

The Substitute Bride Triplets And The Impotent Billionaire

Chapter 52 Moving Out

"Girl, what the hell is happening? Where are you going?" Rory returned from the company only to discover the scene of Jarek's staff packing Tinsley's luggage in the van.

Tinsley shrugged with a tired sigh. Everything that had just happened with Jarek overwhelmed her, and she just had the time to go over it again.

Earlier, Tinsley had even raised the idea of signing a contract with Jarek, but he had scoffed at her, telling her he needed a marriage partner, not a contract marriage partner, and if she wasn't interested she could say her goodbye. That President Jarek! She gritted her teeth angrily.

Seeing Tinsley heaving silently in anger, Rory moved toward her and sat beside her, "What's wrong with you? Tell me what's happening. Don't shrug at me." Rory demanded feeling uneasy at Tinsley's silent action.

Tinsley took a deep breath to calm herself, she finally spat out, "It's Jarek." Tinsley simply said.

"Jarek?" Rory frowned slightly. "What's wrong with Jarek? And, where's the Triplet's, I bought them their favorite dessert." She asked gently.

Tinsley sighed and ruffled her hair tiredly, "Jarek took them." She replied honestly.

"What?" Rory asked in disbelief. "Jarek took them away?" How? Rory never expected that the first day that Tinsley would take the children to the set would be the day Jarek would appear.

"Yes." Tinsley nodded. "Jarek saw the Triplet's at the set earlier, so he demanded that I be his wife, or he won't let me meet my kids anymore." Tinsley carefully explained all that happened to her and Jarek to Rory. She almost broke down when everything replayed in her head. The fear that he'd take the children away and everything.

Rory blinked her eyes calmly, "Is that so?" Rory fell into thoughts with a strange expression on her face, but Tinsley didn't suspect anything.

What Tinsley didn't know was that Rory was the one to push the Triplet's into telling Tinsley that they wanted to go to the set to have fun.

Rory knew that Jarek doesn't appear on the set, so she wanted to make Tinsley and the Triplet's used to it until the day that Jarek will suddenly appear because Rory knew that Tinsley wasn't ready to settle down nor did she plan to let the children see their father.

Even if Jarek had a girlfriend, Rory thinks it's still better for the kids to know who their father is in case of the future.

Besides, it'll be better for them to know Jarek's opinion about the Triplet's now but what she didn't expect was Jarek coercing Tinsley into a marriage with him.

"So, what about his girlfriend?" She questions with curiosity.

"Jarek's girlfriend? Do you mean Rylee? She's not his girlfriend. She's his sister." Tinsley replied with an embarrassed blush on her face.

"She was his girlfriend? Didn't you say she was his girlfriend?" She asked with bewilderment.

"I made a mistake," Tinsley replied.

"If Rylee is his sister, does that mean Jarek is a member of the popular Hart family?" Rylee's brows were furrowed due to curiosity. Unfortunately, Tinsley didn't know anything about Jarek either.

"Wait. Did you just say he wanted you to be his wife?" Rylee was excited as if she just heard Tinsley's words. "Congratulations. It calls for celebration. That Rylee bitch would definitely cry if she knew about this."

Tinsley rolled her eyes when she saw that Rory was excited. She couldn't understand why Rory was excited when Jarek had indirectly threatened her, "What calls for celebration? Are you glad about this?" She asked.

Rory nodded immediately, "Why wouldn't I? Is it every day that one finds an ideal billionaire husband?" She retorted.

Tinsley scoffed when she remembered how Jarek had let her say yes to his words, that man was a scheming devil. "What husband? He didn't propose to me? He even coerces me!" Tinsley half-yelled angrily. It had been so many years since she suffered something like this, but Jarek made her break her rule without batting an eye.

Rory patted her shoulder in order to comfort her, "Wait, he gave you an option, didn't he? Besides, it's not as scary as it seems; once you both get used to each other you'll definitely like it. Besides, didn't you promise each other to take it step by step?" Rory asked.

"Yes, we are, but we'll be living in the same house." She replied with a tired sigh.

Rory grabbed Tinsley's shoulder and made Tinsley look at her, "Think about it, you're doing it for the Triplet's. You don't want them to be deprived of father's care, the way you were deprived, or do you?" Rory asked, which made her shake her head.

"No." Tinsley shook her head in reply, thinking that Rory was being truthful.

Hearing what Rory said made all her sad thoughts disappear.

Seeing that Tinsley had calmed down, she also sighed in relief, "Perhaps, he had been interested in you all along, but he was just looking for the time..."

"What are you talking about?" Tinsley interrupted with a snort and rolled her eyes in disbelief. She couldn't believe that Jarek was interested in her. What part of Jarek shows that he was interested in her? Such a bullshit!

Rory scratched her hair, not believing Tinsley. She believed that Tinsley was the one who didn't see the man's advance.

"Seeing how he easily uses that chance to tie you down, I can't help believing that he was already interested in you. What? He really didn't show any sign?" She questioned while looking into Tinsley's eyes in order to catch any of Tinsley's expressions.

"He..." Tinsley paused when she remembered Jarek's actions since the first time they met. She had wondered why he was acting like that, but it turns out that... Her heart skipped a beat at the thought that he was probably interested in her, "He. I don't know." Tinsley lied.

Rory immediately smacked her head and glared at her immediately, "You're lying." She accused Tinsley.

Tinsley shrugged at her, "Well, you didn't tell me the truth about Onyx either; I had to discover his handsome existence by my capable and intelligent self." She praised herself with a smug expression which made Rory roll her eyes and called her a 'bitch' to which Tinsley also replied by calling Rory a 'wench'.

"Then... When can I see my godchildren?" Rory finally asked.

"Whenever you're free to," Tinsley said.

"Madam?" The staff who helped Tinsley pack the luggage walked towards her to report that they were done packing.

Tinsley stood up immediately and turned to Rory with a calm smile, "I'll see you soon."

"Yes. Tell the Triplet's that I'll see them soon. Also, tell Jarek he had to pass by me before he could touch the mother and Triplet's..."

"You might need to get a messenger for that." Tinsley interrupted her immediately.

"Oh. Such a weakling." Rory admonished her.

"I'm leaving."

"Let me walk out with you."
