

The Growth 702

Chapter 702 8: Father of the Sun and Moon · Di Jun

All Heavens and Myriad Realms, the chaotic Ascension Area, the tumultuous Dimensional Gap.

At the same time Li Hao restarted the [Bai Ze Map], in a near-ruined world, a being more magnificent than heaven and earth suddenly opened its eyes.

This great existence, with divine might, Primordial Power, and Heaven-Reaching Wisdom, rules over this realm.

When it opened its eyes, the entire world revived along with it.

Ten suns appeared in the sky, restoring life to this world with their searing heat.

After the rotation of the sun and moon, twelve moons appeared in the sky, allowing the Divine Spirits and all living beings of this world to awaken.

"Bai Ze, you truly aren't dead!"

The resonant voice echoed throughout the entire world as the great being began to manifest its form.

It was a gigantic golden bird that obscured the heavens and covered the sun.

With a single flap of its wings, it could soar through the Nine Heavens, and with its eyes, it illuminated the Eight Directions.

Just the brightness and heat brought by this one "bird" exceeded those of the combined ten suns and twelve moons.

Upon closer inspection, it was revealed that this golden bird even had a third divine leg hidden in its lower abdomen.

"Jun! Jun! Jun!"

As this Three-legged Golden Crow manifested, the Divine Spirits and beings of this world called out loudly.

Their fanaticism and pride were more astonishing than even the most fervent Fanatic.

Because everyone knew, it was this Three-legged Golden Crow that brought life to this world.

After that world-ending battle, beings were destroyed, gods fell, and even this world lay in ruin.

It was this Three-legged Golden Crow that sacrificed everything of its own, ultimately halting this world, which should have fallen to the [Fallen Area], in the gap of this dimension.

In the eyes of the Gods of All Heavens and Myriad Realms, it is the arch-rival of Bai Ze.

In this nearly destroyed world, it is the father of the sun and moon.

And in the past Mountain and Sea Realm, it was once the dominant ruler—Ancient Emperor Jun!

"The Bai Ze Map! This time we must obtain the Bai Ze Map!"

"Only the Bai Ze Map can rebuild this world, allowing us to completely escape our current fate!"

Di Jun's voice resonated throughout this world, receiving unanimous support from the Divine Spirits and all beings of this world.

In the past, after that great battle with Bai Ze, though Di Jun emerged as the ultimate victor, the [Bai Ze Map] disappeared with the Jiuge Gods.

This directly resulted in Di Jun failing to gain the victory he desired, and instead, falling into a dire situation.

Now that the [Bai Ze Map] has once again surfaced, Di Jun is determined to obtain that Epic Divine Artifact capable of reforging the world at any cost.

Rumble...

In the chaos invisible to the naked eye, amidst the Dimensional Gap that is inaccessible to ordinary people.

A turmoil, like a storm, swiftly swept over the place, awakening countless slumbering gods.

These gods, about to fall into the [Fallen Area], all simultaneously turned their gaze towards the world where Di Jun resided at that moment.

[Another reckless madman...]

[How can escaping the fate of death be that simple?]

[That world seems to be the world of a Supreme God-ranked Sun God?]

...

With conversations rising and falling, these gods watched with either indifference, curiosity, or wariness as they observed the destruction world reviving with new vigor.

A Supreme God risking everything, no matter how crazy their actions, are unsurprising.

These gods, struggling on the edge of life and death, did not wish to be affected by this madman and fall prematurely into the [Fallen Area].

And in a corner unnoticed by the God gatherings, a being equally stirred by this tumult appeared in the Dimensional Gap.

It was a massive fish, with a size rivaling that of a world.

At its front, a similarly enormous "eye" lit up the Dimensional Gap like a lantern.

This was the Hunting Fish, an "Extraordinary Apostle" whimsically created by Li Hao.

After Li Hao's lavish transformations, Hunting Fish possessed the ability to autonomously alter dimensions, able to traverse freely between the [Fallen Area] and the [Ascension Area].

Ordinarily, the Hunting Fish roamed among the stars in the [Fallen Area], devouring worlds that fell into the [Fallen Area], while also collecting things related to the gods.

Most of the strange items in the [Divine Treasure Vault] came from the daily collections of the Hunting Fish.

Only when feeling Li Hao's summons did the Hunting Fish actively surface to the [Ascension Area], ready to heed his commands and instructions.

The last time Li Hao actively summoned the Hunting Fish was during the encirclement of the Yawei World.

[It's that freak! It's back again!]

[Hurry! Hide away! Don't let it find us again!]

[How was this damned monstrous Divine Abomination born?]

...

Amid the gods' exclamations, Hunting Fish began to roam within the Dimensional Gap.

Though following Li Hao's will, Hunting Fish did not actively hunt worlds that still bore life.

Yet occasional accidental bumps and close encounters were unavoidable.

Often at this time, Hunting Fish would fully leverage its initiative, seizing the opportunity to snatch some things from those worlds.

— After all, it wasn't intentional, so the great Creator wouldn't blame it, right?

If the thoughts of the Hunting Fish were to be visualized, it might resemble such musings.

Fortunately, although Hunting Fish exhibited some mischief, it did not forget the reason for its presence in the Dimensional Gap this time.

Roar!

With curiosity, the Hunting Fish advanced towards the center of the tumult.

Then, the Hunting Fish noticed the golden world, brighter than an ordinary sun by millions of times, almost illuminating half of the Dimensional Gap.

In the eyes of the Hunting Fish, that was not a world at all, but a "Three-legged Divine Bird" attempting to take flight and ascend dimensions.

Screech!

Seemingly noticing the approaching Hunting Fish, the "Three-legged Divine Bird" issued a warning sound at that moment.

This warning transcended high and low dimensions, a warning comprehensible to all life forms.

Unfortunately, it would have been better if the other party had not issued a warning.

Once a warning was given, it only served to pique the Hunting Fish's interest even further.

For the Hunting Fish, capable of altering its dimensions at will, the Dimensional Gap was its home ground.

Even a dying Supreme God could only meekly become the prey of the Hunting Fish in this Dimensional Gap.

Bang!

In an instant, the complex dimensional shifts stirred up waves more turbulent than before.

Thus, the "Three-legged Divine Bird" and the Hunting Fish engaged in a pursuit and escape amidst these frequent dimensional changes, gradually moving towards the Mountain and Sea Realm.

Along the way, not only did those dying gods notice this chase.

Even the other gods in the [Ascension Area] sensed the tempest from the Dimensional Gap.
