

The Queen 256

Chapter 256: LovMusik Trending Section

If one's personal style was very distinct, they would have an advantage in a group photo.

But this was the first time the photographer had encountered such a difficult situation.

If the aura of a contestant was too strong, no matter what the girls around her tried to do, they would appear to simply serve as a foil. That feeling caught in the film would become even more obvious. It was almost a massacre.

If this was released, the fans of the other contestants would probably puke to death.

The photographer hesitated for a while and pointed at Su Cha. "Contestant number 62? Let's try having you on the left..."

Would it be better if she didn't sit in the middle?

The other contestants were in an uproar.

Being placed in the front and center was the perk of getting into the top three. They would appear more eye-catching in the photo and that would give their fame a boost. Wasn't the photographer making things difficult for them?

Even though everyone knew that Su Cha's radiance had overshadowed everyone else, the photographer was still in a difficult position.

However, Su Cha had no objections. If the photographer was asking her to change positions, she would do so directly.

In the end, everyone found changing positions to be useless. Su Cha was the most outstanding wherever she was placed.

Her strong aura was incomparable. When facing the camera, her eyes were sharper and more devastating. Just a slight glance could make people nervous.

The photographer became even more nervous as if something was wrong. He wanted to say in fear, "I'm innocent..."

This feeling was too baffling.

But even if Su Cha was standing out too much, the photo still had to be taken.

In the end, the Yonggu City competition's group picture was finally taken.

After the shoot, Mona's expression darkened.

The attitudes of the people around her were clear enough. Her radiance as the champion was completely being overshadowed.

Su Cha became the center of attention wherever she was.

Other people felt it even more clearly. When Su Cha was sitting next to her, all she needed to do was make a simple movement to make Mona feel that she was being crushed by a huge pressure. She felt almost breathless. She was completely restrained in front of the camera, unlike her usual self.

She did not know why.

Only Jin Mou and Le Anqi performed well.

Jin Mou had good training. As she came from a wealthy family, she did not feel much pressure. Meanwhile, Le Anqi was used to following Su Cha.

Despite the filming coming to an end, the production crew did not notify them to leave. Le Anqi squatted beside Su Cha and watched LovMusik videos.

Now that they were participating in the show, the production crew had requested them not to reveal any insider information, so Le Anqi had not been updating her LovMusik videos recently.

As she swiped, she suddenly saw a familiar video.

Her expression changed with just one glance.

She tugged at the corner of Su Cha's shirt nervously. "Su Cha, we are on LovMusik's trending section!"

Hearing this, Su Cha looked down and saw a video that was on repeat.

Han Xiaoyuan: [I met a pretty girl in the subway. It was love at first sight, but it turned into fear...]

On the screen, Su Cha smiled at the wretched man. It was a standard beautiful smile, but in the next second, she broke his wrist.

The scream could be heard clearly through the video. In the end, she kicked the man out of the subway with a swift and elegant posture.

She was so dashing that it made one want to squeal.

This video had made it to LovMusik's trending section.

Chapter 257: When Without Ability, Think of All Kinds of Unorthodox Methods

LovMusik's trending section was very influential.

LovMusik was the most popular video app. Most of the popular videos on it would be uploaded onto Weibo.

Su Cha's current embroidery video did not go viral even if it was a little famous. Unexpectedly, it was the video of her beating up the pervert today that went viral.

She had noticed it when people were taking pictures of her in the subway, but she did not think much about it. She did not expect to be directly put on LovMusik.

Su Cha was silent.

With her current status, it might not be a bad thing for her to become famous in LovMusik.

Hot comment 1: [I'm not bragging, but if this lady kicks me, I might die.]

Hot comment 2: [This lady is too pretty. What did she eat to grow up like that?]

Hot comment 3: [Why does this girl look familiar?]

Hot comment 4: [She is one of the top 100 contestants in Dreams in Progress

. So is this video just a publicity stunt?]

Hot comment 5: [It's not a publicity stunt on the subway. The man who was beaten up was a pervert. He molested a female friend of hers and was beaten up by her. How domineering!]

There were all kinds of comments on LovMusik. Some people quickly recognized Su Cha's identity and praised her.

Some people suspected that this video was a publicity stunt.

However, Su Cha knew better than to create hype.

"Su Cha, is this bad for us?"

Le Anqi was worried. After all, Su Cha had hit someone in the video. She was afraid that Su Cha would be negatively affected.

Su Cha did not care at all. “We did nothing wrong.”

This man was trying to molest Le Anqi. He deserved to be beaten.

If it were any other woman, she might just have suffered in silence today.

Le Anqi watched the video a few times. After watching several times and seeing the video on LovMusik, she realized that Su Cha might really blow up this time.

The news of LovMusik’s hot topic spread very quickly. Basically, once it became popular, it would spread quickly and others would mimic it.

There were many contestants who were involved with LovMusik. After all, LovMusik was a gathering place for internet celebrities and popular people. Soon, people started to upload videos of Su Cha.

Su Cha was so eye-catching that even though many ordinary people did not know her, when the other contestants saw Su Cha’s outstanding appearance and aura, they instantly recognized her.

Dong Yishan and the rest were currently crowded together. After watching the video, Dong Yishan could not help but feel sour in her heart, especially upon seeing the tens of thousands of comments and hundreds of thousands of likes displayed on LovMusik. Her eyes turned red. “How could you think of such a method to create hype? You’re really crazy about fame!”

She did not dare to speak too loudly. Only Mona and the other contestants could hear her.

Mona remained silent. A contestant whispered, “It doesn’t seem to be staged. I feel that Su Cha was truly being ruthless when she kicked that guy...”

“For fame, of course one would have to act more realistically.”

Dong Yishan rolled her eyes and glanced at Su Cha and the others. “If you don’t have the talent, you must put in the hard work.”

Everyone: "..."

Another person said, "Then by doing this, if she really becomes popular, won't her popularity soon surpass ours?"

She said nothing that didn't echo Dong Yishan's words.

Chapter 258: An Unexpected Person

"Su Cha has always been very popular."

After they were done talking, Mona grinned and said, "Even without this video, her popularity is almost comparable to that of the popular contestants from the Imperial Capital region."

Hearing this, Dong Yishan sneered, "In the end, she's still inferior to others. Now she's thinking of ways to hype herself up."

Dong Yishan's eyes flashed with jealousy.

Mona smiled without saying anything.

Le Anqi inadvertently turned her gaze over and saw Mona and the others. Coincidentally, Mona's eyes met Le Anqi's.

Mona smiled at Le Anqi in a friendly manner. Le Anqi looked at her, then at Dong Yishan and the others. Mona turned her face away from Su Cha out of habit. "Su Cha, why do I feel that Dong Yishan and the rest are discussing you? Did they see your video too?"

Su Cha remained calm.

She did not know it for a fact.

However, she was very sensitive now. When Dong Yishan and the others had been discussing something, they'd glanced at her. Su Cha could tell from their looks and expressions that they did not mean well.

Still, Su Cha did not care about these people at all. After all, it's only those with equal strength that she could regard highly.

This group of people could not even be considered an opponent. They would be eliminated sooner or later. What was there to be concerned about?

The girl lowered her eyes. She just wanted to go home as soon as possible.

After a long while, the production crew finally informed them that they could go back. And so that the contestants could prepare well, they also announced that the national Top 50 competition would begin the day after tomorrow.

Su Cha was not nervous, but Le Anqi was extremely nervous when she found out.

She was already lucky to have been able to enter the national competition. The first round of the competition would be broadcasted live across the country. The rest of the competition would be broadcasted directly on the television station. It would be a lie to say that she was not nervous at the prospect of being in front of many viewers.

The show Dreams in Progress was still very popular. Even though the competition had not officially begun, the audience had started watching it from the beginning. In the later stages of the live broadcast, the production crew had started to promote and prepare for the viewership ratings. It was not only the audience that the contestants would face.

Once a person had become popular, they would face many different situations. Dreams in Progress was a talent show, and its audience would be even more pickier. There were even contestants with poor mental fortitude who had quit halfway through the competition. Le Anqi only hoped that God would bless her. She was not someone who'd do anything wrong and she had a more honest disposition.

She knew that she would not be able to make it to the end. All her hopes were on Su Cha.

She had full confidence in Su Cha.

After the two of them left the production crew, Le Anqi saw some contestants sitting in luxury cars waiting for them. Although she knew that most of the contestants had deep pockets, Le Anqi was still amazed by the scene.

She also knew that many popular contestants were beautiful and had an advantage, especially in the popular district of the Imperial Capital. She had heard that many of them were extremely popular among the upper-class. When she's compared to them, the difference was obvious.

Such humble children like her and Su Cha could only take the subway, but Le Anqi shrunk her neck at the thought of that place. "Su Cha, do you think we should take a taxi back?"

After she finished stating her question, she saw Su Cha looking toward a certain direction. She also looked over and saw that Su Cha was looking at Jin Mou.

Chapter 259: Siblings

Le Anqi was also shocked.

In their eyes, Jin Mou was a typical, cold, rich, and beautiful girl. She had never bothered with anyone before, but now, Jin Mou was in front of a tall guy, showing unprecedented happiness.

Le Anqi was not the only one who was shocked by this scene.

There was only a low-key car behind the guy. It was the kind of car with a market price of less than 100,000 yuan. It was an ordinary car mixed with the nearby luxury cars.

But that guy was too eye-catching.

He was very tall, and the height advantage brought by his height showed his perfect figure.

On that summer day, he was wearing only a camouflage T-shirt, revealing his well-defined muscles. However, from the overall look of it, he was rather thin, and it was as if one would notice he had muscles only after he'd taken off his clothes.

His camouflage pants could not disguise his long legs. He had a handsome face, sharp eyebrows, and thin lips. He had an iron-blooded aura and a hint of being repellent.

His exquisite appearance was enough to attract the attention of most girls present.

Even Jin Mou looked petite in front of him.

Su Cha noticed him not because of other reasons, but because she actually knew this man.

Su Cha was also surprised.

She had met him once. When Li Dongfeng was in trouble and the police came to investigate, this man suddenly appeared and called off all the policemen who were questioning her.

She only heard the police calling him Captain Jin.

Someone from the police station?

“Jin Mou’s boyfriend?” Le Anqi was surprised. “I didn’t expect Jin Mou’s boyfriend to be this type.”

“No.”

Su Cha speculated, “Brother and sister. His surname is also Jin.”

The surname “Jin” was rare. Jin Mou’s surname was Jin, and if he was her boyfriend, Su Cha did not believe that he would openly express his feelings during such an occasion. Judging from Jin Mou’s expression, it was clear that she was completely relaxed and dependent on him, which proved that she trusted this person very much. Judging from their temperaments, Su Cha felt that they were siblings.

“How did you know?”

Le Anqi was puzzled. “Have you seen him before?”

Su Cha nodded. "He is a police officer. I met him unintentionally, but I never thought that Jin Mou was his sister."

It was a coincidence. After all, Su Cha did not think too much about it afterward.

At that time, she would never have thought that Jin Mou was Captain Jin's sister.

Jin Mou smiled and said something to Captain Jin. Captain Jin's expression softened. He patted Jin Mou's head and asked her to get in the car before taking her away.

As soon as Jin Mou left, discussions started.

The discussions behind the girl's back were straightforward. Like Le Anqi, most people regarded this man as Jin Mou's boyfriend.

Of course, Su Cha would not explain actual situation to them. She took the subway with Le Anqi and left.

"I didn't expect Jin Mou to have such a handsome brother. She's so blessed."

Le Anqi was a little envious when she thought of Jin Mou's brother.

After all, the siblings were both good-looking and seemed to be in a good relationship. In the eyes of others, they were the perfect match for a family.

Su Cha did not comment.

She was just a little surprised as she did not pay much attention to Jin Mou and Captain Jin.

But this person's appearance reminded her of something. During that previous incident, who had killed Li Dongfeng?

Chapter 260: The Unusual Movement on the Rooftop

The only strange thing that had happened to her was this.

Li Dongfeng was indeed dead.

Su Cha felt that it had something to do with the Martial Union and the Divine Union that Bo Mui occasionally hinted at.

At that time, she'd felt that some amazing things must be existing in this world, but she could not be sure.

Even until now, Bo Mui had never straightforwardly revealed anything about these things. From Su Cha's perspective, she was keeping her own knowledge a secret from Bo Mui, so it was naturally not appropriate for her to ask.

Otherwise, how could she explain why an ordinary girl like her would want to know about such matters?

Bo Mui was willing to tell her, but after he asked about her reasons, Su Cha could not explain herself.

She knew that Bo Mui must have understood her past self. Her sudden change was unreasonable. It was only that Bo Mui did not care about it. But if Su Cha were to ask, that might be a different matter.

Now that she had a secret to keep, it was better not to talk about it at present.

During the past few days, Bo Mui had not been coming back early to the Lookout Pavilion. He had a lot of things to do in the company, but of course, Su Cha was not sure if he was busy only with work.

Until now, she had not heard anything about the Bo family.

She did not expect Bai Kun to be home today.

This was one of Bo Mui's trusted subordinates. If he was there, Bo Mui must be there too.

Seeing Su Cha, Bai Kun grinned. "Miss Su, good afternoon."

Su Cha nodded. Just as she was about to ask, Bai Kun pointed in a direction. "Young Master is meeting a guest in the main hall. Miss Su might not understand what they are talking about. You can wait in the room."

This was an implicit reminder for Su Cha that she could go over, but the topic they were talking about was not suitable for her.

Bo Mui did not care about letting Su Cha hear it, but Bai Kun had to remind her of certain things.

Su Cha immediately understood. She nodded and went back to her room.

She thought about it as she did so. Bo Mui did not like others entering the Lookout Pavilion, so those who could enter the Lookout Pavilion to discuss matters with him must have extraordinary status.

As her latest embroidery work was about to be completed, she went back to her room to wait for Bo Mui to return.

Her latest work was a crescent moon pattern, which was being done on her last piece of white cotton.

She planned to start embroidering other patterns soon.

After finishing the embroidery, Su Cha rubbed her tired eyes and looked at the time. Half an hour had passed and Bo Mui was not back yet.

The moment she looked back, her eyes flickered.

Click...

There was a soft sound. If not for the fact that she was in an absolutely quiet environment and had sharp senses, she might not have heard it.

On the top floor!

She looked up. Bo Muyi lived on the first floor, and the ceiling was right above. Although he used an ancient style building and the roof was covered with tiles, there was a special layer of blockage in the middle. Logically speaking, the soundproofing effect should have been very good.

Looking up from here, she could see only a luxury chandelier hanging from the ceiling.

Someone had just walked over from the top floor.

She was sure of that, but the roof was filled with tiles. Normal people would not be able to climb up, and it was obvious that someone was trying to hide their aura.

Her expression changed slightly as she walked out of the bedroom. Opening the door, she saw a poker face, Ah Chen.

A strange light flashed past Ah Chen's eyes when he saw her coming out.

He lowered his head respectfully and whispered, "Miss Su, the young master is not back yet."
