Jarek Response

Chapter 57 Jarek Response

"That's not it," Conrad refuted immediately. "Is it true that Tinsley is White Tigress?" Conrad asked hurriedly which made her smirk.

"Yes, don't blame sister. She's just angry, that's why she failed me in the audition and bad-mouthed me." Lillee replied with a feigned sad voice.

Conrad was immediately filled with rage upon hearing Lillee's voice, "That bitch! How dare she do that to you? She wronged you..."

"Conrad don't say that, let's just be happy that she's living well." Lillee interrupted

"Living well indeed! By causing another's sadness." Conrad sneered angrily.

"Conrad, don't be angry. It's not my sister's fault that she canceled your investment, okay? Don't take revenge on her please." Even though it seems as if Lillee was taking Tinsley's side, the truth is she wasn't. Her words were used to remind him of what Tinsley had done to him and she mentioned revenge in order to push him to do so.

Conrad's eyes flashed with anger as he remembered the humiliation Tinsley had caused him. "Don't worry babe, I have heard you. How's your leg?"

"I'm fine. It's just that it seems that the set was possessed, I kept having one injury or another. Do you think I offended someone who is taking revenge on me through that? I heard one of the crew members mention that it's very common in the entertainment industry." She informed, implicitly pointing at Tinsley.

Conrad frowned angrily. "Is someone messing with you? If I should think it through, I think it's only Tinsley that's capable of doing something like that, that bitch hated your happiness. Worry not, I'll make sure to avenge you."

"Conrad be careful," Lillee replied. Not asking him to stop but giving him a go on.

"Mom, we are going on a date with Dad, today?" Ariel asks as Tinsley dresses her up as Jarek has decided to bathe the boys.

"Yes," Tinsley replied as she finally pinned a pin to style Ariel's long hair.

"Where to? The amusement park..."

"I... Only Dad knows where." Tinsley replied honestly.

Ariel immediately stood up while clutching her doll. "I'll ask Dad now," she said while making her way out of the room.

"Well, don't run. Dad is still with Mason and Jason, remember?" She asked while following Ariel out of the room.

"Yes," Ariel replied and immediately returned to hold Tinsley's hand.

"I'll be watching TV Mom." She said once they arrived at the living room.

"Ok, little girl. Mom will also go and get pretty."

"Mom is beautiful."

"Baby is more beautiful than mummy," Tinsley replied while giving Ariel an air kiss.

Tinsley had just entered the room when she felt that something was wrong. She saw that Jarek had a gloomy expression but it quickly disappeared as if she was having an illusion.

Jarek suddenly pressed her and kissed her. "Third kiss from my side. Hurry up and return it." He told her which made her roll her eyes.

Knowing he wouldn't let her be until she did, she raised her neck while standing on tiptoes to kiss him.

It felt as if he was embedded in sweetness but he knew if he wanted to let it last, he had to let her take her pace.

"Have you seen the news?" He asked while holding her waist casually.

"News?" Tinsley furrowed her brows and shook her head.

Even though Jarek had asked someone to give Lillee a little warning by purposely messing her up and keeping her busy with her acting, it seems it didn't work as Lillee still had the time to scheme against Tinsley.

"Do you need hubby's help?" He whispered next to her ear which made her blush.

"Be serious." She glared at him which made him smile helplessly before he handed her his phone.

Tinsley scrolled through the phone and her expression changed when she saw what was written on it. She knew that it could only be Lillee's handiwork. "How are you going to help me, President Jarek?" Even though she can solve it herself, she didn't want to let go of this golden thigh who had presented himself to her.

Seeing how they were both getting together, she couldn't help but think that the best thing she had done was agree to his schemes.

Both of them were compatible and she feels that it wouldn't take long for the both of them to be completely bonded.

"You'll know soon. Mind you I don't do things for free." He said which made her gasp.

"Well, I was just asking. I had no plan to..."

"I don't deal with asking." He replied and strode out of the room. "Mind you, it's almost time." He said and locked the door behind him.

The children had chosen an amusement park for their date which resulted in Jarek bringing them to J empire park.

Tinsley smacked her forehead upon seeing that there was J empire amusement park, she didn't even know what not to expect from Jarek.

Throughout the day, Jarek kept on interacting with the kids which resulted in their bond strengthening. Even Jason was now closer to Jarek than she expected which was good. She thought they may need to discuss the children and the family but it seems Jarek would be doing a better job than her.

Tinsley leaned against the wall as she watched Jarek receive a call. It seems Jarek had canceled an important meeting for today's date with the kids which resulted in his assistant and the other partner calling him to ask if he could rethink it.

Tinsley smiled and walked toward him with a smile, he was helping the children to get on a rollercoaster. "Are you sure you don't need to go?" Tinsley asked Jarek with a smile.

"The Triplets and I will be fine." She told him which made him poke her nose.

"Other ladies want their husbands to be with them but you can't wait to send your husband away." He told her which made her smile at him

"Other husbands want their wives to let them go but I'm doing so yet you're not appreciating my goodwill."

"Sleek mouth," Jarek replied to her, which made her giggle. The both of them didn't know how harmonious they all felt with each other.

The bodyguards that followed them felt that this family was so attractive so they took up the job of a photographer and began to take the family photo all day.

"Dad, are you leaving us for the company?" Six inquisitive eyes immediately stared at Jarek which made him bent to caress their head.

"I..." Before Jarek could complete his words, the Triplets immediately stared at him with puppy eyes.

"Dad, take us along. Take us along!" They chanted which made him look at Tinsley.

"You raised some incredible kids," he mouthed to her before he nodded to them.

"If you want us to go to the J Empire, we will. That means we'll cancel the cinema..."

"Yay! Dad we don't want to go to the cinema, we want to go to J Empire."

"Let's go," Jarek replied and the Triplets immediately ran over to hold his hand which made Tinsley pout her lips in unfairness.

They had just known Jarek but they've already forgotten their mom for their dad?

Noticing Tinsley's distress, Jarek coaxes the Triplet's. "I'll go and buy your favorite ice cream. Follow mom to the car." He ordered which made them nod sensibly.

"Okay dad." They all ran to Tinsley immediately and stared at her with eager eyes.

"Mom..."

"Forgetting mom so soon?" Tinsley flicked their forehead playfully.

Mason immediately engulfed her into a hug. "The number one in my heart is forever mom." Mason flattered, which made her smile.

"Sweet mouth, let's go wait for dad." Tinsley said and led the triplet to the car.

It was only a few seconds after she sat that she noticed that her phone was buzzing continuously due to notification and messages.

Tinsley sighed wondering what the buzzing is all about, she picked up her phone and tap open the social media app

She was so shocked by the news that her phone fell from her hold immediately.
