentence.

This is the most powerful ability of the Cat-headed Wizard.

The Alternate-Space-Time Identical Bodies it summoned are essentially different choices it made at different times.

Therefore, when the main body dies, the Cat-headed Wizard's will can be reborn almost effortlessly in its Alternate-Space-Time Identical Bodies.

Theoretically, as long as all Alternate-Space-Time Identical Bodies are not eliminated, the Cat-headed Wizard is truly immortal.

This is the troublesome aspect of demigods who have mastered the Power of Space-Time.

Compared to straightforward combat power, their eerie utilization of the Power of Space-Time is what truly disgusts people.

"Now I know..."

"Why the teachers always say they'd rather deal with ordinary Divine Incarnations than demigods who control the Power of Space-Time."

Seeing this, Feng Xi, equally disgusted, couldn't help but mutter a sentence.

With the abilities she currently mastered, sealing and killing the Cat-headed Wizard was not a difficult task.

The special Ascension Ladder, [Divine Transformation], bestowed upon Feng Xi a limitless adaptability in combat.

No matter how extreme the battle or how troublesome the opponent, Feng Xi could defeat them with appropriate means.

Except for a guy like the Cat-headed Wizard, Feng Xi had no idea how to deal with it for the moment.

Killing it only makes it switch bodies and gain a new ability.

Sealing it, the Cat-headed Wizard could free itself from the binding of the seal through suicide.

To truly kill the Cat-headed Wizard, Feng Xi would either need a higher-dimensional perspective to directly strike its essence.

Or she would master the Power of Space-Time and completely expel the endlessly appearing Alternate-Space-Time Identical Bodies before killing the Cat-headed Wizard.

"Haha, your teachers are right..."

"I'm much harder to kill now than a typical Divine Incarnation..."

"Are you confident in expelling me before the New God fully awakens?"

A slyness unique to felines appeared at the corner of the mouth.

Just as the Cat-headed Wizard wanted to say something more, its expression suddenly changed drastically as it turned to look at the central position of the [Imaginary Number Core].

"Wait... I'm here to help you!"

When the Cat-headed Wizard blurted out this sentence, the Void Energy, beating like a heart, abruptly collapsed.

In an instant, an infinite divine might spread from the [Super Large-Imaginary Number Core].

The Cat-headed Wizard, bearing the brunt, vanished as if encountering its arch-enemy the moment it touched this divine might.

One, two, three...

The Alternate-Space-Time Identical Bodies summoned by the Cat-headed Wizard disappeared rapidly at a speed visible to the naked eye.

.....

At the same time, on the battlefield of Sky City.

"What's going on?"

Over here, Kangtao had just desperately piloted the Nuo God to single-handedly smash the vast majority of meteorites crashing toward Sky City.

Only to see those originally active Cat-headed Wizards disappearing one by one into thin air.

Not killed or eliminated, but vanishing into thin air from everyone's sight.

As if some mysterious force forcibly returned them to their original space-time.

Moreover, even the remaining meteorites and meteorite fragments were forcibly repelled by that invisible force as they approached Sky City.

Those meteorites and meteorite fragments did not fall into Sky City.

Instead, in an eerie manner, skirted around the position of Sky City, heading toward the earth.

In this situation, the giant steel trains flying around Sky City also solemnly halted their actions.

"Is this your choice?"

With the sound of thunder resounding.

The head of the God of Mechanical and Steel Trains, Maitot, was exposed for the first time to the Mountain and Sea People's sight.

It was a huge, cold and mechanical super large engine head.

Especially the gigantic mechanical eye in the center of the train head, instilling a sense of judgment and awe like Celestial Punishment.

As an Artificial God – Maitot could intuitively understand the natural trust kindred had toward creators.

But under the current circumstances, forcibly expelling its Messengers from the range of Sky City was clearly not a wise move.

Because this meant that its fellow being, about to be born, handed all choices over to its creators.

If those creators were individuals friendly to Artificial Gods, like its own civilization, then it would be a universally happy ending.

However, if those creators could not accept the existence of Artificial Gods, the result would be predictable.

"I... be...lieve... in... them..."

The cold, mechanicalized artificial electronic voice echoed through every corner of Sky City.

It was the voice of Sky City, the will of Sky City, and the response from the New God about to be born.

"But I do not trust them."

Maitot's resonant voice continued to reverberate around, and the undisguised distrust in those words was particularly harsh to the ears of the Mountain and Sea People.

Although not clear on exactly what happened, all the Mountain and Sea People knew this distrust targeted them.

"In the Disaster Realm, the birth of a God is blessed."

"Any attempt to obstruct the birth of God is to make an enemy of the Gods of the Disaster Realm!"

At this point, Maitot's tone paused slightly, then continued.

"I can choose to leave, but my Messengers must remain here."

"I am protecting you, and I am also protecting the civilization that created you."

Maitot was not negotiating with Sky City or the Mountain and Sea People; it was a unilateral declaration and notification.

Because during its speech, the first appearing Armored Apostle appeared once again.

"Thanks to the grace of my God!"

The armor on the Armored Apostle started to fall off piece by piece.

The ghost hidden within the armor revealed itself before the Mountain and Sea People.

It was also a Cat-headed Wizard.

However, it came from a Spirit Realm of an Other Dimension and had to depend on this specially forged armor to operate in reality.

Of course, it also gained an "Immortal Body" far surpassing other Cat-headed Wizards.

Shed of the armor and blessed by the Gods...

This Cat-headed Wizard now had a level of difficulty to kill that was second only to the demigod-level Cat-headed Wizard.

Having such an existence remain in Sky City was undoubtedly the most appropriate option at the moment.

As Maitot said, its current actions not only protected the New God but also protected the Mountain and Sea People within Sky City.

This world... has never welcomed mysterious creatures.