

The Substitute Bride Triplets And The Impotent Billionaire

The Kiss

Chapter 54 The Kiss

"Goodnight babies." Tinsley pecked each of their foreheads before leaving the sleeping triplet's allocated room. Even though he had just known the Triplet's, Jarek had quickly set up a room that suited the triplet's taste.

Tinsley had just put the Triplet's to sleep after a long day. Surprisingly, the little kids didn't ask too many questions or refute anything Tinsley said; they just agreed with their father's existence except for Jason.

But ever since Jarek and Jason left that time, the two had begun to bond, Jason had stopped calling Jarek 'dada' and had started calling him 'dad,' like he should.

She even thought something was going on but after seeing how they had started bonding with their father, she only hoped they stayed closer.

Tinsley froze when Jarek's eyes met hers.

Without saying anything, Jarek pulled her hand and began to pull her toward his room while she carefully followed.

Her heart was pounding due to his hand holding her hand and she couldn't help thinking if the reason he was pulling her was because he wanted her to perform the wife's duties.

"When did Jason learn to hack?" Jarek asked calmly and sat on the bed. Tinsley's heart fell a little, but she quickly snapped out of it.

"They didn't, they grew up on it. We never knew they were learning when Brigitta was hacking. It was late before I knew it, but the deed was done." When Tinsley had just given birth, Brigitta moved to her place in order to help her with the Triplet's.

At that time, Brigitta was still a hacker and because she had always worked in front of the children since they were kids, the both of them didn't think they could pick up until the day Jason hacked his class teacher's computer. The duo were shocked at that time. Even though the two of them tried to stop it, the truth is they've all picked it up.

Jarek nodded his head when he heard Tinsley's explanation. "I'll teach him how to hack." He said talking about Jason.

"That... Isn't he too young to learn that?" Tinsley questioned with furrowed brows.

"No. I'll be able to watch over him easily with that instead of letting him figure things out on his own and making him find out the existence of a dark web." Jarek replied seriously.

Tinsley nodded but after a while, she furrowed her brows, "But... Wait. How did you know that they could hack?"

Jarek shrugged at her. "It's a man's secret."

"It can't be that Jason tried to hack J Empire, right?" Tinsley asked seriously but after a while, she hit her own forehead and scolded herself seriously. "My Jason is too pure to do that." She replied confidently, which made Jarek's lips twitch in disbelief.

What will Tinsley do if she knows that her pure son dislikes him because he was unable to hack his J Empire's security all to no avail?

"He didn't. He told me during bonding," Jarek replied, which made her look at him with envy.

"He's already telling you secrets in just a few hours of meeting? That means he must secretly like you, but he's just feigning as if he's not, so he could get your attention." She mumbled to herself, but he could hear her words.

"Go take a bath, you have work tomorrow," Jarek said to her and left her in the room which made Tinsley stunned.

She couldn't believe that she had a natural conversation with Jarek without a hitch.

"Uh... Isn't this your room?" She mumbled but that's when she remembered that the room now belongs to the both of them.

Her heart skipped a beat as she wondered if he'd be sleeping with her on the bed.

She sighed and ruffled her hair and walked toward the closet. Jarek's staff are extremely fast when it comes to preparing things and now all her luggage was already arranged in Jarek's closet.

Fixing her eyes on the door in case of Jarek's sudden barging into the room, Tinsley quickly took off all her clothes and wrapped herself with a towel.

She sighed in relief when she saw that he didn't come in throughout. Maybe he's not coming back in the room tonight, Tinsley thought, and her actions became carefree.

Tinsley hummed while she showered, she couldn't help remembering how her life had been since she was born. She knew Jarek's and her matter is now a challenge she'll have to overcome by herself.

Tinsley wanted to make sure her children grew up as themselves in a warm family, and she hoped Jarek would also do the same thing.

When she's out of the room, she'll demand to talk to him in order to know his preparation for the children and the family's future.

Besides, Jarek being a part of the Hart Family must mean that his parents may want to see her and the kids one day. She clenched her fist wondering if the family will accept them and if the family doesn't have any complicated family issues like many wealthy families.

She walked out of the bathroom while drying her hair with a towel thinking that life is so complicated.

Tinsley suddenly froze when she saw the man sitting on the bed looking at her with deep lustful eyes. His eyes were sharp like a predator when it saw its favorite meal.

"Uhm... I..." Tinsley could feel a blush creeping on her face due to Jarek's hungry gaze. She almost hit herself thinking why didn't she watch out before she came outside. She never thought he could enter nor did she hear when he came into the room.

Tinsley immediately took steps wanting to escape from Jarek's deep gaze.

Jarek didn't know why he wanted Tinsley to be free whenever it came to him. He had run out of the room all because he knew how torturous it'd feel to be able to hear her shower but be unable to join her.

And when she'd arrived in the room with her pale and smooth skin, she looked like an otherworldly goddess. The lazy wrapping of the towel was unable to stop him from being attracted.

Before Tinsley could take the third step, Jarek stood up and suddenly pulled her into his embrace. Tinsley's face turned deep red. "Woman, are you trying to seduce me?" He asked in a deep hoarse voice that repeatedly sent tingles down her spine.

Tinsley's face turned into a darker red and that made Jarek smirk evilly at her. "Shameless. What are you talking about?" She stuttered in a tiny flustered voice.

Even though Tinsley wanted to object, she couldn't. There's just a natural affinity that she and Jarek had. Perhaps, that was what made her throw herself at him in the first place.

"Tell me who's that woman parading in my room in a towel? If not to seduce me, what would she be doing in a man's room..."

"President Jarek, your face doesn't hurt when you're twisting the facts. You're talking nonsense!" Tinsley interrupted.

"Uh. You're denying it again. It's just like that night you threw yourself on me and forced me to have a one-night stand only to run away without taking responsibility for my virginity." Jarek muttered with grievances as if he was the one who had been robbed by Tinsley.

Tinsley's eyes widened in disbelief. "Jar..." Before she could say anything, a kiss on her lips shut her words which made her eyes widen.
