Chapter 121 Lillee Is Pregnant

Lillee Is Pregnant

Chapter 121 Lillee Is Pregnant

"Let's visit Mum." Tinsley yawned lazily while staring at Jarek who had just walked out of the bathroom.

Jarek froze in his step after hearing Tinsley's words. "It is still morning, don't you need to rest?" he quickly changed the topic which Tinsley noticed.

"Jarek, you know that you shouldn't prolong meeting Mom again. It's already been a long time. How do you think she'll feel?" she asked while pinning her eyes on him.

Jarek sighed while refusing to meet her gaze.

"Mom had just gotten healed. How do you think she'll feel..."

"Let's go after you've rested enough," Jarek said which made her sit up eagerly but she winced immediately after she did.

Jarek had poured all his emotions on her last night and he didn't let her go easily. She sighed and glared at him. "I have rested enough."

"You have rested enough?" Jarek suddenly replied with a cunning smirk which made Tinsley glare at him.

"Don't even think about it, lustful President Jarek." She retorted angrily. She understands that gaze of his which was filled with lust.

"Wife, I'm being innocent." He replied.

"What innocent?" She glared at him angrily while massaging her aching waist. He suddenly reached out to her with an innocent expression. "Wife."

Tinsley smacked his hand away and glared at him.

This man had locked her down on the first night. No relationship! No engagement! Nothing! Nothing!

Instead, he had thrown his seeds into her making her pregnant.

Remembering it made her filled with grievances. This man had stolen her teen and youth without a sweat. "Don't call me your wife..." 'We haven't gotten married yet,' was what Tinsley wanted to say but before she could complete her words, Jarek suddenly pinned her with a cold glare.

"Who did you say isn't my wife?" He asked with a dark and menacing stare. Even though Tinsley wanted to talk to defend herself, she found herself unable to under his cold stare.

"Cat got your tongue, honey?" He chuckled darkly while holding her chin tightly.

Tinsley's lips parted a couple of times in distress trying to find the right word to say. "Hubby, it's not like what you think." Tinsley's lips parted to defend herself but Jarek had pressed down before she could.

"Wife, what do you think about giving our triplet another younger triplet?" Jarek suddenly kissed her cheeks with a cunning glint which made her tongue-tied.

"Younger triplet?" Tinsley gulped in disbelief but Jarek nodded innocently.

"Jarek..."

Before she could complete her words, Jarek kissed her lips hard.

Naturally, it was the evening that Tinsley later woke up to Jarek's caress.

"Wife, you sleep this late. I'm afraid that we can't see mom anymore." He sighed with a fake sad face which made her punch his face unhappily.

This jerk! He was the reason she had woken up so late. Tinsley suddenly had the inkling that Jarek had purposely made love to her in order to skip meeting with Annabel.

Tinsley gritted her teeth angrily while thinking that how can they not see Annabel? "Really? What's the time?" Tinsley asked while feigning a nonchalant smile.

"7:59 pm," Jarek replied, which made her smile.

"Just the right time, we can meet at 8:30 pm. I'm sure Mom will agree to meet with us." Tinsley said with a proud smile.

Before Jarek could recover himself, Tinsley picked up Jarek's phone and began to speak with Annabel.

"Mom said she's in the same hotel with us." Tinsley grinned happily. "What a happy coincidence! Let's meet her."

Tinsley ended up being carried on Jarek's back due to her aching body.

Annabel smirked at Tinsley when she saw Tinsley being carried by a cold-looking Jarek which made Tinsley embarrassed.

They all sat down in the spacious living room when they entered. Jarek and Annabel fell silent due to awkwardness which made Tinsley sigh. "Mom, how's your stay abroad?" She asked which broke the ice.

Lillee smiled after seeing that the guards ate all her food without leaving a speck on the plates.

She quickly packed up the plate and returned to the kitchen to wash them but she had just entered the kitchen when she suddenly began to nauseate.

Lillee covered her mouth with her hand, she was having a strong urge to vomit.

She quickly cleared the things she had done before placing her phone on the dining table.

She ran to the bathroom to vomit out everything in her stomach when she couldn't take it anymore.

Lillee spent more time in the bathroom vomiting than she thought she would. By the time she came out, her face was now pale.

"Conrad?" Lillee was stunned to see Conrad silently sitting on the bed with her phone in hand. Lillee was relieved upon remembering that she had remembered to clear all the traces of what she had done on her phone.

"Conrad, why are you back so soon?" She asked in a weak voice.

Conrad threw the phone on the bed. "What's wrong with you?" He asked her but she smiled weakly.

"Nothing. I'm just..."

Before she could complete her words, Conrad stood up and left which made her face fall. Lillee thought he would be concerned but it turns out that he wasn't.

Feeling dizzy and weak, Lillee closed her eyes and decided to rest for a while to catch her breath. She didn't even know when she fell asleep.

It was only a while before she woke up to a light pat.

"I'm sorry... I..." Lillee began to panic in fear when she saw a cold-looking Conrad. She didn't expect that she would fall asleep.

"Check her health." Conrad suddenly said which made Lillee turn to the side and she saw Conrad's personal doctor standing in the room.

With that, Conrad turned to leave the room.

It was only a while after that the doctor returned from the room. "Doctor, how is her health?" Conrad asked while smoking cigarettes silently.

"Mrs. Lillee is pregnant." The doctor replied which made him stunned.

"Lillee is pregnant? How many months?" Conrad asked silently, stunned.

Chapter 122 The Movie Premiere

The Movie Premiere

Chapter 122 The Movie Premiere

"Five weeks." The doctor replied which made him nod his head.

"I could see that Mrs. Lillee is stressed..."

"I know." He brushed the doctor off.

After so much marketing and a lot of things, the Taming Her crew finally released the Taming Her premiere at J Cinema.

Most of the actors of Taming Her crew were excited about the premiere so many of them were going to celebrate the premiere at J Cinema, one of the biggest cinemas in the country and continent.

For the movie promotion, J Media invited top actors, critics, directors, media houses, etc. To the movie premiere. It was definitely the most talked about topic.

"So little Triplets, you'll have to put on a face mask which you won't be taking off yourself. Mom and Dad would do so at the right time, are my instructions clear?" Tinsley asked the Triplets and they noded sensibly.

It was her first movie premiere, so Tinsley was excited to show her family what she had been busy doing.

Annabel had been invited, her husband and her children would also be attending. "You'll be meeting with grandma..."

"Grandma?" The triplet exclaimed happily and Tinsley nodded.

"So you have to be good, okay?" Tinsley asked and they all nodded sensibly.

"Wife?" Jarek came out of the room dressed in a black suit, matching Tinsley's clingy black jersey with slash cutouts and multi-strap.

"We are ready." Tinsley stood up after helping the triplet put on their face mask.

"Hubby."

Jarek beckoned one of the bodyguards to take pictures of the family while they posed. It was a cute pose filled with love.

It was only a while after that the family stopped taking pictures. "Let's frame this." Tinsley pointed at a picture where the family was smiling and holding hands fondly.

"They're all beautiful, we'll frame them all." He told her which made her nod.

"Mom, Dad can I see?" Ariel blinked her eyes and sat on Jarek's lap.

"Mom, can I?" Jason sat on Tinsley's lap while Mason sat on Jarek's.

The family arrived at J Media, five minutes before the premiere and their arrival caused a lot of huge stir especially when the family was all putting on matching colors. The boys put on the same style as Jarek while Ariel was putting on the same style with Tinsley but hers were designed into a child and decent style.

'White Tigress! President Jarek!' The arrival of Tinsley caused a lot of stir. The fans kept on yelling

Tinsley and Jarek's names as they all walked the red carpet

There were even many fans begging to see the triplet's face but Tinsley refused because she doesn't want her children to be taken online.

Tinsley answered some questions that the media asked her while Jarek was so cold that the media didn't have the guts to ask him a question.

One reporter suddenly turned to the little triplet but when Jarek stared at him, he quickly turned away.

"Tinsley." Coincidentally Annabel, Onyx, and Rory arrived at the time the family was about to enter the cinema.

Tinsley stopped in her tracks and waved toward them excitedly. The three posed while the family waited for them.

"You sure you don't want to wait for me inside?" Tinsley asked Jarek but he shook his head. "I'll wait for you." He said to her which made her smile at him. He squeezed her hand and she smiled at him.

A few minutes later, the three walked toward them elegantly. "Aunt Rory. Uncle Onyx." The triplet jumped at the two immediately as they entered the cinema.

Rory and Onyx chatted with the happy triplet for a while. "Dad, who's this aunty?" Jason whispered while staring at Annabel.

Jarek's lips twitched when he heard Jason calling Annabel Aunty. Well, it wasn't Jason's fault, Annabel really looked young as if she was in her thirties and no one would know that she was already old with her poise, face, skin, etc.

"Guess." Jarek teased the little boy which made him stare at his dad boredly.

"It's simple." He replied, which made Jarek arch his brows.

"Speak."

"UHM. Aunty looks young so she's either daddy's elder sister but mom said we'll meet grandma today so Auntie is likely our grandma." Jason explained which made Annabel chuckle because she heard their conversation.

"So smart." Annabel bent to Jason's level and stretched her hand.

"Hi, I'm Jason," Jason replied and handshake Annabel

"I'm Annabel, your grandma." She introduced.

Before Jason could say anything, Mason suddenly held Annabel's hand.

"Grandma is so young and beautiful." He remarked which made her laugh.

"So cute." She said and hugged the both of them happily. "I'm Mason." Mason flashed her a grin. Since they were backstage, Tinsley had helped them take off their mask.

"No matter how I see it, I feel like Mason would grow up to be a famous and handsome boy who knows how to use words to catch anyone," Rory stated with a smile. "While Jason would turn out to be the iceberg handsome brother who'll make a girl blush just by a look," Rory stated which made Tinsley chuckle.

"While Ariel will be the little princess surrounded by possessive brothers and a father who would basically murder a guy who dared to set eyes on her with a cold gaze. Poor Ariel." Rory commented.

Tinsley stared at Jarek with an inquisitive look but he quickly looked away while thinking that he'll definitely do so to any boy who dares try to steal his little princess.

"I'm Ariel, Grandma." Ariel smile beautifully which made Annabel's heart melt.

"My son really stole Tinsley away unfairly. Tinsley you must definitely not make it easy for him whenever he proposes to you." Annabel said while holding her grandchildren.

"Mom," Jarek called while Tinsley snickered silently. "Yes, I..."

"Wife, you walk to the premiere today, right?" He asked her with a dark look.

"Perhaps, we can break a record during our wedding." He said, which made Tinsley pout.

"So unfair, Mom. Jarek is always bullying me." Tinsley runs toward Annabel's side.

Annabel was about to reply when a knock sounded and Rylee poked her head in after she was told to come in.

After she did so, Walker, Mr. Hart, and Mrs. Hart came in while holding a flower and present. "Sister-in-law, brother. Miss." Rylee greeted them with a smile before turning to the triplet.

Surprisingly, Annabel didn't say anything while Jarek ignored Mr. Hart.

Chapter 123 Visiting Her

Visiting Her

Chapter 123 Visiting Her

"Conrad, I..."

"Didn't I ask you not to do any job these days? You're pregnant." Even though Conrad's voice was harsh it was filled with caring.

"I'm sorry. I was just used to it." Lillee stood up and placed the napkin on her hand on the table with an apologetic expression.

"Whatever." Conrad snorted and picked up his suit.

"You haven't eaten, master." Lillee suddenly cried out behind him. His expression conflicted but he left without taking a glance at Lillee.

Lillee smirked knowing that it was only a matter of time before he succumbed to her. Her expression turned sharp and she stared back at the TV where Tinsley's Taming Her premiere was being reshown over and over.

"Today will be the release of the movie at the cinema nationwide." Lillee's fist clenched unhappily.

The release of the Taming Her movie made all cinemas booked. The Taming Her cinema ticket was all sold out before 30 minutes of release which broke a record for the most sold-out drama on Ryle.

The billionaire's deed had learned their lesson during the teaser period so they scheduled their premiere to be released a month and a half later. Despite all that happened to her, Lillee was still determined to go in order to reclaim her crown back because this was the perfect period to do so.

Ring Ring.

Lillee's expression changed when she picked up her phone. Constance was the one calling her again to demand money.

"This bitch!" Constance had been demanding Lillee's money ever since the day Lillee sent her ten million.

After that ten million, Constance demanded 15 million and 20 million.

Because Constance wanted to buy the people's favor, she had been acting like a luxurious girl, she kept on booking expensive hotels in order to make people believe that she was rich. She also loved creating content for rich girls so that fans can like her.

"What did you want?" Lillee asked angrily upon picking up the call.

"Don't give me an attitude. Your videos are still with me." Constance uttered unhappily which made Lillee snort secretly.

"If you are worrying about my attitude, I'll cut off the call now." Lillee threatened which made Constance scoff.

"Thirty million." Constance suddenly dropped which made Lillee's lips part in a gasp. Even though she doesn't have up to that amount in her account anymore.

"Rubbish! Where should I get it?" Lillee questioned with anger.

"Do you need my advice on that?" She replied sarcastically.

Lillee was so annoyed that she cut off the call. She began to pace around the room amidst Constance's call. After a few minutes of thinking, Lillee's eyes suddenly lit up and she quickly picked up Constance's call.

"What did you say? My hand is hovering on the send button." Constance's smirk was heard.

Lillee clenched her fist at the threat but she calmed down knowing that the problem will soon be solved.

"I don't have money in my account..."

Constance's voice turned harsh. "What are you telling me..."

"Listen." Lillee interrupted with displeasure. "I only have it at hand. I'll meet up with you this week, is that okay with you?" She questioned which made Constance frown.

"Are you being real? Don't play games with me, I have your videos at hand." Constance mentioned with a smug voice.

Lillee clenched her fist tightly but she was able to calm herself. "Have I ever lied to you before?" She asked which made Constance grin.

"Yes, you're right." She replied before cutting off the call.

Lillee smiles widely. Well, Constance had repeatedly pushed her button, it was time for her to pay.

"Mom, we want to visit Grandma." Ariel held Tinsley's hand with a pout.

"Dad, we want to visit Grandma." Mason and Jason turned to Jarek seriously. The children knew it was very easy to talk to Tinsley but Jarek was the one who was difficult to talk to.

"Why should I permit you to?" Jarek began to tease them which made Tinsley's lips twitch. It couldn't be that Jarek was trying to make a bargain with the triplet, was he? Tinsley couldn't help thinking that way because, well, Jarek was fond of that "Because. Because she's our grandma. And it's our right." Mason replied.

"And because we did well at school this term," Jason replied seriously.

"Besides, we were at our best character also." Ariel also replied with a pout.

"Mom and Dad can also go on a vacation without us," Jason replied seriously which made Tinsley burst into laughter because she couldn't hold it anymore.

"Oh, that's an interesting reason you have there but it's not enough." Jarek suddenly said which made them pout in disbelief.

"Dad." They stomped their feet childishly before turning to Tinsley. The triplet batted their eyelashes at Tinsley and quickly ran to hold her hand. "Mom."

Tinsley was immediately bought by their cuteness. She bent down to their level and pulled their cheeks fondly before running her hands through their hair. "Okay, I'll speak to Dad." She uttered which made them jump in excitement.

"Yay." With that, they began to leave without paying Jarek any attention.

"I told you Mom will convince Dad if we tell Mom," Mason whispered with a bragging tone which made Jarek and Tinsley's lips twitch because they could clearly hear Mason's voice.

"Too cunning. Mason is really cunning." Jarek massages his forehead.

"I guess he took that trait from you," Tinsley replied leisurely while typing something on her phone. Her eyes suddenly lit up. "Great, the triplet will be happy. Mom is on her way to pick them up." Tinsley was about to scurry out of the room when Jarek's hand suddenly wrapped around her waist, bringing her to him.

"What are you doing?" Tinsley questioned.

"Taming Her broke another record, wife. You're helping me make more money." He uttered and placed a kiss on her neck.

"Whatever belongs to you belongs to me." Tinsley grinned at him which made him smile.

"You are right, everything belongs to White Tigress." He added, causing her to grin. She tried to part from him while saying, "I will inform the triplets..."

"Honey, we should celebrate our vacation starting from next tomorrow. Where do you think we should go?" Jarek asked Tinsley while his lips kept on kissing her neck.

"I'm good with your arrangement," Tinsley replied happily.

"Alright." Jarek's lips curved up happily. "I'm inviting the crew out for dinner to celebrate the success..."

"My time is all booked. I can't go." Tinsley pouted.

"What's wrong?" Jarek suddenly asked which made her pout.

"My manager is a bully." She replied and scurried out of the room before he could say anything which made him chuckle. Tinsley silently snickered once she left the room.

"Why are you snickering?" Jarek suddenly walked out of the room and asked her which made her freeze.

She quickly wiped off her grin and stared at him in return, "What are you doing here?" she asked.

"The William's family have been following you and doing their best in order to get your attention but the bodyguards have been preventing them from getting your attention, do you want to see them?" Jarek asked her seriously.

Chapter 124 The Accident

The Accident

Chapter 124 The Accident

Even though Jarek doesn't want Tinsley to relate with William's family, he knew that it still fell on Tinsley's choice and he would support her no matter her choice.

Tinsley fell silent before she shook her head. "What do I need to see them for? They're not here for me, they're here for their company." She replied nonchalantly.

Jarek nodded at her words and was about to leave only for her to suddenly grab his hands. "What?"

"I want to see them." She suddenly remarked which made him furrowed his brows but he quickly pretended to be fine.

"Wait! What's the status of William's company?" She asked

"At the edge of bankruptcy. A mysterious person is secretly buying the company's shares which left them in panic. Also, the investors had told them they only have three more days to turn the tide over or else the chairman seat of William's company will no longer belong to Mr. William." Jarek explained which made her eyes lit up.

"Here's the perfect opportunity," Tinsley exclaimed. She was so excited and she looked forward to meeting with her parents.

"I'll schedule a meeting with them tomorrow morning," Tinsley uttered and scurried toward the triplet room.

Jarek shook his head in amusement. He only had a feeling that Tinsley would be causing trouble. Now, he was interested in leaving with her but that is if his wife will let him follow.

"Grandma is on her way," Tinsley announced to the triplet, making them cheer happily.

Mason turned to Jason and whispered, "I'll play your games first, deal?" He asked "Deal," Jason replied and they shook each other's hands.

Tinsley arched her brows wondering what they were talking about, but she decided not to ask since it was just a deal between the two.

"Ariel, what are you doing?" Tinsley asked Ariel gently, seeing that she was focused on her pad.

"Dad gave me homework," Ariel replied, which made Tinsley more confused.

"Dad give you one also?" She asked Jason and Mason and they nodded.

"So you're not doing it?" She asked them both.

"Huh, we are visiting Grandma. There's no need to submit them now, when we are back from the holiday we can." Jason replied sensibly and returned to packing his things.

Tinsley couldn't help but think that the reason the triplet had demanded the holiday was because of this.

"Dad gave you a date, right?" Tinsley asked and they all nodded. "So, he'll be demanding you to submit it then." She advised, which made them shrug.

"No worries." They replied nonchalantly even though inwardly they were thinking that 'Dad and Mom will forget the homework during their vacation. Let's have fun with Grandma.

It was a few minutes after the children done packing that Annabel showed up. "Grandma." They all hurried to Annabel to hug her. "Welcome." They greeted her happily.

Annabel hugged them in return before placing a kiss on each of their cheeks. "I missed you. Have you been good to Mom and Dad?" She asked and they nodded sensibly. "Yes, Grandma."

"Here. Grandma bought this." With that, she handed them some of their favorite snacks. Before Tinsley could blink, she saw the maids bringing in expensive toys, dresses, study materials, etc., for the kids that Annabel bought them.

"Mom. This is too much." Tinsley gasped in disbelief.

Annabel scrunches up her nose playfully. "Well nothing is too much for my grandkids, am I right?" She turned to the triplet and they hugged her after nodding their heads.

"Mom." Jarek walks down the stairs with a frown.

"Is anything wrong?" Annabel straightens up while the children hold her hand.

"Mr. Hart had an accident, Walker just told me." He told them.

Tinsley frowned in concern. "How? That's so sudden! I hope it's not much."

"I heard it was a setup but he doesn't want us to investigate. Besides, he wants to see us." Jarek said while looking at Annabel.

Annabel looked away with a calm expression. "We're leaving, cuties. Wave Mom and Dad goodbye."

She said to the triplet, a stance to show Jarek that she won't be going to the hospital, and soon they left.

"Do you think Mom will check on him?" Tinsley asked while following Jarek back to the room. Jarek was preparing to go to the company.

"I don't know," Jarek replied.

"What about you? Will you visit Dad?" She asked him only for him to scrunch his brows.

"There's no reason to, his children are..."

"Shhhh!" Tinsley shut his lips with a kiss. "Maybe, Dad had something to tell you. A person in the hospital bed, hm? Let's fulfill his wishes." She replied while holding his hand.

Jarek frowned in unwillingness which made Tinsley pout and blinked her eyes at him.

Jarek became unhappy, "The image of that man will ruin my day..."

"Don't talk about your dad like that, okay?" Tinsley smacked his chest playfully. "Alright, let's make a deal." Tinsley gritted her teeth unhappily.

Jarek smiled happily and leaned on the bed calmly, he always love making a deal with Tinsley, "Let me hear your deal." He replied.

"Well, I have a secret I'm hiding from you." She uttered in a childish voice which made him furrowed his brows.

Jarek's expression turned cold, and his hand suddenly wrapped around her waist. He brought her toward him before placing her on his lap which made her heart begin to pound.

"Let me know what it was." He asked in a calm voice while his hands began to play around her body.

"Jarek. It's not necessarily a secret." She uttered in a tiny voice while trying to shrink away from him.

"Oh, I understand. Still, I want to hear." He told her which made her bite her lips helplessly.

"I lied about Brigitta earlier." She suddenly spat out hurriedly and tried to stand up but he held her waist tighter.

"Now, I just realized that my wife can also rap. Let's sing that again." He nudged calmly which almost made her cry.

Chapter 125 Mr Hart

Mr Hart

Chapter 125 Mr Hart

"UHM." Tinsley couldn't help regretting her choice. She didn't know he would pay attention to her secret like that. "I lied about Brigitta earlier." She gently replied. "Can I leave?" She said and tried to stand up but his hands held her calmly.

"You won't lie without a reason, right? Let me know the reason." He told her while his hand began to play naughtily.

"Jarek, I... I just wanted to have a rest." Her face turned red and she was panting amidst words.

Jarek was satisfied by her reactions. "That is not the reason." He coldly replied and bit her lower lips to signify that he was unhappy about her lying.

"You're just bullying me." She replied unhappily.

Jarek suddenly placed her on the bed and climbed on top of her. "Wife, I don't keep a secret from you so you can't keep a secret from me. If you want to do so, I have to extract it from you." He replied which made her glare at him.

"Bullshit! Who hid Lillee's matter from me?"

Jarek pecked the sleeping Tinsley's lips before leaving the mansion, in a suit.

"President?" The driver

asked Jarek.

"Globe Hospital," Jarek replied and closed his eyes. He had promised Tinsley that he'll go, how can he not?

Jarek chuckled upon remembering Tinsley. Well, he was so fortunate to have her. Even though he knew he sounded selfish, he was happy that the event with Conrad happened or else they'll never have met.

Jarek picked up his phone and dialed assistant Jacob's number, "How's it going?" He asked Assistant Jacob.

"Président, we have 50% shares of Norton's company. We have the highest share currently." Assistant Jacob replied.

"That's not enough. Gather 5% more and tell those investors to keep attending the meeting as if they've never sold their shares." Jarek explained which made Assistant Jacob reply with, "Yes."

"How about the William's company?"

"President, we currently hold a 40% share. Some of the investors don't agree to sell their shares."

Assistant Jacob explained what Jarek understood.

"If they don't accept our offer when we are being nice to them, treat them like we treat the Norton's investor," Jarek replied, which assistant Jacob understood as finding those investors' black secrets and threatening them with it.

"Before that, release those black materials of the two companies to the air, the investors will beg us themselves," Jarek explained.

Norton and William's family didn't grow to that level by just walking the pure road, they've also done shady deals that should be hidden from the public eyes and all of it was currently in Jarek's hands.

"All at once?" Assistant Jacob questions with disbelief and Jarek cuts off the call which signifies that he wanted him to upload it all at once.

"President, we have arrived here." The driver suddenly said when they arrived at the hospital.

Jarek's expression changed but he tried to be calm. He got down from the car and began to walk to the hospital.

Mr Hart currently stayed at one of the VVIP private wards and when Jarek arrived there he saw Rylee, Walker, and Mrs. Hart in front of the room with worried expressions.

"Brother." Walker and Rylee turned to Jarek and Jarek nodded to them and Mrs. Hart.

Mrs Hart was good to him when he was young so he respected her a lot.

"He wants to see you. Go in, he's awake." Mrs. Hart told him and he nodded to her without doing anything.

"Please." Mrs. Hart pleaded with a tearful expression as if she knew that he was hesitating to see Mr.

Hart.

Jarek gritted his teeth and quietly entered the room. He was a little stunned to see the always-healthy

Mr. Hart looking frail.

"Jarek is that you?" Mr. Hart's weak voice asked. He was on oxygen, an IV drip was connected to his hand and his head was wrapped with a bandage.

"Yes." Jarek finally replied with a complicated expression.

"Can you come closer?" Mr. Hart asked in a weak voice which made him frown but after a few minutes, he did so.

"This lifetime, I have offended a lot of people so much that I won't be able to apologize before I leave. If Annabelle doesn't want to see me, I understand. I have hurt her enough even though I never wanted to hurt you two." Mr. Hart stuttered repeatedly.

"Still you did." Jarek retorted.

"I'm sorry. I knew I said this too late. I'm proud of you. All your workbooks, I secretly checked them in the past. All your music performances I watched them secretly, and it was perfect but still, I condemned it. And I made you unhappy." He remarked but Jarek remained quiet.

"Reasons?" Jarek finally asked after a few minutes but Mr Hart only sighed.

"When everyone thinks you have a perfect life and home but it is far from it. When every time you see your dad, he is always making out with another lady. When every time, he set his eyes on you, it was always about the assault. And your mom? She is too weak to talk. I was plagued with a dark side that I was unable to control. I love Annabel more than I'll ever love anyone yet I hurt her the most."

"Were you related to her cancer treatment?" Jarek asked but Mr Hart fell quiet and refused to reply but Jarek understood that Mr. Hart was related to Annabel's healing.

"Don't tell her." Mr. Hart understood that Jarek knew. "She'll forgive me again. She needs a better life and a better man." Mr. Hart replied sadly.

"Okay," Jarek replied calmly.

"Can I hold your hand? Please." He demanded weakly but Jarek didn't reply to him.

"I understand." Mr. Hart replied sadly but didn't push him anymore. "However, I have a favor to ask you." He said.

"Speak."

"Don't investigate who is behind my accident. Even if you know her, let her leave in peace. She's one of the women I offended. I offended a lot of them, my lawyer will meet you later, talk to him please." Mr.

Hart explained and began to cough seriously.

Jarek raised his hand and patted him gently leaving him stunned. "Thank you. Please take care of your stepfamily. I'm burdening you..."
