

THE SUBSTITUTE BRIDE TRIPLETS AND THE IMPOTENT BILLIONAIRE

Chapter 65 The Fall

Chapter 65 The Fall

The Fall

Chapter 65 The Fall

"White Tigress!" The crew called out anxiously while surrounding the bottom and top of the mountain but Tinsley, who was in the middle, could only cry out with a pale face.

"I can't come down. I'm stuck!" Tinsley cried out while pressing the gunshot wound with a trembling hand. She'd have fainted had it been she didn't have strong power. She could only grit her teeth while biting her lower lips in order not to faint.

Rylee's body broke into sweats and was trembling with guilt because she never expected that the gun was loaded. She had just pulled the trigger casually in order to make her practice real only for the gun to turn out to be real.

The crew was a mess, but they all tried to stay calm in such a situation because they had never met something like this before.

Aldean suddenly came forward decisively, "Let me strap the other flying harness. I'll go over to help..."

Before Aldean could complete his words, Tinsley's flying harness suddenly began to move downward itself, which left Tinsley screaming and the crew beginning to panic. "Hel..."

"Someone should prepare something soft for her to land." Someone yelled among the crowd.

The crew immediately snapped out of their panic and began to throw whatever they could use to cushion Tinsley's fall, so it wouldn't have too large of an impact.

Tinsley was falling from the mountaintop. Inevitably, there was no way she wouldn't have a scratch on her skin because of the surrounding rocks that were scraping her skin roughly as she fell down the mountain.

Aldean suddenly moved forward with his hand stretched out and his eyes pinned on Tinsley.

Tinsley's top was torn, and she was badly battered by the time she fell on Aldean's outstretched hand.

Aldean and her fell roughly to the ground with Tinsley's head mistakenly hitting a rock which made her faint in his arms.

Jarek, who was just walking out of the office-in order to pick up the triplet's-phone suddenly began to ring. A smile filled Jarek's face upon seeing that the call was from Tinsley, and he quickly picked the call up. "Wife." He called but unfortunately, it was the Director who gave him a reply.

"I'm sorry President Jarek but I..."

Jarek's brow furrowed when he heard Director Martin speaking with Tinsley's phone. "What happened?

Say it quickly." He said coldly, which made Director Martin tremble. It felt as if he was thrown into an iceberg.

Director Martin took a deep breath before he said truthfully, "Mrs. Tinsley was injured during practice and has fainted." Director Martin said with a shaking voice.

Jarek's eyes darkened with anger, and he couldn't help scowling angrily. "Is there no security at the set? How did it happen? If anything happens to her, I will make sure you all pay for it." Jarek replied and cut off the call with anger.

He quickly stormed out of the company and got into his car. After picking up the children from school, Jarek quickly arranged for the children's things for two days before he quickly left for Rivin Village.

&__&

Tinsley suddenly opened her eyes and she found herself in the body of her younger self, and she found herself striving hard for love despite the torment she went through in the William's family. She had a feeling that she had forgotten something, but she couldn't remember what it was.

Her life was quiet and simple until she met a handsome and young Jarek that was different from the one in her memories.

It was strange that she had him in her memories, but she sometimes finds herself liking and being familiar with it.

Jarek was cold, but Tinsley began to run after him persistently because she felt that if she didn't, she'd regret it.

Suddenly Tinsley finds herself as a grown-up, she doesn't have any memories of how she grew up, and soon she finds out that Jarek had kids, and they were Triplet's.

The adult Tinsley felt angry, and she stared at Jarek with a teary and hurtful expression.

"Jarek." She called with a trembling body and face filled with sadness.

The Triplet's suddenly arrived by her and Jarek's side, and they stared at her with happiness. "Mom."

They called which amazed and shocked Tinsley at the same time.

Tinsley parted her lips as if to tell the little Triplet's that they were mistaken, but she doesn't know why she found it hard to say that, and she doesn't know why her heart tore at that word, but it seems Jarek understood her dilemma and explained to her while taking a hold of her hand.

"They are our kids,"

Jarek explained, which made her eyes widen in disbelief.

"Huh? Is there a time skip?" That was only what she could say while staring at the four foolishly.

Mason, Jason, and Ariel suddenly looked at her with anxious expressions, "Mom, quickly wake up. We miss you." They pleaded.

Tinsley was stunned, and she kept looking at them with shock. "I'm awake," Tinsley replied looking stunned, but before she knew it she was suddenly engulfed by a spinning vortex that appeared from nowhere.

"Ahhhh! Help me! Jarek!" Tinsley yelled.

Tinsley panicked and she couldn't help being afraid. She kept trembling badly, and she felt that she was going crazy.

"Jarek. Jarek. Help me, Jarek. Where are you Jarek? I can't see you." Tinsley roared loudly while crying.

Tinsley suddenly found herself in a dark surrounding. It was so dark that she couldn't see anything, but she suddenly saw a figure that looked like Jarek in the distance.

Tinsley's dull eyes immediately light up, and she quickly begins to run after Jarek's figure in the distance, but the more she ran, the farther the figure went.

Tinsley continued running until she was tired and couldn't muster the strength to run anymore. She felt tired of running after him, so she began to call out his name hoping that he would also run after her like she had been doing all this time. "Please. Please, Jarek." Tinsley begged the figure in the dark.

"Jarek," she quietly called until a voice she missed dearly suddenly began to echo in Tinsley's ear.

"Tinsley, we are waiting for you." Jarek's voice filled her ears so much that she couldn't say, hear or think anything other than the voice she was hearing.

Chapter 66 Back Home

Back Home

Chapter 66 Back Home

She suddenly began to hear her treasures voices and the voice continued to overlap with Jarek's.

"Mum. Mum. Mum." They called, which made Tinsley begin to get anxious.

Her brain was suddenly filled with the memories and everything that she had forgotten but unfortunately, she still couldn't see them.

"Where are you? I'm here. Can you see me? I'm here. I'm here." Tinsley began to yell until she couldn't yell anymore until she finally blacked out from such a heart-wrenching ordeal and Tinsley finally opened her eyes to see herself in the ward.

Jarek was busy wiping Tinsley's pale face patiently when she opened her eyes. His hand silently massaged her forehead because her brows were furrowed as if she was dreaming.

Tinsley looked at her surroundings with surprise before her eyes met with Jarek's eyes.

"You are awake," Jarek said to Tinsley calmly with a patience and fond look on his face but if one stared at him deeply, one will see his hand that was holding the towel had clenched tightly into a fist due to excitement.

Tinsley's head was pounding and her whole body hurt. She parted her lips as if she wanted to ask a question, but before she could, Jarek poured a glass of warm water and slowly fed it to her while she blushed deeply at his actions.

Before she could say anything, Jarek stood up and said, "I'll call the doctor." Forgetting to press the button that was used to summon the doctor and nurses.

"Jarek," Tinsley called weakly, which made him turn back to her with anxiety.

"Are you okay? Did somewhere hurt?" He asked her.

She shook her head even though everywhere hurt, she suddenly pointed toward the button that was beside her bed. "Doctor." She said, to remind him

Jarek cleared his throat to clear his embarrassment before he slowly nodded his head and walked toward the button and pressed it.

"How many days have I been out?" Tinsley asked hoarsely and weakly.

"Don't talk." Jarek quickly chided which made her nod. "You've been out for a week." He said which made her panic.

She wanted to stand up, but he pressed her to the bed with his hand. "Where are you going?" He said with an unhappy frown.

"Jason. Mason. Ariel. They'll be worried when they didn't hear from me for so long? How about the set?

Nobody is hurt are they?" The more she continued to ask the questions, the more his face darkened until she couldn't stop talking anymore due to his glare.

Jarek's lips parted as if she wanted to say something but before he could, the door was opened and the Triplets who was in a school uniform quickly ran into the ward when they saw Tinsley awake.

"Mom." They cried out happily while surrounding her side with happiness.

Tinsley looked at Jarek with a face full of curiosity. Did Jarek bring the kids down to Rivin Village and why did he let the kid know that something happened to her?

"You've been taken away from Rivin Village. You're in the city." He replied to her which stunned her.

She looked at him with anxiety but before she could say anything, the doctor entered the ward which interrupted them.

Jarek and the kids quietly left and the doctor began to examine her while talking to her. And after doing so, he left the ward and a nurse came in.

The nurse fixed her IV drip and other things. "Madam, do you want to visit the restroom or something?"

The nurse asked.

Tinsley who's been holding it in quickly nodded. "Yes, please." The lady smiled and helped Tinsley to the restroom.

Soon she helped Tinsley back to the bed. "You have such a caring husband." The nurse praised and helped her fix her blanket.

Tinsley was stunned and could only reply with: "Huh?"

"Your man has been staying with you ever since you were admitted to the hospital. He's always wiping your forehead, cleaning your body every morning, patiently taking care of you more than we do, and sending guests away so they won't wake you up. He wakes up before we do and sleeps later than we do, etc." The nurse explained with a smile. "You're so lucky madam." The nurse said enviously which made Tinsley smile.

"Yes, I am." She replied confidently and she watched as the nurse left the ward.

Soon, Jarek returns to the ward and he touches her forehead while touching his forehead to feel her temperature. "Does anywhere hurt?" He whispered gently.

And she raised her left hand to his hand while nodding.

Jarek's eyes flashed with worry but he patiently asked, "Where does it hurt?" He asked and her hand moved to her lips.

"Here, President Jarek. It'll heal fast when you kiss it." She said happily which left him stunned. He smiled upon seeing that she was just messing with him.

He took a seat beside her and replied with what she had said that first morning, "You haven't brushed yet."

Tinsley smiled and she quickly replied. "Hurry, what does it matter? We are a couple."

Jarek smiled and lightly touched her lips with his.

"Thank you, Jarek." She said sincerely after he parted from her which made him arch his brows. "For what?"

"For being the best husband and father." She replied and he touched her forehead.

"What are you talking about? Remember you owe me your portion of the kiss, I already fulfilled mine but I don't mind repaying it." He said which made her astonished but she quickly nodded her head.

"Ok, whatever you say goes, hubby." She replied with a smile.

Jarek was about to say something when the ward was knocked. Jarek's eyes darkened due to the interruption but he quickly resumed his calm expression and lightly said, "Come in."

Director Martin immediately came in while holding a flower. "White Tigress. President Jarek," he called.

Tinsley was stunned by seeing Director Martin, "You're back in the city also?" She asked and looked at Jarek.

"Yes, President Jarek had arranged for a nearby location." He replied to her which made her smile at Jarek.

"I'm sorry for dragging the..."

"There's no worry White Tigress. President Jarek had found someone to act as Lina." He replied which shocked her but she quickly suppressed it and decided to ask Jarek about it later.

They chatted with Director Martin and after a few minutes, he left the ward after receiving a secret signal from Jarek.

They had both intended to have a chat with each other when Rylee, Aldean, and some of the Taming

Her cast came in to greet Tinsley.

Chapter 67 No Clues

No Clues

Chapter 67 No Clues

"Brother. Sister-in-law." Rylee greeted which caused the people except for Jarek and Tinsley to be shocked.

Rylee calling Jarek her brother, does that mean that Jarek was from the Hart family? Apart from Jarek being a billionaire, genius, and the owner of J empire, no one knows anything about him because he had a mysterious identity all through.

"Sister-in-law, I'm really sorry about it. I never expected the gun to be real. I thought it was a fake one."

Rylee said anxiously

"It's okay. We all never expected it to be." Tinsley smiled softly which made Rylee's uneasy smile finally calm

She was afraid that Tinsley may hold a grudge that she shot the gun, but she had forgotten that none of them expected it to be real either, talkless of it having a bullet.

"Mr. Aldean. Thank you for saving my life." Tinsley smiled at him sincerely. She knew that if she hadn't fallen in his hand she'd have a far worse injury than the one she had. Besides, she could hear him choosing himself to strap a flying harness despite that one of it showed that it was harmful.

Aldean smiled back at her. "It's my pleasure saving a beauty like you..." before he could complete his words, he felt an intense, cold, and sinister glare from Jarek which made him shut his lips. While inwardly thinking that President Jarek was scary when it comes to his wife.

The team exchanged pleasantries before asking her to take care of herself. "I didn't see Jane around, is she okay?" She asked in concern.

Jarek lowered his head. Ever since the incident happened to Tinsley, the teary and pale Jane had stuck to Tinsley's side, never letting go for even a minute.

And after Tinsley was placed in her ward, Jane had stuck outside her ward for days until Jarek prohibited the guard from letting her into the hospital or nearby.

"I asked her to go home to rest," Jarek replied and touched her forehead.

"Does it hurt?" His eyes lowered thinking about how nice it'd be if he could transfer all the injuries and the pains to himself, so Tinsley won't feel any pain.

"It's fine. Jarek." She replied which made him nod.

"Smile. It's ugly when you frown." She teased him which made him laugh.

"Everyone labeled it as being cool."

"Yes, I agree." She nodded her head and her expression soon changed. "Is it true that you found someone for Lina?" She asked him while looking at him intensely.

"Yes, I did." He replied straight-forward, but she took a deep breath and asked him a word. "Why?"

"It's dangerous." He simply replied to her while clenching his fist.

Her hand moved toward him. "I can never grow from being shielded." She says seriously. "So don't shield me too much. Let me face my fear and danger myself. All I just want is for you to be with me whenever I need someone for happiness and comfort." She said, and he nodded after a few seconds of contemplating.

"Besides, you should also know that the incident isn't simple and someone should be behind this. If it was only the flying harness, I wouldn't have thought of it too much; I would have thought it was just malfunctioning but what about the gun? If someone doesn't want to endanger me or someone in the crew, then none of this would have happened." She revealed while knitting her brows.

Jarek's hand moved toward her brows and massaged it, which made her smile.

"Hubby, the real actress behind Lina, suddenly quit when we arrived at Rivin Village because it'll be hard to get an actress who was made to target me. Rory had revealed that I could act, which means that I would be the one to take the role. They already had it planned..." Before Tinsley could say anymore, Jarek's lips shut hers.

"You had just woken up, there's no need to get yourself worked up." He said which made her pout at him.

He had to take a deep breath to control the urge to kiss her again

"Are you hiding something from me?" She suddenly asked, which made him arch his brows.

"What are you talking about?" He asked her calmly.

Tinsley tilted her head and blinked innocently. "President Jarek, have you started investigating it?" She asked.

Jarek sighed before he nodded to her. "Yes, but it's quite hard to get a clue due to Rivin's backwardness in technology." He revealed, which made her nod knowingly.

"Is that the reason you asked the crew to return to the city?" She inquired and he nodded to her.

"Rivin doesn't have room for technology. And to ensure the crew's safety I had to." He revealed which made her feel quiet.

Tinsley yawned because she was beginning to feel sleepy. "Let me know when you find out who's behind it. I'll take care of them again." She said while yawning with tears in her eyes.

"Stop talking." Jarek chided her. "Sleep." He stood up and covered her with the blanket carefully.

Tinsley smiled at him thankfully before she finally fell asleep. Jarek stood up after seeing that she was fast asleep.

He walked out of the ward and quickly dialed a number. "How's it?" He asked the person at the other end of the phone.

"President, we can't find a clue at the set and the only thing we can do is to trace out the people who were connected with the two." The other person replied which made Jarek frown.

"Trace it quickly. I want it found within a week." He spat out angrily before he cut off the call.

Jarek leaned back and watched into Tinsley's ward. He was more in love with this person than he thought he was, and he couldn't help but remember when he first saw her state, it felt as if a part of him had been forcefully extracted from him and it hurt deeply.

He was about to enter the ward when he felt the presence of someone. He turned, and he was shocked by the woman who walked to him.

Chapter 68 A Surprise Visitor

A Surprise Visitor

Chapter 68 A Surprise Visitor

Jarek was shocked by the presence of the woman. How many times had he called for her that she had refused him? Jarek turned his back and decided to return to Tinsley's ward, opting to ignore the woman.

Jarek swept a quick gaze at his surroundings, and he saw that none of the guards were present. He sneered, thinking that that woman always had a precise decision.

When she wanted to cut him off back then, she had done so easily. Now that she wanted to return, she had also taken care of the guard that he positioned.

"Leave, you don't have any business here," Jarek replied coldly and immediately made his way into Tinsley's ward without batting an eye at her.

The woman who had been missing Jarek ever since she left him that year had been calling him, but he never picked up her calls. Now that she has finally had a chance to meet him, how can she follow his words and waste the chance?

"Son." She quickly grasped his hand anxiously, which made him stop in his tracks.

"Who did you call your son? Did you have amnesia?" He mocked her and immediately threw Annalise, his mom's hand away.

Annalise's expression fell more and her hand withdrew to her side. "Jarek, can you please listen to Mom?"

"Brother, Mom, and Dad are here to see my sister-in-law..." Rylee's words immediately stopped when she caught sight of Annalise with Jarek.

At that moment, Mr. Hart, Mrs. Hart, and Walker all came in but their expressions all changed when they saw Annalise.

Annalise's down expression immediately changed into a cold one when she saw Hart's family. "Orion, long time no see." She said while looking at Mr. Hart, who had a panicked expression on his face.

None of the Hart members expected to see Annalise at the hospital, hell! None of them thought they could see her again since she had disappeared for over a decade while hiding her traces deeply.

Annalise turned to Mrs. Hart with a cold smirk. "Lucinda, that naive secretary of that year, it turns out that you were the capable one to tie this man whore down. So capable, two whore made for each other.

I remembered how you called me madam in those years, is that what you'll still call me now?" She sneered at them without minding any of their expressions.

Jarek didn't pay attention to any of them and directly entered the ward.

Mrs. Hart trembled repeatedly, "I'm sorry, madam." She apologized, which made Annalise sneer.

"You should be because that's what you're; a weakling. Even when that man whore raped you, you still dared to apologize and..."

"Anna, don't go too far. If you want to come at someone, come at me, not Lucy and the kids, they're innocent and shouldn't be involved in our battle." Mr. Hart said calmly.

Annalise smiled calmly and walked toward Mr. Hart. "Don't go too far, huh? Remember who pushed me so far? Almost to the brink of death? It seems the naive Lucy was able to change you. Surprisingly, you are finding a way to bring back your family." She taunted him

"Can you move your argument to somewhere else, my wife is sleeping?" Jarek suddenly said coldly and opened the door which interrupted the family's dispute.

Annalise took steps back and turned to Jarek with a fawning smile, "You don't need to come back here.

I hate seeing your face." Jarek scowled unhappily and returned to the ward.

Jarek didn't mention names, but Mr. Hart and Annalise knew he was talking to both of them.

"Mom. Let's go." Rylee tugged Mrs. Hart's hand with a smile trying to cheer the awkward and downcasted atmosphere.

Even though Rylee was angry at Annalise's words to her mom, her mom had told them to always be respectful to Annalise because they owed Annalise a lot, so she bit her lips and said, "Aunt, we are leaving."

Surprisingly, Annalise didn't make a snide remark; she only gave Walker and Rylee a normal gaze before she left the ward strutting haughtily.

Rylee and Walker stared at their parents with a complicated gaze; they hadn't expected that things were more complicated than they thought.

Mrs. Hart faked a smile despite her sadness. She squeezed Rylee's hand and subtly thanked her for being strong at that moment.

BREAKING NEWS: THE FAMOUS BESTSELLING WRITER, AND AUTHOR WHITE TIGRESS WHO

WE NOW KNOW AS TINSLEY IS SAID TO HAVE HAD A HUGE ACCIDENT DURING THE

SHOOTING AT THE RIVEN VILLAGE. A SOCIAL MEDIA ACCOUNT SUDDENLY POSTED.

Nobody paid the revelation a thought; they all thought the person was making up lies. Until a few minutes later when the person suddenly posted the pictures of Tinsley and her flying harness stuck in the middle of the mountain, Tinsley directly falling on Aldean's shoulder, and Aldean and her crashing on the floor together.

Naturally, netizens began to show concern by seeing the posted Tinsley's picture, and what worried them the most was the TAMING HER cast. The crew didn't reveal anything to the netizens, and if it weren't for the social media account that suddenly posted it:

'The accident looked so bad, I wondered how white Tigress is doing.'

'The Taming Her crew seems to be having one occurrence after the other, are you sure this isn't something planned to make them stay on the hot search until it's released.'

'Are you sure you're not blind? How does this look like it's a planned incident? I can definitely smell an anti-fan. Fuck off. White Tigress Taming Her is already among the top most expected release, why would the Taming Her crew need to fake an accident? Retarded anti-fan.'

'I support you. That person is really stupid and blind.' Fans continued to give out their condolences for Tinsley and the Taming Her crew until a sharp-eyed someone suddenly commented.

'Why is white Tigress using a flying harness? It can't be that she planned to act in her movie?'

A frenzy immediately broke out and many people began to tag the Taming Her, Tinsley, Aldean, director

Martin, Rylee, etc. social media account for more information until the account suddenly posted a new post which caused a big commotion.

WHITE TIGRESS SUDDENLY KICKED OUT THE ORIGINAL ACTRESS OF LINA AFTER ARRIVING

AT RIVIN VILLAGE FOR NO REASON. NOT ONLY THAT, WHITE TIGRESS MADE THE POOR AND

UPCOMING ACTRESS PAY A HUGE BREACHING FEE WHEN IN FACT THEY WERE THE ONES

WHO KICKED HER OUT FOR NO REASON. WHO KNEW THAT TINSLEY WOULD SUDDENLY KICK

OUT A FUSS AND DEMAND TO ACT AS LINA? AFTER SO MUCH OF BULLYING THE CREW,

THEY FINALLY AGREED TO HAVE HER AS THE ACTRESS. BUT WHO KNEW THAT SHE'D

ENCOUNTER AN ACCIDENT DURING THE SHOOTING, THIS IS DEFINITELY KARMA. DEFINITELY

KARMA!

Chapter 69 Brigitta Flirting

Brigitta Flirting

Chapter 69 Brigitta Flirting

The huge news certainly caused a lot of stir, and it quickly became a trending and hot search post.

Rory was shocked when she saw the news. She had been calling Tinsley and no one was picking, which made her believe that Tinsley was busy, but it turns out that she had a serious accident.

Rory suddenly stood up which left Onyx in surprise. "Anything wrong, dear?" Onyx elegantly placed his fork down.

After so much persuasion, Onyx finally had Rory to have a date with him, but she suddenly stood up, which made him worried that his arrangements didn't suit her taste.

"Tinsley had a serious accident. I'm sorry Onyx, I have to leave right now." She said with panic and quickly rushed out of the expensive restaurant after picking up her phone and her purse.

"Let's go together." Onyx suddenly said which made her pause in her tracks because she never expected to hear that from him.

"I can't?" He asked after seeing her expression.

Rory beamed at him and shook her head. "No, you can." She told him, and he smiled at her and followed her immediately.

Onyx immediately got into the driver's seat, "Location please?" He asked her while tapping the steering wheel.

Fortunately, Tinsley had been transferred home with private doctors at her aid when Rory appeared at Jarek's place.

"Aunt Rory." The Triplets ran toward Tinsley upon seeing her. Rory quickly bent to their level and hugged them.

"Missed you," Rory says while hugging them, and they replied the same thing to her

The Triplets parted from her and hurriedly turned to Onyx, who stood behind Rory.

"Meet Uncle Onyx." Rory introduced the Triplets to Onyx. "Onyx meet Tinsley's and President Jarek's cute triplets Jason, Mason, and Ariel."

"I am not cute."

"I am not cute." Jason and Mason immediately protested which caused Rory and Onyx to laugh.

"Is Uncle Onyx, Aunt Rory's husband?" The naive Ariel suddenly asked, which made Rory's face blush into a deep red.

"I..." Rory wanted to explain herself, but she was unable to say anything, instead she kept on stammering.

"Yes," Onyx said decisively which caused Rory to turn to him with shock because she never expected him to reply to the kids with that.

"CEO Rory. Onyx." Jarek's sudden entrance put an end to the tense atmosphere.

Rory quickly hurried toward Jarek, wanting to escape from the awkwardness.

"President Jarek. How's

Tinsley doing?" She asked him anxiously.

"Come with me," Jarek said and suddenly turned to the kids. He mouthed a 'wait a minute' to Onyx and Rory before he turned to the Triplets.

"Dad!" The Triplets turned to Jarek, and he bent to their height.

"Have you done your homework?" He inquired and they nodded decisively.

"Yes, Dad." They replied.

"Eaten lunch?" He asked, and they shook their heads, which made Jarek furrow his brows because he knew that the maids had prepared lunch.

"We want mom's meal," Mason said, which made Jason smack his forehead with a sigh while Ariel nudged him.

"Mom's sick. We want Dad to cook for us." Ariel said which made Jason and Mason nod hurriedly.

Jarek furrowed his brows with a hesitating look. "Dad!" The kids drawled with puppy eyes that warmed Jarek's heart immediately.

"Okay. I'll be back." Jarek finally said, which made the Triplets cheer. Seeing that their plan had worked, the Triplets quickly scurried away, leaving Jarek stunned.

"The triplet's way of making one submit to them is really exceptional." Rory mouthed with a smile. She never expected that even the cold president Jarek would fall to the kids' trick.

"Hm," Jarek replied to Rory's word and began to lead Onyx and Rory toward Tinsley's allocated room, but they had only taken a few steps when someone barged into the room.

"Oh, my god! My money cow. Who dared to mess up with my White Tigress?" Brigitta cried out dramatically.

Rory rolled her eyes, but Brigitta ran toward her with a smirk. "Girlfriend. I missed you." She says and engulfed Rory in a hug.

Jarek and Onyx's lips couldn't help twitching; they think that Brigitta is exceptional. And she's acting crazy.

"You didn't cheat on me during my absence, or did you?" Brigitta continued to ask while smirking at Rory's expression.

Brigitta suddenly turned to Onyx with a fierce scowl. "I heard you're interested in my girlfriend. Let me tell you, you have no chance with Rory because Rory and I already swore to die together." Brigitta said while glaring at Onyx.

Brigitta suddenly patted Rory's cheeks. "Baby, don't mind him, it was all jokes. Yeah, right. President Jarek, can we go? I can't wait to see my second lover."

"You're really crazy," Rory said and tried to remove Brigitta's hold, but Brigitta continued to hold her tightly without meaning to let her go.

Soon they all made their way toward Tinsley's room with Brigitta acting silly all the way.

Thankfully, Tinsley was already awake when they arrived. Brigitta, Rory, and Onyx sighed in relief upon seeing that Tinsley was fine.

"Oh, my beautiful girlfriend, you don't know how much I missed you," Brigitta said dramatically, but Tinsley raised her hand and shooed Brigitta away.

She suddenly cast a flirty smile at Onyx, "Hey handsome, it can't be that you finally realize what you are missing and you're willing to be mine..." Tinsley hadn't finished her words when she felt a cold aura enveloping the room.

Chapter 70 The Conspiracy

The Conspiracy

Chapter 70 The Conspiracy

Onyx suddenly felt a sinister aura enveloping him which made him freeze. He didn't even say anything, why will Jarek stared at him that way?

Jarek's wife was the one who flirted with him in front of his girlfriend. He was the innocent one. The innocent one, so will Jarek stop looking at him as if he couldn't wait to pin him six-feet-deep

"Hm. Hm." Onyx cleared his throat awkwardly. "How are you doing?" He quickly asked to diffuse the awkwardness he was feeling but before he could ask his next question, Jarek coldly glared at him

Not only did Tinsley flirt with Onyx, but now Onyx was also asking about her health as if he couldn't wait to... Wait, Jarek be patient. Tinsley is your wife and Onyx had Rory so there's nothing.

Yes, there's nothing. He tried to calm his heart but still, he couldn't help glaring at Onyx because Tinsley had never flirted with him like that.

"Hey girl, you scared me to death. How can you fall from such a high place? It's such a relief that you're alive." Rory cried out dramatically and tried to hug Tinsley but before she could Jarek used his hand to stop her.

Rory's lips twitched in disbelief. She was a girl, it couldn't be that Jarek was jealous of her hugging Tinsley.

"Jarek, Rory is my friend." Tinsley couldn't help but remind him but that elicited a glare from him and it made her bite her lips.

If not that she was flirting with other men and had a crazy friend like Brigitta, how would Jarek act that way? He'd definitely make her pay for it later.

Understanding Jarek's stare, Tinsley looked away and quickly changed the subject. "How did you know about this?" She asked Rylee.

"I'll be back." Jarek suddenly said and began to make his way out of the room.

Rory looked at Tinsley and Jarek's retreating frame and she couldn't help but sigh enviously. "President

Jarek is leaving to cook for the Triplets. An adage said hard-working men are the most handsome ones a lady will ever find. Tinsley, you are really lucky to have someone like President Jarek. Watching such a view of a handsome man like President Jarek cooking is definitely candy for the eyes..."

Before she could finish her words a jealous onyx's eyes were fixed on her. His wife to be, if she could have him, was happily speaking about Jarek with him unable to do anything to Rory or Jarek.

Brigitta suddenly got onto the bed leisurely while softly checking Onyx out. "It can't be that you are jealous of President Jarek and my girlfriend's comment or are you?" She asked smugly.

Rory glared at Brigitta slightly before she turned to Onyx. "Relax Onyx. No matter how much I call others, you're definitely more handsome than President Jarek in my heart." She said which made Tinsley glare at her.

"I'm here."

"I didn't say I never know. You're able to say so, aren't you?"

"Ladies in love are the craziest." Brigitta yawned leisurely while Rory and Onyx sat down on the sofa in the room.

"Wait. Did you just say Jarek wanted to cook?" Tinsley furrowed her brows in disbelief.

"Of course. Your Triplets knew how to weave themselves into someone's heart easily, how can your husband decline their order?" Rory jokes which made Tinsley promise herself inwardly to also ask Jarek to do so one day.

"So you never tell me about how you knew, the accident was wrapped up and was promised not to be released to the crowd," Tinsley uttered which made Rory bring out her phone dramatically.

"Well, you promised not to release it. Your crew didn't release it but a new account suddenly did." Rory revealed and tapped open her social media app.

"Let me see," Tinsley said anxiously but Rory only rolled her eyes.

"No, you're sick. I'll read it to you." Rory retorted and began to read the new post.

Tinsley's lips twitched as she listened to the nonsense that was posted. "Wait. What was my wealth for and where did my role stand if I needed to bully a poor actress to get a role in a book I wrote? That person is definitely stupid." Tinsley spat out in amusement.

"I agreed. Obviously, you can get any role in your book as White Tigress and President Jarek's wife so why would you do something that'll come back to bite you?" Brigitta chirped in with disdain.

"That was exactly what many of the fans were talking about except for the anti-fans who were bent on causing trouble." Rort interrupted with a chuckle and read out some comments:

'So where does White Tigress influence stand? Why does she even need to cast an actress when she'd be kicking her out of the set? Because of money? How much can a poor actress like that give to White Tigress and President Jarek's wife when she already had what she wanted?'

'I understand that such a poster must definitely be an anti-fan. What karma? The real karma is going to bite you. I don't believe you. Bye bye.'

'So you mean White Tigress will be bullying famous directors like director Martin, our famous sweetheart Aldean, Rylee Hart, etc. and they'd all be quiet until now? Your words are so full of loopholes, just show us pieces of evidence that this happened like you said'

'You fans are definitely crazy and would keep arguing even when you know your superstar is a bad person. Idols are fans like switching the truth that's why you are all one cut.'

%%

The argument kept going on very fiercely on social media. For many hours that was exactly what was being talked about.

Several headlines topped the chart and it was all about Tinsley being a bully or of someone trying to spoil Tinsley's name. The battle was a stalemate until a video was suddenly posted.

The video stirred such a huge wave but it was meant to fair the anti-fan Rory's eyes widened and she gasped with a meaningful glint in her eyes, "Wait! Someone had begun a live video. No, I mean that actress who was supposed to play Lina had just begun a live video." Rory tilted her head as she tried to deduce. "Is she meant to clarify..."

"I bet that bitch was about to use you to gain some clout. She'll never take your back." Brigitta replied boredly.

Onyx had gone out to join Jarek so it was the ladies that were in the room.

"Well. Let's watch. Quickly play it." Tinsley urged Rory and she nodded.

She quickly set up her phone so the three of them could watch the video. She also joined the live show before joining Tinsley and Brigitta in bed.