Chapter 638 222: Artificial Apostle

"That thing... is it a Divine Abomination?"

Staring dumbfounded at the steel giant dragon forcefully breaking through the space-time rift, Marquis Yi couldn't believe his eyes.

As an ordinary Mountain and Sea person, the most magnificent scene Marquis Yi had seen in his life was just the scene when Maitot revealed his true form.

However, compared to Maitot back then, this steel giant dragon was obviously full of hostility.

Especially when the other side forcibly tore through space and expanded the space-time rift with its own power, everyone could sense its terrifying nature.

It was definitely a demigod, and one particularly skilled in combat at that.

"No, that's not a Divine Abomination."

At this point, Old Dragon could no longer remain calm and finally spoke.

"That guy... used thousands of innocent souls to create an 'Artificial Apostle' for itself!"

The steel giant dragon is essentially the same as an unmanned guard, both are artificial weapons crafted using [Steel Cast Soldiers] technology.

The difference is that unmanned guards use ordinary metallic steel and soul fragments.

But this steel giant dragon is part of the City of No Gods, an ultimate artificial weapon forged from thousands of complete souls.

"What should we do next?"

After a moment of silence, Feng Xi asked this crucial question.

Against such a steel giant dragon equivalent to an apostle, Sky City had to deploy top-tier artificial god-level power to confront it.

However, the problem lies here.

Could the current Sky City deploy an Artificial God to fight an Artificial Apostle?

Efforts need to yield results, an eternal truth.

But now, the problem is that deploying so much manpower to support Marquis Yi's task is already a risky endeavor.

Even if they defeat the steel giant dragon next, what's the point?

Sky City gains nothing and receives no benefits.

From the perspective of any rational leader, they wouldn't risk Sky City's top-tier power for something without any gains.

"This place was exposed because of us, so of course, we can't ignore it."

Without glancing at Old Dragon, Marquis Yi looked up with determination at the steel giant dragon.

Sky City indeed had no reason to prevent the invasion of the City of No Gods, but Marquis Yi and Feng Xi felt it was their undeniable responsibility.

If it weren't for rescuing Marquis Yi and the others, Old Dragon wouldn't have appeared in the City of No Gods, and wouldn't have been tracked to Gunlong Village by the Divine Abomination there.

Even though Marquis Yi still didn't understand why Old Dragon saved them, it didn't stop him from remembering this kindness.

The only question now is how they should deal with the steel giant dragon tearing through space and forcing its way into Gunlong Village.

"I knew I didn't misjudge you."

At this moment, Old Dragon suddenly chuckled.

"However, you do underestimate me a bit..."

"I'm just old, not dead."

"I'm just old, not dead."

Lightning filled the sky with thunderous roars, but the old voice was filled with unprecedented heroism.

When the others realized it, a whiskered and white-bearded Huanglong revealed its true form, charging without hesitation at the steel giant dragon that hadn't fully entered the Gunlong Village's Earth Realm.

"Roar!"

Just from this high-pitched dragon roar, it was hardly possible to hear that it was the voice of an old Huanglong.

That agile, graceful figure displayed an agility and swiftness that no ordinary creature could possess.

With the surge of thunder, electric light radiated from Huanglong's body, and there was a faint smell of burning in the air.

Clang!

In the next second, the clash between the steel dragon and the old Huanglong occurred.

The piercing clash of metal proved how fierce this collision was.

When Huanglong's claws exerted force, even the steel giant dragon had scales torn off, leaving clear teeth marks.

"Indeed, I should never overlook how dragons become stronger as they age!"

Seizing the opportunity while the steel giant dragon was restricted, Marquis Yi leaped atop Huanglong's head.

Whoosh!

In an instant, a ten-tailed dragon carp appeared in the midst of the two dragons, carrying Marquis Yi and Feng Xi towards the near steel giant dragon.

"Have I ever mentioned... I don't actually like fighting."

Holding tightly onto Feng Xi's shoulder, Hephaestus's words were drowned out by the raging wind.

Fortunately, although Hephaestus didn't like to fight, it didn't mean He was only good at bullying the weak.

Boom!

With a loud boom, Marquis Yi and Feng Xi briefly shared Hephaestus's vision, momentarily gaining a higher-dimensional perspective.

In this higher-dimensional view, the massive steel giant dragon was analyzed and broken down into its basic material components.

Marquis Yi and Feng Xi could clearly see countless souls wailing and struggling inside the steel giant dragon.

Among them, most prominently guarded by the reversed scale, was the "Dragon Pearl."

For within that "Dragon Pearl," a monstrosity melding countless soul fragments was driving the steel giant dragon.

"That's its weakness!" X2

Almost simultaneously shouting, Marquis Yi and Feng Xi leapt once more in tacit understanding.

When the two winged people spread their wings, their figures instantly vanished from sight.

"Roar!"

As if sensing an impending crisis, the steel giant dragon decisively turned, attempting to ram the ten-tailed dragon carp.

Unexpectedly to it, the old Huanglong displayed an audacious spirit reminiscent of youthful ambition at that moment.

"Roar!"

Also roaring, the old Huanglong managed to suppress the steel giant dragon's voice.

Moreover, the full-bodied Huanglong gathered momentum, drawing the thunder between heaven and earth to its advantage.

Summoning thunder, storing electricity, striking...

The radiant white Huanglong executed in one fluid motion, swiftly stirring a terrifying lightning storm and primordial Qi vortex.

Boom! Boom! Boom!

Under Huanglong's successive lightning strikes, the steel giant dragon no longer had the mind to deal with the ten-tailed dragon carp.

Seeing this, the nearby Mountain and Sea people also quickly rejoined the battlefield, promptly holding off the unmanned guards attempting to support the steel giant dragon.

The battle stagnated into an eerie stalemate at this moment.
