

The Growth 80

Chapter 80 - 8: Divine Spirits' Gossip (3/5)

After briefly adapting to the mode of the "God of Wisdom," Li Hao immediately began his study and transformation work.

Under the astonished gaze of Hua She, it took Li Hao less than ten minutes to learn programming from scratch.

His speed was so fast it seemed like he merely glanced through the introductory programming tutorial and already knew how to write a complete and effectively running program.

Honestly speaking, if there was more content in that introductory programming textbook, Li Hao's learning progress would have been even more astonishing.

Therefore, when facing more hard-core and knowledge-intensive fields like electronic information engineering, Li Hao's learning progress faltered significantly.

This was a matter of knowledge reserves rather than intelligence.

Unless Li Hao planned to start from scratch, cramming all computer-related electronic information engineering technologies to build a technology tree uniquely his own.

Otherwise, he could only find ways to learn more and then flexibly apply and innovate based on that foundation.

Fortunately, even learning some basic knowledge from books was enough for the inspired Li Hao to further upgrade and modify his computer.

In this aspect, the computer assimilated with the "Chronicles of Time" was particularly advantageous.

Processor, graphics card, memory, hard drive, power supply, and even the appearance of the case...

No need to purchase additional parts; as long as Li Hao could design the corresponding blueprints, the computer could automatically change its structure at a microscopic level.

In a sense, this was almost as if whatever he wished would come true.

.....

"Unfortunately, it still can't compare to 'Civilization Game Invitation'."

After a bout of tinkering and once again distributing his attributes evenly, Li Hao reverted to his human form.

This basically signified he had completed the software and hardware upgrades of this computer.

Li Hao hadn't forgotten that when he first used the "Civilization Game Invitation," the upgrades and modifications to his phone were fully automated.

It was entirely unlike his current state where he had to tinker for half a day to achieve a barely satisfactory result.

It should be noted that the "Chronicles of Time" is a truly epic-level divine artifact.

Whereas the "Civilization Game Invitation," at best, is a rare disposable artifact mass-produced by Celestial Father Hathor.

The gap between the two is as wide as a chasm.

This also means that in terms of technology, Li Hao currently has a chasm-like gap with Celestial Father Hathor.

"Next up is the second attempt."

Li Hao took out his phone, then activated the wireless transfer function on both the computer and phone, choosing to upload the "Civilization Game" app to the computer.

The result was unsurprising; the "Civilization Game" automatically adapted to the computer's architecture, generating its own computer program on the desktop.

This adaptive performance once again filled Li Hao with envy.

"The potential for manipulation for this thing is just too vast..."

When Li Hao clicked on the "Civilization Game" on the computer desktop, a familiar login interface appeared before him.

Just glancing sideways at Hua She, who was still hanging from the desk lamp, she obediently crawled in front of the computer and voluntarily helped Li Hao pass the verification.

This obedient behavior was a stark contrast to the arrogance Hua She displayed in front of Huo Dou.

"Sure enough, it's just a simple reproduction, isn't it?"

Seeing the familiar beautiful serpent image appear on the computer desktop.

Li Hao understood this wasn't a matter of him copying the "Civilization Game Invitation" again.

Rather, this computer had become a terminal for the "Civilization Game," while its main body was still his phone.

Of course, to adapt to the changes on the computer, the "Civilization Game's" operating method and interface had also changed, but the content inside remained the same.

"The big screen sure is more comfortable to look at..."

Casually clicking into the "Official Hall" of the "Civilization Game," Li Hao habitually started browsing through the content inside.

Although, as before, there were many content interfaces that Li Hao couldn't access, the publicly available information from the "All Heavens and Myriad Realms" was enough to broaden his horizons.

—Secrets about the union of gods and mortals...

—A Divine King from a certain Divine Pantheon getting caught in an affair by the Goddess...

—A hero ascended to the Divine Throne due to his achievements, only to become the Dark Goddess's captive...

—The Death God descended to the earthly realm intending to restart the apocalypse, only to be trapped in Eternal Purgatory by his followers...

—The Golden Tree in the Golden Realm bloomed, attracting several demigods to ascend to divinity, becoming a joke among the gods...

—The "God of Technology and Glory" in the Nim World attempted to spark a revolution, only to be dethroned by mortals who mastered Truth Technology...

Reading these eye-catching sensational news, the mysterious "gods" in the eyes of the world seemed to become less inscrutable.

Apart from a very few gods, the vast majority of gods have their own joys and sorrows.

However, in many cases, events in the mortal world hardly interest the gods, much less attract their attention and gaze.

Only events involving the True Gods at the same level can cause the gods to display a more human and emotional side.

"It seems gods are quite gossip-hungry..."

Glancing over those obviously clickbait content interfaces.

Li Hao was somewhat surprised, yet it seemed reasonable to him.

"Let's see, where did I leave off last time?"

Scrolling down the "Official Hall," Li Hao quickly found the "Headlines of All Realms" he saw last night.

Unfortunately, the headline content on the "Headlines of All Realms" had long been updated.

Information about himself and the Mountain and Sea Realm had already sunk to an unknown place.

Finally managing to find his browsing history, Li Hao used the browsing history to re-enter the content interface he saw yesterday.

Unexpectedly, the popularity of that news had clearly waned.

An event of the level like the "Return of the Ancient God" in the "All Heavens and Myriad Realms" could only maintain a single day's heat.

Fortunately, many gods were still paying attention to this matter.

Thus, Li Hao could gauge the impact of himself and the Mountain and Sea Realm based on the reactions of other gods.

"Does no god care about the fusion of the Mountain and Sea Realm and the Netherworld?"

"Is it because they are unaware? Or is such an event common in the world of gods?"

As he scrolled through the comments below, Li Hao noticed that the gods' understanding of the Classic of Mountains and Seas seemed limited to the "Return of the Ancient God."

As for more information?

It was all blocked by the persistent temporal and spatial turbulence outside the Mountain and Sea Realm.