

The Growth 619

Chapter 619 - 3: Meme Virus

The Sky City, numbered "94267" and captured by the Disaster Realm, only reestablished contact with the Mountain and Sea Realm long after.

"They are trapped in a world filled with gods?"

Standing atop the Central Tower of all Sky Cities, Tianyou, unusually diligent, focused intently on all communications with Sky City No. 94267.

This Central Tower was built on the Heaven Supporting Pillar in the North Sea.

The Heaven Supporting Pillar was erected by the Earth Apostle—Dragon Child after slaying the Giant Turtle, used to support and balance the sea and land.

Apart from the "World's Peak" that normal people can't ascend, this is the highest place in the Mountain and Sea Realm.

Since the initial ascent of the Sky City, how to communicate with those Sky Cities that have traversed world barriers and passed through temporal vortices has always been a headache for the Mountain and Sea Civilization.

Until the establishment of this Central Tower, the Mountain and Sea Civilization finally bypassed the Cyber Network set up by Li Hao in the Game Realm, acquiring an independent signal tower to contact the Sky City.

For hundreds of years thereafter, this Central Tower has shouldered the task of exchanging information with various Sky Cities.

Whether there are new discoveries or not, each Sky City would send a signal to the Central Tower at fixed times.

On one hand, this is to ensure the safety of each Sky City.

On the other hand, it is to test the range limits of this Central Tower.

"Have they sent back any other useful information?"

Thinking this, Tianyou turned and asked the administrator of the Central Tower.

"No, they said that world is very special..."

"All the information coming from that world carries memetic characteristics..."

The administrator clearly knew what Tianyou wanted to know, but could only express with regret that they only knew so much.

"In the words of the gods who warned them, any knowledge regarding the Disaster Realm is 'toxic.'

"If they don't want more of the Mountain and Sea People to get involved, they absolutely cannot disclose any information about the Disaster Realm."

"Especially information related to knowledge and technology; once known, it will pull you into it."

After a slight pause, the administrator further added.

"Of course, our situation is slightly better than that of other world civilizations."

"Because Sky City No. 94267 has officially transformed into the 'God of Autonomous and Floating Cities'..."

"Even if we are dragged into that world, we can choose to gain protection by worshiping this 'God of Autonomous and Floating Cities.'"

"The gods of the Disaster Realm have contracts with one another and will not easily seize another god's believers unless there is a direct conflict of divine format and divine position."

Scratching his head, Tianyou said thoughtfully.

"This sounds quite outrageous..."

"Gods imprisoned within a world, unable to elevate their life dimensions through dimensional ascension..."

"Doesn't this mean that the difficulty of killing a god in this world is much lower than usual?"

The reason gods are higher-dimensional beings is that they have no physical form or weaknesses in the Material Realm.

When a god has a physical form and weaknesses in the Material Realm, it means they have lost their immortal foundation.

"Boss, I know what you're thinking."

"But you have to consider, the number of gods in that world is counted in 'millions' as a basic unit."

"Even if their individuals are limited by the world's rules, indeed making them easier to kill than gods from other worlds..."

"But they have various alliances among themselves, killing one is akin to offending a group!"

Upon hearing this, Tianyou reluctantly gave up on the idea of godslaying.

"Alright!"

"So can we still contact them now?"

Quickly changing the subject, Tianyou asked while deliberately ignoring the administrator's address of him as "boss."

From this address, it was clear that the relationship between the administrator of the Central Tower and Tianyou was far closer than a normal superior-subordinate relationship.

"That world is special; it's not just a world filled with gods."

Slightly exasperated, the administrator glanced at Tianyou and had to continue explaining.

"Unless the 'God of Autonomous and Floating Cities' takes the initiative to transmit information outward, we simply can't lock onto the specific location of that world, let alone contact them."

At this point, the administrator hesitated momentarily before continuing.

"In fact, all the information we are receiving now is being transmitted by the 'God of Autonomous and Floating Cities'..."

"Although the analysis department has verified through personality and wording that these messages indeed originate from Kangtao."

"But if the 'God of Autonomous and Floating Cities' has hidden some key information during message transmission, we have no way of knowing."

Understanding the subtleties of the administrator's intentions, Tianyou fell silent.

"Then let's activate the Creator's 'Cyber Network.'

"Regardless, we must determine the specific situation of this Sky City."

Perhaps not wanting to offend Li Hao, or maybe just wanting to prove his growth to the Creator...

Since mastering network construction technology, the Mountain and Sea Civilization rarely used the Game Realm for information relay and transmission.

Most of the time, the Mountain and Sea People simply regarded the Game Realm as an amusement arena created by the Creator.

To this day, this unwritten rule has even become an established regulation.

Any large-scale cross-world information exchange not involving private acquaintances must be applied for in advance from the Zhiku's higher-ups.

Especially for key personnel and Great Prophets of the Mountain and Sea Civilization, each piece of information must be inspected and reviewed.

It's hard to say that this regulation of the Mountain and Sea Civilization isn't influenced by Tianyou.

Because Tianyou had previously used such means to secretly undertake significant actions without the Zhiku's prophets knowing.

This included, but was not limited to, smuggling god corpses, collecting Celestial Being information, and influencing the direction of wars in certain worlds.

That's why the administrator had previously hesitated, not directly pointing out this fact.

"I will submit the relevant application report later, you just need to upload the information to the 'Mountain and Sea Network' accurately."

Another glance at the administrator, Tianyou said nothing more, turning and leaving the Central Tower.

"Remember to go home in a couple of days; your Elder Prophet at home was mentioning you a few days ago!"

"If you don't go back soon, I guess that old guy will come knocking."
