

The Growth 650

Chapter 650 8: Hundred Eyed Dragon

The settlement of the Unbelievers is expanded outward centered around a dried-up well.

It is precisely because of the existence of this dried-up well that the Divine Abominations outside chose to ignore these weak creatures.

This contrasts sharply with the origin of the "Land of Ten Extremes" that Feng Xi learned from Hephaestus.

In the words of Hephaestus, the "Land of Ten Extremes" is used to bury the corpses of Divine Abominations, a place that weakens or even strips them of their power.

But in this current era, it was the deterrence of that dried-up well against the Divine Abominations that preceded the burial of the Divine Abominations' corpses at the "Land of Ten Extremes".

Of course, the current "Land of Ten Extremes" cannot yet be called the "Land of Ten Extremes".

Because for now, it's just a dried-up well constantly exuding an aura of death and decay.

"What do you think this well is?"

Without daring to approach that dried-up well rashly, Hundred Eyed Dragon asked from a safe distance.

Likewise shocked by the terror of that well, Feng Xi, already shivering in fear, did not immediately respond.

Because when Feng Xi and the other two were in the City of No Gods, they were discovered by a hidden Divine Abomination there before they could fully explore the Land of Ten Extremes.

Not to mention discovering the existence of this well, Feng Xi and the others hadn't even completely surveyed the Land of Ten Extremes.

Yet now, in the face of this well, Feng Xi only then understood what that terror capable of burying countless Divine Abomination corpses truly meant.

"Could this well itself be a Divine Abomination in the making?"

Recalling that Divine Abomination which occupied the City of No Gods in the future, Feng Xi tentatively asked in return.

"You're right, only a Divine Abomination can deter another Divine Abomination."

Hearing the subtext in Hundred Eyed's words instantly, Feng Xi looked at the other in shock.

"Do you want to tame this Divine Abomination?"

This is a Divine Abomination that can intimidate countless others even before it's born.

Just thinking about that Divine Abomination that dominated the entire City of No Gods and drove away all the others, it was clear that once born, this one would undoubtedly be a king among Divine Abominations.

"No way, you can't possibly tame it!"

The moment Feng Xi thought of that future-dominant Divine Abomination, she resolutely denied Hundred Eyed's audacious idea.

Even though Feng Xi knew the future wouldn't be easily altered, she still wanted to try.

By now, Feng Xi could almost certainly conclude that she had returned to the past for some unknown reason, back to a time before the City of No Gods was established.

Everything she's experiencing now is the complete process of the establishment of the City of No Gods.

"How do you know if you don't try?"

Noticing Feng Xi's subtle changes in expression the entire time, Hundred Eyed suddenly laughed cheerfully at this moment.

"Some things in this world you only know by doing them, while others must be done despite knowing the outcome."

Before Feng Xi could refute, Hundred Eyed already took a step into the influence of the dried-up well.

Whoosh!

In an instant, the power of time acted upon Hundred Eyed's body.

His clothes decayed at a speed visible to the naked eye, as though experiencing hundreds of years in a moment.

Luckily, Hundred Eyed was a Demigod, one capable of resisting and even twisting the rules.

This abnormal flow of time did not have the expected effect on him.

On the contrary, in resisting the abnormal flow of time, he seemed to have awakened some innate power.

"Hah!"

With a low shout.

Hundred Eyed's body was seen spiraling upward, finally transforming into a chubby dragon with hundreds of eyes.

Though possessing the form of a dragon, the Hundred Eyed Dragon looked extremely ugly, making it hard to associate it with the previously gentle and scholarly man in a robe.

However, opposing this ugliness was the overwhelming strength of the Hundred Eyed Dragon.

The power of time and moments left no trace on him, and the oppressive feeling from the well couldn't stop his progress.

"..."

By the time Feng Xi reacted, Hundred Eyed Dragon was only a step away from the well.

Just as he was about to touch the well, a high-pitched dragon's roar suddenly echoed from within.

"Roar!"

When this dragon roar resounded, the sky darkened without warning.

Clouds gathered out of nowhere, and the lightning and thunder filled the darkness with a strange brightness.

The next second, a giant tentacle suddenly emerged from the well, smashing fiercely towards the nearby Hundred Eyed Dragon.

"Roar!"

The massive tentacle shook the earth, the high-pitched dragon's roar continued to echo.

At this moment, Feng Xi did not bother to look closely at the familiar tentacle, immediately rushing to the nearby Hundred Eyed Dragon.

Just then, the eyes on the dragon's body all opened.

Whoosh! Whoosh! Whoosh!

Countless beams of light shot out from its eyes, scattering like a celestial maiden scattering flowers, instantly pushing back the tentacle.

Then, an even stranger scene unfolded.

The thick tentacle just disappeared from their sight, as though it had never appeared.

A sense of familiarity struck again, and Feng Xi's pupils quaked.

"No!"

"It hasn't disappeared, it's just gone invisible!"

Before her words finished echoing, the reminded Hundred Eyed Dragon turned around, shooting out countless rays once more.

Unfortunately, it was a little late to respond.

The massive tentacle, now visible again, with its mesh-like holes, once more smashed towards the Hundred Eyed Dragon.

Bang!

In the blink of an eye, the clash between Hundred Eyed Dragon and the tentacle reverberated through the darkness.

Realizing what the true form of this tentacle was, Feng Xi did not recklessly advance but cast her gaze back towards the well.

As expected, a second tentacle was already emerging from it.

Followed by the third, fourth...

Completely defying the laws of space, the small, dried-up well extended nine terrifying tentacles in a short time.

Each of these nine tentacles was thick enough to burst through the well's opening.

However, when all nine emerged simultaneously, the well showed no sign of change.

More exaggeratedly, as these tentacles danced wildly, the sky flashed and thundered, and the surrounding sun and moon were darkened, giving an overwhelming sense of despair.

"Those tentacles are not its main body!"

"Its main body is still within the well, a horned Dragon Fish!"

"Besides invisibility, it's extremely sensitive to the blood of gods, don't let it absorb your blood!"

As Feng Xi's voice echoed through the night, the true nature of the nine tentacles was unmistakable.

It was the item swapped from the Faceless by Marquis Yi in the future—that Ten-tailed Dragon Carp!
