

The Growth 682

Chapter 682 14: Land of Giants

In the Land of Giants, within the Divine Kingdom of Meteorite Striker Gogol.

Just as Jiufeng and the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch stepped out of the Sky City, Gogol, whose form was as immense as a mountain, opened his eyes.

"The Sky City has sent out 'Foreigners' again..."

Since the Lord of the Stars, Yami, successfully escaped the Disaster Realm, Gogol, as Yami's Incarnation, regained freedom.

From that day on, Gogol received part of the legacy left behind by Yami, reorganized his own Divine Kingdom, and thus became the strongest Divine Kingdom on earth.

However, having personally experienced the great battle back then and learned the secrets of the Golden Era, Gogol also longed to leave this world doomed to destruction.

Thus, Gogol began to emulate Yami, attempting to replicate the circumstances of that time.

Unfortunately, lacking critical information about the "Space-Time Ball," Gogol had no idea whose help Yami had in the end to escape the Disaster Realm.

No, it wasn't just as simple as escaping...

All the gods present at that time knew that an unfortunate one, accidentally drawn into the Disaster Realm, had taken Yami's place, which allowed the Divine Kingdom of the Lord of the Stars to remain suspended in the sky.

Even the identity of that unfortunate one had been investigated by many gods.

It was the God of Misfortune and Calamity, Hephaestus, who had long hidden in the City of No Gods and hadn't appeared for an unknown duration.

Although they didn't know why the unfortunate one could replace Yami.

Most gods believed that if they could capture Hephaestus, they might be able to escape the Disaster Realm just like Yami did back then.

Although Gogol was not as shallow as other gods, he wasn't willing to let go of such a possibility either.

Therefore, even knowing that the Land of No Gods might be the next source of an "Apocalypse," Gogol continued to probe repeatedly.

This situation persisted until a recent great battle.

The news of Huanglong reappearing invigorated Gogol's spirit.

At the same time, Gogol noticed that new Sky City and the Mountain and Sea People who always remained highly vigilant toward the outside world.

Gogol vaguely remembered that during the last time Yami escaped the Disaster Realm, it seemed that a Mountain and Sea People had also appeared in the Land of No Gods?

This indicated that among these Mountain and Sea People, there were Ascenders or Demigods who mastered the power of space-time.

In order to figure out the role played by the Mountain and Sea People in that event, Gogol repeatedly attempted to establish communication and contact with the Sky City.

However, the only response was the indifference of the "God of Autonomous and Floating Cities."

This situation continued until Xuan Niao arrived in the Disaster Realm and planned to visit the Land of No Gods to uncover the truth about Huang Minzi's death.

At that time, Gogol decisively took action, intending to capture Xuan Niao.

As could be expected, facing Xuan Niao, who was only a half-step away from becoming a Creator, Gogol almost fell on the spot.

It was from that moment that Gogol learned that the Sky City had not severed ties with the outside world and could still communicate with its main civilization.

Moreover, that main civilization had sent a god of unfathomable strength to the Disaster Realm.

"Should I take action this time?"

Climbing up Gogol's mountainous shoulder, a peculiar-looking Stone Creature quietly inquired.

It was a God Subordinate of Gogol, a being born from the Earth Spirit Qi.

Although its power was inferior to other God Subordinates, this Stone Creature played the role of the "Wise Man" in Gogol's Divine Kingdom.

But this "Wise Man" was more adept at discerning people's thoughts than offering strategies.

Just like now, having already seen through Gogol's choice, the Stone Creature still asked knowingly.

"The two Foreigners this time... their strength is much weaker than the last."

As the contemporary Earth God, Gogol's eyes could not only see everything happening on earth but could also barely perceive the strength of Jiufeng and the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch.

"To ensure they aren't captured by this world, they definitely won't dare to use Divine Level powers."

After a slight pause in tone, Gogol finally said as if making up his mind.

"In any case, this is an opportunity!"

"On this land, I am the Supreme and Sovereign King!"

.....

Buzz!

Accompanying Gogol's decision, the ground beneath Jiufeng and the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch abruptly emitted a buzzing sound.

Before the two could react, the scene before them began to change rapidly, swiftly pulling back like a retreating shadow.

Instinctively defending himself, the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch transformed, wanting to leave this cursed place.

"Don't move!"

Suddenly reaching out to press the shoulder of the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch, Jiufeng slightly narrowed his eyes and said.

Because He could distinctly discern that it was a powerful god using a technique similar to "Shrinking Inches."

Breaking free from such a divine technique would not be difficult, but it would mean that the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch and Jiufeng would be forced into some unknown area.

More importantly, that god seemed to know their backgrounds, and the power used was highly targeted.

Unless the two were willing to risk being forcibly captured by the Disaster Realm, breaking free from this power's constraints would do more harm than good.

"Who could it be?"

Also realizing this, the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch immediately stopped his transformation.

At this moment, the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch was recalling the information Kangtao told him about the Disaster Gods before leaving the Sky City.

Every time at such moments, the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch greatly envied the Mountain and Sea People for their unique Brain-Machine Implants.

Born in the Celestial Human Realm and being a loner, the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch had no such convenient civilization product to use.

"It's that newly promoted Earth God—Gogol."

Unlike the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch, Jiufeng evidently had access to an information library or abilities similar to a Brain-Machine Implant.

So almost in a blink of an eye, Jiufeng provided a clear answer.

"It seems that regardless of how low-key the Sky City is, a god has set their sights on them."

Understanding the implication through a shared resonance, the Celestial Sorrow Demon Monarch immediately perceived Jiufeng's meaning.

The gods in the Disaster Realm are never fools.

In this survival-of-the-fittest, competitive ecological system of gods, any foolish god has already been automatically eliminated.

The remaining gods, perhaps due to informational gaps or intelligence issues, cannot be omniscient and all-powerful like the gods from other worlds.

But anyone who truly underestimates these gods would be the real fool.

"Previously, Xuan Niao was ambushed by Gogol..."

"The people at the Sky City thought it was merely coincidental, but now it seems that this Earth God has long set his sights on them."
