

The Substitute Bride Triplets And The Impotent Billionaire

Talented

Chapter 45 Talented

"Haha, I wondered why the fans are suddenly boycotting White Tigress but serve that bitch right. If you're not in the movie, then no one is fit to act." Mrs. William laughed heartily as she scrolled through the social media.

Lillee bowed her head to hide the glint that flashed past her eyes. She expected the J Media to make a move but the J Empire didn't even do anything. Perhaps, this is the ending to Tinsley, that bitch luck has ended.

The people on social media were also getting more infuriated daily. Not only did the J media refuse to say anything or apologize, even White Tigress, and the Taming Her actor, actress, and crew were silent throughout.

The news was now blowing out of proportion because Lillee kept on paying the keyboard warriors money every hour to blow the news.

Before it was to boycott White Tigress and Taming her, but now the online netizens are petitioning for White Tigress to be banned from Ryle's country.

And they wanted all her books to also be taken out of every website and store.

This incident had become a worldwide one and Rory became anxious because she never expected things to blow out of range.

But what about Tinsley? She was completely uncared, and she kept playing with the triplets leisurely as if she wasn't the one that was being trashed online.

Rory even feared that Tinsley was a masochist because whenever she went through the hateful and threatening comments the fans left on her post, she'd laugh and say. "That's a good inspiration there, I think I should consider writing a scene like this in my next story. Thanks to Lillee for giving me such inspiration for the next bookseller."

Had it been Rory didn't know Tinsley better, she'd have believed she was telling the truth, but she knew Tinsley was never going to do that. Besides, she doesn't understand how Tinsley's mind works now. Hugh.

"Mom, play the guitar and sing us a song," Jason demanded, which made Tinsley nod.

Tinsley asked the maid to fetch her the guitar. The maid nodded and soon Tinsley sat down and began to sing a song she freestyles without practicing.

Rory was so touched by the multiple talents Tinsley was displaying that she held out her phone and began to record her.

Tinsley is really too good, she only wished that Tinsley could show a quarter of the dedication she shows to her children to her career.

The group was so immersed in her song that they all kept quiet until she completed the song. Minutes after, they all fell quiet and relished the aftertaste of the song.

"Don't tell me this is just a freestyle, you talented bit-" Rory stopped her profanity when she remembered that the triplets was around.

"Did I just start that today?" Tinsley rolled her eyes at Rory's actions as Rory placed her phone down.

Rory immediately kicked Tinsley playfully. "You lucky bit... Not only are you White Tigress, but you can also act, dance, and now you can also sing. Why can't I appear as a guy, so I can marry you?" Rory complained, which made Tinsley roll her eyes.

"Mom, sing another. Sing another song with another instrument. Use the piano or drum." Mason jumped into Tinsley's embrace excitedly, which made Tinsley smile at them.

"Let's go to the instrument room," Tinsley said, which elicited a cheer from the triplet.

"Mom, let's form a band. I'll be the one in charge of the piano." Ariel called out in excitement.

"Mom, I'll play the drum." Mason rolled his sleeve in excitement.

"Mom, I'll play the guitar." Jason chose excitedly.

Tinsley pouted her lips and stared at the triplets with fake wronged eyes. "What will mom play then?" Tinsley asked which made the triplets fall into thoughts.

After a few seconds, the triplets exchanged looks and cried out at the same time. "Mom, you are our singer." They said, and the triplets raced to the arranged instrument room.

Tinsley stood up and was about to go when Rory grabbed her hand. "What's up? Miss Rory Onyx." Tinsley said in a teasing voice that made Rory blush.

"Stop it. I'm trying to be serious." Rory said while trying to fake a serious expression. "You tell me, what's going on with you? Everything is blowing out of proportion." She said only for Tinsley to shrug.

"Is it?" She asked as if she was clueless only for Rory to grit her teeth and nod immediately. "Yes." She replied unhappily.

"Oh well. I don't know." She replied shamelessly, which further infuriated Rory. "All I know is I have a meeting with my band. Any later and I'll be punished." She said and immediately scurried off, which made Rory sigh.

Alright, she might as well watch the band, she thought and immediately posted on her social media, the video of Tinsley playing guitar.

She made sure that she only recorded Tinsley because they don't want the triplets to be introduced to social media since they were still young.

'Touching performance, but I hate you talented all-rounder bitch' She commented and tagged White Tigress.

After doing so, she immediately put her phone in her pocket and fetched her expensive camera before dashing for the instrument room to watch the exclusive band show.

Unknown to her, her post had caused a massive reaction online.

Rory clapped happily as she watched the show. The family is a set of geniuses. Well, it's expected since their mother is a genius just like their father.

The family without training was able to create a song that matched a hit song. Thankfully, she had set her video camera to continue to record or else she'd have cried if she didn't.

This song will certainly be her new ringtone. And a kept treasure, the children could watch when they're older.

"Mom, are you hungry?" The triplets batted her eyelids at Tinsley at the same time, which caused her to be overwhelmed by their cuteness. "Yes." Tinsley blurted out without thinking.

"Yay. Mom cooks for us." The triplets said, which made her smile. "Your wish is my command. Little triplets lord." Tinsley said dramatically before she walked out of the room.

Rory picked up her phone from where it was kept after the show was done. In order to control the urge to post this show online, she had thrown her phone to the side and placed it on silent.

By the time Rory will pick up her phone, it was already filled with several messages. She placed her phone in general, and it began to ring continuously which made her lips part in shock and disbelief.

"What's happening?" She wondered and unlocked her phone, but before she could pick up her call, she saw her dad call her.

"Dad."

"You silly child, why didn't you tell us Tinsley is white Tigress?" Her mom scolded her immediately after she picked up the call.

"Mom, Dad. How did you know?" Rory asked with shock.

"Isn't that what you just posted some hours ago?"

"Huh, but I only posted Tinsley singing a song. How did I... Ah!" Rory gasped in shock when she remembered her teasing Tinsley, she had forgotten that the camera was still working at that time.

Rory dropped the call and ran toward Tinsley who was happily humming while cooking the triplet's favorite meal.

"White Tigress, I just caused trouble." She muttered, which caused Tinsley to turn back leisurely.

"What's up, Rory Onyx?" Tinsley asked in a voice filled with nonchalant.

"I think I had just revealed your identity?" She stated in an unsure tone which made Tinsley chuckle.
