Chapter 616: Endgame: Aiming for the Celestial Father

[Can a god who hasn't been captured in their original form leave this world freely?]

In the depths of mystery, Li Hao watched Yao Xin's departure, a hint of intrigue flashing in his eyes.

Unlike the unfortunate Hephaestus, Yao Xin, although also appearing in the Disaster Realm with the captured Sky City, was merely an idol housing Yao Xin's consciousness, which did not prevent Yao Xin from withdrawing her consciousness and returning to the Mountain and Sea Realm.

This is one of the most terrifying traits of gods—ubiquity!

As for Hephaestus, who was left in the Disaster Realm by Yao Xin?

Li Hao merely shook his head with a smile, not paying too much attention.

For although his true form remained bound in the Disaster Realm, his Divine Soul had long since escaped.

Hephaestus did not leave the Disaster Realm like Yao Xin.

Besides his true form being trapped, perhaps another reason is his innate curiosity and thirst for knowledge.

[It's truly a peculiar world. I just wonder how this world was formed?]

Casting a probing gaze towards the Disaster Realm, Li Hao attempted to use the [Celestial Tao System] to locate and intervene with this world.

Unexpectedly, the normally invincible [Celestial Tao System] could exert no influence on the Disaster Realm at all.

The Disaster Realm seemed independent from the All Heavens and Myriad Realms, unaffected by the rules of either the [Ascension Area] or [Fallen Area].

Yet strangely, the Disaster Realm undeniably belongs to the All Heavens and Myriad Realms.

This extremely distinct and special situation immediately reminded Li Hao of the Celestial Father.

To independently create a realm, isolating it from the All Heavens and Myriad Realms, creating a different time and space.

This does not seem to be a difficult task for Celestial Fathers who dominate an era.

But the current issue is, compared to those Celestial Fathers who leave behind monumental legacies, the influencing range of the Disaster Realm is simply too small.

If not for the special nature of this realm, its impact is inferior to some of the stronger Creators.

At the very least, a truly powerful Creator would not resort to capturing gods from the All Heavens to constantly complete and enhance the dimension of the Disaster Realm.

[Now it seems, this is more like an experimental product left by a Creator attempting to ascend to become a Celestial Father.]

[No, perhaps this ascendant is not a Creator, but a Supreme God.]

[After all, only a Supreme God who has taken a path to its extreme would need to constantly capture the powers of other gods to complete themselves.]

Thinking this way, Li Hao developed a strong interest in the Supreme God who created this world.

The Creator is a Supreme God, but a Supreme God is not necessarily a Creator.

For those Supreme Gods who are not Creators, they may have formidable power, but creating worlds is not their forte.

Thus, finding an alternative path becomes an obvious choice.

Unfortunately, this Supreme God apparently did not achieve their goal, leaving only the special world of the Disaster Realm.

[Counting now, this seems to be the third Supreme God trying to become a Celestial Father that I've encountered.]

In Li Hao's past experiences, he had encountered more than one Supreme God level existence.

Among these, the Indian Gods' Supreme God—Brahma, who traversed the river of time attempting to escape his fate of death, was most memorable to him.

However, it was merely memorable.

At their peak power, infinitely close to becoming a Celestial Father—Zeus...

After death, became dozens of Lords of Chaos, whose power had long surpassed a normal Supreme God—Chaos Primordial God...

These two were the most powerful Supreme Gods Li Hao had encountered.

Now, Li Hao encountered a third Supreme God who seemingly wishes to ascend to become a Celestial Father.

In the Divine Treasure Vault, within the vast library.

Li Hao was gently toying with a Chaos Sphere suspended before him, eyes brimming with curiosity and inquiry.

"Great God of Gods, what have you created this time?"

Exiting the [Civilization Game], Hua She immediately noticed the chaotic sphere.

Since hiding his true form in the [Divine Treasure Vault], Li Hao seemed to have unlocked his Creator nature, concocting some curious oddities from time to time.

Over time, Hua She grew accustomed.

Had it not been for the prominence of this chaos sphere, even giving her a slight sense of crisis, she wouldn't have asked this question.

"Hmm, what is this thing?"

As if stumped by Hua She's question, Li Hao pondered momentarily before responding hesitantly.

"You can simply understand it as a... world model."

Gazing in puzzlement at the chaos sphere before Li Hao, Hua She couldn't help flicking her snake tongue.

"Did you... create another world?"

"And it's a... miniature Small World?"

Trying to understand what Li Hao meant in ways she could, Hua She couldn't help but widen her eyes.

"Hmm, that's not an incorrect way of putting it."

"Although this world has yet to nurture Life, it indeed possesses everything a world should have."

With another turn of the chaos sphere before him, Li Hao smiled and nodded.

"The key is, this world is not an ordinary world..."

"The essence of this miniature world is a simulation of a possibility based on the Disaster Realm's situation."

Blinking slightly, Hua She still didn't understand the purpose of Li Hao creating this world.

"What do you intend to research?"

Casually, Li Hao replied frankly.

"Of course, to study how to become the fourteenth Celestial Father."

"Although the god who created the Disaster Realm failed, the path they took is worth referencing."

"At least compared to the Chaos Primordial God who died and became dozens of Lords of Chaos, the Disaster Realm's existence is highly valuable for my study of the 'Tao of Celestial Father'."

After brief silence, Hua She reminded herself internally—that the whimsical figure before her was her Upper God, and she shouldn't take him literally.

"Great God of Gods, do you know what becoming a Celestial Father means?"

Seeing through Hua She's slight mind games, Li Hao merely chuckled lightly.

"Of course I know what becoming a Celestial Father means..."

"I also know I might not yet be comparable to your Father God..."

"But having become a Supreme God above regular gods, I must find a goal to continue advancing?"

"Don't you think aiming to become a Celestial Father is an excellent choice?"
