Chapter 141 Growing Distant

Growing Distant

Chapter 141 Growing Distant

Before Conrad knew it, his romance with Jane had gone deeper, the same as his relationship with Lillee had gone more distant than it had ever been.

Jane and Conrad now go on dates more than Conrad and Lillee ever did. Besides, he even slept at her house sometimes since Lillee didn't care anymore.

Lillee was more about her career than her marriage with Conrad, and before they knew it, it was the movie award ceremony.

Before that, Lillee and Tinsley had been busy respectively since their movie was selected. In order to get the fans' vote, all the selected movies for the ceremony kept on holding different forms of advertisement to get fans' vote for the day sane, as the actors, directors, scriptwriters, etc.

"Jarek, what do you think about this gown?" Tinsley asked while staring at the list of gowns that Jarek had sent to her for the wedding.

Even after a week, Tinsley was unable to choose a final pick because all the gowns were very eye-catching and beautiful; they all suited her taste.

And even until a few hours before the movie ceremony, she was still stuck on her choice because Jarek had informed her that the day was the deadline.

Jarek stopped buttoning his clothes and stared at Tinsley's choice, but his face scrunched into a frown upon seeing that it was the armless gown that he had said no to maybe six times now. "No, you've pointed it out before." He replied, which made her puff up her cheeks.

She stood up and wrapped her hands around Jarek. "Hubby, I really love this. Let me have my choice on my day, okay? President Jarek's is the best?" Tinsley said and placed her head on his shoulder.

"No," Jarek replied firmly. He couldn't bear seeing her armless in front of many people.

"President Jarek." She said and began to place a kiss on his cheeks softly.

"Okay, please? You're the best. You're my hubby. The most capable man in my heart." She continued to say sweet words to him, which made him unable to say no.

"Okay." Jarek finally grunted, and she stared at him with surprise.

"Did you just say okay?" She asked once more, and he nodded.

"Yes, I just say yes." He replied, and she gave him a big kiss on his cheeks.

Suddenly, the alarm rang, which made her jump down, "Oh, we are almost late for the ceremony."

Tinsley said and turned her back to him.

"Help me zip up." She said and raised her hair slightly. Jarek stayed fixed and gulped at the sight.

Upon receiving no response or actions from Jarek, she couldn't help calling him, "Jarek?"

Jarek's attention was immediately gotten, and he quickly helped her zip up her dress, "done." He said and placed a kiss on her back, which caused her to giggle happily.

Tinsley picked up her purse and hooked her arms around Jarek's. "Let's go win and bring the awards home," Tinsley said with a grin, and they both walked out.

Tinsley sighed once they walked out of their room. "I miss our little triplet." She muttered, and her eyes lit up. "Jarek, we can hold a celebratory night at the Hart mansion with Mom."

Tinsley suggested that the children were currently staying at the Hart mansion because they had just had their test holiday and because their weekend was to be spent at Hart's mansion. They happily went to the Hart's mansion immediately after their school closed for the day.

"Then we can spend the night," Jarek suggested, which made her eyes light up.

"Cool. Then I'll send a text to Mom." Tinsley said once they both entered the car.

Soon, the both of them arrived at the ceremony, hands in hand.

There were a lot of celebrities posing and doing their interviews on the red carpet when the two arrived.

And many walked forward to hug Tinsley and shook hands with Jarek once they arrived.

Tinsley and Jarek were also interviewed by the reporters before they began to make their way in. They were about to enter completely when they heard a loud noise from the fans.

Tinsley turned back to see Lillee and Conrad walking beside each other. Lillee smiled and posed and answered questions like the pure goddess she was, which caused a lot of noise from the fans.

Tinsley chuckled and hoped that Lillee would avoid interacting with her using her fake demeanor throughout the day to avoid trouble.

And just like Tinsley hoped, Lillee didn't bother acting familiar with Tinsley; she only nodded slightly and winked at Tinsley, which caused a lot of noise from the fans who kept praising the sister's look and relationship.

The fans believed that Tinsley and Lillee's relationship must have increased, which was the reason

Lillee acted that way. Tinsley almost rolled her eyes at the action, but she also nodded with a fake smile which caused another noise.

Conrad nodded to Tinsley and Jarek, and they both returned one in return before they both entered the hall where the event would happen.

Tinsley frowned slightly, which Jarek noticed. "What is wrong?" Jarek asked Tinsley, who sighed nonchalantly.

"I noticed something. Lillee and Conrad's relationship had gone distant. Had it been before, Lillee would focus on showing Conrad and her relationship off, not herself." Tinsley whispered to his hearing only.

"You are good at noticing things." He praised which made her smile.

"Of course I am." She grinned

"Brother, sister-in-law." Rylee waved at Tinsley and Jarek as soon as they entered.

The release of the relationship between Jarek and Rylee first caused a lot of scandals.

Any anti-fans Tinsley of purposely giving Rylee a newbie, the role of the Taming Her female lead because she was her sister-in-law, but it wasn't even up to an hour when Jarek Rachel such news was cleared up online.

The celebrities chat with each other while many introduce themselves because many people understand that this is one of the ways to build connections.

Jarek led Tinsley to meet many directors and writers.

Many directors also mentioned being willing to pick up her next projects, but director Martin who was present immediately kicked them away playfully.

Soon the event began, and it was broadcasted live.

There will be the choosing of the best movie of the year, the best male lead of the Year, the best female lead of the year, the new act of the year, the best supporting actor and actress of the year, e. t. c

And many hoped to be called out as the best because they knew that it meant more opportunity and more popularity for them.

Chapter 142 My World Falling Apart

My World Falling Apart

Chapter 142 My World Falling Apart

The event started with the best male lead of the year. Aldean was pitted against another male lead, and without guessing, Aldean was chosen. Which elicited a lot of claps as Aldean walked toward the host to collect his award.

Before he collected his award, Aldean's scenes which were worth the role, were played, and they were the scenes in Taming Her.

Tinsley frowned slightly when she noticed Brigitta clapping, even though she should have stopped.

As if noticing Tinsley's gaze, she frowned slightly, "Why are you looking at me?"

Tinsley narrowed her eyes slightly, "What's going on with you and Aldean? A typical you won't come to a ceremony like this; now you have your gaze on Aldean all day. You're acting suspicious." Tinsley pointed out.

"Am I?" Brigitta asked, and Tinsley nodded, but she suddenly scoffed, "I am not. There's nothing wrong with me. You're just being paranoid." Brigitta whispered with a scoff.

"You're. Your gaze is on him all day. I'm sure he must be wondering who had such a weird gaze."

Tinsley whispered back, which made Brigitta's eyes widen in disbelief.

"You're being truthful? Is it obvious that I liked Aldean?" Brigitta asked, which made Tinsley's eyes widen.

"No way. You're in love with my male lead?" She gasped, only for Brigitta to cover her mouth with her hand as if she had just realized that she had mistakenly revealed what she wasn't supposed to.

Tinsley tried to ask Brigitta to reveal more, but no matter how much she tried, Brigitta remained firm.

The movie award continued until it was time for the best lead actress; Taming Her Rylee was opposite billionaire Deed Lillee. Even though Rylee was a new act, she showed the expertise of a veteran lead and many other credits, which was the reason she was picked.

The best scene of the two actresses was compared to the two, and many nodded. "And the best female lead of this year is..."

"Actress Lillee. Sorry. I mean, yeah, actress Lillee." The stunned host read loudly from her list, which shocked many, including the host.

Many celebrities even mistakenly cried out, "No way." In disbelief because Rylee's act had the most emotions triggering scenes.

Even though no one said anything, deep down, they all knew that shady deals had gone on or else

Rylee would definitely win that award; was it body language or facial expression? Rylee was definitely higher than Lillee.

Lillee's happy smile disappeared upon seeing the ridiculing expression on people's faces. She could clearly see what was written on their face 'whore.'

Lillee gritted her teeth, but she had no choice but to go up to collect her award. Her legs almost made their way under burning stares. She never knew that many people in the hall were Taming Her Rylee's fans.

"Congratulations. Actress Lillee." Even though the host was stunned, she knew she had no choice but to go according to the list. She brought out the award and was about to give the award to Lillee when she paused. "Okay, now let's show the scene which made Actress Lillee worthy of the best female lead of the Year award." The host cheered, and immediately she said so; the screen was lit to show the cost scene.

"So, as long as we share the night for the week, I'll be the best female lead of the year." Lillee on the screen said to a fat, pot bellied man whom everyone recognizes as the CEO of the movie award ceremony.

Everyone we're stunned by what was playing. What should be playing wasn't this but they all had the fair idea of where this is leading to.

"Totally." The man said, which made Lillee frown.

"Can't we do another thing?" She asked.

"If you want to lose the best female lead actress of the year, then you can leave. I didn't force you anyway; you were the one who wanted the award which belonged to Rylee. Everyone knows the owner of the award. Do you know how many connections I'll have to use to make it yours?" The CEO's question which made Lillee fall into thoughts.

"Stop!" Lillee yelled. She never expected this to be shown. Why? Why is there always something blocking whenever it's her turn? But the stunned people didn't even have the mind to; they were all lost in the shock of what was happening.

Before Lillee in the video could give her reply, the scene was shown to the scene of Lillee and the CEO making love.

Lillee's face paled as she saw her face on the screen, "Stop. Stop playing. Stop playing!" Lillee began to yell, but unfortunately, no matter how she yelled, the video played until the end.

Lillee almost ran mad. Many people pointed to her with ridicule while murmuring something, and Conrad? Conrad's face showed disbelief, but it soon calmed, and he began to smile ear to ear, which made her wonder what was wrong with him.

Before the host could say anything, the vice president of the show walked down to the stage and collected the microphone from the host.

"I'm here to apologize for whatever happened tonight. The company is already making an investigation, and we'll make sure to give you a better explanation by morning." The vice president of the company said, giving the hall a quick gaze.

"Starting from now on, Actress Lillee is banned by our company and will forever be unrecognized as an actress." The vice president said with a pause. "Besides, we've involved the law, so actress Lillee will have to see us in court next week."

The vice president said, which made Lillee's eyes widen in shock. Her face paled in disbelief, and she shrieked loudly. "No way. Why am I the one to go through all this punishment... I...."

The vice president, who was annoyed by what happened, scowled at her. "Shut up!" He said angrily.

"Not only actress Lillee will be involved, but right now, the police are making their way to CEO Chris for his bad management, etc." The vice president informed and pointed toward Lillee. "Guard, kick her out." He ordered, and in a few minutes, Lillee was dragged out of the hall no matter how hard she struggled.

"I'm sorry. Can we continue with the award?" The vice president bowed and returned the microphone to the host before walking away.

Chapter 143 Awards And Truth

Awards And Truth

Chapter 143 Awards And Truth

For the first time in history, a movie almost won all the awards in the movie award ceremony, and that movie was Taming Her, a story which was written by Tinsley.

Taming Her actors and actresses were chosen as the best male lead, female lead, best-supporting character, etc.

And that caused a lot of cheering from the fans and congratulations to the winners.

Apart from that, there was the shocking news of a certain actress, or maybe one should call her a porn star, whose scandal was revealed in front of a massive crowd.

'I thought she had changed for good, but I never expected that she's still a dog.'

'I pitied Conrad, who stood by her all this time without knowing the kind of wife she was. I never imagined that after he forgave her the first time, she still dared to return to this type of thing.'

'That is why you should never mess with the J empire; they will never go down without a fight. If you want to snatch my Taming Her award, then you have to face President Jarek.'

Lillee felt so cold to the bone because she knew that she had used her chances with Conrad. Even after she arrived, she never caught sight of Conrad, and she understood that he was still in the hall. He didn't leave when she was leaving because he had chosen to dump her when she was shamed by everyone.

The night was cold. After Lillee was dropped off by the taxi, she had to stay outside because the bodyguards refused to let her in, no matter how much they tried telling her Conrad was the one who ordered them not to let her in.

It was almost midnight when Conrad returned with a woman by his side, which Lillee recognized as Jane, Conrad's secretary.

"Conrad? You're cheating on me?" Lillee yelled out in shock when she saw how Jane and Conrad were acting intimately.

Jane froze upon seeing Lillee while Conrad pretended not to see Lillee. His hand held Jane's hand, and he continued to walk to his house calmly, with his key in his hand.

Even though Conrad doesn't pay attention to Lillee, that doesn't mean Lillee will stay still. "Conrad, you dared cheat on me with your secretary and still refuse to talk to me? You scum." She yelled out angrily and grabbed his hand. Lillee didn't care if she wasn't making sense or not. After all, she expected Conrad to never take a liking to another woman except her.

Lillee had forgotten all she had done, yet still came after Conrad.

Immediately she did, Conrad gave her a slap on her face which made her fall on the floor. Lillee stares at Conrad in disbelief. Ever since the incident with the baby, Conrad never treats Lillee badly.

"You bitch. Even though I stayed quiet, you still had the gut to ask me a question. For how many months did you stop me from touching you, yet you spread yourself around like a hoe? Still, you had the guts to tell me that I am cheating?"

Before Conrad could finish his word, his phone buzzed, which signified a notification alert.

Conrad took out his phone and decided to ignore Lillee. Even though he was annoyed at her, he decided to suppress his anger all because of a thing. He continued on his way and touched Jane's cheeks gently with a fond smile.

Jane was nervous in Lillee's presence which Conrad understood, but his resolve was firm; he was done with Lillee, and Jane was the person he wanted to be.

Conrad and Jane had fallen in love deeper than they thought, and the only reason they were yet to get together was because of Lillee.

And Conrad, who was a little bit guilty about the lost pregnancy, found it hard to raise a divorce topic with Lillee because he was afraid that she'd think he was dumping her like everyone around her but now that Lillee's secret had been revealed, he doesn't even care about confirming if it was true or not;

instead, he decided to take Jane, the love of his life, home.

"Yes, I do, but..." Jane replied hesitantly while staring at Lillee and Conrad's interaction worriedly and nervously.

Conrad waved his hand lightly, "Don't worry, she's just a dog." He told Jane, which caused Lillee's eyes to widen in shock. Even though Jane looked as if she wanted to say something, in the end, she still kept quiet.

Conrad continued to scroll through his phone, but he suddenly froze after going through something.

And at the same time, Lillee had finally sorted her emotions.

She believed that if it wasn't for Jane, nothing would have happened to her and Conrad's release.

She believed that it was because Jane Conrad chose to dump her, the woman of his letter. Lillee kept on pointing at Jane without blaming herself for all she had done to Conrad.

Upon thinking like that, Lillee rushed at Jane and yanked her hair harshly, "You bitch!" Lillee yelled and tried to slap Conrad, but before she could, Conrad grabbed her hand and slapped her on the face twice, and kicked her harshly, making her fall.

Conrad's face turned cold despite how Lillee tried to fake sadness. He suddenly bent down and gripped her by the neck.

"Tell me how you lost the pregnancy again?" Conrad spat at Lillee angrily, which made her eyes widen in fear.

"Con-Conrad." She called out with a stutter. Her heart was pounding against her chest, and she began to tremble. She can't help being afraid that Conrad already knows the truth. But she quickly shook her head. She believed that Conrad couldn't know the truth. No one could because she had taken precautions.

"What-what do you mean, Conrad?" Lillee asked, only for his hand gripping her throat to tighten, which made her cough and gasp for breath. Even though Jane wanted to interfere and come to Lillee's aid, Conrad shook his head, which made her have no choice but to go into the house.

"So you mean it was just an accident back then, right?" Conrad spoke out calmly, and Lillee quickly noded her head pitifully.

"Yes, Conrad. It was all caused by Constance. Constance suddenly appeared in the school and pushed me down the stairs all because she was angry at my success. Conrad, those people are only trying to shade me and come between us. I didn't... Please forgive me, and I will let you touch me like before."

Lillee cried out and tried to hold his hand while faking innocence as she had always done.

Chapter 144 It's Over

It's Over

Chapter 144 It's Over

Conrad never felt as disgusted as he currently felt. He wondered why he was so blind not to notice that she was this selfish and wicked. "So you were framed again?" Conrad questioned, and Lillee nodded her head.

"Yes, I was framed by..." Before she could complete her words, Conrad slapped her hard.

"Am I so easy to fool? Did you take me as your fool that doesn't even know the difference between truth and lie?" Conrad spat out with fury, which caused her to shiver fearfully.

"You're so innocent, right?" He said and suddenly threw his phone at Lillee.

"Pick it up," he spat at her, which made her have no choice but to pick the phone up.

Lillee's eyes widened with shock upon seeing the content on Conrad's phone. She thought no one could find the truth. Unfortunately for her, it has been posted online already, and now everyone knows about it.

The chat between Lillee and Constance, which was deleted by Lily before she died, was suddenly resurfaced online by an anonymous account.

Lily had claimed that Constance mysteriously entered the school to attack her, which not only painted Lillee as an innocent victim but also caused harm to the school's reputation. Because parents believed that since Constance could enter the school to harm Lillee, that means the school security is nonsense, and they're risking their children's life by letting their children go to such a school that doesn't have security. And because Constance was dead, no one can prove that Lillee lied.

Due to what happened, when the truth was revealed, the netizens were angry and demanded that the school sue Lillee for harming their reputation. Not only that, another chat was uploaded online.

A week before the event with Constance, Lillee had hired a man online to drive a speeding car in front of the school at a particular time so that whenever Constance tried to escape, she would be hit by the car. The majority had been wondering why a car was speeding at that minute in front of a school, but now they realize that it was all Lillee's plan. And because the man had escaped immediately, no one was able to confirm if the man was drunk driving or not.

Not only that but a clear video of how the event between Constance and Lillee happened was also uploaded.

In the video, Constance wanted to grab Lillee, but her hand had just touched Lillee's hair when Lillee fell down the stairs, which revealed that Constance didn't push Lillee; instead, Lillee was the one who purposely tripped down and fell down the stairs herself in order to ruin her pregnancy for fame.

Due to what happened to her stained reputation, Lillee knew that Conrad wouldn't give her a chance to return to the acting industry, so because of that, she came up with an idea of making Conrad's heart softened to her, and because of that, she came up with a scheme which is purposely miscarrying her baby.

Lillee began to tremble with fear due to the content being uploaded online.

She never expected someone to get hold of all the deleted evidence that'll pronounce her as guilty.

Without knowing, the phone slipped from her hand, but because of Conrad's reflex, he was able to pick up the phone quickly.

"I fell in love with Jane for a while now. You don't know, but I have been racking my brain in order to find a reason to divorce you, but you didn't give me a chance to find a reason to since you have created one yourself." Conrad uttered, which made her eyes widen with disbelief.

"I carried the guilt of the miscarriage, which was caused by you, for months, yet you were the one who stressed me the most. Did you even have a heart? Did you ever think of people close to you as nothing more than a pawn? Luckily, I had already created the divorce letter two weeks ago. Tonight, I am breaking the bond between you. From now on, we have nothing to do with each other. Thanks to you, the pregnancy which you can use as leverage over me has been aborted by you, so let's get it done quickly." Conrad said and stood up calmly. Even though he regretted the baby's loss, somehow, he was glad that he didn't have a baby that had Lillie's blood because he was afraid that the baby would have Lillie's character. Not only that, Lillie may use the baby to threaten him. Now he can take Jane to visit his parents. Luckily, his parents have loved Jane since day one. Lillie quickly tried to hold him, but he threw her off without hesitation. "No, no, you can't do this to me..." Lillie cried out fearfully. Now she's been sued by the movie agency and the school. Not only that, the police would soon be out for her because she was the orchestrator behind Constance's death, and if Conrad dumped her, who could she go to for safety? Conrad ignored Lillie and turned to the guards. "I believe the lawyer will be here soon. Throw her and her luggage out as soon as the divorce agreement is signed. I don't want to see her in my vicinity again." he ordered.

Chapter 145 Escaping And Making Them Pay

Escaping And Making Them Pay

"No way. This quick?" Tinsley suddenly cried out in disbelief while going through her phone.

Tinsley, Jarek, and Rylee are in Jarek's car, which is currently driving them to Hart's mansion for tonight's celebration. Tinsley had invited Rory and Brigitta, while Jarek had also invited his friends for the celebration since the family owned the night; Rylee and Tinsley were involved in the award.

Rylee leaned over curiously since Tinsley was sitting in between Jarek and Rylee. "What is it, sister-in-law?" She asked.

Tinsley stretched her phone toward Rylee so she could see the content.

"Conrad has just revealed that he divorced Lillee and now has nothing to do with her. He also revealed that his current girlfriend or fiance-to-be is Jane. Besides, the policeman is now out for Lillee because she is suspected of being behind Constance's death. They also said she had vanished into thin air, so anyone who knew her whereabouts should contact them, and they would be paid for it. Oh my God, I never expected that Lillee would one day be a hot criminal on the search." Tinsley revealed, which made Rylee smirk.

"Serve her right. I knew she was always fake. I pity Conrad, though. He probably thought he was in love with someone worthy. It turns out that she was nothing but a bitch."

Tinsley fell silent as she scrolled through the feed.

She couldn't help but remember the years before; back then, Tinsley was the one who was being ridiculed by the nation, but now the hate had turned into success, while Lillee, who felt she was successful, had turned into the national criminal everybody is looking for.

Tinsley knew that a desperate Lillee would do something soon because Lillee wasn't the type to let anyone ride her, and Constance won't be the first person either, so because of that, Tinsley always had her eyes on Lillee.

Tinsley knew Lillee would do something cruel, but she never expected Lillee to miscarry her baby on purpose and arrange Constance's death.

Tinsley suddenly felt cold because she suddenly felt that Lillee was crueler than she had imagined.

Thankfully they had both faced off using social media to solve their problem; what if they had to use cruel tricks? Would she have been a victim of Lillee?

"We are home," Jarek said and caressed her hand, which made her jolt out of it. She nodded at him, and the three all got down from the car.

"Tinsley." Rylee and Brigitta yelled at her while waving their hands.

Tinsley stopped in her tracks and waved at them. She told Jarek and Rylee to leave without her before she made her way toward the two.

"I heard this is the celebration for taming her. Is Aldean also present?" Briggita asked eagerly, which made Tinsley and Rory roll their eyes.

"Mind you, this is a family and friends celebration, so the celebration with the cast will come up after

Jarek, and I return from our trip since most of the stars are currently busy filming or doing something one way or the other," Tinsley explained, which made Brigitta rolled her eyes.

"No way. I thought he'll be present, which was the reason I didn't catch the flight." Brigitta muttered downheartedly, which made Tinsley furrowed her brows.

"What flight?" She inquired.

"Aldean is said to travel toward the crew location today, but our friends thought he'd celebrate here, so she came here instead, which made her miss her flight," Rory explained with a cruel smirk.

Tinsley chuckled in amusement. "Now, this felt surreal. I wondered if Aldean would be able to handle you. You dirty stalker." Tinsley muttered playfully, which made Brigitta glare at her playfully also, but before Briggita could say a word: "Mom! Aunt Rory and Aunt Brigitta!" She heard, and the triplet jumped on them, but before she could hug them in return, the kids separated from her and ran toward Annabel, who was just making her way toward them.

An ugly figure dressed in tatters was seen dragging luggage toward a ship. The woman's face was covered with makeup, and there was an ugly mole on her face. There was a stench oozing from her, and her teeth were yellow and black. Just the sight of that woman was enough to make one feel repulsive.

Lillee, who had turned into a rat, stopped in front of a billboard that was currently showing Tinsley.

Tinsley was being interviewed by a famous tv station.

Lillee clenched her fist hard. She knew that everything that happened to her was definitely related to Tinsley.

Lillie gritted her teeth angrily as she stared at the laughing Tinsley while she had to dodge around with poor makeup while dressing as if she was a beggar.

Now she had no choice but to escape the country with a ship of the underworld because the country was now extremely dangerous for her.

"Tinsley, I had to run away with my tails tucked in between my legs. I promised to make you and your family pay multiple times for what you've caused me." Lillee said inwardly before she pulled her luggage toward the dock.

"Are you Sandra?" A man asked while holding his nose with a disgusted expression on his face due to the stench emitting from Lillee.

Lillee changed her voice to a husky one and replied, "Yes, I'm Li... Sandra." She replied, and the man quickly shifted and pointed toward a place. "Just go there." He said, and Lillee nodded before she dragged her luggage away.

The man stared at Lillee's back with a disgusted stare, "I wonder how many days she had gone without taking a bath. So disgusting." The man muttered, but he suddenly froze when he caught sight of Lillee's expensive luggage.

He realized that Sandra might not be a pauper as he thought; instead, the person was a rich person who was just using the black market to hide her tracks, so he returned to doing his job fearfully because he knew that he had let his eyes judged this time instead of his brain.

The fee for boarding the ship was expensive, so how could an ordinary pauper be able to pay?

Lillee ignored the comment from the man. Instead, she made her way toward the private room she booked. She took out another phone she just bought as of late and tapped on a number, and typed:

'I need you to do something.'

Lillee clenched her fist with a sinister gaze; solving Tinsley was her current goal. Next was Jane, who dared to steal her Conrad. She had to make these two pay.
