Conrad (2)

Chapter 25 Conrad (2)

Lillee is really good at pretense and her act successfully made her parents and Conrad feel sad for her while cursing Tinsley inwardly.

Seeing their sad actions, Lillee bowed her head and a smug glint flashed past her face. That's good, let them keep hating Tinsley, so she'd never come back.

Conrad pulled her into his embrace and wrapped her hand around him, "Lillee, stop blaming yourself. It is all the Vixen's fault. If she never pretends to be you. None of that would have happened to her. Why can't you just be angry at her for once? She almost took me away from you, so stop crying on her behalf?" Conrad chided in a gentle voice.

Lillee used her finger to wipe her tears away. "I know I should, but I can't help worrying about Tinsley. We don't know her state." Lillee explained softly.

"She'll be fine," Conrad said. "I'll continue to search for her for you, okay?" He asked in an insincere tone which she pretended not to notice as she nodded to him. "Right, have you read Taming Her?" He quickly changed the topic.

"Yes, I did." Lillee wiped her eyes and stared at him with shiny eyes.

"Then let's practice at my place?" He nudged her softly.

"You want to take me to your place?" Lily asked Conrad shyly, which made him peck her forehead.

"Why are you being so shy? We'll be a married couple soon." He said and then turned toward Lillee's parents, "So Mom and Dad, what did you say about our wedding? Do I need to inform my parents now?" He asked

"As long as Lily accepts to be your wife, everything is fine with us." Mr and Mrs William replied to them, which made Conrad turn to her.

"So, Lillee. What did you say?"

"We promised each other to love till eternity. Of course, I've been waiting for a long time for the day we'll hold our wedding. Yes, I will." She replied shyly which made him smile.

"What date do you want us to choose for our wedding day?"

"I think if we are acting for Taming Her, we would have to wait until October or November when the film has been wrapped up, so let's make it after the film ends," Lillee replied.

"You're right. Let's have the wedding in November. I will tell my parents to ask a priest to check on a good day." Conrad said and stood up while holding Tinsley's hand.

"Okay. Mum and Dad, I'll be taking Lily with me. She will stay in my apartment until the casting day." He declared which made them nod.

"Ok, we are tired of your love display all day. You lovebirds can take that to your apartment." Mr and Mrs William said which made Lillee blush.

Lillee decided to open her phone when she saw that Conrad liked all her posts. "You're so good to me," Lillee uttered and kissed his lips.

The arrival of the expensive and latest Mercedes-Benz caused chaos among the reporters who were taking pictures of the celebrities walking by the red carpet and so all of their focus was on the person who'll be getting down from the car.

The arrival of White Tigress caused a massive uproar because she was looking beautiful despite being in a mask and more uproar when they remembered the feud going on between White Tigress and the Golden couples.

Immediately White Tigress walked toward the red carpet, and a lot of reporters placed the microphone near Tinsley's mouth.

"White Tigress, what is the feud between you and actress Lily?"

"White Tigress, is it true that you never plan to cast actress Lily in your drama?"

"White Tigress, is it true you are in love with actor Conrad that is why you are bullying actress Lily immediately after you arrived in Ryle's country?"

Tinsley never planned to reply to the reporter's questions until the last one which made her disgusted.

"Reporters should promote legit news, not stupid ones. And me being in love with Conrad Norton... I'm not blind and he is not my type. When it comes to bullying and my book, I separate personal feelings from work. Actress Lillee's role in taming her will depend on her acting, not my feelings. And I won't come for her if she doesn't come for me. Besides, I only stated the truth about my age, how did it end up with me bullying her?"

Tinsley's straightforward words stunned the reporters who thought she would act fake like most celebrities. After all that is common in the celebrity world, but her straightforward action made them all stunned that they all kept quiet for a few seconds and by the time they regained their senses, Tinsley was already leaving.

"President Jarek is here, President Jarek is here." The sudden noise caused Tinsley to look back.

President Jarek who walked on the red carpet didn't give any face to the reporters. He didn't answer any of the reporter's questions and his bodyguards didn't give the reporter the chance to place a microphone near Jarek's lips.

"White Tigress we met again." Jarek flashed her a cunning smile.

"President Jarek, we met again." She replied with a smirk.

"It's quite amazing to see you being so different from your shy demeanor during the meeting in the afternoon," Jarek said, which made her stop in her tracks.

"It's quite amazing to see you acting differently from your playful and mysterious actions during the meeting in the afternoon." She replied which made him smile.

"You are really peculiar, White Tigress, can we have a dance?"
