

The Queen 486

Chapter 486: Assistant

Tan Jinsui was very fast. He also told Su Cha that he had contacted a well-known snacks manufacturer and she could endorse a new product under them.

He had used his connections to get it.

Snacks might not seem high-end, but this brand's snacks were also a famous local brand. They were sold at a light and luxurious price and were very popular among young people. The new brand of snacks was a piece of fruit candy. It was not a bad time for Su Cha to endorse it right now.

Tan Jinsui was discussing the specific price with her, but it was almost 80-90. Otherwise, he would not have told Su Cha first.

After negotiating, they could start filming this endorsement advertisement next month.

Tan Jinsui was indeed a legendary manager. His movements were much faster than ordinary managers. Moreover, this endorsement was at the right time for Su Cha. After all, it was not suitable for Su Cha to be a low-end endorser. But her current fame and reputation were not enough for her to endorse a high-end brand. This fruit sugar endorsement would make up for this problem.

If it were any other manager, they might not have had the chance to negotiate.

There was also Bai Kun. The resources he'd offered to Su Cha were all from the world's top luxury brands. Right now, Su Cha did not want them at all.

After all, her popularity and status were not enough. If she endorsed luxury brands now, she would drown in spit. Although she was confident in herself, she had to combine it with the current development.

She could not do anything irrational.

It was already out of line for Tan Jinsui to become her manager.

Tan Jinsui had asked his company to discuss the matter of hiring an assistant. In private, Bai Kun's assistant was handling the matter. Although he was Bo Muyi's assistant, there were many things that needed his help, including Su Cha's matter.

The next day, Bai Kun called Su Cha and asked her to go to Cha Yi Entertainment. The assistant he hired for her had arrived. There were currently three suitable candidates, and Bai Kun asked Su Cha to make the decision herself.

Su Cha agreed after she was done practicing at home.

Although "Cha Yi Entertainment" was newly opened, Bo Muyi refused to treat Su Cha unfairly in any way. The company chose the most prosperous area in the city center of the Imperial Capital. It was a three-story building. And if it was not suitable, Bo Muyi even wanted to buy a building for Su Cha.

However, Bai Kun stopped him, and Su Cha also gave him some suggestions. The reason was that big trees attracted wind.

Besides... there was no suitable building for the time being. It was impossible for others to move out.

Even so, the three-story World Trade Center building was eye-catching.

Besides, Su Cha might not even have time to go to the company. Bo Muyi had hired a group of people to do nothing but occasionally move.

But who asked Young Master Bo to be willing?

This was the first time Su Cha had seen the company's face. The decoration was very simple, but it had a different style of leisure. Moreover, it provided all kinds of snacks for the employees. If not for the fact that everyone was directly transferred from the Imperial Mu Group, who knew how many people would want to join this company?

As soon as the receptionist saw Su Cha, she recognized her immediately. "Miss Su, follow me. The people who applied to be your personal assistant are waiting in the guest room."

She brought Su Cha over. Through the transparent glass door of the guest room, Su Cha saw three different girls. Su Cha recognized one of them at a glance and was a little surprised.

It was the girl she saw at school yesterday.

Chapter 487: It's You

“Miss Su.”

“Hello, Miss Su.”

The other two girls stood up in surprise when they saw Su Cha.

Compared to their simple but fashionable appearance, Su Cha found it strange that the girl also stood up. She seemed to be a little nervous and embarrassed.

She was obviously surprised to see Su Cha.

Su Cha felt that perhaps the other party did not know her beforehand?

Although she was now famous, she was far from being famous all over the country. If one did not pay much attention to the entertainment industry, it was normal for a person not to know who she was.

Su Cha nodded slightly and picked up the girl's information.

Her name was Fu Mo.

“Fu Mo?”

The girl who was called by Su Cha hurriedly nodded and called out uneasily, “Miss Su, I'm Fu Mo.”

Her voice was soft and careful, but it was pleasant to the ears.

The other two girls had subtle expressions on their faces when they saw Su Cha picking up her information first. When they heard Su Cha's words, a trace of unwillingness flashed across their faces.

Those who could apply to be Su Cha's assistant and were selected for her final interview must have good information.

Other than Fu Mo, who was currently studying at the Imperial Capital University, the other two graduated from famous universities.

It was a waste of talent to be Su Cha's assistant, but when Bai Kun was hiring, he had made a generous offer. Even students from famous universities would be tempted.

Su Cha called Fu Mo's name but did not say anything else. She also finished reading the information of the other two.

She asked them a few simple questions. Both of them came prepared, as befitted those who graduated from famous schools. They were confident and expansive, and their answers were perfect.

When it was Fu Mo's turn, Su Cha asked, "Won't you feel pressured being my assistant? After all, we are classmates."

Fu Mo was stunned.

The other two looked at Su Cha and Fu Mo in surprise.

Fu Mo glanced at Su Cha and shook her head slightly. "I didn't know it was you in the beginning... But it doesn't matter. I think I should do my job well. I'm exchanging my work for compensation. I won't feel pressured."

Her words were serious, but they were not beautiful. It was surprising.

Su Cha glanced at her and curled her lips. "Okay, it's you."

Keeping an assistant who knew martial arts by her side was an additional gain. If there were any accidents, she could guarantee that the assistant would not drag her down.

The other two girls' smiles stiffened. They did not expect Su Cha to make a decision with just a simple question. The questions Su Cha had asked them just now were professional questions that were difficult to answer.

And this Fu Mo?

They could not understand.

“Miss Su, I think with your popularity and development, you might not only need an assistant...”

One of them not only felt dissatisfied but also tried to fight for an opportunity for herself.

Su Cha looked at her with a faint smile. “I only need one. That’s enough.”

Although she was smiling, her words were oppressive. The two girls felt their scalps tingle and they swallowed their words.

They could only leave dejectedly.

Fu Mo could not believe it when Su Cha said “it’s you.” She felt that she’d gone deaf.

Chapter 488: Unsuitable

Although Su Cha had said that, Fu Mo did not have much hope for herself.

She knew that she was not good-looking and that her personality was not as good as that of others. Su Cha might not choose her.

Now that she heard that she had really been selected, she felt like she was dreaming.

“According to the recruitment notice, the salary for the probation period is 10,000 yuan, and after that, the salary will be changed to 20,000 yuan. Since you are my classmate, I will give you the official salary for the probation period. My basic schedule is not very busy, but I want to confirm one thing. If I want to leave the scheduled classes, you might have to follow me. Can your course allow such changes?”

Su Cha crossed her arms and looked at Fu Mo. She was more than half a head taller than her. She was wearing flats, but she still made Fu Mo look more delicate.

Fu Mo quickly nodded. “It’s fine. I will try my best to improve my grades. Besides, I have always been good at studying. It’s not a problem for me to learn by myself. It won’t affect me.”

The treatment was too good, so Fu Mo could not lose this job easily.

If it were someone else who’d said this, they would inevitably be called a little proud. However, being able to enter the Imperial Capital University proved that she was definitely outstanding.

In addition to the information Su Cha had just read, she could tell that Fu Mo was a genius. Although she only participated in the basic exams, Su Cha saw that she had full marks for the basic subjects. Her college entrance examination score was even more outrageous than Su Cha’s, but she was in the science department.

Su Cha had never heard of such an outstanding girl before.

Those who had good grades would spend more time with her than others. She would not be delayed when Su Cha was working.

“Okay. If there are no problems with the contract, the legal department will give it to you later. Just sign it. Add my WeChat and my manager’s WeChat. If anything happens, we will inform you directly. My manager will also tell you my itinerary in the future.”

After Su Cha decided Fu Mo was to be her assistant, she acted decisively. After giving a simple explanation, she left her number and WeChat number to Fu Mo and left the company.

After seeing her leave, Fu Mo waited at the legal department for a while before signing the formal contract.

As she was a student, the contract gave Fu Mo three years. Of course, if anything happened within three years, Su Cha had the right to fire her.

After signing the contract, Fu Mo returned to school with excitement.

She did not have much hope during the interview, but she did not expect Su Cha to be the girl who'd helped her in school today.

She was beautiful and had a good heart.

Fu Mo recalled Su Cha's attitude from the beginning to the end and realized that Su Cha did not judge her with any bias.

She did not see impatience and disgust in Su Cha's eyes. Even if Su Cha were only acting, Fu Mo would have felt it.

Moreover, she did not pretend to be very enthusiastic. She was just cold and treated everyone equally. Fu Mo felt that it was just right.

Beautiful people were those who had beautiful hearts.

When she returned to the dormitory, her roommates were also in the dormitory.

They were different from the other dormitory mates. They were pretty, generous, fashionable, and rich. Their academic results were not as outrageous as Fu Mo's, but they were not ordinary people who managed to enter the Imperial Capital. They were definitely lucky in real life. Although it was the day before school started, Fu Mo, who had just entered school, knew she was incompatible with them. She was clearly different from them.

Chapter 489: I Just Don't Like It

"Fu Mo, have you finished your work?"

Seeing that Fu Mo had returned, one of her roommates, Hao Lin, looked at her in surprise. However, the disgust in her eyes could not be ignored by Fu Mo.

She tilted her head and took her things. She placed the contract in her cabinet and locked it carefully. “Done.”

The three roommates looked at her. “Done? What job?”

Although school had not started yet, the moment they moved into the dormitory, the three dormitory mates already found out that Fu Mo was in dire need of money. The clothes she was wearing might be cheap. Naturally, it made it difficult for these wealthy and talented people to approach her.

Any school’s population was divided into groups, and it was especially so for those like the Imperial Capital University.

There were all kinds of politicians’ children, super tycoons’ children, and second-generation heirs of wealthy families here. The children of the masses were also studying here. The complex composition of the conditions made this place a small society.

The rich and the poor represented two different worlds. If you were not so eye-catching that everyone praised you, you would know how complicated the school’s relationship network was.

The world of the upper class was strict and inflexible, rejecting the approach of anyone who was not qualified.

Moreover, Fu Mo was not good-looking. The tiny red bumps on her face and her dark yellow skin made people not want to approach her. They suspected that she had come from a region that had been in drought for many years.

Hearing their meaningful questions, Fu Mo blinked. “It’s just a celebrity assistant job.”

“A celebrity assistant? Which celebrity?” Hao Lin exclaimed.

Her other two roommates, Xia Yu and Lin Xuan, also sneered in surprise.

Fu Mo thought about it and said, “It’s Su Cha. I didn’t know her at first, but she’s also from our school.”

“Su Cha?”

Hao Lin and the others were puzzled.

Naturally, everyone knew about Su Cha on the first day of school. After all, she entered the school as the provincial champion and a famous singer in a talent show. Moreover, she entered the performance department which lacked resources. Of course she was famous.

Lin Xuan could not help but laugh. “She asked you to be her assistant? Oh my god, is she that bad? Fu Mo, don’t blame me for being nasty. I think Su Cha asked you to be her assistant because of your face... She wants a stark contrast, doesn’t she? If you become her assistant, you will have to follow her in front of the camera or be photographed by others. When that happens, people will look at you...”

Before she could finish, her words were already written all over her face.

Anyone who was not stupid could tell what she meant.

Hao Lin and Xia Yu also heard it. They looked at each other and could not help but laugh.

Fu Mo’s face gradually turned cold. She faced the laughter of the three and argued, “I don’t think Su Cha is such a person.”

“What do you think?”

“Can celebrities show their real faces? The celebrities in the entertainment industry are the most untrustworthy. Who knows how many personalities they have?”

Fu Mo’s expression darkened.

She lowered her eyes and started to tidy her bed.

The three of them lowered their voices when they saw her gradually turning ugly, but their smiles and discussions did not diminish.

Sometimes, a woman's malicious intent came out of nowhere.

Because Su Cha was too outstanding, others did not like her.

Chapter 490: Heh, Human

[Why did you choose that Fu Mo?]

Tan Jinsui sent Su Cha a message on WeChat.

He also had the information of the three assistants. In his professional opinion, the other two were preferable, but the company's leader insisted that Su Cha should make her own choice.

Tan Jinsui had never seen a celebrity like her who had not become famous yet but was almost spoiled already.

That's right. If he could become Su Cha's manager, the company's attitude towards her could be inferred.

Su Cha: "She is my classmate. Isn't it convenient?"

Su Cha's answer did not perfectly explain Tan Jinsui's doubts.

Tan Jinsui: "Do you think that because she is ugly, she can accentuate your beauty?"

He spoke directly. Of course, he was not like this to outsiders. But in private, he was straightforward.

Even when facing Zou Manni.

Su Cha: “Not only are you evil, but your eyes are also bad.”

Tan Jinsui: “...”

The problem was with Su Cha, but Tan Jinsui felt that Su Cha had made him a big target.

Besides, she was too open with her manager.

She did not care about his face at all.

He could not help but laugh. After reading the contents of the phone, he did not reply. Instead, he placed the phone down and looked at Fu Mo’s information again.

Su Cha had expected Tan Jinsui’s question.

When she had chosen Fu Mo, she had expected that someone would think this way. After all, Fu Mo’s appearance was indeed... a little sorry.

However, Su Cha felt that though the girl was full of secrets, she was not scheming.

If she had seen wrongly, she would have made a mistake. She was not afraid that Fu Mo would hate her.

She and Fu Mo did not know each other. The reason she chose Fu Mo was not what others thought. Fu Mo was not here for her.

Su Cha could tell that Fu Mo wanted money.

From her information, it seemed Fu Mo’s family was only average or not good. She was also wearing ordinary clothes. In fact, ordinary people were like this. However, in the famous Imperial Capital University, she was indeed too poor.

No matter what others thought, she wanted this assistant. As long as she was happy.

That night when he returned home, Bo Mui also asked about the assistant. He reckoned that it was a little unexpected, so Bai Kun had told Bo Mui about it.

Su Cha explained to Bo Mui clearly, “She knows martial arts. It won’t be so troublesome if she knows some things.”

Bo Mui instantly understood. He just smiled and pinched Su Cha’s face. “Then pay attention to her. If anything happens, I won’t let her off.”

Su Cha could not help but laugh. “If I was so easily hooked, do you think the Sect Master of the Heaven’s Secrets Sect would have given the Star Alliance to me so easily?”

Bo Mui explained seriously, “The Heaven’s Secrets Sect has always been fortune-tellers. It’s the 21st century now, and science has called for us not to be superstitious. Maybe he has made a mistake.”

Su Cha immediately scratched Bo Mui’s neck. “F*ck you! You are looking down on me.”

Bo Mui chuckled and pressed Su Cha’s neck. He wrapped his arms around her waist and kissed her.

On the night before school started, Bo Mui wanted to indulge in Su Cha one last time.

But there were also peeping thieves—lions.

Although he could not see anything, just in case, Ah Chen had closed the window and patted Blue Sky’s head. “You are seeking death!”

As he spoke, he chased it away reluctantly.

Ha, human.
