

The Noble Lady of Lust

The Noble Lady of Lust

#Chapter 11: A New Era - Read The Noble Lady of Lust Chapter 11: A New Era

Chapter 11 - A New Era

Once I got tired of the gossip and the party atmosphere, I found an opportunity and escaped from the place to get some air on a private balcony unfortunately I still couldn't be calm.

'That pig, he's insistent'

I thought as I saw the geezer who during the party was looking at me with more intensity, walking around the mansion's courtyard.

I picked up a flower pot that happened to be near me and threw it at him hitting him directly on the head.

'Good!!! on target, Take that, you bastard.'

I know it's kind of mean to hit other people for something I probably do, but that guy looked at me especially for a long time.

I even noticed his gaze lingered on me when I was talking to the girls, and I had no doubt he was only in the garden to see me, who was now on the balcony.

'Oh, shit!'

I realized he was weaker than I thought and was lying on the ground in a pool of blood. I quickly ran out of there and headed for a more secluded balcony.

On the way, I whispered to Tristan that I saw a nobleman bleeding to death in the courtyard for mysterious reasons.

"haaa~"

So I could finally have a moment's peace of mind I just want this to be over so the legacy will kick in. I'm tired of waiting.

I've waited three long years being a woman and I can't take it anymore, not to mention I'm surrounded by two of the most beautiful women out there.

'I can't take it anymore.'

Well it's mostly the desire to use my friend again. These three years have not been in vain and not as bad as I thought.

With persistence and such, I was able to convince Elena to do some racy things and basically add her to my harem.

I was a woman and things felt different than I remembered, giving me a different experience.

But for starters, it was really what would technically be my first real experience.

It wasn't what I expected, but I'm satisfied. In fact, I even started to like that kind of thing, but I still haven't forgotten my goal and that is to lose my virginity as a man.

I didn't go beyond mutual caresses with Elena, who for sure now has a positive preference towards me, although she doesn't stop throwing me cold glances from time to time, something I took a bit of a liking too.

'I'm such a fickle being'

I couldn't help but reflect on what I can become if I go on like this.

As for the other girl, she was Alice, the daughter of a marquis. two years ago she came to the mansion as a guest.

I didn't know her and only from memories of my future self I have an idea who she is, so I didn't think she came for me, but apparently she was the girl I saved back then.

I don't know how she found me or recognized me, but she came to me.

She had a beautiful appearance and was one of the most beautiful ladies in the kingdom, by the way, as far as I know, I was one too and I was in the top three, which didn't make me happy at all.

She certainly was a beautiful woman, But more than beautiful to me she is cute, as her beautiful blonde hair, a little wavy and fluffy, and her big beautiful emerald eyes in her beautiful round face that made her look like a cute finely carved doll.

They are usually hidden by her hair, but she has pointed ears as a result of being a half-elf, which adds up to a lot of points in my tastes.

I knew some things about her from the memories of my alternate self who had many encounters with her.

She was blessed by the God of plants, which makes her have a blessing that is very useful and of many uses, In the future she will become a representative of our kingdom, besides she is my age.

She turned eighteen a few months ago which makes her older than this body. Although she shouldn't, she calls me big sister, which at first I was embarrassed because of the reason she called me that.

The main reason she sought me out was to thank me. According to what she saw that day, was only the part where I was screaming and running determinedly towards those guys.

She closed her eyes in fear and when she opened them again, the guys were passed out.

She thought it was me who saved her, I was embarrassed to take credit for Elena, but her eyes seeing me as her hero and role model forced me to take credit.

Since then I have had several interactions with her and of course, I have also tried to add her to my harem, but he seems too innocent to understand my intentions.

But I was more direct and the confidence that I got with Elena somehow I could get it with her, something that my alternative self would be proud of since when he saw her he also tried to do it, but in the end he couldn't since there was someone who beat him in getting her heart.

leaving him with no margin for anything, so I somehow fulfilled the unfulfilled desires of my alternate self, although my biggest motivation was that I personally liked her, her personality was something I especially liked.

Even though we are girls, I have had advances, but not as much as with Elena. The most we got was a kiss.

But the important thing is that I have high possibilities to add her to my harem, so it's a good point towards my dream.

Also, that she has a great latent talent that I have nurtured in advance because like Elena only after a while would she realize her true potential, but the method was different because she did not have an innate blessing as Elena did.

But, I knew that as soon as the Goddess of plants saw her she would give her blessing so I made her accompany me to visit one of her temples and make it look like she casually received her blessing.

But that's all it was, unlike the reincarnates the residents of this world have to prove themselves before receiving a powerful skill, even so she is a good integration to my group and we will become strong together.

I'm not just thinking about creating a harem, I'm thinking ahead on how to make us stronger, and the more talents the better.

So it's not like it's on purpose that they're all women so far.... Well, it is, but I make the decisions, so it doesn't matter.

Besides, from the outside we just look like good friends, so there's no problem from our family's side for now.

Just as I was thinking about how long these past three years have been, someone came up behind me and it was Alice, who was one of the few people allowed on this balcony.

"big sister I was looking for you, I was late and I couldn't find you"

"if I couldn't stand to be there anymore .... but my dear alice, what were you looking for me for?"

"I-I just wanted to congratulate you directly...!!!! Happy birthday sister!!!"

'How cute' I couldn't help but think as she gestured to show me how happy she was with my birthday and congratulated me, but I had something else in mind.

"your congratulation makes me happy but where is my present"

I said seductively using the tricks I learned being in this body and bringing out its hidden potential, changing the atmosphere around us.

"b-but my father has already sent you a gift" noticing something different in my voice and atmosphere she started to get nervous.

"yes but I want a personal gift from you"

"what does big sister want from me?"

"you know what I like you to do the most" I said as I licked my lips.

I don't know if it's because she's half elf, but she looks younger than me, and seeing her red as a tomato as she stuttered and hesitated reformed my belief that she's the cutest thing I've ever seen.

"I-it's fine..."(≧ ￣ ≦)

After a while she took courage and knowing what I was asking of her, we had a passionate kiss that made me glad for the bad mood of being chased by that pig before.

Honestly, before I reincarnated in this world, yuri was not among my fetishes, but I had to adapt and survive.

Also, I realized that women feel things differently, so it was a new experience that I got a taste for.

'I'm an adaptable being. '

..

.

It's getting to be time for things to start moving. After my birthday I plan to go to the capital where in a year's time they will choose who will represent the kingdom.

the final goal is the central continent where many important things in this world will be decided and I can't miss it, it's a long way, but at least I know what it is.

It's something I can't miss and I've been preparing for it.

Winning that great battle is important in the plans of my future self, to which I have no opposition, as it is a very well thought out path.

But for me now the most important thing is what happens before these events start is a year away and my priority goal after my birthday 'the academy'.

' begins the episode of my life when I go to the academy and build my harem with the most beautiful and talented girls in the prime of their youth and nothing will stop me from doing so'

the academy is the ideal place to create a harem, it is a scientifically proven fact, for all the novels and games I have played.

Although technically it is not a school since I have always studied at home with teachers that the duke hired so I don't need any kind of teaching, but the purpose of the academy was different.

is a place where young talents will be prepared for the future, what was about to happen was something that all the kingdoms knew.

An era that only happened every so often in this world and that can come to decide your destiny it was, no coincidence that I was brought here.

I have been training. I am no longer the same as I was three years ago. Now my strength is at a new level and it can be said that I am truly participating in the events that will shake this world.

'If you think things will be the same as in that alternate future, you're wrong, bastards. Things have changed, and so have the rules'

Chapter 12 - First time > (R18)

After the party was over, I went to my room where Elena was waiting for me. Who in these past three years developed well having even more mature aura from when I first saw her besides her bust, which enlarged even more than in my memories of my alternate self.

'I wonder why,' besides that, besides that, she didn't change much in these three years, but she was still a great beauty as always.

At that moment, I was in front of Elena. Our relationship had already gone through many stages and I had revealed many things to her about me in these past years, which made her the person I trusted the most.

We began to talk about how my party had been even though there was a tension that was almost manifesting between us knowing what would happen in a few minutes, she didn't know, but I was full of anticipation and desire that was overflowing.

It was when I was telling Elene about the noble pig head that was mysteriously lying in the yard, it was when I felt the moment had arrived, I told Elena that the moment had arrived, she went out to get ready while I did the same in front of me was the pink semitransparent window that I had seen three years ago.

[Hibernation finished. Activating legacy. Unlocking main functions]

At that moment, I heard the voice I hadn't heard for three years. It was the moment I had been waiting for. Without any hesitation, I opened my status window .

I already knew how to handle it thanks to the information that was passed on to me three years ago.

-----

Name: Seraphina Silvercrest

Race: Human

Rank: Minor Transmutation

Gender: Female

Stats:

Strength: 72

Mana: 26

Agility: 32

Defense: 22

Vitality: 12

Skills:

Purification (Ω)

Morphogenesis (A)

Eyes of lust (A)

Dual synchrony(A)

Protection of lust(A)

Heir (A)

Affinity for light (B)

Pheromones (B)

Affinity for lightning (C)

Demonization(D)

Fertility control (E)

Enchantment (E)

Corruption (F)

---

Legacy Weapon:

Spear of lust

Special Abilities:

- Shapeshifting
- Connection
- Replication

-----

I watched as my status window appeared and the skills that came with the system on the other hand the knowledge of what they did and how to use them was given to me three years ago, which at the time only served to rub my nose in what I was missing.

But thanks to that I was able to have plenty of time to analyze them and prepare myself mentally, I didn't hesitate. At that moment, I activated morphogenesis (A) and through the mirror in the room I saw how my body began to change.

The choice of my appearance was free to my imagination, some time ago I had hired some artists to portray me in my male version and no matter how I looked I looked like my father which caused rejection in me.

After some time of trial and error I came up with a peculiar image with the artists doing their best to help me, I made sure to memorize it well for this moment.

It was a look that combined my current features and my look from my previous life, as to why not use my look from my previous life, is because, even though I wasn't ugly I guess? ...mmm yeah even though I wasn't that ugly the standard of this world at least to those around me is very high and I felt I didn't fit in.

Honestly even if it is a hybrid between the two aspects, it caused my appearance to go down a notch to what it would be if I just settled for changing my gender, but this is something I felt was the least I had to do at this point.

At that moment that I was transforming, I watched in the mirror as my little shenlong along with my family jewelry slowly came out. At that moment, tears welled up in my now manly eyes, but this is no time to be moved.

The moment I have been waiting for has arrived.

"This goes for you, I alternate from the future, and I from the past who died a virgin. This is the moment when I will fulfill our dream."

As I clenched my fist in the air and reaffirmed my resolve, Elena, who had retired to prepare returned , I had already confessed many things about myself to her, So I asked her if it was okay that when I gained the legacy abilities I could assume my male appearance.

She replied that her tastes were for men to begin with, only I was the exception. Apparently it is only with me that she feels attraction being a woman, something I worked hard to achieve and am proud of.

'all that George bashing was worth it'.

So she totally agreed with me, since technically for her it would just be a session with a little change or at least that's what she said. But for me it's really important.

Not that I don't count the other times, but technically neither she nor I have introduced anything beyond fingers, so we are both virgins. So at this point, she and I will take the next step in our relationship.

She slowly approached me with a beautiful semi-transparent purple *baby doll* that I had bought for the occasion and that I convinced her to wear, the price was my dignity since it would be my turn to wear a similar one when we did it as women.

'a price I was willing to pay' and as I watched her wear it I realized it was worth it 'dignity what is that, do you eat it'.

I could tell she was more nervous than usual.

'I guess for her this moment is important too'. So I gently took her in my arms and held her carrying her in the direction of the bed. Our breaths started to become a little heavy and the air was filled with an atmosphere that made me feel dizzy.

"I'm ready."

Still in my arms she whispers in my ear with a bit of nervousness that I try to hide.

"Elena, just for tonight, you could call me Darling."

"Okay... Darling, please be nice."

I don't know but I always wanted someone to call me that, so I asked for it, not to mention that it would be weird for him to call me 'Phina' when I'm in my maculine version, so for now it was okay for him to call me that.

At that moment, the sensation I hadn't felt for a long time started to be felt. I felt my blood drain and begin to slowly pool in my friend increasing in size and gaining hardness.

Elena's tender side is something that always turns me on a lot, so without further ado, I gently laid her on the bed as I climbed on top of her (missionary), I could see her breathing hitching and her eyes blurred waiting for the moment.

Mhmm.... Smack.... Mmwaa

I moved closer to her and kissed her. It was a soft and affectionate kiss, which I didn't know how long it lasted.

On the other hand, my hands moved on their own, gently caressing her beautifully formed body, the sensation was otherworldly, I explored and touched the places she liked I squeezed her breast with just the right intensity, and with my thumb, I annoyed the hardness that was forming

"hummm..~mmm~ ♡☐"

All this while maintaining our gentle kiss that dulled the little moans that came out of her mouth when I touched the right place.

with my other hand I began to go down and caress his precious place, which I noticed was very wet because I could feel through the clothes, its humidity.

"aaahh!!...mmnn~....mmmahh~ ♡☐ ♡☐"

I played with her wet pussy for a while, while she contracted and writhed, and squeezed her legs, and moaned, every.

I kept making her moan with my kisses, which increased in intensity tangling our tongues and teasing her, more and more until I felt the time had come and I pinched one of her nipples hard.

"mmmmmmnnn.~...aaaaahmm~ ♡☐ ♡☐ ♡☐"

At this moment her body squirmed especially hard and arched her body, having a big and strong orgasm that definitely ended up ruining her previously wet panties.

The moment I felt it was enough, I moved my hand to grab my member which was now at 200% and gently guided it to her precious place, after set aside away her panties, I caressed her entrance with my friend as a final warning of what was to come,

Schlurp.... squelch.... shlsh... squish

The watery sound echoed through the room embarrassing her. My fully erect shenglong began to find its way In that moment, I was filled with anticipation and lust.

I looked at Elena's face, who had the same feelings as I waited for the moment when our bodies would join.

Gently and carefully, carefully feeling all the sensations, I slowly inserted it, while feeling a little resistance 'finally'.

Chapter 13 - Night of passion >(R18)

The heavenly sensation sent a shiver through my body, making me want to feel even stronger stimulation, but I resisted.

I slowly pushed in, making our bodies finally finish merging. It was at that moment when I felt a small resistance in Elena's warm, wet interior,

My eyes did not leave Elena's ruby eyes, I wanted to transmit her confidence and I gently caressed her face while smiling at her and finally I approached her ear to whisper...

"It will be all right. I'm here with you."

I intertwined my hands with hers and savored the sensations that were concentrated in that special spot. With a flick of my hips, my little friend broke through all resistance and thrust deep inside her.

"Mmn...Aah!~♥□"

I could hear a sound of pleasure and pain coming from Elena. I have always heard that the first time for women is painful, so I was considerate and moved slowly.

I wanted to feel more of this pleasure and move faster, but I knew that was not the right thing to do here. So slowly, but surely, I increased the speed.

Clap..... clap.... clap.... clap

"ha~....haa~....haaam~♥□"

the sounds began to spread through the room, a symphony of continuous flesh against flesh clashing and Elena's soft moans that only increased my excitement and my hip swaying.

"Elena, how are you feeling, are you feeling well?"

"Haa~ phi~ ha I mean Darling, it feels good Aaah~♥□ kiss me."

Without any hesitation, I moved in and kissed her. Our bodies were so close to each other that I could barely move my hips. Still, I felt the most pleasure I've ever felt.

"Mmm...mmm~♥□"

As our bodies continued to warm each other, the kiss was so intense and pleasurable that only the need to breathe separated us. Our tongues tangled, fought and played with each other, transmitting our feelings in a crude but effective way.

I was overwhelmed by the sensations, his warmth was shared with me and vice versa, I could feel his soft chest pressing and crushing against my hard chest, everything was a new and different but addictive sensation.

"Elena, haaah..., you look beautiful." I couldn't help but express what I felt at this moment seeing her face, which I will forever keep in my memory and make sure to create more similar moments.

Clap.... clap.... clap...Clap.... clap....

The movement of my waist was at its peak and I felt something begin to form, something I haven't felt for years, the feeling of inevitability.

It is a sensation I have felt many times, but this time the pleasure I feel cannot even compare.

I looked again at Elena, who had her eyes blurred by the ecstasy of the sensations. She squeezed my hands tightly, she seemed to be reaching the peak too, as I felt her insides contract and squeeze me harder against my cock, holding it tightly.

"aaah...Haaah Darling something is coming~♥□."

She reached her limit and I also felt I couldn't hold it in any longer. At this point it was something inevitable and absolute.

clap...Clap.... clap...

At that moment, instead of holding her hands, I embraced her as I prepared to release everything inside her. In my embrace, she squirmed and began to hug me with the same intensity.

"huaghhh!!!" I let out the manly scream as I released everything I had.

"Noooo~♥□ it's already to here come me...mmm

AAAAAAAH~~~!!!♥□ ♥□ ♥□ "

It was at that moment that I discovered true pleasure. I felt as if I had fulfilled the meaning of my existence and felt as if I should simply abandon everything and release every last bit of myself.

I felt a thick release surge through my dick , slowly filling her.

My hips moved on their own as I emptied myself inside her, and I felt her respond, giving the last of herself as she spasmed and arched, her legs tensing in the throes of her climax.

We clung to each other tightly, as if trying to hold on to the ecstasy. until we both finished our orgasms, which I noticed was extremely long, but pleasurable.

"haaa....haaa...haaaa"

"haa..haaa....haaaa"

Between gasps from both of us we lost the tension in our bodies causing my weight to rest on her and she graciously received it again in her warm and soft embrace.

"Elena how do you feel?"

I'd be lying if I said I wasn't nervous it was my first my first time having sex being a man so I feared I had done something wrong.

my new familiar jewels were beginning to shrink a little after the brief silence following my question, but to my relief Elena who seemed satisfied.

".. it felt good~" it was a short answer, but with that she told me everything or I wanted to know. her voice that still had traces of sensuality somehow reignited my lust.

"...mmm~"

Which was noticed by elena since we were still connected.

"why don't we go for another round" I had recovered from the wise mode much faster than I thought so I asked her for another round.

" ...."

She, still holding me in her arms, stared at me, doubting something, but after she seemed to think about it she gave me the green light.

That night we did it three more times. 'if the fact that Elena didn't move, it was because she went to sleep because she was tired and not because I let myself get carried away at the last moment, causing her to faint', or so I wanted to believe, as I settled in and made her sleep in my embrace.

...

..

.

"Nooo!! my princess, why are you leaving me?" a few days had passed since that night of passion with Elena and right now we were in front of the mansion with the intention of starting a trip.

The problem was my father, who clung to me as I cried and wouldn't let me go, even if I put all my strength into it.

'How strong is this old man?'

"no my princess you don't have to prove anything daddy will take care of everything...uggghh"

I thought at the time when one of my stepmothers, not being able to take the scene any longer, came over. She gave him a hard smack on the head and pulled him away from me.

'Damn, you left snot on my dress.'

"Enough, no starting civil wars over a silly thing plus you can go visit her when you finish your pending work."

Once she finished scolding him for wanting to start a civil war just so I wouldn't have to go far away, my stepmother fires me as she normally should.

"Phina, have a good trip and try not to commit any folly that will sully our name...~if you do, hide the evidence,"

Said my mother Leona, who acted more calmly than my father and gave me a hug as she dismissed me.

"Yes, mother."

The second part she said it whispering it to me, though I thought it completely unnecessary, as I have never caused trouble.

'Maybe old Seraphina, but not me.'

As for what happened to the noble pig on my birthday, it has nothing to do with me. as long as there is no evidence, 'ooh, now I understand'.

"Well, it's time to go."

Said another woman who was just as beautiful as my mother Leona and gave off that mature charm that defined them.

She had brown hair and, unlike my mother Leona, gave off a soft aura that gave comfort to everyone around her.

She was my second stepmother, her name was Victoria. I don't get to see her much, as she resides mostly in the capital and had only come for my birthday party. Now she was on her way back and I, along with Elena, was accompanying her.

Upon hearing her words, Elena and I boarded the flying ship that was exclusively owned by our family and headed towards the capital of this kingdom.

"Nuoooo, my princess!!!"

"Shut up",

Plack!

I'm going to ignore that I saw my father, who jumped high enough to reach the ship that had already taken off, and my stepmother, who intercepted him and gave him a blow that ceased his noise.

'I only hope it won't be forever.' I said a little prayer that that blow would not send him to the afterlife.

In my room on the ship it was just me and elena sharing the same room at my request I wanted to take the opportunity, but....

"Elena and if..."

"no"

"I will only grow my shen."

"no"

"I will not change anything about..."

"no"

"I-I'll let y-you.."

"no"

'uff that last one I only said it as a courtesy I'm glad you don't want to try it'.

I tried to seriously negotiate with Elena about what we would do in our leisure time, but obviously she is not willing to even let me propose anything, as if she's angry.

As for why or what she's thinking — I have no idea.

I may have become a woman and understand them to some extent, but even so, my mind still functions like a man's, so I don't know what's wrong with her.

She doesn't seem willing to do anything for a while, so I'd better start thinking about my own plans instead of possibly pissing her off even more.

Chapter 14 - Skills

In this world, skills are something that cannot be easily acquired. There are only two ways known to everyone: one is that you have them innately within you.

Since no one in this world has something like a status window, it becomes difficult to know what abilities you have unless they are easily recognizable or you go to a temple for an examination, but that costs too much, so most live without knowing they have an skill inside them.

For example, Seraphina, before possessing her body, surprisingly had two abilities: affinity for light and lightning, one of the common skills in her lineage.

That includes innate blessings, which grant you an ability. But that skill is different from other abilities, as it is linked to God and is totally dependent on the state of that God to function.

For example, even though I am not inaata my skill is linked to that Goddess who is supposed to be the Goddess of Purity, who gave me the skill 'Purification (Ω)', which has that symbol that only blessing skill have.

The good thing is that once given it cannot be taken away, and less so from those who were born with it since although it depends on God, in itself it is not under his control.

But, on the other hand, the gods can give rank skill (EX), that is where they can take control of a person's life.

Reincarnates have the privilege to choose the skill , but the inhabitants of the world have to accept what the god grants them.

In this world there is no one who would refuse an skill granted by a god no matter what it is, even if they know they will be subservient to they.

Although not as common, it is not uncommon to be blessed by the gods, especially in this dawning era.

The Gods strive to increase the blessed, obviously they have their standards and their blessings are not infinite so they look for the best and with potential like Alicia.

Alicia received the blessing of the Goddess of Plants a divine skill , but she only received that.

If she wants more powerful (S) or (EX) rank skill and to be sponsored by the Gods, she has to prove herself worthy, only then will the gods actually sponsor her with abilities and such.

The price is to always be watched and follow their orders, That's why in this world skills are something valuable.

While there are such a thing as power ranks, they are not as defined as they seem, after training long enough or becoming strong enough, people go into something called metamorphosis, which makes them stronger.

It's like a level up where the body improves and becomes more optimal and reaches a new level of existence each time it goes through a metamorphosis or at least that's what I felt.

But that strength between ranks is not absolute, as skills, martial arts and spells can overcome this gap, of course, if the amount of metamorphoses between individuals is not too wide.

Among the memories of my alternate future self, I saw that, as he chose the light affinity (EX), he could cast powerful light spells and that, despite having only one metamorphosis, he hurt or killed monsters and humans with the strength of 4 metamorphoses.

There were some cool scenes — I got to see how awesome my alternate self was. In one of them, he was imitating a certain magician with a mania for explosive magic, saying chuuni phrases.

And the worst part? He actually dared to shout, "Explosion!" — loud and dramatic — but no explosion happened.

Instead, he just fired a beam of light, which caught the enemies off guard since they were expecting, well... an actual explosion.

But of course that brought a serious problem, since someone's mana in the first metamorphosis was not enough, causing him to faint from spending all his mana, imitating that peculiar mage even in that.

But now I can't do something like that, but those memories wanted to teach me that, although my rank and number of metamorphoses was lower than someone else's, skills and other factors can break that gap.

That is why it is important to have skills, and the more you use and understand them, the more likely you will be able to promote them.

But the requirements and so on, are things that even my alternative self didn't fully understand, as each Skill is different and the method of ascension can be in many ways.

The only thing I know for sure is that the more I use them, the more likely you are to advance.

That's why the legacy I got is important, not only because it helps me understand myself better, but because they come with a ridiculous number of skills.

And honestly, those skills are at another level, regardless of the rank I have right now.

-----

Name : Seraphina Silvercrest

Race : Human

Rank : Minor Transmutation

Gender : Female

Stats :

Strength : 72

Mana : 30

Agility : 39

Defense : 23

Vitality : 19

Skills :

Purification ( $\Omega$ )

Morphogenesis (A)

Eyes of lust (A)

Dual synchrony (A)

Protection of lust (A)

Heir (A)

Affinity for light (B)

Pheromones (B)

Affinity for lightning (C)

Demonization(D)

Fertilitycontrol (E)

Enchantment (E)

Corruption (F)

-----

Legacy Weapon:

Spear of lust

Special Abilities:

-Shapeshifting

-Connection

-Replication

-----

The Skill counts power in numbers, something that is not common in this world. My alternate self made several sacrifices to understand the users of the 14 legacies, hoping to be able to achieve it, something he never could.

But there is something he discovered that is not among the information that the system put in my head, and that is that metamorphoses are given according to the statistic with the highest value.

For example, in my case, the highest value is strength. According to the memories, to have the third metamorphosis it is enough for this statistic to reach 70. The same is true for the others.

Elena, who has the same rank as me, has most of her stats in speed, so she was also able to do her third metamorphosis.

From the day I got the legacy until today, I've noticed that my stats went up, but the important thing is that the one that went up the most is speed.

That was not because I trained it specially, but because of one of the new skills I have, which makes that both my partner and I, can harmonize our stats.

I looked at Elena's window to check it and what appeared was this:

-----

Name : Elena Nightfall

Race : Human

Rank : Transmutation minor

Gender : Female

Stats :

Strength : 34

Mana : 32

Agility : 79

Defense : 27

Vitality : 30

Skills :

Concealment (Ω)

Affinity for darkness (A)

-----

The skill allowed our stats to grow faster depending on which one was higher, right now, besides strength, she is stronger than me in the other stats, so if I keep having relations with her I will be able to match my stats with hers, on the other hand, she will also grow and match her strength stats with me.

And the more girls she is with me (men obviously ruled out) and who have better stats than me the stronger we will all be, we will cover all bases and be without a doubt invincible in our rank, no need for skills, blessings, spells or martial arts.

Honestly, this skill is almost a trap, since according to the information that was introduced in my head three years ago, this skill also has the possibility that both she and I can obtain each other's skills.

Sure, it's something I have to consciously allow, but there's no reason why I wouldn't want Elena to get stronger.

So I put it to work both ways, as there are only positive effects and no negative ones. But, unfortunately, not everything is rosy.

Among the Skill given to me by the system there was a particularly dangerous one and the price of this power 'Corruption (F)' .

Which is an skill that grows in rank over time and the more you use the skills and benefits of the legacy, it is passive and its only function is to degrade the mind and in the end makes you a slave to what the legacy represents.

The good thing is that I have an skill that perfectly contradicts this problem and that is Purification, which is passively inside me, preventing this ability from spreading.

Anyone else can only cast Purification spells at most to slow down the corruption that slowly begins to control you, but since mine works 24/7, I don't have to worry about it growing, even items imbued with this spell are ineffective against this skill .

But the skill is so powerful that if it is at a high rank like (A) or higher, even I could not stop it.

So as long as I have the blessing of the Goddess, everything will be fine. Or at least that was the theory of my alternate self. I hope I'm right, I don't want to become a lust-crazed demon that attacks everything in sight.

Chapter 15 - Pursuit

Another thing I knew was about the legacy weapon. Before, I was anxious to see what it looked like, only to have the same ver*ga I found in the temple appear between my hands, which made me throw it on the ground in anger.

But then I remembered that it had a shape-shifting ability. It's a pity I don't know how to use it yet, but what I cared about was an ability the spear had: the ability to copy a skill and allow me to have it, only with its range reduced.

The problem is that it needs some conditions to do so, which bothered me a bit. Also, it has a completion time of one month, the first time, but it's acceptable, since, to begin with, the amount of skills I have, even if they are not combat skills, is already above the average of this world and I will have more in the future thanks to the spear and Dual Synchro.

...

..

.

"My dear, we arrived at our first stop. You said you wanted to stop at this place for sightseeing. We'll only stay for a day and ship directly to the capital afterward."

In fact, I had specifically asked my stepmother if we could stop in this specific town for sightseeing. The reason was that here was a perfect person to test the use of the spear.

Luckily — or rather, unluckily for him — my alternate self knew that there was someone here with a very peculiar and useful innate Skill.

That would become the foundation of my own future plans. Even though my alternate self had done plenty of research and gathered a lot of information from the legacies, he didn't know everything.

So I had to put a bit of myself into the plan too — without changing the main objectives.

..

.

So the next day since we arrived in this city, Elena and I started looking for the person who possessed that Skill.

Honestly, he had never seen his face, since he liked to wear masks, but I have something that will serve me in this case and that is the 'Eyes of Lust'.

It is a skill that has many functions and, among them, one is to allow me to see the state of someone who feels lust towards me.

It's a strange condition, but it's not that difficult to do with my appearance, although it would be a bit tricky with women. My target was a man.

It was me, Elena and Tristan, who I asked to disguise himself as a simple servant so he wouldn't scare off the target, while Elena and I were normal.

We were walking among the slums, but I wasn't afraid, as I didn't think there was anyone more powerful than Tristan in this place, whom I still can't beat even with cheap tricks.

We were walking around attracting attention. At that moment, I was checking the windows of everyone who felt lust for me it was impossible that the target was not attracted to me since in my previous life he tried to woo me for a long time.

it was annoying and insistent plus very elusive so I couldn't get rid of it, well at some point it just disappeared, so I guess it died or something. It didn't matter.

As we walked, the place seemed more dangerous and less crowded.

At that moment, all of a sudden, we were surrounded by many people who looked like they looked stronger than a normal person, but as I looked at their windows I saw that none of them had more than two metamorphoses in strength.

Guided by someone wearing a mask and looking at his status window, I realized he was my target.

"Bingo."

A smile escaped my mouth as I saw the person I was looking for, but strangely the guy turned around and started running leaving everyone present not knowing why.

"Damn it, come on Elena we can't lose him, Tristan, take care of this, take your time and don't hurt them, you innocent people."

"Miss, wait..."

For what it was going to be it was better to keep him busy here, so I paid him no attention and started running after the guy who, although I saw that his rank was the same as mine, was very fast running among all the bewildered henchmen that I incapacitated as soon as they were in my way.

I couldn't lose him, so I used potions to improve speed and stamina while making sure I didn't lose him.

I thought I saw more skills, but I focused on the one I was looking for, but I feel that's the reason he's running away, but I won't let him escape.

*****

POV: Antony

*****

I grew up in the slums of Lythoria, and that was all I ever knew. I always dreamed of exploring the world and seeing more than just these streets, but that dream felt out of reach. Survival was my only focus, day in and day out.

Then, I discovered I had an innate skill—something that people would kill for, something that could even attract the attention of the gods.

It was a moment of joy, but I quickly realized I had to get stronger first. Everyone knows that if you want to be someone, strength is the only thing that matters.

So, I started fighting anyone who crossed my path, even those twice my size. With strategy and my skill, I managed to win, and before I knew it, I was the strongest around, the leader of this part of the city.

I didn't mind doing shady deals or making threats—it's just how things work here. Offering "protection" when my gang was the only real threat in the area.

I could feel my dream getting closer, no matter what it took. In the end, it's all about survival of the fittest.

...

..

.

"Boss!!"

"what!?"

It's when one of my subordinates came running in while saying:

"Boss, there are two beautiful women who look lost. They are the most beautiful women I have ever seen."

"Ohh!"

I couldn't help but be intrigued at the information I was given. I followed him and from afar I could see two beautiful women accompanied by a man.

They didn't look like nobles as they were wearing common clothes, but for a moment I thought of the possibility that they were undercover nobles. But seeing that platinum-white-haired woman, I couldn't control myself.

I had to make her mine, even if I died trying. It was the first time I had ever felt this way. There was something about her that exuded purity and dignity.

I wanted to contaminate it with my essence. I didn't feel that way even for the black-haired woman next to her, who was as beautiful as she was.

So I gathered all my strongest subordinates and ambushed them. Strangely at the time I surrounded them, instead of being frightened they seemed indifferent and the platinum-white-haired woman was looking intently at my subordinates as if searching for something.

The moment our eyes met she showed a beautiful smile, I felt something wrong. I don't know if it's a skill, but whenever I get this feeling it's because I'm in danger and listening to her has saved me many times before.

So, seeing the woman's smile, I was not enraptured nor did I have time to admire it. Without hesitation, I turned around and started running.

I have always been confident in my ability to cum, so I had no doubt that they would not catch up with me, plus they had to take care of all my subordinates.

"don't run away I just want to talk huehue...."

Hearing her voice I looked back and saw how the woman followed me with a deformed smile that made me shudder.

Whether it was because she was still beautiful or for another reason, even though she said that I could see that her intentions were different.

I don't know what she plans, but what I did know was that if I got caught it was going to be dangerous and for some reason I felt cold between my buttocks.

"Come on don't be shy I just want to be your friend because you don't stop hueheuehue."

"With all due respect, my lady, your behavior is quite suspicious... and that nasty laugh of yours doesn't exactly help."

"...hey Elena tell me the truth, why are you angry, what have I done to deserve this treatment...?"

"...hummm?.... breathe?"

"you didn't have to answer and even less like that, my heart is going to break"

"You must have thought so when you went on even though I told you I was tired..."

"..."

Behind her, the other girl followed her with a reluctant face, from the way she addressed her she looked like a servant, which increases the possibility that the silver-haired girl is a noblewoman.

but the way of addressing her is not proper for a servant girl, but I didn't have time to think more about the relationship of this pair of beautiful girls, I needed to escape.

I was faster, but I couldn't lose them no matter what I did. At that moment I decided to activate my skill even though it would spend a lot of mana it was worth it and so I created two other beings similar to me and they ran with me.

In a corner, where they couldn't see me for a moment, I blended in and we switched positions.

I sent one onto the roof of a building and separated from another at an intersection. With that they were likely to separate or, better yet, follow my clones, which was my innate skill.

"oh, Elena, it's the one that went to the right."

Or so I thought, but for some reason they kept chasing me as if they knew it was me from the start I didn't know what to do anymore and I felt the danger getting closer and closer.

While my speed was superior, my endurance wasn't as good. the chase lasted a while longer, but I couldn't take it anymore.

"What do you want from me, leave me alone!" I started yelling at them.

"Come on...haaah... we just want to talk...haaa... haaah..... why don't you stop and talk? Look you see in me that I want to hurt you"

'Damn, your mouth says that, but on your face there is nothing but bad intentions.'

I saw how she had also lost her breath and tried to form a smile to gain my trust, but all I see was a distorted smile with bad intentions.

I had no choice but to use a potion that was extremely expensive and worked to increase my speed temporarily.

I bought it in emergency cases of life-threatening danger and I didn't want to use it, but the closer they were, the colder I felt between my buttocks and chills down my spine.

So I couldn't take it anymore and drank it. I immediately started running mmore as fast.