

The Growth 675

Chapter 675 7: Arctic Celestial Cabinet

In the extreme northern region of the Mountain and Sea Realm, deep in the endless ocean.

Here lies a subcontinent composed entirely of icebergs, from which Polaris rises, where the frigid cold is enough to freeze all living creatures to death.

And at the center of this subcontinent, there is a unique mountain range known as the "Celestial Cabinet."

Polaris resides here, the light of the stars converges here, and the endless currents re-enter the Four Seas through this iceberg.

However, few know that this place is also where the Mountain and Sea Civilization imprisons its captives.

The environment here is extremely harsh, making it impossible for living creatures to survive, so naturally, the captives imprisoned here are not ordinary individuals.

"Daring to imprison gods, that Creator truly pampers these Mountain and Sea People!"

"Moreover, they even use what was once our territory to imprison gods. Do they even regard us, the Mountain and Sea Gods?"

...

When Jiufeng flapped its wings, bringing the Storm Descending upon the Celestial Cabinet, its nine heads were still arguing fiercely.

However, the most authoritative head in the center did not partake in the argument among its sisters but stared intently at its former habitat—the Celestial Cabinet.

Within this iceberg made of eternally frozen ice, special prison cells carved out by human hands came into view.

Not to mention the difficulty of carving eternally frozen ice, just the existence of those prison cells was enough to amaze Jiufeng.

Though called prison cells, they are actually "Seals" established within the Celestial Cabinet.

The exterior is etched with countless "Dragon Seals," tangible Storm Chains wrap around the entire iceberg, coupled with the other-dimensional space within the cells, even high-dimensional gods can only stay obediently inside.

If they try to break the seal by force and escape, they will be expelled from the Mountain and Sea Realm directly.

Even if they are lucky enough to break free from the temporal vortex, they will be met by the Creator's strongest Apostle—Ji Meng.

Of course, as a general rule, no god is likely to succeed in escaping.

Because these prison cells are not unguarded; every night, Polaris rises as the Guardian of this prison.

Mother of All Stars' eldest son, Lord of the North Star, Emperor Gouchen...

These are the names of the Lord of the North Star in the Mountain and Sea Civilization, who is also one of the most powerful War Gods among these new generation Mountain and Sea Gods.

"Here it comes!"

Suddenly, all nine of Jiufeng's heads hushed simultaneously.

Following the gaze of the central head, a massive star could be seen ascending gradually.

The star possessed a brilliance comparable to the sun and moon, and as it rose, seven golden lights protected it, and nine Golden Lotuses were born.

Within the seven golden lights and nine Golden Lotuses, the trajectory of the Stars of the Celestial Vault could be vaguely seen, and the Qi Power was overflowing to the point of being indescribable.

"Who are you?"

Once the massive star steadily stopped atop the Celestial Cabinet, a thunderous voice emerged.

It was the manifestation of Thunder's voice, also the will of Polaris.

"We're here to seek a god..."

Feeling the power within the other that was in no way inferior to its own, Jiufeng answered in a deep voice.

Clearly, this new god was born in this era, yet Polaris's power surpassed that of Jiufeng, an ancient god with untold years of accumulation.

No wonder this new god dared to guard so many divine-level captives single-handedly; there indeed is some substance and capability there.

"Alright, I understand."

After a brief silence, the Lord of the North Star knew Jiufeng's identity and purpose through the power of the Stars of the Celestial Vault.

Thus, this Lord of the North Star, who didn't much enjoy conversation, withdrew the divine power surrounding, opening a passage leading inside the Celestial Cabinet.

.....

Moments later, inside the Arctic Celestial Cabinet.

"He just let us in like that?"

One of Jiufeng's heads couldn't help but murmur, stealing a glance at Polaris still stationed on Celestial Cabinet Mountain.

"Because he has confidence in his power, he isn't afraid of us causing trouble at all."

A head with keener insight blinked and answered the question posed by another.

From this head's observation, even among the Main Gods, the Lord of the North Star was certainly a very formidable type.

More crucially, the opponent possessed an accumulated foundation far beyond an ancient god like Jiufeng.

For gods, especially Main Gods, aside from the distinction of the Divine Position, the length of existence most reflects their strength.

Ancient gods are not necessarily strong gods, but strong gods are invariably ancient gods.

Yet this new god, born only a few thousand years ago, overwhelmingly outmatches Jiufeng, a truly powerful ancient god, in every respect.

This cannot simply be attributed to the blessings of the Creator.

Talent, effort, faith, goals, and even the overall strength of the Mountain and Sea Civilization are key in the making of such a powerful new god.

"It seems that the Nine Heavens Profound Lady was correct; we do not have an equal relationship with the current Mountain and Sea Civilization."

"We need them, but they don't necessarily need us."

This was spoken by the head with the most foresight among Jiufeng's nine heads.

Before returning to the Mountain and Sea Realm, most of Jiufeng's heads believed they were the leaders in this return, the dominant side.

But after witnessing the attitudes of Liuyan and Dunhuang, and the power of the Lord of the North Star, Jiufeng had to admit it needed to adjust its previous attitude.

If it continues to maintain a condescending attitude, thinking it can easily manipulate the whole Mountain and Sea Civilization like soft clay in hand, save for the Creator.

Then this prison built inside the Celestial Cabinet would most likely become its final resting place.

"No, they still need us..."

At this moment, the most authoritative central head spoke.

"No matter if that Creator is the reincarnation of Candle Dragon, he has already seen the limits of the Mountain and Sea Civilization."

"To surpass these limits of civilization, they need our help."

After a slight pause in tone, the central head continued to speak.

"But indeed, we need to adjust our mindset..."

"The current Mountain and Sea Civilization is not a successor needing our support."

"They have long grown to a position where they can be our equals, or even look down on us."

Although Jiufeng is a special god with one body and nine souls, it does not truly suffer from a split personality, so the nine heads could quickly reach consensus and harmony.

"In All Heavens and Myriad Realms, only that Creator can truly protect us."