Will You Marry Me

Chapter 126 Will You Marry Me

Jarek slowly pushed the bedroom door open to see Tinsley working on the new book Jarek promised to be its first reader. He stared at her with a complicated expression.

Tinsley's eyes lit up when she saw Jarek enter the bedroom. She closed her notebook calmly. She stood up and walked toward him with a smile on her face. "How is Dad? Were you able to talk..."

"He's dead." Jarek replied in a low voice.

Tinsley was stunned by his words. She stared at him as if she couldn't believe his words. "What?"

Tinsley asked.

"Mr. Hart died." Jarek quietly replied again and closed his eyes to hide the emotions in them.

Jarek was not that close with his father but that does not mean that he didn't feel sad about Mr Hart's death. It was shocking to him because he never expected that the man he had always held a grudge against would suddenly die like that.

"I'm sorry." Tinsley wrapped her around him and hugged him tighter. "I'm really sorry." She replied in a soft comforting voice and placed her head on his chest.

Jarek hugged her closer while sighing in relief. Her warmth and embrace provided the security he needed. Being with her made all the sadness in his heart disappear without a trace. "He also had a rough life but he doesn't know how to manage it. Only if he knew how to, maybe our family would be happier." Jarek said while hugging her closer.

Tinsley fell quiet and silently pat his back, hoping that it'd provide relief for him.

Jarek suddenly separated from Tinsley to her surprise but before she could say anything, Jarek took hold of her hand and cupped her cheeks. "Tinsley, don't leave us, okay? Please." Jarek muttered in a trembling voice. "I have enough people leaving my life. If you do, I will go crazy." He uttered.

Tinsley felt herself tremble at his words. Tinsley finally realized that Jarek had been dealing with his insecurities and he must have been trying hard to hide it but that doesn't mean it won't pop up once in a while.

Tinsley's hand cupped his cheeks and placed a chaste kiss on his lips. "Jarek, I love you. I won't leave you. You're my heartbeat." She replied in a sincere tone which made him sigh in relief. He hugged her tighter.

"Jarek, let's not be bad parents, okay? Let's never get tired of each other. And let us always provide a warm home for our children forever and let's not hide secrets from each other, okay?" She quietly uttered which made him nod his head.

"Yes. Let's do that." He said and fell quiet while basking in her warmth

"Tinsley, will you marry me?" He suddenly asked in a shaky voice. His eyes were pinned to her face while hoping to deduce what she was thinking. "I know this is not the right time that I should be saying this, and I know that I didn't prepare for this. I..." He only needed confirmation from her of what he wanted to say but before he could...

"Yes, I'll marry you." Tinsley interrupted which made him stare at her in disbelief. "I love you so much that I don't care about any fancy marriage proposals or some sort." She replied with a warm smile.

"I... I was just..."Jarek couldn't help but stutter which made Tinsley amused. Seeing him lose his composure left her feeling thrilled because he hardly does so.

"If you feel so insecure, I'll follow you to the marriage bureau to get our certificate." She teased hoping for him to lose his composure completely.

Instead, Jarek's eyes light up with happiness. He hugged her and kissed her happily. His joy was vividly written on his face. "Let's pick up the important documents and we can go to the marriage Bureau agency," Jarek replied and immediately left.

Tinsley, who thought she could tease Jarek, was surprised to see that everything fell back to her.

Before she could recover from her shock, Jarek was already happily pulling her to the car.

"Tinsley, will you really marry me?" Jarek kept asking repeatedly once they entered the car as if to confirm that he was not in an illusion and Tinsley was really interested in getting married to him.

"Yes," Tinsley replied which made him kiss her lips happily.

Jarek opened the document again as if to confirm that they'll be getting married soon. "Tinsley, you're sure that you're happy to get married to me?" Jarek confirmed once more which made Tinsley sigh.

"Yes and yes and yes. I want to marry you because I love you and I promise that I'll never regret it."

She said while hoping that he'll get out of it.

Jarek grinned at her and turned to look at her again. His lips parted but before he could say anything, Tinsley interrupted him with a sigh. "Yes, hubby Jarek. I'll marry you and please alert the team that we won't be coming to the celebration tonight." She reminded him while hoping that'll get his mind off her.

"Yes, you are right." An overjoyed Jarek replied and immediately picked up his phone.

Lillee quietly sat on the sofa with her dim eyes fixed on the TV. Even though her eyes were fixed on the TV, it could be seen that she was not even paying attention to the things that were shown on the television, and that was the image that Conrad saw when he walked down the stairs.

Somehow Conrad was able to hear the doctor's voice that was telling him to let Lillee leave her confinement and to make sure she received fresh air.

Hearing Conrad's footsteps awoke Lillee from her thoughts, and she quickly stood up with her hand rubbing her stomach silently.

"Master." She called Conrad silently. Her eyes looked withdrawn and she kept on trembling.

A soft feeling suddenly began to creep into his heart.

Conrad sighed when he remembered that this was the woman he once loved. Why did he go this harsh on her? What went wrong between them?

Ah! Those men! Maybe if he protects her from the men, she'll be his forever.

Conrad sighed once again and began to make his way outside with his emotions running rampant.

"You can go out to receive fresh air." He informed her and suddenly turned to stare at her with a cold and piercing gaze. "If I ever heard that you met with a guy, I'll ruin you, break your leg, chain you down, and ruin your beauty." He threatened which made her shiver in fear.

"Thank you, master." Lillie quickly said which made him scoff.

"It's for the baby." He snorted and left the mansion immediately.

Seeing Conrad gone made Lillie smile in satisfaction. "Perfect! He fell for it." She uttered with glee. Her fist clenched sinisterly. Finally, it's time to ruin them all.

"Good morning," Tinsley yawned and stretched lazily.

"Good morning," Jarek replied absentmindedly while playing with the wedding certificate.

"What are you doing?" Tinsley sat up and stared at Jarek with amusement.

"So you really did get married to me?" Jarek muttered, carefully holding the certificate.

"Didn't you confirm that all night?" Tinsley mumbled slightly while rubbing her aching waist.

"It still feels as if I'm in a dream..." He said and stared at her meaningfully.

"Wife..."

"Don't even think about it!" Tinsley glared at him before she quickly stood up from the bed.

"Wife, that's so unfair," Jarek grumbled while wrapping his hand around her waist. "We are newlyweds..."

"Don't think you can trick me like you did last night!" She huffed and entered the bathroom before she quickly locked the door with the keys and took it.

Tinsley sighed in relief and began to make her way into the bathroom with a smile. "Such a tricky Jarek..."

Before Tinsley could complete her words, Jarek suddenly opened the bathroom door with another key which made her gasp.

"Jarek, what are you doing here?" She asked, she was filled with incredulity.

"Wife, we are married. We need to use every minute to cultivate our love. What do you think about taking a bath together?" He asked while taking off his sleeping pajamas.

Tinsley's lips parted in astonishment and she quickly began to move back while he moved toward her.

"What... What do you mean by cultivate? Are we in a historical drama?" She stuttered in fluster which made him chuckle in delight.

"Our White Tigress doesn't even know the difference between reality and drama..." Jarek extended his hand and her chest slammed to his. "So it's my role to teach you." He said and bend down to carry her toward the bathtub which almost made her cry

"I just need a few minutes to meet those parents, what do you think?" Tinsley asked Jarek once they arrived at the restaurant where Tinsley planned to meet her mom and dad.

"Do you need me to come in with you?" He asked her while playing with her hair.

"No. Wait for me in the car. I'll be leaving in a few minutes. Then we can check on Rylee, okay?"

Tinsley pecked Jarek's lips before getting down from the car.

Tinsley's phone suddenly buzzed due to an incoming message, she smiled in amusement and tap on the message sent by Mrs. William

'We are here. When are you coming?' was what Mrs. William sent. Tinsley laughed before blocking the number because she was sure that the next thing that would happen is the family calling her to tell her that they were in the restaurant.

Tinsley calmly entered the private room after a waiter directed her to the private room where the William's family was.

Mr. and Mrs. William was sitting anxiously in the private room they were in, that they didn't even touch the food they were served.

"Tinsley." Mr. and Mrs. William sighed in relief when they saw Tinsley enter the private room.

The couple almost thought that Tinsley won't come to the restaurant anymore just like how she tricked them back then. They sighed in relief when Tinsley confidently sat down.

"Good day." Calling this set of people a parent is irritating to Tinsley so she'll rather greet them without a title.

Mr and Mrs William noticed Tinsley's actions and it made Mrs. William displeased. She hadn't found a way to let out the anger of all that happened to her so she immediately poured it on Tinsley, "What sort of attitude are you having with us, Tinsley? Not only were you fifty-seven minutes late, but you also blocked me and refused to reply to my message. Now you are giving us an attitude when you are greeting us, is that how I raised you?" Mrs. William chided Tinsley angrily.

Tinsley brushed her off nonchalantly, "Ah. My husband didn't even let me have a meal before we left home. Oh, I'm so famished." Tinsley said and began to eat, unbothered. She suddenly paused after eating a spoonful, "Oh? Mom has a complaint? I'm so hungry that I didn't even listen to what you just said. Can you come over again?" Tinsley asked while eating. She began to mutter again, "Oh, Jarek will definitely scold me if he sees me eating while talking. Mom, I haven't heard you say any..."

"Tinsley, are you here to joke with us?" Mrs. William bangs the table angrily which makes Tinsley pause. She bit her lower lips with a feigned scared expression before putting another spoonful into her mouth. After eating the spoonful, she smiled beautifully.

"Oh, mom. Be careful not to break this beautiful set of plates, after all, the William's company is at the point of bankruptcy, and paying for such damage is something they can't afford. So why are we here today, Mom?" Tinsley uttered while eating.

Mr. and Mrs. William's faces turned green but they kept quiet and promised to deal with Tinsley later when they didn't need her or Jarek's favor.

"We..."

Before Mrs. William could complete her words, Tinsley suddenly gasped. "Oh, mom. Did I just hear you say this wasn't the way you raised me? Did you forget that I was raised by a nanny? Please don't make such a mistake anymore in case of future purposes. Just saying." Tinsley blurted out without care for their faces.

The two faces alternate between red and green. Mrs. William smacked the table angrily and glared at Tinsley, if looks could kill, Tinsley will definitely be six feet deep. "Tinsley, are you here to shame us? Is it because you..."

"Oh, did I sound like that?" She interrupted casually. "I was only giving Mom and Dad my honest thoughts. I forgot that the William's family doesn't love the truth. Okay, you can carry on."

"Tinsley!" Before Mrs. William's family could talk. An anxious Mr. William cut in. He wasn't interested in such a conflict, instead, he was concerned about how to get funds for his company.

"Tinsley, we are here today for the bankruptcy issue that the William's family are currently facing..."

"Oh!" Tinsley was finally done with her meal and she happily drank a glass of expensive wine to follow.

"What about Norton's investment?" She asked which made their expression turn green.

After all, everyone knew their current fight with the Norton family. Not only that, but the Norton was also suppressing the William's family and antagonizing them which made the company unable to take a loan from the bank.

"Don't you read the news?" Mrs. William asked angrily.

"Sorry, but I don't have time to." She replied leisurely which made Mrs. William part her lips but Mr.

William interrupted her again.

"So Tinsley what is your plan? How do you plan to help us?" Mr. William asked her.

Chapter 129 A Deal

A Deal

Chapter 129 A Deal

Tinsley immediately turned serious, she sat straight and stared at Mr. William, "UHM. How do you think

I can help you?" She asked seriously

Mr. William was overjoyed immediately, he was thinking that maybe Tinsley had an advantage and he should start paying attention to her now to get more money from her, "By giving us a bit of funds." He said straightforwardly

"State your price," Tinsley said.

"300 million." Mr. William revealed which made her arch a brow. How funny that Mr. William stated such an extravagant price when he wasn't even useful throughout her life.

Tinsley fell silent and her expression showed a hesitating expression, "But you know that I can not do it for free." Tinsley said which made their expression change.

"What do you mean? Do you still want an interest from your parents? You're so vile!" Mrs. William yelled at her angrily. "Is it because you have..."

"At this rate, I'll just take my leave." Tinsley pretended to sigh downcast.

Seeing that his main source of income was about to be annoyed by Mrs. William, Mr. William slapped

Mrs. William immediately. "Shut up. If you don't have anything useful to do, you can just keep quiet and leave, don't cause trouble for me." He glared at her in annoyance. Mrs. William glared at Tinsley but she kept quiet while cursing Tinsley secretly in her heart.

Tinsley laughed at the sight of Mrs. William being slapped. She already knew that Mr. William only cared about his money. "Sorry, I can't control myself." She said while chuckling.

Even though Mr. William was annoyed, he brushed it off, "So what do you want?"

"UHM. Not much." Hearing Tinsley tell them that it wasn't much made them sigh in relief.

"I only want you to disown Lillee." She dropped which made them gasp in disbelief.

"What?"

"You bitch. How can you talk like that..."

"That's my only need..." Tinsley interrupted without staring at Mrs. William.

"Even if you want 600 million I can give you without interest." She said, which made Mr. William hesitate.

"Really?" Mr. William asked. His brain was beginning to think about what he can do with 600 million.

Tinsley's eyes widened with excitement, "How can I lie to you? Think of it, Lillee is the reason the William family came to such a level. Hm, what do you think?" Tinsley asked them.

Mrs. William glared daggers at Tinsley which made Tinsley fake a scared expression. "Maybe I should leave. My help isn't appreciated." She said and immediately stood up.

"You nonsense woman!" Mr. William slapped Mrs. William again. "If she leaves, just start thinking about how you can fetch me the 600 million." He remarked angrily.

Seeing that she had done too much, Mrs. William kept her mouth shut. It was true that only Tinsley could fetch them such an amount and if she left, there was no way that they could get the amount they were looking for.

"Tinsley. Daughter. Sit. Sit! Your mom knows nothing." Mr. William tried to coax Tinsley.

"Ah, Really?" Tinsley faked innocent. "I thought mom doesn't want money." She remarked which made

Mr. William glared at Mrs. William again.

"Sit. Sit. Sit." Mr. William told Tinsley who did so immediately.

"So you mean that if we disowned Lillee you'll give us the money?" Mr. William confirmed again and Tinsley nodded her head.

Mrs. William slightly pulled Mr. William's hand, "Hubby..."

"Lillee caused us this trouble, and if you think we shouldn't take such a path then you can simply divorce me and live with that bitch you call your daughter." Mr. William quickly separated himself from Lillee which made Tinsley smirked.

Her parents were such evil people that they wouldn't even bat their eyes when dumping their children.

Mrs. William quickly shut her lips. If her husband has the 600 million, there are still many things she can do. All her happy and luxurious life, she can begin to enjoy to the fullest.

Besides, Tinsley never said that they shouldn't accept Lillee again. "You're right, Lillee was the reason we are in our current state. If you increase the money to 800 million, we'll agree." Mrs. William said which made Tinsley's eyes light up.

"Really? You'll disown Lillee?" She asked and Mr and Mrs. William said, "Yes."

"Okay but you know I can't just give you 800 million..."

"What? Did you still need another..."

"No, all I want is evidence." Tinsley switched her voice to an innocent one.

"I'm afraid that you'll trick me because I'm naive. So once you disown Lillee and broadcast it on social media that you've disowned her, I'll ask Jarek to transfer the money and collaborate with William's company." She said.

Mrs. William parted her lips but a furious glare from Mr. William shut her lips.

"So we'll have J Empire support?" Mr. William asked with excitement and she nodded.

"Yes, Dad."

"Okay. You'll see the result in less than two hours." Mr. William said and pulled Mrs. William out of the private room.

Tinsley smirked and immediately stopped recording with her audio pen. She stood up and returned to the car. "Are you done?" Jarek asked her and she nodded.

"Help me mute my voice..." She said and handed him the recording pen which he collected immediately.

"Hubby." Tinsley suddenly called in a tiny voice which made him stare at her. He knew that whenever she was like this, she needed a favor.

"What did you want?" He asked her calmly.

"Hubby, we are just married so we can't trade deals." She stated in a tiny voice.

"Free of charge, White Tigress." He replied and placed her on his lap. "So what do you want?" He questioned.

Tinsley wrapped her hand around his neck and began to whisper to his ears seriously, "Jarek, I know that you planned to release the Norton and William's company shady deals into the air." She said and he nodded to her words.

"I have to think about it thoroughly." She stated which made him arch his brows.

"What is it?" He asked while kissing her neck.

"Actually, Conrad and Norton didn't offend us, it was only Lillee and William's so I decided that we..."

"Should spare them." Jarek completed calmly which made her eyes light up.

"How did you know what I wanted to say? We are a perfect couple." She beamed at him happily and he nodded to her calmly while he was inwardly brewing in anger due to the fact that Tinsley was siding with Conrad.

"Here." Jarek suddenly handed her the recording pen.

Tinsley kissed him and got down from his lap. "Hubby, I need a favor."

Chapter 130 Disowning Her

Disowning Her

Chapter 130 Disowning Her

"You didn't go out yesterday?" Conrad stared at Lillee as he walked down the stairs.

Lillee bit her lower lips with embarrassment. "I. I was just used to staying home these few days, so I will rather stay home than go out." She muttered while twisting her fingers playfully.

A familiar feeling took hold of Conrad's heart but he pretended to be calm, not changing expression.

Not even a bit. His face turned cold. "I am not telling you to go because you want to or not, rather it is for the baby in your womb." He yelled at her coldly which made her jump in fright.

"Yes. Yes, master." Lillee stuttered with fear and it made Conrad more annoyed.

"Don't call me Master." He yelled at her harshly and stormed out of the apartment without giving her

another glance

Lillee smiled at the scene that had just happened with Conrad. "It's such a nice one that you fell for it."

She muttered with a sigh. Even though Conrad was a good actor who could easily understand Lillee's body language but he couldn't, because when it comes to Lillee, he'll become dumb to the signs.

Lillee was about to return to her room when her phone buzzed due to an incoming message. She quietly picked up the phone with a frown and unlocked it.

She was very surprised to see that an unknown sender was able to bypass her phone's security and was able to send her a message.

The person sent Lillee a recording which made her alarmed. Her heart began to pound with fear because she couldn't help thinking that someone held a piece of evidence of her doing something bad.

Soon, she calms down.

What was she afraid for? She's now having free time when she can destroy whatever she wants to, easily at that. She gritted her teeth and tapped on the message, however, she was stunned by the message she received.

Her parents planned to disown her for money. Not only that, her parents even called her a whore?

Lillee's body shook with sadness, anger, and disbelief because she never expected that her parents would one day change to her like this also.

She had just listened to the audio note when a call came through, her expression changed immediately and she kept hesitating on whether to pick it up or not.

After so much contemplation, Lillee cut off the call immediately, but the ringer was serious about it and kept on calling her until her heart turned cold. "Why do you keep calling me?" Lillee sneered at her parents. She already knew what they were calling for which was the reason she refused to pick up the call.

"Meet us in the court." Mrs. William said coldly only for Lillee to laugh in disbelief.

"What if I don't?" She retorted coldly.

"We'll reveal everything to the public. We'll be holding a press conference where we'll reveal that you've been disowned by us so it doesn't matter." Mr. William proclaimed which made Lillee's heart hurt more.

"You don't feel guilty..."

"After all the damage you've caused, you should willingly help us now." Mr. William interrupted angrily before he cut off the call.

Lillee was filled with anger and began to pace around the room until she heard a ping---a few minutes after she cut off the call.

Lillee quickly logged in with an ordinary account and visited her parents' social media page. And soon, she saw her parents holding a press conference about disowning her for all the bad things she had done.

'Lillee must be so bad that her parents didn't even want to have anything to do with her. Bitch!'

'She's so disgusting and fake. Not to forget that she's also a bitch who threw herself on a different man and her sister's man. Thinking about it makes me want to puke.'

Lillee's expression changed as she read through the wicked comments that were aimed at her. She clenched her fist hard while wondering who could plan something vile like this for her. Even without thinking, she knew that it must only be Tinsley. "Tinsley!" Lillee gritted her teeth angrily.

Ring Ring. A sudden ring snapped Lillee out of her thoughts. She picked up the call when she saw that it was Conrad.

"Conrad." She called in a hesitating voice that showed her sadness.

Conrad fell silent, "Oh, I mistakenly dialed your number. You're not going out?" He asked and she replied with a sad, "No."

"Okay." He replied and cut off the call.

Lillee suddenly grinned thinking that the event was worth it. She was sure that Conrad did not make a mistake. Conrad had probably seen what her parents had done, so he called to confirm if she was doing okay or not.

Lillee returned to watching what her parents were saying on Live. She was about to log out when a particular comment caught her eye.

'The black truth behind the William's company growth has been revealed. So shocking! No wonder Lillee turns out to be wicked, she's the same as her parents. I wondered how my precious White Tigress turned out to be so different from that wicked family.'

Lillee was stunned by the comments, before she could exit the live stream, her parents had disconnected their live stream themselves.

Lillee hurriedly went to check out what was happening with the use of search engines, she was surprised to see that many black things about the William's family had been uploaded online. An example of it was Mrs. William was involved in a hit-and-run incident and her father raped one of his secretaries and ended up killing her, etc.

Apparently, Tinsley had purposely given the William's family hope only to shatter it when they thought that they were about to succeed. Tinsley promised to fund the William's company only to incite Jarek to reveal the William's shady deals after they've proclaimed to the world about disowning Lillee.

Lillee doesn't even know whether to laugh or cry. All she knew was that it served the William's family, right? And thanks to Tinsley who pushed her parents to disown her, she'll be free from this.

Lillee continued to follow the news intently and it wasn't even up to an hour when it was revealed that the William's family had been taken away by the policemen, the house and the company had also been shut down.

"Time to leave an impact!" She sneered before picking up her phone. Her breath came out rapidly upon thinking that the chance had been presenting itself.
