

The Growth 757

Chapter 757 15: Sanctified by Flesh

Nagisa's path towards the Void Layer was completely undisguised.

Even the Epic Creatures along the way were alarmed, and Dongjun naturally could not be oblivious.

Using the authority of the Spring God, every plant and animal Nagisa encountered on his path became Dongjun's eyes.

Watching Nagisa's wanton slaughter, Dongjun empathized with the anger rising within.

That anger stemmed from the slain Epic Creatures...

And from the panic of the plants and animals affected along the way...

As the most approachable and compassionate of the Jiuge Gods, Dongjun despised such senseless killing the most.

Thus, even knowing Nagisa was also a victim of the Divine Lamp.

Dongjun still found it difficult to view this boy, who had taken an extreme path into the Demon Path, in a positive light.

"Your own experiences are no excuse to vent your malice on the innocent."

In an instant, Dongjun's figure vanished from the Void Layer.

Meanwhile, on Nagisa's inevitable path.

A gigantic Azure Serpent rose into the sky, with a misty blue emerging from the earth, encircling the serpent like clouds.

This was the materialized Life Force, the concretized vitality of the earth.

Only Dongjun, as the Spring God with a heart of compassion, could effortlessly gain the support of all beings in a world not inherently theirs.

"Who are you!?"

Halting his charge instantly, Nagisa warily gazed at the Azure Serpent rising before him.

He could sense that this serpent was different from typical Epic Creatures—it was a God, and a God overseeing life at that.

"I originally came for the Divine Lamp..."

"But now, I am merely a nameless God who disagrees with your brutal actions."

Perched in mid-air, Dongjun's voice wasn't loud, yet it resonated clearly in Nagisa's ears.

Particularly when mentioning the Divine Lamp, Dongjun specifically glanced at the Bone Furnace Lamp in Nagisa's hand.

In that Bone Furnace Lamp, Dongjun sensed a peculiar Divine Power.

It was evident that this Divine Power granted the Bone Furnace Lamp the ability to fulfill the holder's wishes.

Concurrently, Dongjun seemed to comprehend the essence of the Genie.

It was a God existing in another form, one that fulfilled wishes for others.

Compared to orthodox Gods, the difference lay only in their responsibilities and abilities.

The only confusion for Dongjun was that this Divine Power seemed to originate from the Divine Lamp, not from the Genie within.

The Genie wasn't the master of the Divine Power.

At most, it was merely the operational mechanism of this power, not even qualifying as a user.

After all, the true users of this power to fulfill wishes were Divine Lamp holders like Feng Sheng and Nagisa.

"Another meddlesome fledgling God..."

Upon learning Dongjun's origin, Nagisa scoffed disdainfully.

The next moment, Nagisa flashed to appear directly in front of Dongjun and then fiercely punched the massive Azure Serpent.

Bang!

In a flash, a loud roar echoed across most of the sky.

It was at this moment that Dongjun realized Nagisa's attack was purely a burst of raw Power.

Without any Extraordinary Power from the Ascension Ladder, Nagisa's punch was solely due to his astonishing physical prowess.

It's no surprise that the gigantic Azure Serpent formed by Dongjun was punched towards the ground.

But the relentless Nagisa again stomped on the air, his entire body crashing towards the serpent like a meteorite.

"A battle like this... I've never encountered before!"

Though hailed as the "Spring God," Dongjun was far from a God who didn't know how to fight.

On the contrary, Dongjun was revered as a "Dongjun" for sweeping away countless Evil Demons like a rising sun.

A typical God with such feats would generally be honored as a War God.

Yet, due to Dongjun's personality, people intentionally or unintentionally overlooked achievements comparable to a War God's.

"What!?"

Seeing the serpent clearly at a disadvantage, yet showing no signs of panic, Nagisa instinctively felt a jolt of shock.

Soon after, Nagisa understood why the Azure Serpent was so composed.

Swoosh!

A sharp sonic boom emitted from the serpent's tail.

Although without gravity, Dongjun forcibly twisted his body, swinging his tail like a long whip.

Rumble...

The clouds were scattered by the shockwave, and a strong cyclone swept in all directions.

The surrounding trees were uprooted and toppled due to the residual impact of their attacks.

As for the nearby creatures?

They had already frantically tried to flee this forest when the first sonic boom sounded.

Bang! Bang! Bang!

Thus, during the ensuing descent.

Both sides of the combat revealed an unimaginable level of strength beyond typical creatures.

Without utilizing any Extraordinary Power, they created a scene akin to a Celestial Calamity through mere physical collision.

The large disparity in size no longer seemed significant at this moment.

Rumble!

Until both sides fell completely from the sky, creating a huge crater on the ground.

This brief, fierce confrontation temporarily concluded, leaving only dust and falling leaves narrating the recent battle.

"Phew!"

Letting out a long breath.

Nagisa felt all his muscles twitching and aching.

The earlier brief clash once again squeezed the potential within Nagisa as a Metamorphosis Species.

"You're somewhat different from those fledgling Gods I've encountered before..."

When Nagisa looked up at Dongjun again, the disdain in his gaze had vanished, replaced by an unprecedented vigilance.

"You're also impressive!"

Slowly coiling up from the pit, the massive Azure Serpent spoke, flicking its tongue.

"If I hadn't seen it with my own eyes, it would be hard to imagine..."

"There truly exists a being that attains the 'God' level by mere physical prowess."

Nagisa was neither an Ascender nor a God but a genuine mortal being.

However, he had developed his body's capabilities to near perfection, achieving a synergy that was far greater than the sum of its parts.

"Hmph! That's the greatest difference between me and cowards like you!"

"Our body's functions are so intricate, the most precious Treasure given to us by the Creator!"

"You guard this greatest gem yet venture far to chase outside Power, it's a disgrace to the Creator's grace!"

Upon hearing Nagisa's statement, Dongjun finally realized—the other party was evidently a representative of the Primordial Sect, pursuing raw physical Power.

Abandoning all external authorities, unwilling to seek outside help...

Purely excavating one's inner potential to achieve a supreme state of sanctified flesh.

Such is the so-called "Primordial Sect," an extreme path seeking transformation and breakthroughs from within.
