

The Growth 732

Chapter 732 14: Supreme Fire God

In the end, Shu Hai still did not choose to forcibly take the fledgling crow away.

Whether it was due to his own duties or the teachings of the Creator...

All made it impossible for Shu Hai to allow this situation to continue worsening, causing more severe consequences.

Therefore, around the original abnormal high temperature area, the Mountain and Sea People quickly mobilized to establish a large protection and regulation zone.

At the same time, the Mountain and Sea Civilization also dispatched various individuals skilled in communication or with a friendly disposition, attempting to engage in effective dialogue with the fledgling crow.

Of course, considering the danger posed by the Three-legged Golden Crow.

A significant portion of the Mountain and Sea People held an attitude of eradicating the threat, and this proportion was quite high.

Unfortunately, the Great Prophet of the Immortals—Balian eventually intervened in the decision-making regarding the Three-legged Golden Crow and approved the plan to build a large protection and regulation zone around the fledgling crow.

It was natural for Shu Hai to become the executor and supervisor of this plan.

Once the fledgling crow acted uncontrollably, Shu Hai would serve as the ultimate trump card, executing the Three-legged Golden Crow.

"Such a troublesome task should have been entrusted to Helong."

"That guy is meticulous by nature and enjoys the thrill of slaughter, the best candidate for this task no matter how you look at it."

Helong was also a mysterious creature among the Immortals, one of the few who derived pleasure from killing.

Ever since Yao Xin's Ascension to Divinity, Helong had become a staunch follower of Yao Xin, handling various complex matters for her.

Even after the Netherworld Celestial Monarch's return, Helong still sought opportunities for "reasonable slaughter," eventually venturing to other worlds.

After all, slaughtering in other worlds wouldn't have the interference of Great Prophet Balian or Death God Yao Xin.

"This is Great Prophet Balian's trust in you."

Standing beside Shu Hai, Feng Rong lightly shook her ears and said enviously.

Unlike Shu Hai, who was directly appointed by Balian, Feng Rong joined this mission through layers of screening and applications.

If not for Feng Rong's previous role as the person in charge of the "Abnormal High Temperature Area" regulation work, such a task would never have been hers.

"Besides, that Three-legged Golden Crow now only allows you to get close..."

"If you want to extract the core data of Demon Vanquishing Seven and figure out what happened before, only you have the chance to do it."

Hearing Feng Rong's words, Shu Hai suddenly drooped his head.

"I don't even understand what that little thing is thinking. We are supposed to be enemies..."

Shu Hai couldn't comprehend the fledgling crow's logic.

Clearly, he had destroyed Demon Vanquishing Seven, and it was his doing that led to its incomplete Rebirth...

Yet that little thing now only allowed him to approach, attacking any other Mountain and Sea People without hesitation.

"Perhaps... it sensed your good intentions!"

Unlike Shu Hai, who was caught up in the situation, Feng Rong, as an observer, clearly understood more.

"Under those circumstances, forcibly taking away the remnants of Demon Vanquishing Seven or killing the Three-legged Golden Crow thoroughly, both were opportunities you had."

"But you chose to do nothing and opted for appeasement."

At this point, Feng Rong's voice paused briefly.

"To be honest, if it weren't for your choice at the time, maybe Great Prophet Balian wouldn't have intervened in the decision-making regarding the Three-legged Golden Crow?"

In Feng Rong's impression, the Great Prophet of the Immortals had always been a legendary figure.

This legend was not only because of his great deeds but also because Balian hadn't been active in the Mountain and Sea Realm for a long time.

Intervening in this disposal plan for the Three-legged Golden Crow was Balian's only appearance in thousands of years.

This fact alone was enough to make those Mountain and Sea People with an eradication attitude choose to compromise.

"You're just overthinking it; I don't have that much influence."

Patting Feng Rong's shoulder, Shu Hai never thought he could influence Balian's decisions.

Because Balian was the first to walk out of the Fertile Land and witness the Creator's arrival.

His resolute will and far-reaching vision were beyond the reach of ordinary people.

"Regardless, the current priority is to retrieve the remnants of Demon Vanquishing Seven."

Thinking of this, Shu Hai felt quite troubled.

The fledgling crow guarded the remnants of Demon Vanquishing Seven relentlessly, intimidating and attacking anyone who tried to approach.

Even Shu Hai could only get as close as within ten steps.

"The analysts have analyzed the various data of the Three-legged Golden Crow..."

"Its physical attributes rival those of the most powerful Epic Creatures, and its body contains volatile Solar Particles..."

"According to the brain scan, it should now possess the intelligence of a seven-to-eight-year-old child."

"So as long as you can engage in effective dialogue with it, you have a high chance of persuading it to hand over the remnants of Demon Vanquishing Seven."

At this moment, Feng Rong finally delivered the first piece of good news Shu Hai had heard in a while.

"Is it like coaxing a child?"

Blinking unwittingly, Shu Hai fell into deep contemplation.

.....

"Is this the world of that Sun God?"

Crossing the barriers of time and space, Hua She, in the form of the Winged Serpent God, appeared in an entirely unfamiliar world.

This was a world dominated by flames.

A world where even the Supreme God was the "Fire God" of a Flame World.

Upon entering this world, Hua She experienced an unprecedented sense of joy, as the Solar Fire within her body leaped and burned uncontrollably.

"Xi He?"

As soon as Hua She looked up at the massive sun in the sky, a beautifully shaped Goddess slowly emerged from the sun.

Behind the Goddess, a blazing indeterminate flame reigned supreme over all beings, reaching the infinitely distant ends of dimensions.

That was the Supreme God of this world, a Supreme Fire God who had created this world with the power of flames.

He was not the Creator but had created a world with pure flame power.

It was He who took in Xi He, the Sun Lord from the Mountain and Sea Realm, and it was He who opened the time-space passage to the Mountain and Sea Realm.

This sheer power even made Hua She have the illusion that He was more terrifying than the Supreme Sun.

[No... that's not an illusion...]

Li Hao's voice quietly resonated in Hua She's heart, correcting a misconception.

[The Supreme Sun is authority, the source of life...]

[But this doesn't mean that other Supreme Gods cannot surpass the Supreme Sun.]

[By pushing Flame Power to the extreme, the Supreme Fire God you see now is the 'God of Destruction' who surpasses the Supreme Sun.]
