

The Growth 737

Chapter 737 19: Headless Angels

Gu Tu's escape didn't last long.

She had just run out of the city limits when she was blocked by the city guards who followed closely.

It was only then that Gu Tu realized that the other party had intentionally let her escape.

"Don't you all underestimate me a bit?"

Unclear whether in anger or nervousness, Gu Tu stared at the City Guardian in front of her.

This Guardian was neither Canglong nor MinAseerpentg She, but a gigantic Skeleton with a pair of bone wings.

Whether intentional or not, in this technologically advanced Mountain and Sea Realm, the Skeleton still maintained its most primitive form.

What was even more bizarre was that this bony figure with wings had no head.

Or more accurately, the Skeleton intentionally removed its skull, resulting in this headless skeletal appearance.

"The Mountain and Sea People never underestimate any 'invader'."

The tall figure floated in mid-air, its massive bone wings gently flapping...

When the headless Skeleton spoke, there was no trace of contempt in its tone.

"We just don't want to cause innocent casualties..."

Before the words even ended, the headless Skeleton suddenly appeared in front of Gu Tu.

"Now... the battle is just beginning!"

The structure of its right arm quickly transformed, a dark cannon's muzzle aimed directly at the close-encountered Gu Tu.

BOOM!!!

When pure energy burst from the cannon, Gu Tu hadn't even realized what happened.

Because the headless Skeleton's hand cannon was the most advanced Godslaying Armament.

Using the high-dimensional structure of a "Klein Bottle," it could launch attacks that cause substantial damage to Gods.

This attack was silent and targeted only Gods.

Even seasoned War Gods would be dumbfounded the first time they encountered such an attack.

——Artificial God Technology: Godslaying Cannon!

.....

"That headless guy! That's too ruthless!"

Seeing the Godslaying Cannon's attack from afar, MinAseerpentg She, rushing to the scene, couldn't help but shout.

Engaging in such a terrifying attack without officially confirming Gu Tu's identity.

That's not a regular procedure; a long follow-up report would be needed to justify the actions as reasonable.

"Hurry up!"

"Or else the 'Rabbit God' might really die soon!"

Seeing this, another Canglong who received the news hurriedly increased its speed.

Unfortunately, before the other city guards could reach the battlefield, an angry roar resounded through the heavens and earth.

"Mortal! You deserve to die!!!"

Accompanied by the roar, a moon suddenly appeared in the sky.

Although this newly appeared moon wasn't as large as the original moon of the Mountain and Sea Realm, it was close to the ground!

From the perspective of the City Guard, two-thirds of the view ahead was occupied by that moon.

Everyone could see clearly.

The cratered surface of that moon and the tangible Moon Essence it emitted.

Bathed in this lunar essence, the City Guard even felt their breathing becoming much smoother.

"True God? And a Moon God at that?"

Looking up at the sky, the headless Skeleton asked in slight surprise.

After just a moment of hesitation, the headless Skeleton unfolded its wings without hesitation.

Whoosh!

As the wings opened, a torrent of quantum storms surged from its body.

Subsequently, strands of super-quantum optical fibers extended into the Void, establishing a connection with the Artificial God hidden in higher dimensions.

Hum!

In an instant, the quantum storm also transformed into a tangible state visible to the naked eye.

Almost confronting that massive moon.

An Angel about five hundred meters tall with a wingspan of about seven hundred meters suddenly appeared in the material world.

Rumble...

As soon as this massive Angel appeared, it transformed the infinite quantum storm into holy light, descending.

The night seemed to be illuminated into day...

The enormous Moon Essence was also dispersed by this endless holy light...

At this moment, the Gu Tu opposite finally saw the full appearance of that Angel.

Clearly, it's an Angel known for its sacred and pure image.

Yet this Angel was, like the headless Skeleton, without a head.

Where the Angel's head would be was a natural-looking cut, revealing the state of blood vessels, muscles, and bones.

The chain armor on its body was beautiful and intricate, complemented by its hollow sacred patterns, making it appear exceptionally holy.

"So what if it's a Moon God?"

"In the Mountain and Sea Realm, Gods are never above others!"

In the headless Skeleton's whisper, its body gradually merged into the headless Angel.

With the super-quantum optical fibers, their actions gradually synchronized until the headless Skeleton was fully granted control.

— — Artificial God·Headless Angel!

"That lunatic! Don't overdo it!"

Upon seeing the headless Angel emerge, the nearby City Guards automatically slowed down.

As a typical representative of the "Martial Arts Sect" in Mountain and Sea Civilization, the strength of the headless Skeleton was undeniable.

Otherwise, it wouldn't have blocked the escaping Gu Tu ahead of the other City Guards.

However, the key problem was that the headless Skeleton, as part of the "Martial Arts Sect," never regarded Gods, not even with the most basic respect.

Unless it was a God with genuine achievements, the headless Skeleton wouldn't consider it significant.

Let alone, the Moon God appearing now was likely a God from the Outer Realm.

Such origin, in the eyes of the headless Skeleton, was probably no different from wild animals trying to attack humans.

To kill or not to kill depended entirely on the headless Skeleton's mood.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

In the following few minutes, everyone on the scene fully witnessed what it meant to be one-sidedly dominated.

On one side was the Artificial God exerting all its power, and on the other was the Moon God in a state of resurrection...

As the headless Angel punched the moon's surface again and again, the already cratered moon became even more furrowed.

Is this it?

And the headless Angel was not even using any other Godslaying Armament, attacking solely on its power.

Evidently, the headless Skeleton knew it couldn't kill Gu Tu at this time.

However, even though it couldn't kill, teaching the other side a lesson was still necessary.

BOOM! BOOM! BOOM!

The moon's surface began to flake off.

A face, twisted in pain, seemed to appear on the moon's surface.

This one-sided beating continued until the other city guards arrived, and only then did the headless Angel gradually stop.

At this point, Gu Tu, the daughter of Di Jun, one of the Twelve Lunar Gods, was thus captured.