'Well this is some cr ap, I mean come on girl.' I keep walking ahead through the trees, trusting to block out Ghost and the smell of Cas all over my skin and the taste of him in my mouth. 'You didn't even try to run, you just stood there like a d amn deer in the headlights. Actually that offensive to deers, they at least have the common sense to run.'

'Jesus will you stop already, what did you want me to do? Fight the fully trained warrior or run away from the Alpha who made it all the way from the Pack house in about three minutes flat.' I'm so busy arguing with Ghost that I almost walk in a tree, the chuckle from behind me has me throwing a d*rty look at Cas before I continue on. 'I think I might have overreacted, it won't be the first time that's happened.'

'You didn't overreact, you're being house trained. If he puts a da mn collar on you I swear to Goddess I am going to run away, with or without you.' I don't point out that she can't go anywhere without me, it would be literally impossible. She's clearly pis sed and in a mood so I just shake out my hands in an attempt to rid myself of the feelings her and Cas have raised within me. Part of me wants to just spin around, run and keep running and another part of me wants to jump into Ca s's arms and do that whole k*ssing thing again. I don't get to do either as the Pack house comes into view, I can just about make out Selena standing on the front porch, she seems to be scanning the tree line. Most likely she is looking for me or anyone who came looking for me, I really screwed up this time.

"You should shower Angel." I turn around and quickly cover my eyes when I see Cas fully n*ked again. "Don't be shy now, you were enjoying it in the trees." I feel his hand on my as s as he walks past me into the bedroom.

“Could you at least put some shorts on?” I grumble as I peek through my fingers to see if the coast is clear only to see his toned back and perfectly smooth white as s.

“You know, I was going to but I think I’ll stay like this.” Sighing I start slowly walking into the bedroom while keeping my eyes covered, I manage to not bump into anything by looking at the floor. “See, I think you secretly like this. I think it gets you all hot and bothered.”

“Keep dreaming.” I quip as I make contact with the bathroom door, “if you think you’re the first man to give me a halfway decent k*ss then you’re dreaming.” His growl has me quickly running into the bathroom and slamming the door closed, sliding the lock in place. I jump back as his fist starts pounding, making the door vibrate.

“Open up, I’ll show you a halfway decent k*ss.” My heart starts to beat rapidly and my palms get sweaty but it’s not from fear, I know he won’t hurt me.

“You know, I was going to but I think I’ll take that shower.” I throw his words back at him, the growl and the continued fist pounding on the door makes me think my words were not well received. Opening the shower door I start the water, I don’t really want a shower but I figure it will give Cas time to calm down, maybe it will even calm me down a little. My entire b*dy feels like it’s made of jelly, my legs are shaking and my centre is wet to the point I can feel it on my thighs.

“Fine, you win. Shower but I’ll be here when you get out.” I smile as I slide my leggings down my legs, apparently I just won our first argument. Actually I’m not even sure you could call it an argument, it might have started that way but it evolved into something else.

Standing under the hot spray I mess with the nozzles until the spray turns a bit cooler. I need the cooler spray against my skin to simmer the heat rising within me. I might have told Cas I’ve had better but the truth is that one k*ss had more passion in it than anything else I have ever experienced. Even on his best day, Jeremy couldn’t pull this kind of reaction from my b*dy, even before his fists started coming my way. I never knew you could feel this way from a simple k*ss. I'm pretty sure if he had wanted, Cas could have had me then and there against the tree. Sure I might have regretted it after but my b*dy was fully on board at that very moment.

'We ain't ever leaving this place are we?' I don't answer Ghost because I have no good answer to give right now, I have questions and I know me and Cas need to talk. However, I can't see a time in the near future where I won't want to see his lopsided smile or hear his quick witted tongue. Even the man's scent has me on edge at the same time as relaxing me to my very core.

"Eva, come on. We need to talk." I look over at the door as I turn the nozzles to stop the water. I know he's either going to want to k*ss some more or talk about why I ran and right now I honestly don't know which I want.

"I'm

m getting out now." I shout out as I step onto the white tiled floor, it strikes me as odd that the man doesn't have a bathmat of some sort. One of these days I'm likely to slide my way to an early death. Making quick work of drying and ensuring I'm covered in all the right places I open the bathroom door, I expect to see Cas fully n*ked but he's wearing a pair of low riding grey joggers.

"As much as I'd love to continue what we started," he holds up the piece of paper from his desk that had me running in the first place. "Maybe we should talk some more first." I just nod my head at him and walk over to the bed and take a seat, he sits opposite me in the chair he was sleeping in when I first came here.

"Alright, let's talk." I don't know much about relationships or about men in general but I do know that the words 'we need to talk', are either k*ss of death or an open door. I can only hope I'm not about to lose the one thing I think I'm starting to need. I just need him to give me more time to get there.

“Alright, let’s talk.” The nerves in her voice, the arms crossed over her chest and the fidgeting of her fingers all tell me Eva is terrified of how this conversation is going to go. I don’t know if she’s scared that now the adrenaline has worn off that I’m going to start screaming or something worse.

“This is it right?” I hold up the piece of paper that was sitting on my desk, it’s a list I made of all the sh it piling around me at the moment. Every man needs a way to get his head straight and mine has always been a list, listing things out helps me figure out my next step. Eva’s head nods a little as she shyly looks up at my hand. “When I was a pup my father and uncle had this habit of locking me in dark places, cupboards mostly. There is this one cupboard in his office that is tiny, when you get locked in you feel like the air is being sucked from your lungs.” I can feel the terror creeping in even as I speak of the punishment hole but I power through, I need Eva to understand. “The more I screamed and cried, the longer they would leave me there.”

“You learned to hold it inside.” It’s not a question which makes me think she’s familiar with the situation I’m talking about, maybe not darkness but the vocalisation of pain making your punisher hurt you

“I learned to hold it inside.” I smile at her but she’s so busy looking at her hands that she doesn’t see it. “For me, I would make lists. At first I would list all the toys I had, sometimes the multiplications, sometimes The Alpha Oath. Eventually I started to list the people who hurt me and how I would change things when the Pack was finally mine.” I’ve never told anyone that I used to do this and voicing it allowed to Eva is not as hard as I thought it would be. “This,” I pop the piece of paper onto her lap and she slowly picks it up. “I made this one night when all- I wanted to do was climb into bed with you. I just wanted to hold you while you had a nightmare. I needed to keep my hands busy so I wouldn’t invade your personal space, I knew you weren’t ready for me to be that close.”

I scrub my hands over my face as I wait for Eva to say something, the stubble on my face is telling me I should s have. After a few minutes it’s clear she’s not going to say anything so I start speaking again.

“I understand how this list looks when you don’t understand the meaning. I also understand why it would scare you and make you run. What I don’t understand is why Sookie’s scent is all over my desk and chair.” Probably not the most important thing to worry about but I would bet my left hand that b itch had something to do with Eva running.

“She came in while I was in your office.” I lean back in my chair, looking at Eva, I wait for her to explain but she doesn’t say anything else.

“And?” For the first time in a while she looks up at me, her blue eyes are red and I can see the tears she’s trying to hold back. I’m not sure why she’s crying. I haven’t done or said anything to upset her. I’m just trying to understand what happened so I can stop it from happening again. “Why are you crying?” Eva just shakes her head.

“She told me you were at someone called Mary’s house, that you used to play together as pups and that everyone thought you would be together.” I close my eyes and tilt my head back, it seems I’ve ignored this Sookie situation long enough, I really need to deal with this female. “She told me that you had plenty of females around you and search the

that I should just shoo.”

“I’m sorry she said that to you, she had no right. She should never have been in that office without me there.” I tighten my hands on the arms of the chair to stop myself from flying from the room and finding Sookie. What she did might not seem so bad but she knew Eva was under my protection and that I was keeping her here for a reason, so she knew that sending Eva away would only pi ss me off.

“Neither should I. I never intended to go in fully. I was just checking to see if you were in there, the door is normally locked when you’re not.” Eva holds up the list, “I never intended to sit down let alone be found in there. I just got caught up when I saw my name on here and then when I read more of it I was confused as to why my name was paired with these things.” I lean forward and pluck the list from her hands, looking down at it I try to see it as she would.

“Which part confused you?” I focus on the first thing, it’s Eva’s name. I’ve written over it so many times it’s almost bold and the impression of the pen can be felt on the back of the paper.

“The second and third mainly,” I look and see human/drugs and rogue/ murderer, it’s then that it clicks. She thinks I’m connecting her to the drugs Jeremy is suspected of dealing and she thinks the rogue is her.

“You killed someone I don’t know about?” Eva shakes her head quickly, it sends her hair flying over her shoulders so I can see her bare n*eck and collar bone. “It’s Eric, he might not be as clean as we think. I don’t know the full story yet but I’m keeping an eye on him. If he’s as dangerous as I think he might be then I need to make sure he doesn’t affect this Pack.” I don’t want any secrets from Eva, I’ve seen what secrets can do in a mating and I won’t have it between me and her. “I wrote your name next to the human/drugs because I wanted to ask you more about the club set up Jeremy has.”

“That’s it?” Her shoulders drop and the relief on her face makes me chuckle, “I really overreacted.”

“You said it yourself, Ghost has been whispering to you and then add in Sookie. I’m not surprised you ran but I’m glad you stopped.” She smiles at me as she wipes at her face, “will you tell me why the tears now?” Eva half laughs, half snuffles as she smiles at me.

“I’m sorry you had to go through all of that pain as a child, Rowan told me some of it, I thought that was the worst but no one should be locked up like that.” Standing from the chair I watch her eyes go straight to where my joggers are sitting low on my hips, I’m not a vain man but I know I look good. I look after my b*dy so I know what she’s looking at isn’t the average male b*dy. She slowly licks her bottom l*p, I doubt she even realises she’s admiring me with a look of hunger on her face. No matter what she said earlier I doubt anyone has made her feel the way I do, it’s impossible because I’m her mate.

“Don’t feel sorry for me Angel, I got through it and now I’m here, with you and with my Pack. I can’t change the past but I can make sure no one else suffers within this house.” I smile at her as I walk over towards the drawers, I need her dressed if we are going to talk anymore, there is only so long I can look at her in nothing but a towel.

“Why is my name at the top of the list?” I turn to her with a t-shirt in my hands, she’s still sitting on the bed but she’s shifted so she’s facing me. The towel has wrapped around her waist and is revealing the top of her thigh.

“You can ask any Alpha in the world and they will all tell you the same thing. No matter who their Luna is, whether she’s fated or chosen, no matter if they have pups or not. His Pack will always come first.” I walk towards the bed and drop the t-shirt next to her, putting a hand on either side of her legs, I lean in close and sniff up her n*eck.

“Cas,” her tone is a warning and plea at the same time, my mate has no idea what she wants or needs. I’m bringing out feelings within her that she has no idea how to control or manage.

“No Eva, you need to hear this.” I lean back so I’m looking her in the eye. I need her to see the truth within my own eyes. “I’m the exception to the rule because of you. I’ve longed for you ever since I found out what mates were. I knew you were out there waiting for me, I knew I would find you, I’ve always known it.” I can’t help but lean in to sniff her again, right under her ear her scent is the most intoxicating. I can’t stop myself from slowly licking the spot, her shiver has me pulling back and smirking at her. “Now that I have you, I’m not letting you go. You are my first priority, it will always be you, I’ll never hurt you because I’m incapable of it. I need you too much and Angel, you need me too.” My voice has gone low and I can’t stop the small growl from slipping between my l*ps, Storm is urging me to claim Eva now.

“That’s a lot of pressure, Cas.” Her eyes are on my l*ps. I can see that she wants to lean in but her mind is holding her back. At times, Eva really is her worst enemy.

“Not really, we are two broken pieces of the same soul. We are fated to make each other whole, if you let yourself, you’d feel it too. Give me time and I’ll sew us back together until we are stronger than ever.” I hold her eyes for a long time, my arms start to shake from leaning into her but I don’t move. I need her to see that I mean every word I’m saying.

“Alright.” I feel my eyes go wide as she whispers the one word that sends my heart soaring, Storm is suddenly jumping around with happiness as she opens the door to the possibility of us.

“Alright?” I need to hear her say it because right now my mind is working over time.

“I’m not promising I’ll wake up tomorrow wanting your mark on me but I'll try, I'll try to be the person you want me to be." I close my eyes and drop my head for a second, clearly I haven't explained myself as well as I thought, I don't want Eva to be anyone but her.

"Angel. I just want you to be you. The perfectly imperfect you, I wouldn't change a thing about you. I thank the Goddess everyday that you happened to be in the Swiftmane Pack at the same time as me. It was the day the light came on in the dark for me." I can't hold back anymore, leaning in I claim her, the only place we are touching is our l*ps yet my entire b*dy feels like it's on fire.

Cas's soft l*ps on mine have rendered me immobile, all I seem to be able to do is hold myself still as his l*ps s lant over mine. He's not touching me anywhere else yet I feel like I could explode from the heat he's pulling from me, when his tongue teases my lips I gasp. As soon as his tongue touches mine his taste explodes on my tongue, it's only the second time he's kissed me. I'm already addicted to him. Needing to feel him I carefully slide my hands up his toned arms and wrap them around his muscled neck. He seems to take this as an agreement to his advances because his hand comes up into my hair pulling me closer to him.

"Cas," his name leaves my lips on a gasp. I'm trying to tell him to stop, that I can't do this but my nails dig into his shoulders as he trails kisses down my neck. "I don't." his lips hit this spot under my ear and my entire body goes to jelly, I feel myself fall back on the bed as my eyes close.

"Don't worry Angel, I'm just going to play a little." My legs open as if they have a mind of their own and he instantly settles between them. Thanks to me wearing nothing under the towel I can feel him all over me, I throw my head back on the bed as I feel the muscles of his legs force my thighs further apart. "I won't take you until you ask, just can't keep my hands off you." Knowing he won't force me to do anything I don't want, I slowly explore his back with my hands as he starts to leave kisses along my exposed collarbone. I feel every muscle as he holds himself over me with one hand, I feel all down his side until I reach the waistband of his joggers.

Opening my eyes I see his shoulder and lean forward to leave a gentle kiss on it, I've never felt anything like this. I want it to stop and never stop all at the same time, I can smell my own arousal as he keeps tracing my exposed skin. Without even meaning to I grab his ass and pull him into me, my back bows as his cock slams against my centre. The towel has opened slightly so I can feel his chest against the bottom of my stomach, his skin against mine is making me lose my mind.

"Tell me to stop." His words sound like he is speaking with clenched teeth as he holds himself in the crook of my neck. I feel him shake as my nails dig into his jogger covered ass, when I don't say anything to stop him his hand leaves my hair and goes down to my leg. He shuffles a little and then he's opening me more before thrusting upwards just slightly.

"Cas." I feel a rush of wetness as his c ock splits my folds open, the roughness of his joggers is just adding to the sensations he's forcing my b*dy to feel.

"Tell me to stop." I open my eyes to see him holding himself above me, his hand is holding my leg up on his hip and his face is flushed, he looks almost like he's in pain. "Tell me to stop or I'm going to come in my pants like a da mn teenager." Lifting my other leg I wrap it around his waist and use my hands on his as s to pull him into me.

"Please," I've never felt anything like this and I don't want it to stop. Ca s's eyes open, his once chocolate brown eyes look completely black thanks to his blown pupils. I can't look away as he starts to slowly push himself against me, thanks to his thin joggers I can feel everything as if there was nothing between us. He keeps hitting my cl it in a way that is driving me crazy, my hands and legs tighten on him, urging him to faster.

know where I end and you begin." I gasp as he adds a twist to his hips, throwing my head back. I close my eyes, his gaze is too intense, it's like he's looking right into my soul. "Open your eyes Angel. You're about to miss the best part." I shake my head from side to side as his thrusting speeds up, "now Angel, open them." I can't ignore the command in his voice and the second I open my eyes his co ck hits my cl it and I explode. It's like a firework goes off inside of me, it starts where we are joined and ricochets through my whole b*dy until I'm as limp as a noddle. I'm shaking as Cas's hand tightens on my thigh, his arm next to my head starts to shake and he holds himself still.

"Eva!" My name on his l*ps is like a prayer as I feel a warmth join my wetness, bowing his head until our foreheads touch he pants as he shakes above me.

I'm still trying to catch my breath when Cas rolls off me and flops down on the bed beside me.

"I'm sorry Angel, I actually meant to cover you up so that didn't happen." I'm not sure if it's coming down from the high or hearing him apologise for pushing me over but I feel tears form and roll down my face. "Whoa, whoa, why the tears? Did I hurt you?" I feel his hands patting down my side and legs and it just makes me cry harder. "Eva, please talk to me. I don't understand what I did."

"I've never," I suck in a breath as I try to calm myself down. "I've never, it's never been like that before." Cas appears above me, gone is the concern, his face is being split by a massive grin.

"Only me?" His eyes sparkle as I laugh a little and nod my head, "what happened to having better?"

"I might have lied a little." His head rolls to the side as he starts full belly laughing, "was it, was it," I blush from stammering, the nerves filling my belly are suddenly feeling like a led weight. "Did I do okay?" Cas instantly stops laughing and his whole b*dy goes rigid.

"Angel," he places a soft peck against my n*eck before leaning in to whisper in my ear. "I came in my pants like a da mn kid, the only way it could have been better was if I was buried in that warm wetness I felt against me." I shiver as he pushes his forehead against my cheek and pushes himself off the bed, "I need to shower. Don't move." I bite my l*p and nod my head as I look down at the massive wet patch over his cr otch, it's a mixture of both of us, sniffing I inhale the intoxicating mixture of scents. He winks at me before jogging into the bathroom, I see his ass again as he drops his joggers just before closing the door.

'Now, go now. Put some da mn clothes on and run.' I roll my eyes at Ghost as I pull the towel around me and just stare at the ceiling.

'I'm not leaving,' I think I knew the second Storm came running through the trees that I had made a mistake. 'I won't leave, you need to get over your issues. We are staying right here and unless you know something I don't that isn't going to change.' I don't know where this confidence has come from but I think I'm done having my wolf push me around.

'One org asm and you are putty in his hands, girl you can get that with ten dollars and a decent internet connection.' I shake my head at her, I know she's not right. I've been k*ssed, touched, f ucked and rubbed against, none of them even compare to the fireworks Cas set off inside of me.

'I like him, Ghost, don't make me leave. I could have a life here, for the first time ever, I could have a family and friends.' I don't know what happens but one second Ghost is huffing and puffing and the next there is a searing pain down my arm. Screaming out I sit bolt upright in the bed and look down to see blood rolling down my arm and three long claw marks.

"Eva, what the hell?" I turn towards the bathroom door while cradling my arm, "what happened?" Cas comes running over to me with a towel wrapped around his waist.

"I told Ghost I wouldn't leave." I hiss as Cas slowly unbends my arm and starts to twist it in the light, "I don't understand."

"Ghost did this, Eva, she's feral. You've kept her locked away for too long, you won't do as she says so now she's taking her anger out on you." The worry in Cas's eyes has me feeling really worried just as I feel myself pulled backwards.

“We are leaving.” I’m speaking but the voice coming out isn’t mine, it’s too low and full of anger.

“Ghost, you back down now.” I feel a pressure on my chest and I’m pulled forwards, gasping for breath and flop down onto the bed and cradle my arm.

“Cas, what’s happening?” When he doesn’t answer me I look over at him to see his face has a blank look on it. “Cas?” I shout his name and he shakes his head.

“Selena is coming now, she’ll patch you up.” I shake my head, I don’t care about me, I don’t understand what’s happening and I need him to explain.

“Cas, what’s happening?” Cas just sits down on the bed next to me and shakes his head.

“Nothing good Angel.” The panic rising up in me only gets worse as I feel another sharp pain, this time in my leg. It’s so sharp that I scream out loudly causing Cas to jump up from the bed. I feel Ghost growl, it’s so loud it vibrates through my head, I’m not sure if it’s Ghost’s

'Where are you? I need you here now, she's getting worse.' I shout at Selena over the Pack link, it's not often I panic but I can feel it rising up in me right now. Eva now has three long claw marks down her left arm and down her right leg, it's like Ghost is tearing her up from the inside.

'I'm coming, I was at Susan's. What do you mean getting worse? What's going on?' I just shake my head at Selena's voice, I can hear her huffing and puffing so I know she's running.

'Just get here and don't forget your medical bag.' I shut the link off as I try to stop the bleeding on Eva's leg, I've pulled the towel from around my waist and I'm pressing it tightly against her skin. When Ghost clawed at her leg she thankfully passed out from the pain, her cries and screams of pain was setting all the hairs on my b*dy on end.

'Storm, tell me you know what's happening?' I can feel him pacing around inside of me, his panic is just as high as my own.

'I have no idea, Ghost has shut me down. I can't reach her at all,' that makes my panic worse because I know as mates Storm should always be able to feel Ghost. If he can't feel her at all then it means something really bad is happening, I just wish I understood what it was.

"There's no reason for you to be here, you didn't need to follow me." As soon as Selena opens the bedroom door I start growling, the scent of a male has me leaning over Eva to hide her partly n*ked b*dy from whoever it is. A deeper sniff tells me it's the last male I ever want to see my mate while she's unconscious and vulnerable.

"Jesus did you attack her or uck her?" Vince steps into the room sniffing the air he seems completely oblivious to my growling,

"Vince, leave. You can't be here right now, I told you not to follow me." Selena tries to pull me off Eva but I just growl, I'm not moving while Vince is in the room. "Rowan, come and help me. I can't get to Eva with Vince in the room." I didn't realise Rowan was here too which just goes to show how hyper focused I am on Vince. A small sigh of relief leaves my mouth as Rowan Steps into the bedroom, his eyes flick from me and then to Eva, he doesn't say anything at all. He simply walks over to Vince, who is still sniffing the air, grabs his left hand, twists it around his back and up to his n*eck before frog marching him from the room.

"You put some clothes on Alpha or me and you will be having words next." I close my eyes and try to relax my b*dy as I listen to Vince shout and scream about being manhandled.

"Alpha, you need to move now. She's already bled through the towel so I need to figure out why she's bleeding so much." Nodding my head I step back from Eva, as soon as I'm clear, Selena jumps in and starts removing the towel. She instantly replaces them with white gauze, she's so caught up in helping Eva that I don't think she's even realised I' m standing behind her, completely n*ked and covered in blood.

"Alpha, please get dressed before my wolf loses his control, I can't take this." I glance over at the door to see Rowan holding onto the door frame, his face is sweating and red which is a testament to how hard his wolf is fighting. Walking backwards to the drawers I pull out some basketball shorts and step into them, I don't take my eyes of Eva or Selena the entire time.

“Rowan come and hold this up.” Selena holds a clear bag of something that she’s attached to Eva’s arm with a tube and needle.

“Selena what’s happening to her?” She doesn’t answer, she just shakes her head before shifting so she can look at Eva’s arm.

“Her wolf did this? Are you sure?” I can hear the disbelief in her tone as she starts to sew Eva’s arm closed, if I hadn’t seen it myself I don’t think I would have believed it either.

“I was in the shower, when I came out she was cradling her arm. There were no other scents in her and she said her wolf was pissed at her. She’s feral, her wolf has been trying to get her to leave.” I go to rub at my forehead but the red blood drying on my hands stops me, “I don’t understand any of this. Her wolf shouldn’t be able to physically hurt her.”

“Doesn’t Alpha Fraction have an Omega mate? Maybe he can shed some light on this, I mean maybe he knows something about Omega wolves that we don’t.” I nod my head at Rowan as he walks over to me, his arms are crossed and I appreciate the way he’s keeping his back to Eva. “Go and call him, you’ll only be in the next room. Looks like Selena is going to have a few hours stitching here anyway.”

“He’s right Cas, I’ll send Rowan if anything changes.” I don’t want to leave Eva while she’s in pain but I also know I can’t help her if I don’t know what’s happening.

“Leave both of the doors open.” I glance at Rowan, “you stay here. Don’t let that fucker in here while she’s like this. Why was Vince with you anyway?” I can’t keep the annoyance from my phone, he was the last person I expected to see in this room.

“He’s staying with Sally and Susan, you know the elderly twins up on Creek Road.” I nod my head, of course that slime ball is staying with the two oldest members of this Pack. “As soon as he realised where me and Rowan were going he came running along. We tried to tell him not to come but he wouldn’t listen.”

“Not your fault.” Selena smiles at me over her shoulder before going back to stitching up Eva. “Shout, for anything.” Once Rowan nods his head. I grab my keys off the tops of the drawers, I jog from the room and straight into my office. It takes me a second to get the door open because the blood on my hands and the scent of Vince is really throwing me. Storm is raging at that man being so close to our mate and I'm panicking because my mate's blood is still on my skin.

Sitting down in my desk chair I close my eyes for a second and will my hands to stop shaking as I pick up the phone and dial a phone number I haven't used in over a year.

"Alpha Cas, long time no speak." Fraction answers the phone quickly, his tone is just as gruff and deep as I remember.

"I have a problem and I think you can help." I hear some muttering and a door closing, "privately."

"Alright give me a second." I hear the phone being put down on his desk and him telling his daughter, Aurora, that he needs some alone time. "You're on speaker, it's me and James." James is his Beta so I knew it was likely he would be there when I called.

"A few weeks ago I brought Eva to Everfur, she finally got her wolf about a week or so ago." I open my drawer and pull out a bottle of Jameson, "she told me today that her wolf keeps telling her to run and that she's not safe here." I can't keep the annoyance from my voice, I kind of wish she had told me what Ghost had been saying before now.

"Her wolf is feral.", It's not a question, it's more like a statement of fact which means Fraction knows what I'm going through. "Did she attack someone?" I shake my head as I pour myself a drink in my d*rtty glass.

"We sort of connected and afterwards I went to shower, while I was there I heard this scream and when I came out Eva had this claw mark down her leg." I close my eyes as I down the drink and pour myself another, "for a minute I thought someone had attacked her but she told me her wolf was mad and then it happened right in front of me down her leg." I hear some clicking and then Fraction is suddenly louder, which makes me think he's taken me off speaker.

“Where is she now?” His tone has gone from laid back to full on Alpha.

“She passed out and my Doc is stitching her up.” I look at the wall separating us, I haven’t heard anything which means Selena is still working away.

“James go and tell Anna what’s happened, she’ll know what to do. She’ 11 need someone to keep an eye on the pups while she gets busy.” I don’t hear James answer but I do hear the squeak of a door opening and closing, “Cas listen to me. When she wakes up you need to mate her. whether she wants it or not. You need to mate her before her wolf does something worse.” His words are rushed which makes me think he’s heard of this situation before.

“You’ve seen this before?” I ask him quickly.

“Yeah I’ve seen it before, as soon as you mate her she becomes Pack. Her wolf will instantly settle, Anna will do what she can from here in helping her but nice she wakes up it’s on you.” I hear the tell-tale sign of a drink being poured from Fraction’s end, “if she’s anything like Anna and Winter she will fight you tooth and nail but it will be worth it.”

“And if she doesn’t want to mate me? She doesn’t love me yet.” I look up and see Rowan standing in the doorway of the office, “I don’t think I can force it on her.”

“Then get ready for more pain, this is just the start. Call me if you need me. Anna will get to work now, she told me to tell you to leave her asleep.” Fraction disconnects the call and I just look at the handset, how the hell is his mate going to help my mate from hundreds of miles

I'm back in the cage, I can feel something heavy and metal around my waist, feeling with my finger tips I feel the deep grooves of a heavy chain. Ghost has tied me down and left me in the dark, it's my punishment for yet another slight towards her. My moment of bliss with Cas has caused my wolf pain, more pain that I can even comprehend or even pretend to understand.

"Ghost?" My voice comes out pained, I can feel the pain in my arm and leg but I can't feel the blood anymore. "Please come out, let's talk about this." I'm met with a deafening silence, I'm alone, completely and utterly alone. Last time Ghost let me out so I have no idea how I'm going to get out this time. She seems to have taken extra precautions to ensure I won't leave without her saying so.

I'm not sure how long I sit there alone bound in chains but the sound of nails on the floor and a familiar voice has me jumping as much as I am able. search the FindNovel.net website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"And I thought we were a mess back in the day." I try to see who is talking but it's useless, I can't see anything through the inky darkness that surrounds me. "At least I took you to an open field, this place is just dank."

"Don't be so judgemental, Winter. Help me find Eva." That voice I do know and it fills me with confusion, all the times I dream of Anna, Luna of Swiftmane Pack, I'm always running as fast as my legs will take me.

“She’s over there, her wolf has locked her down good and tight.” I hear the clicking of something and the room is lit up with the warm glow of a candle.

“Okay, that’s better.” Anna’s beautiful blonde hair and blue eyes come into view, she’s wearing a pair of leggings and a sports bra. She looks no different to the last time I saw her, actually that’s not true, she looks happier than the last time I saw her. “Goddess, what is this place?” Anna recoils as she stands on the bones of a dead rat.

“It’s where I kept her apparently.” I try to turn away from Anna as she slowly walks closer to the cage. If there is one person who I don’t deserve to look in the eye it’s her. “She said I kept her trapped and silenced. She’s leaving me to the same fate.”

“I’ll go and find the wolf, you deal with this mess.” The big white wolf standing next to Anna turns and shows me the port wine patch on her rump as she runs off into the darkness.

“Quite the mess you’ve gotten yourself into.” Anna brushes the rat bones to the side with her foot and sits down in front of the cage, she places the candle in front of her so it bathes both of us in it’s warm glow. “You know I felt you a few days ago, it was like this pop and I just knew there was a new Omega around us.” I don’t say anything as I keep my eyes cast down at the floor, “I see you’ve not done very well for yourself since leaving Swiftmane.”

“I didn’t leave.” I regret the words as soon as they leave my mouth, “I’m sorry, Luna, I just meant that I didn’t leave of my own accord.”

“I’m not your Luna, Eva. You’re not part of my Pack and I’m not part of yours, we are both Omega so we are connected but otherwise we are nothing to each other.” Even though she’s not speaking to me in a mean way her words still slice me like she’s cut me with a blade. “That being said I knew you regretted what you did and I made the decision to forgive you long ago. Now we need to figure out how to tame your wolf before she tears you apart or worse.”

“She’s so mean to me, if she isn’t belittling me then she’s trying to force me to leave the one place I think I can make a home.” I sniffle as I try to keep the tears at bay, I don’t want to cry in front of Anna but I don’t think I can hold back the physical and emotional pain I’m feeling.

“Tell me what happened, Cas gave Fraction a brief run down but it’s always best to hear it from the source.” I look up at her and see nothing but concern on her face, she might not like me much but she’s worried for me.

“How are you here?” Anna shakes her head and laughs.

“As someone once told me; a story for another time. Now let’s talk about you, I have an Alpha and two pups to get back to.” Anna puts her hand on the floor but instantly brings it back up with a small shriek when she nudges a rat bone.

“Sorry, guess my wolf isn’t the cleanest.” I feel myself blush even though I have no control over what’s happening. If I did I wouldn’t be sitting across from the one woman I wronged more than anyone else in the world and especially not while bound in a chain and n*ked. “Ghost came to me when one of the Pack females said something that rubbed me the wrong way,” I stop for a second and shake my head. “That’s a lie, she was whispering to me for weeks before then I just didn’t realise it.” Anna just nods her head to tell me she’s listening, “Rowan asked me to stay in the Pack to help him heal Cas but I think I stayed because I enjoy Cas’s company. He makes me feel safe, I’ve never been safe, not once.”

“So you like him? Not unusual considering he’s your mate.” I’m actually shocked Anna knows, I would think she wouldn’t care to know anything about me.

“I’m not sure about all of that, I just know that when he k*ssed me it set me on fire in a way no one has ever done to me. We were intimate,” I feel my face flame as I cast my eyes back down to the floor. “It was amazing but afterwards Ghost was pissed, she wanted me to run while Cas was in the shower. When I refused she attacked me,” I look down at my arm but I can’t see the marks, I can’t see my leg but I assume it’s the same. “It hurt so much, like she was standing right in front of me while tearing into my skin.”

“Has she told you to hurt anyone yet?” I shake my head no, “that’s good but it will come Eva. When I was at my worst, Winter wanted me to kill Fraction so I could take my son and run. She was convinced it was the best thing for me and I almost listened to her.” The bite mark on her slim n*eck tells me that she found a way to fix her wolf.

“How did you fix it?” I’m desperate to know how to control my wolf.

“As an Omega you have a different connection to your wolf, not all shifters can dream of their wolves like we do. Omega’s also need a Pack, it’s a longing within us, it helps our wolves in a way nothing else can.” I hear some growling behind Anna but I can’t see what’s happening thanks to the darkness. “The guys will tell you to mate, that the only way to fix this is to link yourself to Cas. They aren’t wrong but you could try something else first.”

“Tell me, I’ll do anything. I just want the pain to stop.” Anna nods and leans forward a little, her voice drops to almost a whisper.

“Tell Cas to bring you into the Pack, as a full member. Be around them, get to know them and their wolves. Run with them and eat with them, your wolf will soon feel at home.” I shake my head knowing it won’t work, Ghost will never allow Cas to make me Pack.

“Ghost will never allow it.” Anna just looks at me with sad eyes before standing up, she holds out her hand and Winter pads back over to her.

“Just try and Eva?” I look up at the two of them standing before me, bathed in candle light. They look like something out of a mythical story. “Remember it’s your dream, you are in control. No one else, even I’m just a visitor.” I blink my eyes and Anna vanishes along with her wolf. I’m left alone with the soft candle light flickering against the metal bars.

I sit in the candle light for a long time, I think about what Anna said over and over again. If this is my dream and I can control it then surely I can just get up and walk away: Closing my eyes I try to imagine myself dressed in leggings and a t-shirt, standing outside of the cage and unbound. I’m not sure how long it takes but eventually I feel the metal weight drop from around me, opening my eyes I see I’m now standing next to the candle on the other side of the cage.

“Ghost?” I call out to my wolf as I pick up the candle and walk the way Winter came from. The ground is hard against my feet, the little rat bones keep poking up into my skin but I ignore them when I spot the white fur pile next to a door. Carrying the candle I run over to Ghost and drop to my knees, running my hands through her fur. I can’t find any wounds but I’m concerned when she doesn’t move.

“I’ll try, just don’t let that wolf come back.” For the first time I’m seeing the vulnerable side to Ghost, whatever Winter did it scared my wolf half to death.

“What did she tell you?” I start carding my fingers through her fur, I can feel her vibrating with fear.

“She told me what happens if I keep on going down this path. I don’t want that for us, so let’s try this whole Pack thing, I’ll try.” I just nod my head as I lean down and push my face into her warm fur, me and Ghost might not get along but it doesn’t mean I want her hurting either. I lay there for a while until I hear Cas talking to me and I force myself

“You got that list for me?” I don’t look up from my laptop as Rowan enters my office, I’m busy responding to Darryl about the Elders. We still haven’t heard anything back and it’s got me on edge.

“Yes and no, not much of a list to be honest.” Rowan sits across from me, I don’t miss how he eyes up the two empty bottles of Jameson and various d*rty glasses and plates on my desk. “Sally is going to have a heart attack if she sees this mess.” I chuckle as I turn from the laptop and take in my new Beta, I’m feeling good about the decision and so is Storm. We just want to make it official now.

“I can deal with Sally, the list?” Rowan leans across the desk and hands me a folded piece of paper. Opening it I see one name on the page, I fl*p it to make sure I’m not missing anything. “Are you sure about this?”

J

“I am, he comes from a strong shifter line and he was trained in Grey Pack. He’s a strong warrior and I think he will really step up.” I can’t say I disagree with Heath’s training but I don’t know him well enough to commit to him being my Head Warrior yet.

“Invite him over tonight, we can get some whiskey flowing. I’ll get to know him and if I like what I see I’ll consider it on a trial basis.” I laugh as Rowan pulls out a small note pad and pen, the da mn thing still has a plastic shine to it. “That didn’t take long, don’t think I’ve ever met a Beta who didn’t have a notepad of some sort.”

“I take this seriously,” I nod my head at him, I can see the seriousness sitting on his face, he's ready to step up to the plate on this one. "Want a run down for the week?" I wave my hand in a go ahead gesture and lean back in my chair ready to take my first proper Beta week run down. "Two more were fired for drug use, Harry sent over the documents so we can see if they have a link to anyone in the Pack. So far I've not found a connection but I'll keep at it." I purse my lips, I hoped this drug thing would go away but sadly I'm not that lucky. "John is finally cleaning up thanks to me having only my most trusted guard. I'm confident we can talk to him soon. Selena has put in a request for a medical building to be part of the high street reconstruction, I think she just wants somewhere Pack can drop in for minor illnesses. It will stop her running back and forth all day and night." I nod my head, that's a good idea and if it's on the old high street then it will be smack in the middle of the Pack.

"Get me some numbers on that, I like that idea." Rowan scribbles something in his notepad before flipping the page.

"The decorating of the two bed cottage is done, it's ready for Eva if that's what she still wants." It might be what she wants but it's not what I want, she woke up from her wolf attack two days ago and talked about joining the Pack. She wouldn't even entertain me mating her and insisted she needed to get to know the Pack and let her wolf be part of it. Thanks to this amazing idea she decided to move from the Pack house and into her own home where she can get to know the Pack on her own terms. I don't like it but at least she will still be on Pack land.

"The CCTV I asked for?" Rowan nods his head before digging in his pocket and handing me a small smartphone looking device.

"All attached there, you can see all directions from her home and of course me and Selena are just over the road from her." I turn the device in my hand before laying it on the desk, it's the main reason I picked the cottage I did. If she's close to Selena at least I know she won't isolate herself.

“The human? Is he still looking for Eva? Any news on his drug activity?” I know he already said about the workers being laid off but thanks to Eva’s tip about the club we’ve been watching him with regards to drugs too.

“As far as we can tell it’s business as normal, he takes a different female home each night and each morning she walks out on her own two feet. There are no new faces, no alarming activity at the club, the guy is clean.” I hear what Rowan isn’t saying.

“Too clean?” Rowan nods his head, “whether Heath or someone else I need the new Head Warrior to understand how important it is that we keep eyes on this guy. Chances are he wants Eva back so she’s under his thumb, worst case it’s to sell her off to whoever has him pushing the drugs.” There is no doubt in my mind that someone else is behind the drugs, Jeremy is too small time to be leading something like a S*x trafficking ring.

A knock on the office door has Rowan leaning back in his chair, his t- shirt rides up to show his chiselled torso. If I was less of a man I might be jealous of this male living across from my future mate.

“Hey sweets, come on in.” Rowan has opened the door with one hand while leaning his chair back, I’m not sure why he didn’t just get up. Eva’s intoxicating scent has me sitting up straighter in my chair.

“I was wondering if I could have a moment?” I like this shyness on her, this isn’t the same as when she first came here, it’s because she’s remembering what I did to her before her wolf turned.

“What can we do for you Angel?” Rowan stands from his chair and waves for Eva to sit down.

“Are we still on for tonight?” I look over at Rowan, he flicks through some pages in his notepad and nods at me.

“We are, you ready to become a part of Everfur?” It takes a second but Eva squares her shoulders and looks me directly in the eye. For a split second I could swear her blue orbs were actually violet.

“Very. Ghost is finally on board and I think the idea of living alone has something to do with it.” I try not to cringe as I remember Eva won’t be sleeping in my bed tonight, “I’m a little worried about what to expect. Selena went through everything with me but I mean the actual etiquette of the Pack and stuff.” I look over at Rowan again and arch an eyebrow, he just shrugs his shoulders which means he has no idea what she’s talking about either.

“What do you mean Angel?” I put my forearms on my desk and lean closer to her, “what’s worrying you about the Pack?”

“I don’t want to upset anyone,” she goes back to looking at her hands instead of at me. “Selena said you have classes for the younger Pack members, to teach them what to expect when they come of age. I never had that and I know I’m much older but I was wondering if I could sit in on the lessons.” The blush on her cheeks betrays how hard it is for her to ask for something she needs.

“I don’t think so.” I lean back in my chair as her eyes fly up to me, “those classes are for pups Eva, you as a full shifter won’t get much from them. How about I get you a private tutor? Say twice a week to go over anything and everything Pack related?” Eva’s shoulders drop and she lets out a big sigh, I don’t think she expected me to offer her any help.

“I would really appreciate that, maybe they could add in some stuff about mates?” Her cheeks flame as she casts a side eye to Rowan, much to my appreciation my Beta doesn’t say anything. He just stands there and writes notes, I’m assuming what we are discussing.

“Of course, anything else Angel?” I’m begging her with my eyes to ask for some alone time but much to my annoyance she just shakes her head and gets up from the chair.

“Thanks for your time Alpha Cas.” I manage to keep the hiss off my lips as she walks from the office, two days ago I was Cas and now I’m Alpha Cas. I understand the distance she is forcing between us but it doesn’t mean I have to like it.

“Alpha Cas? Since when are you Alpha Cas?” Rowan drops himself back into the chair and watches me with concern as I pour yet another drink and slam it down.

“She’s pushing me away, she’s scared. Her wolf scared her and now she’s running as fast as she can.” Rowan looks at me with sad eyes as my laptop dings telling me there is a new message, “I don’t know what the hell happened while she was out but something has really ruffled her fur.”

“She hasn’t told you?” I shake my head no, Eva has barely said two words to me the last few days.

“That was the most we have talked in days, don’t bother looking for a tutor.” Rowan closes his notepad and gets up from the chair, clearly intending to leave, “don’t forget about Heath coming over.

“Can I assume you will be teaching?” I nod my head at him, I’ll be teaching Eva something but it won’t be what she thinks she needs. It’s time she understands, I am the Alpha of this Pack and what I say goes, I want her as my mate and by everything holy, she will be.

‘You look like a cheap bride.’ I stick my tongue out at my reflection, Ghost clearly isn’t a fan of the dress Cas picked out. I can’t say I am either, it’s pure white which makes my already pale skin seem almost translucent. The lace detailing on the hem makes it seem even shorter than it is. I’ve worn S*xier and more low cut stuff than this while working at the club but this is a different level. It’s s exy without being in your face, it screams virginal sacrifice and begs for you to come and see what’s under the tiny spaghetti straps. Turning so I’m looking over my shoulder I try to pull the dress down in the back in the hopes of it covering more of my as s but no such look.

“Oh my Goddess, you look amazing!” I cringe at Selena’s squeal as she comes running into the bedroom, after today I’ll have my own place and people will be made to knock.

‘Ask her what time the ritual slau ghtering happens.’ I roll my eyes at Ghost and plaster a smile on my face as I turn to see Selena in her normal leggings and t-shirt combo.

“You don’t like it?” Selena stops near the bed and drops her leather jacket on top of the now red comforter, the black one was ruined thanks to the whole bleeding out thing a few days ago.

“It’s just a lot or maybe not enough.” I pull at the hem again but I feel it sl*p down my chest so I quickly pull at the top to keep myself from spilling out of the low cut front.

“I mean it is unusual but it’s still very pretty, it looks beautiful with your dark hair.” Selena’s muttering catches my attention and I stop her as she reaches out a hand to feel the fabric, her wide eyes tell me she’s surprised I’ve grabbed her wrist.

“What do you mean unusual?” I watch her closely so I don’t miss how her eyes shift to the door like she’s hoping someone will come in and save her.

“It’s nothing, come we need to get going.” She looks down at her wrist but it’s bare, “forgot my watch but I know we start soon and the run takes place on the other side of the Pack.”

“Selena, you’re keeping something from me and as my friend and soon to be neighbour you need to tell me.” I let go of her hand and she quickly steps back from me, her lips press together and I can almost see the cogs working in her brain. “Don’t think about what to say, just tell me.”

“Fine but can we walk and talk?” I nod my head and follow her out of the room, I don’t bother with a jacket because I already know this night is ending on four paws not two. My little flip flops sound loud against the stairs as I follow Selena up to the lounge. I’m not surprised to not see anyone in the lounge but the large Christmas tree gives me pause.

The damn thing is so tall it’s bending at the top where it reaches the ceiling, it’s got no decorations on it yet. It looks like someone has just dumped it in the corner of the room and walked away.

“It’s almost Christmas already?” I hadn’t realised it had come around so quickly and honestly I didn’t realise shifters celebrated it.

“Oh, not yet. It’s only the last week of November, Cas insisted on it. I think he has something planned for decorating it. Now can we go please, we really will be late.” I look over at the door to see Selena looking rather flustered so I take pity on her and turn away from the tree. I don't know why it's bothered me so much but it has, I don't understand why Cas would want a Christmas tree. I've seen him flinch and cringe when I use the word God or Jesus. The man has some serious issues with the Lord and that's on him but why would he want to celebrate a holiday all about him.

"Where is this happening again?" I try to keep up Selena but my fl*p flops don't make it easy as we walk down the drive. The sun is just going down and soon it will be very dark out here, "is there a reason this Pack seems devoid of any street lights?"

"Afraid of the dark?" Selena chucks as she looks back at me.

"I'm not overly fond of what hides in it, seriously though, what's with this place? The Pack house is nice but everything else is so spread out and almost like time has forgotten it." Selena laughs loudly as she stops and grabs my hand once I get in line with her.

"Cas's father was very set in his ways, he closed the Pack off to the outside. He wouldn't allow any influences to come inside and he used the Bible to keep the Pack members already here in line." I look around as we turn down what looks like it used to be a street full of houses, now there are just two or three brick high walls showing the base of the buildings. "This was a high-street back in the day but his father had them knocked down, they had a café, a bar and even a small library but he said it was the devil's work and got rid."

"Sounds like a lovely guy." This was clearly a thriving Pack before Cas's father got his hands on it. I can't help but feel this is yet another man who used God's words to ruin people's lives. "So what did you mean by unusual?" Selena stops as we reach what looks like a very dense patch of trees. I can hear murmuring just beyond my eyesight so I know the Pack is somewhere in there.

"So when we get new members, the Alpha takes them aside, reads them the oath and gives them some of his blood. That's it, done and done, they are Pack and everyone is happy we have new blood in the pool." I feel my eyebrows crinkle together as I look into the dark trees, if it's that easy then why all the theatrics and this stupid dress. "Having you be brought in while the Pack watches is a statement so is the dress."

"What kind of statement?" I feel like I already know but I need to hear it out loud from someone other than a muscled Alpha who clearly wants in my panties.

"Eva he just wants what's best for you, he wants you to have a home and somewhere to belong. Cas just wants you to be comfortable while you're here." I can tell by the way she's shifting her weight from foot to foot that she doesn't want to be the one to tell me what's happening.

"Selena, I want this. I want to be Pack, Ghost might not be fully on board but she will be. I want a home and somewhere to belong, I just need to know what I'm walking into so I can prepare myself." I need her to understand that I can't just walk into those trees completely blind. I know I can trust Cas but I don't know if I can trust his intentions when it comes to me. He's made how he feels about me perfectly clear and I also know that it's hurting him that I haven't just dropped to my knees and bared my throat for mating.

"He's claiming you in the eyes of that Pack," I close my eyes and tilt my head back towards the darling sky as I let her words wash over me. "After tonight there isn't a single Pack member who won't know you will be his mate one day." I open my eyes when I feel Selena's warm hand grab the tops of my cold arms, "it also means not a single male will come sniffing around you. You will have the Alpha's protection until you are ready to be his mate." Her eyes are pleading with me to understand so I just gulp and nod my head. I won't pretend I'm not scared of being publicly claimed but I also understand why Cas feels he has to do this. And I won't lie, if it keeps men from knocking on my "Eva, you ready?" Rowan steps through the trees, he's wearing only a pair of jeans and nothing else. Clearly he's ready to shift once Cas has done his speech. I smile at Selena so she knows I'm not mad at her and push away so I can walk over to Rowan.

“Ready as I’ll ever be.” I try to smile but again it must not be convincing because Rowan looks at me with concern.

“You sure? You look terrified.” I look over at Selena and silently beg her to come to my aid, I need her to be my friend right now and come to my rescue.

“She’s great, really excited to run with the Pack. Right?” I smile at her as she clasps my hand, the three of us walk into the trees along a dirt path I didn’t even notice in the darkness. We walk in silence and it’s not long before the trees start to thin a little and a small clearing comes into view. We have come in behind Cas so I can see his muscled back along with his star tattoo as he faces his Pack. The Everfur Pack itself is pretty small but gathered together the sixty-three members looks a lot more now I have to stand in front of them.

“Everfur Pack,” Cas’s voice booms across the crowd, they all stop talking and look towards their Alpha, Rowan puts a hand on my shoulder making me stop. “Tonight will mark the first Pack run held by me and also a few new changes. I’d like you all to welcome Rowan as my new Beta,” Cas sweeps his hand back and Rowan walks towards the group waving his hand. There is some polite clapping from the older members, the warriors and younger members are all shouting praise and hollering their joy. Clearly some of them are very happy with this change, “in a few days I will appoint a new Head Warrior. We also have a new member with us, she’s very special because in the near future I expect her to be standing on this stage beside me.” Cas looks back at me, he winks at me as the crowd starts to whisper. I pick up the odd words like rogue, wh ore, harlot but I also hear some that say pretty, cute and Luna. I don’t know which ones terrify me more but instead of running the way I came I slowly and carefully walk toward Cas’s outstretched hand.

Cas☆

Eva is practically vibrating next to me, I'm sure she didn't realise all the attention would be on her but I needed it this way. Storm is pissed she's moving out and I can't say I'm too happy about it either, I need my claim on her in some way.

"Eva, please kneel." She shoots me daggers as she gracefully drops to her knees, I'm ignoring the crowd, she has my full attention. I didn't miss how my mother shouted out vulgar words when I told them Eva was my intended. "I, Alpha Castiel Freelin, accept you, Eva Smith, into the Everfur Pack. Once you drink from my blood you will be connected to me and the Pack." I pull the silver pocket knife out of my jeans pocket and stab the blade into the tip of my first finger, once the blood starts to pool I accept the glass of Jameson, Rowan holds out to me. I keep eye contact with Eva as I let the blood drop from my finger and swirl into the amber liquid turning it a pink-ish colour. The entire crowd is silent as I hold the glass out to Eva, for a minute I think she might refuse but she quickly takes the glass and slams it back like a seasoned pro.

"Calm down everyone, you know what's happening." I block Rowan out as he responds to the gasps and shouts as Eva's link takes hold. Usually the Pack isn't all together when this happens so it seems more impactful this time, not only are they getting a new member they are also gaining an Omega.

"Breath Angel, just let it wash over you." Eva has dropped to her hands, she's now rocking back and forth as her mind and wolf try to comprehend the Pack links taking place.

'I can't stop it.' I smile as I step back from Eva, I doubt she even realises. she just spoke to me over the Pack link. Her jaw is clenched as she tries to fight Ghost, her wolf wants out and I think she should do it surrounded by her Pack.

"Everfur, let's run!" Dropping my jeans I call Storm forward just as Ghost steps in front of me, I chuckle when I realise she's hiding me from the females in the crowd. "Don't worry Angel, I'm all yours." I wink at her as Storm comes forward and I land on four paws, I can feel Storm's joy at finally being linked to Eva and Ghost. He throws his head back and howls so loudly that Ghost drops her front paws to the ground and tries to cover her ears. The Pack returns my howls and I watch the clearing start to empty, walking over to Ghost, Storm nudges her with his nose.

'Alpha, Eva, come on.' Selena's cheerful voice breaks over the link as Ghost rises from the floor, Storm nudges her again before yipping and running off the wooden platform.

It isn't long before we are breaking through the trees and chasing after Rowan and Selena, all around me I can hear wolves playfully running and growling at each other. Everyone loves a good Pack run and this is why I wanted Eva brought into the Pack tonight, I wanted her to see the fun side of being part of a Pack.

'How you feeling Angel?' I can feel Storm holding himself back as he tries to run alongside Ghost, he isn't ready to part with her yet.

'There are so many voices, it's going to take some getting used to.' I laugh loudly as Storm launches us over a pile of rocks and waits for Ghost to join us.

'You can do it Angel, just let Ghost take over. She knows what to do and if she doesn't the wolves around her will help. That's what a Pack is Eva, it's a family stronger than blood.' I don't want to rush her but I can see her battling with her wolf on the other side of the rocks, they aren't big and are easily jumpable if she just lets her wolf take over.

'Everything alright?' Rowan's voice comes over the Pack link and I watch Ghost's ear swivel as she tries to understand where the voice is coming from.

'All good, you keep going.' I feel Rowan grow further away from us as he leads the Pack into the trees, he will take them down to the stream where they can play and let off some steam before heading back to the Pack house for a cookout. I'm so focused on Rowan and where the Pack is going that I don't realise Ghost is growling until it gets much louder.

'Eva, what's going on? Ghost, talk to me.' I try to pull Storm back so I can speak to Eva as a human but he won't let me. He forces me to sit and watch as Sookie comes walking out from behind a tree, she's wearing a bikini top and booty shorts, she hasn't shifted with the Pack which is a huge disrespect on a sanctioned run.

"Don't growl at me, I should be the one pissed off." Sookie crosses her pink nailed hands across her chest making her breasts look massive. Ghost just lowers herself to the floor and growls more deeply, "you realise he might as well have just cocked his leg and pissed up you? You're a rogue, you don't belong here."

'Alright, time to stop this, let me out Storm.' I try to move us but Storm is holding me perfectly still, it's then that I understand, behind the rocks and under the shade of the tree Storm's fur blends in perfectly with the inky darkness surrounding us. Sookie has no idea I'm here.

'Let's just see how our mate handles herself.' I really don't want to leave Eva to deal with Sookie alone but I have to admit, I'm intrigued to know what she says to her when she doesn't think I'm here.

"I told you to know your place, instead of leaving you wormed your way into a Pack invite." Sookie takes a step forward but stops when Ghost growls even louder, "please like you could hurt me. I'm a warrior and you're a baby shifter who has no idea what she's doing. Is that why you don't smell like Cas?" I hear loud sniffing, thankfully the wind is blowing away from me so Sookie won't scent me unless it changes. "I can tell you haven't been with him, when you're intimate with a shifter it mixes with your scent deeper than any shower can clean."

'What do you want from me?' I can hear the annoyance in Eva's voice as she speaks to Sookie over the link, being inexperienced she hasn't closed down the link she shares with me so I can hear her clearly.

"I want you gone, I'm the next Luna of Everfur, not you. There is no way a filthy rogue Omega could ever be a true member of this Pack, let alone lead it." The venom in Sookie's voice is one I have never heard before, I knew she was a spiteful vapid female but I never knew she was this mean.

'He doesn't want you,' I notice Eva doesn't use our time together to hurt Sookie, she probably doesn't see it as something to brag about.

"Do yourself a favour and leave, I was screwing the last Alpha and I'll soon be in this one's bed too. This Pack is mine, it's my home and my right." I can't help but wonder if my mother knew my father was sleeping with one of his warriors, I can't imagine she does or else it would have been thrown in my face already.

'No way, why would she want you to mate with her son if you slept with her mate?' I hear leaves crunching as Sookie steps forward and crouches down so she can look Ghost straight in the eye.

"I'm a full service warrior, I do what is required of me no matter who asks. My Luna asked a favour of me and I was more than happy to oblige, all I asked for in return was Luna when her son took over control." Having heard enough I pull Storm back with both hands and quickly step onto the rocks, Sookie's wide eyes would be comical if not for the situation.

“Stand down Ghost.” I walk over and place my hand in Ghost’s fur, she brushes her head against my n*ked leg as I pulse out my Alpha aura. Sookie’s whimpers and the way she drops to the leaf strewn floor tells me she’s fully under my control now. “You were warned to stay away from my mate. She is Pack and my intended, you are nothing.” I spit the words out as I stare down at her, I can feel Ghost shaking beside me as my anger grows.

“I’m one of you warriors, Alpha.” Sookie’s voice comes out in gasps as my aura holds her down.

“You are not, you are no longer part of the Everfur Pack. I banish you from this land and from communicating with any of its members,” I feel her link snap as a few howls sound out around us. The whole Pack will have just felt her leave the fold, they will all know what I have done. “I warned you that if you kept pushing me I would get rid of you. Now get off my land.” I stand with my hand in Ghost’s fur as Sookie drags herself from the forest floor and takes off running. I send out a message to my warriors to make sure she leaves just before I bend down to look at Ghost.

“You ready to finish our run?” For a second Ghost just stares at me before sliding her warm tongue along the side of my face and taking off over the rocks while yipping at me.

‘Storm, we have a mate to catch.’ I feel Storm take over and quickly I am following the sounds of Ghost deeper into the trees.

“Heath will be at the Pack house within the hour, he just wants to call in and check on Mary and the pup.” Walking through the trees draped in one of Cas’s shirts I watch as the Pack members start to split off back to their homes. Cas and Rowan are chatting away about stuff I don't understand enough to contribute to and Selena ran off about half an hour ago, so I'm just keeping silent and walking a few steps behind the guys.

"Sounds good, I'll be there once I've gotten Eva settled." Cas stops and turns around to face me, his face splits into a wide grin as he holds out his hand, "home is this way Angel, unless you've changed your mind?" I shake my head no and walk until I am next to him, I don't take his hand and I don't miss the glimmer of sadness in his eyes. Together we walk further away from the Pack, Cas leads me down a dark road that seems to hold three small cottages.

"Which one will I be staying in?" All of the homes look lit up from within, I didn't exactly expect to be alone but the idea of a room mate has my palms sweating.

"This one on the left, Rowan and Selena are across the road and an unmated female lives in the other." Cas stops when he gets to a small wooden gate, the fence is overrun with flowers from the bushes around the edge of the garden. "Shall we?" Cas gestures into the garden and I walk ahead of him, it's dark but I can tell I'm walking on a cobbled stone path.

Opening the cottage door I am instantly met with the smell of freshly baked blueberry muffins, that can only mean one thing, Sally has been down and left me a tray of goodies,

"It's not much but I've made sure you have all the essentials," I ignore Cas as I walk into the open plan living room. The whole bottom floor seems to be taken up with a living room and kitchen, both are pretty modern for a cottage, decorated in white, grey and black. There is a distinct lack of colour but I can feel Cas's influence in the decor, personally I would have some nice warming yellow or even some orange just to brighten the place up. "The bookshelf has some books about Packs and shifters, they will be helpful once you start your lessons." Cas walks over to the slate grey sofa and sits down, spreading his arms across the back, he looks very much like he owns the place.

"How will I pay for all of this? I was expecting a single room somewhere, not a whole home." I walk over to the dark wood bookcase and see a handful of leather bound books, each of the titles gives me an idea of what they will hold. One catches my eye, it's red with gold writing down the spine; An Omega and how they fit, picking it up I flick to the first page. "Is this meant to be helpful?" I ask him as I read the title of the first chapter; The Omega Problem.

"It has both pros and cons inside of it. I figured it might help you understand who you are and what others may think about you. I've read it myself, just take it with a pinch of salt, it was written by an Alpha after all." Shaking my head I place it back on the bookcase, "most Omega's have more to do than write books but if I find one by an Omega I'll let you know. As for paying for this, you don't. The Pack does, once you start earning you pay a sum to the Pack but until then you will receive a weekly stipend."

"I don't need your money Cas," I don't want him thinking I can't support myself, sure all I know is seedy dancing but I'm sure I can figure some other stuff out. Not wanting to sit next to him I pick up a small silver wolf from the bookshelf and start to twirl it in my fingers.

"It's not charity Eva, every unemployed wolf in the Pack is treated the same way. I've left the documents to your new bank account on the dresser in your room, along with a detailed map of the Packland and a schedule for your tutoring." Cas stands from the sofa and hitches out his jeans, "do you need me to stay?"

"You have plans right? I'll be okay and in any case I can just shout if I need you right?" I tap the side of my head, Cas just smiles at me as he nods and heads for the door.

"Warriors patrol the Pack all the time but still best to lock your door, I have a key for emergencies and so does Rowan but no one else can get in without your say so." Oddly the idea of him having a key makes me relax a little, at least I know he will be here or even Rowan if there is any danger.

"Go, I think I'm going to have a shower and then go to sleep. Tonight really took it out of me." The second the door closes behind him I have to fight the urge to call him back, I thought this is what I wanted but now I'm here I'm not so sure.

'So what now?' I ask Ghost in the hopes she knows what I do now I'm standing alone in what appears to be a newly furnished home.

'Bath and bed? I don't know, I'm knackered, all these voices are doing me in.' I have to admit she doesn't sound like her normal snarky self, she seems almost hazy.

'Are you handling it?' I ask her as I open a door and see it's a cupboard with cleaning supplies in it, the one next to it reveals a staircase.

'If you remember, I didn't want this but you and that Winter bullied me into it.' I cringe as I hit the top of the stairs. I hate to think of Ghost in pain but I know Winter did something to hurt her and force her to change her mind.

'Will you tell me what she did?' I ask as I open a door to reveal a large bedroom with a massive double bed, it's much bigger than I would need which makes me think Cas picked it out. 'I think a certain Alpha thinks he's coming for a sleepover.'

'I suggest that Alpha as s stays away for a bit or I might bite, I have the worst headache, his Pack is a mess of pain and anguish.' That catches me off guard, I didn't expect her to tap into the Pack quite so quickly.

'You can feel them?' I sit down on the plush bed and run my fingers across the black silk sheets, seems Cas has managed to find a replacement for the ones I ruined.

'You can't? Close your eyes and listen, really listen.' I do as she asks, I close my eyes and listen, for a while all I can hear is the beating of my own heart and the breaths I'm taking. Soon it morphs into something I can only describe as an open wound, I can feel the shifters of the Pack screaming out in pain. It's like a raw nerve being poked at over and over again, some are crying out for their Alpha and others are just crying out in despair for the state of their lives.

'They aren't happy here.' I feel a tear slide down my cheeks as I tap into an older woman counting out coins she's trying to figure out how to last the month. 'Do you think Cas knows how badly his Pack is suffering?' I flop back on the bed and stare at the ceiling as I hunt for a happy person but I've yet to find one.

'I doubt it, Alpha's don't care much as long as their Pack listens to them.' I can't help but feel for Cas, he thinks his Pack is strong and healing from his father but it turns out they are suffering in silence so they don't have to worry their young Alpha.

'We have to help them, Ghost.' I roll over the bed and turn off the small lamp that was on, the bath forgotten about. I feel the need to just curl up and sleep, tapping into the Pack has just suddenly zapped me of what energy I had left.

'If you insist, let me rest first.' I smile into the darkness as I feel Ghost curl up into a ball and fall asleep.

It isn't long before I fall asleep, I know I'm asleep because I'm standing in the dark room I held Ghost in. The same one I was chained up in only a few days ago, Ghost is absent so it's the perfect time for me to get to work. Walking over to the doorway I open it up and let the light flood in, it's then that I notice the cleaning supplies.

'Sleep Ghost, I've got this.' Feeling resolved to help my wolf I start cleaning up years of torment and abuse, I feel the need to make this a sanctuary for both of us.

“You kicked Sookie out of the Pack?” I moan as I pour my dark roast coffee into a massive cup, a few drinks with Rowan and Heath turned into a few bottles of Jameson and Rowan falling asleep on my little sofa.

“Can we not do this now, I have a banging headache.” I cringe when I turn from the coffee pot and see my mother standing there with her hands on her hips. Her lipstick is smeared and her hair is a mess, her low cut top and jean skirt tell me she’s just got back from her own night of fun.

“She was your intended and when she approached your supposed mate you banished her, what kind of example does that set to your Pack?” Her voice is shrill and is making my eyes blink rapidly as I try to process what she’s saying, thankfully it’s still early and Sally hasn’t arrived to start her day yet.

“She was banished due to her disrespect and downright awful behaviour, I never claimed her as my intended mate. If anyone has an issue with it they are welcome to come and see me about it.” My voice comes out snappy but I don’t care, between Sookie, Vince and my mother, I’ve had enough of my past slapping me in the face. Walking around the kitchen counter I push past my mother and head for the kitchen table, all I want is some peace while these painkillers kick in and if it wasn’t for Rowan still asleep I’d be downstairs.

“Just reconsider,” it takes everything in me not to push her off me as she walks behind me and places her hands on my shoulders. “It’s good to have options and not everyone thinks having an Omega in the Pack is such a good idea.” The gin on her breath overpowers every tw smell coming off her as she leans down to whisper in my ear, “Sxxkie could give you pups, carry on the blood line and strengthen the Pack Having heard enough I jump up from the chair and spin on my shrocket mother

“I need you to hear me.” I put my coffee cup down before I crack the cup and stare at my mother. She swaying slightly on the spot, I hope she’s not so drunk she will forget this, “Iva is staying, she is my fated mate and she will help me carry on my bloodline. She needs me as much as I need her, Sookie needs no one but herself, the only reason she wants me is because dear old father is dead and she needs an Alpha to screw.” I don’t see the slap coming until my head is craning off to the side, opening and closing my jaw, I try to remind myself that I don’t hit women,

“Don’t talk about things you don’t understand.” I look up just in time to see my mother running from the kitchen as fast her heels will take her

‘Well that was a disaster, are you determined to push everyone from your past away?’ I snarl at Storm as I retake my seat and down the rest of my coffee,

Last thing I need is for you to start on me, that woman is lucky I didn’t kick her and Vince out the second I took Alpha.’ The vivid memory of my fathers Beta locking me in the cupboard in my fathers office enters my mind. I can still remember the laughter from my mother as they joked about leaving me there until I starved to death, I still think they would have if Sally hadn’t let me out.

‘At some point you have to let go of what happened to the boy and focus on what’s happening to you as a man.’ I roll my eyes at Storm, I have no idea when he became so insightful but it’s a really annoying moment for it to happen.

‘Alpha, John is awake and Selena says he’s good to be questioned.’ Heath’s voice comes over the Pack link in an annoyingly chipper way.

‘You sound too good considering there are six empty bottles of whiskey in my office.' Heath laughs as I raise myself from the kitchen table and stretch, I can hear the women coming in the front door so might as well go and talk to John while they cook. 'Meet me in the cell block, might as well get this over with.'

The wet grass soaks into my sock covered feet as I quickly jog over to the cellblock, I hate that this is so close to the Pack house but this morning I'm thankful for it.

"Suffering Alpha?" I shake my head as I reach the blonde haired, broad shoulder Head Warrior, I haven't told him yet but last night I made my mind up to give him a trial.

"Like a drum is playing in my head, is Selena in there with him?" Heath just nods his head so I quickly pull the door to the cells open and enter the damp and urine smelling building.

"I can't tell him, I don't know who it was." John's voice sounds small and like he's only just starting to come back to himself.

"Just tell him what you know and hopefully you will just get a slap on the wrist." I know Selena is trying to help but I wish she hadn't promised such a light punishment, he put the whole Pack at risk with his behaviour. Rounding the corner with Heath on my heels I see Selena standing in the doorway of his cell in her blue scrubs while John is sitting on his small bed. He's finally dressed and devoid of his normal vomit soaked clothes, he actually smells clean so I wonder if Selena helped clean him up.

"John." My voice seems to shock the young lad as his head swivels over to me and his dull green eyes go wide.

"Alpha." John quickly drops to his knees and bares the back of his neck, it's a sign of submission to his Alpha but not one I care about right now.

"Selena you can leave, John get up." My tone leaves no room for argument so Selena quickly grabs her medical bag and scurries past me and Heath. John slowly gets up from the floor but doesn't look at either me or Heath, together we must make an impressive show of force. Neither of is what you would call small or dainty.

“Alpha, I’m so sorry. I was weak and allowed myself to become consumed, I didn’t know how to say no once I knew what it felt like. It was like this fire inside of me that I couldn’t control but I had to keep feeding.” John’s words are falling from his mouth so fast I can barely keep up, looking back at Heath I raise an eyebrow and he just shrugs. He has no idea what to do to make John stop talking either.

“That’s enough John, this is how this talk is going to go.” I lean against the bars on his cell door, John keeps his eyes on the floor, he’s refusing to meet my eyes. “You’re going to tell me who gave you the drugs, when and where, you are then going to tell me how you kept getting them while locked up inside of here.” No matter how much me and Rowan have tried, we haven’t been able to figure out how John was getting the drugs.

“I don’t know who gave them to me, he kept his face covered the whole time, like he didn’t want me to know who he was.” John runs a hand through his dark hair but keeps his head down, “he was human though but he had a scent on him that was a shifter. So he knows a shifter, at first I was going to bring it back to Rowan to let him know but then he told me it would work on my kind too.” John looks up at me with sad deep blue eyes, “I was weak and I wondered, so I tried it.”

“And then you couldn’t stop?” I look over at Heath as he walks closer to the cell and looks in on John. “Addiction is a slippery slope John.”

“I tried to stop but the little packets just kept coming, they would be mailed into my letterbox. One of my kid brothers almost got one of them but I still let them come, I kept sending the money.” John’s voice breaks as he starts to realise how much he’s messed up, “I swear I don’t know who it was, I never saw a person again. When I came in here they just started turning up under my water cup.”

“Where did this guy first approach you?” I feel bad for John but for now I think he needs to stay put, Heath is right, addiction is a slippery slope and John needs our help not our anger.

“I was on patrol outside of the club the rogue female was working at.” I start walking away as soon as John mentions the club, everything keeps coming back to Jeremy and that damn strip club.

“He stays in here for now Heath, daily check ups and three meals. Keep him clean and sober and I’ll consider letting him out,” I call out to Heath as I walk towards the exit of the cells. Seems I need to speak to Rowan about a visit to a certain club owner, I just have to keep my temper while I do it.

Walking into the kitchen I’m impressed with how much the women have gotten done while I’ve been in the cellblock. There are fresh muffins on the breakfast bar, along with eggs, bacon and sausages. I’m pretty sure one of the younger girls is pulling some biscuits out of the oven as well.

“Eva hasn’t been down?” I ask the room as I pick up one of the blueberry muffins from the pile.

“She’s been on the old high street since sun up, saw her from my kitchen window.” I hum at Sally as I look around the kitchen, thanks to how busy I’ve been, it’s been a good while since I’ve been up here during meal times.

“Where is everyone?” Apart from a handful of warriors there is no one eating breakfast, even when my father was at his most tyrannical this kitchen was full of people.

“This is normal for these days, I always cook more just in case some come but I guess I should stop as it just goes to waste.” Sally’s wrinkled eyes follow me as I carefully pull together a plate for Eva, I try not to let my unease show. “Don’t worry, they will come.” I just smile at her as I walk from the kitchen, I can’t help but let the doubt seep in, are the Pack not coming because of me or because of something I don’t know about. Either way I don’t like that the Pack house is so empty and that it’s taken me so long to realise it.

I’m so used to walking around this land n*ked and barefoot that I don’t bother putting on any shoes as I leave the Pack house. It’s a quick and quiet walk down to the old high-street, I have contractors coming in a few weeks to help start the work, the Packs have a special company we use so Pack members don’t have to hide themselves while we have visitors. It doesn’t take me long to notice Eva, she’s slowly walking down the high-street and keeps bending down now and again before standing again.

“You missed breakfast Angel.” I instantly regret walking up behind her when she screeches and drops the small bag she has in her hand. “S hit, I’m sorry Eva. I didn’t think.” I look down in shame and notice little purple flowers on the floor that have tumbled out of her bag. Eva seems too stunned to actually speak as she hunches over and tries to catch her breath.

“No, I’m sorry. I shouldn’t have reacted like that.” Her words come out around gasps, I want to put my hands on her to calm her down but I don’t think that will help right now.

“Look at me.” Holding the plate in my hands I wait for her blue eyes to meet my brown ones, it takes her a minute but eventually her flushed face looks up at me. “Good, now take a deep breath in and then out.” Stare at each other we breathe together until Eva has control of her breathing and her natural pale colour starts to return. “How about we sit and eat?” I nod at the ground, there is a bit of a footpath, just enough to sit on while looking over at the demolished building.

We sit in companionable silence as Eva picks apart a blueberry muffin and fiddles with the bacon, she doesn’t seem all that bothered by the food and I wonder if that’s because I just scared her half to death. Trying to think of a way to take her mind off it, I lean over and pluck up one of the small purple flowers, it still has its roots attached and looks more like she's dug it up rather than picked it.

"Lavender?" I ask her as I sniff the familiar scent.

"Wild Lavender," I arch my eyebrow at her, I had no idea there was such a thing. "It is growing all up and down this high-street and it smells amazing. Selena said you were redoing it so I figured they would be destroyed." Eva's voice is low as she looks off into the distance, I'd love to know what she's seeing but I'll settle for her speaking normally for now.

"You want to replant it?" I can't say I know much about flowers or gardening but if this is something she wants then it's definitely something I can support.

"I thought maybe around the cottage but then I thought maybe at the Pack house where everyone can enjoy it," Her cheeks flame as she subtly asks me if she can plant this purple flower around what she sees as my home.

"Sure, maybe in the front garden? Next to the drive, it will look nice and visitors can enjoy the scent too." I smile as her face splits into a massive grin. I don't know what reaction she thought I would have but I'm glad she's happy.

"That sounds amazing and thank you for bringing me some food." Since we've been talking she's eaten half a muffin so I call this little chat a win.

"Why didn't you come to breakfast?" I want to ask her why she thinks the Pack didn't come but she won't know, she only knows a handful of the members.

"I got busy with Ghost last night and then when I woke up I just wanted to get moving. I like the sunrise and I haven't had a chance to enjoy it much, you said I can walk around the Pack right?" Her blue eyes have widened in panic as if she's waiting for me to start shouting at her.

"Will you stop, of course you can walk around the Pack land. This is your home, not your prison, I only ask that you take someone with you if you leave the Pack land." I would rather her not leave at all but I don't think I have the right to put that order in place just yet.

"Sorry, it's just with Jeremy," Eva shakes her head as if unable to finish her sentence.

"I'm not Jeremy, Eva." I can stop the way the words spit from my mouth, I don't like being compared to that human, not in any capacity.

"No, of course you're not." Her words have sparked yet more doubt inside of me and I push the plate at her before standing from the pavement, "wait, Cas, I didn't mean it. I swear."

"I just have some things to do. Eat." I don't give her a chance to call me on my bullsh it as I quickly walk away from her.

I'm feeling all out of sorts this morning and I think it has a lot to do with banishing Sookie last night. She's the first wolf I've banished from anywhere and it's not something I did lightly, yet I can't help but feel I maybe did it too rashly.

'Doubt doesn't suit an Alpha.' I roll my eyes at Storm as I break through the trees just off from the Pack house, stopping once I'm out of sight, I drop my joggers and pull my socks and black t-shirt off.

'Don't need you barking at me today, Storm, let's run off some steam so I can go talk to this human without killing him.' I relax my shoulders and call Storm forward, he doesn't come like he normally does though.

'Not this time, you need to face this doubt. You can't just keep running each time you feel a little insecure.' Sighing I start to pull my joggers

"The one time I need something 'I mutter to him as I push back through the trees and stomp my way over to the Pack house, 'if I kill this human then it's on you.'

'You won't kill him, he's not yours to kill and you know it.' As I reach the porch I look in the direction of the old high-street. I could go back and apologise to Eva and she would probably gladly accept it. I don't deserve her forgiveness though, I was really rude to her so I'll punish myself by staying away

'What's bitten him in the ass?' Ghost voice comes quietly as I just sit on the pavement and watch Cas walk away from me, he doesn't look back at me, he just leaves.

'I've not seen him like that before, not that I know him well.' I can't believe he would think I compare him to Jeremy, the comparison has never even entered my mind, the two men are like night and day.

'Put it from your mind, no point in worrying about what's up his ass. Let's go for a run.' Putting the plate next to me I quickly and carefully scoop up all the flowers I dropped when Cas scared me and then stand with the bag and plate in my hands. I set off back to my little cottage at a quick walk, I don't see a single person on my way back. Cas said that people are normally around but so far they seem to be giving me a wide berth.

'You think they are all avoiding me or just shy?' It's hard to not think people are avoiding me just because of who or what I am, I know from experience that there are mixed views on Omegas, never mind rogues.

'I doubt they are actively avoiding you, I think you need to stop thinking the worst of people.' I roll my eyes as I open the small wooden gate onto my front garden, the front of the cottage is really beautiful. It's covered in wild flowers and they are a mix of winter and summer flowers so some are in bloom still despite the cold weather.

'You're one to talk, it was only days ago you told me not to join the Pack.' Pushing into my open plan kitchen and lounge I drop the plate and bag of flowers onto the small two person table.

"That was before I knew how bad this Pack had it, they need us and neither of us will turn away from that.' I sigh, she's right, I can't turn my back on someone hurting anymore than I can turn away from Cas. I know staying here is giving him hope that one day I will be ready to be his mate but deep down I don't know if that time will ever come.

I don't realise I've been standing staring out of the kitchen window until Ghost starts nudging me, she's desperate to go on a run. Reluctantly I head back out of the cottage and round onto the back garden, it faces into a patch of trees so I figure this will make for a quick stroll. Maybe she will calm down if I give her ten minutes of freedom. Ghost is pushing out of me before I am even fully undressed, the ripping of fabric has me cringing, it's not like I'm swimming in clothing.

'Da mn it Ghost, you couldn't just give me a second?' Ghost's little yip as she starts running through the trees is the only way I know she has heard me. I have little to do but sit back and see where she takes us, I have to admit I do enjoy this part. It's so relaxing having Ghost take over, almost like I can stop my mind from thinking and just forget about everything. Out here running over fallen trees and hunting for rabbits, I'm not beaten and abused Eva. I'm Ghost, a powerful female shifter and all round snarky badas s, it's a power I never knew I had inside of me and not one I totally dislike. I'm not sure how long we run for before I realise Ghost has done the only thing Cas asked me not to do.

'Ghost, go back. We've crossed the border.' I can't keep the panic from my voice as I try to pull her back into me, she's strong and resists my pull though.

'Wait, I can smell some water. Let's go for a swim and then we will go back, what's going to happen to us out here in the da mn trees.' I keep pulling on Ghost as she keeps running through the trees until we reach what looks like a small stream.

'Well you're not swimming in that, let's go back.' I'm not sure what has Ghost's attention but I can feel her suddenly go on the alert, her entire b*dy has become stiff and she's not moving at all. 'Ghost, what is it?' I can't help the panic rising up in me, if my wolf is scared then you can guarantee that I am.

"Well, well, the rogue Omega bends over and becomes Pack." The male voice comes from behind me and I can't help but keep the smile off my face. I haven't seen Eric since that night on the dirt road, after he took me from the hospital.

'Let me out Ghost, it's Eric. We know him, we can trust him.' Instead of answering me, Ghost slowly turns around and starts growling at Eric. He's barely changed except for the unkempt scruff now covering the lower half of his face, he's wearing a pair of basketball shorts and is holding a t-shirt in his hands. His chest is smooth and completely covered in tattoos, the only man I've seen with as many tattoos as him was Fraction.

"I have a shirt here if you want to shift? I don't think your wolf likes me much." Eric leans forward and drops the t-shirt of the ground, he backs away quickly when Ghost snaps at his hand. "Or maybe she outright hates me." Eric raises an eyebrow as he slowly holds his hands up and turns his back, it's a bold move when he has a clearly pissed off wolf near him. He obviously underestimates Ghost or he thinks he can beat us should she choose to attack.

'Let me out Ghost.' I feel her reluctance as I carefully but forcefully pull her back until I am standing on two feet and reaching down for the t-shirt.

'You shouldn't be around this male, Cas won't like it.' I roll my eyes at her as I pull Eric's shirt on.

'Since when did you care what Cas thinks?' Ghost just growls loudly at me as I pull the shirt into place and reach over to tap Eric on the shoulder.

"That's better, your wolf is defensive." Eric's smile is massive as he leans down and gives me a small hug and k*ss on the cheek.

"What are you doing here?" I can't believe he even approached me, it's not like we parted on the best terms, I gently push at his shoulders to put some distance between us.

“I caught your scent and I thought I would check in and see how you are. I haven’t seen you since the club.” He rubs his massive hand over his chin and scratches at the scruff he has growing there.

“What club? I never saw you at Dragon’s Flame.” I cross my arms under my chest but I realise it pulls the t-shirt up so I drop them back to my side, I don’t miss the way Eric’s hazel eyes shoot down to the bottom of the shirt and his nostrils flare. I instinctively take a step back suddenly feeling like I should have listened to Ghost and left when she said.

“Not that sh it hole. I saw you dancing your ass off at Roxie’s. Cas warned me off so I left before I could speak to you.” I feel my eyebrows draw together in confusion. Cas never mentioned seeing Eric that night.

“He never said anything.” Eric just shrugs like it’s no big deal.

“Not like I was looking for you, I went for a peaceful drink and he all but warned me to stay away. I see he got what he wanted,” Eric sniffs loudly before smiling, “ah, not everything. Still not his I see.”

“I don’t belong to anyone.” I don’t know why but I suddenly feel very uncomfortable, “I should get back, Cas is expecting me.”

“I doubt it, I saw him and the Beta heading into Midsey. They left the pack about half an hour ago.” If I wasn’t uncomfortable before I am now, for Eric to know Cas and Rowan left it means he was watching the Pack, “our time is being cut short anyway. Until next time, little Omega.” I shiver as he quickly darts into a bush behind him and I hear the snapping of twigs as his wolf takes over and carries him away.

'Well that was random, was it me or was that super creepy?' I run my hands up and down my arms as I try to dispel the unease Eric has left within me.

'Erm, you have bigger things to worry about.' I'm confused as to what Ghost means until I hear my name being called, I sigh loudly knowing I'm in deep shi t.

"Eva! What the hell are you doing out here?" Heath comes walking towards me completely n*ked, "move it now, Alpha will be having words for you." I keep my eyes on the floor so I don't have to look at the giant's n*ked b*dy, I try to turn around so I can pull Eric's shirt off and shift. "Oh no, trust me, Alpha is going to want to know what you've been doing. The shirt stays on." Reluctantly I start walking back towards the Pack, it isn't until we are crossing the border that I realise why he didn't want me taking the shirt off. I have to go to Cas and not only explain why I crossed the border but also why I am covered in another man's scent.

"Maybe I should change first?" I'm very aware that I am dressed in Eric's shirt and nothing else, heading towards the Pack house the nerves are starting to set in. Heath's silent demeanour is really not helping the huge butterflies making themselves at home in my stomach. "Heath, please. I should really change before I see him."

"Too late." My eyes widen and my feet stop moving as I watch Cas jump out of his SUV, the look on his face has me literally shaking, he's madder than I have ever seen him.

“One rule, one Goddess damn rule. and you break it the second I leave the Pack land.” He’s yelling across the drive, his face is getting redder and redder as he starts stomping towards me. I start looking around in panic for a way to run but I’m blocked by Heath and the Pack house, I have no choice but to wait for him to reach me.

“I’m sorry, I just went for a run, I never meant to go so far and before I knew it I was out of the Pack land.” My words are coming out quickly and all in one breath, by the time Cas reaches me I am looking at the ground as he leans down and starts sniffing me. I can feel his breath along my cheek as little puffs of air fly from his mouth, it seems to go on forever and all I can see are his massive feet and clenched hands.

“Take it off.” I shiver as he speaks quietly into my ear, he might be speaking quietly but his rage is still there. “Take it off!” He yells at me making me jump when I don’t do what he asks, slowly I reach down and pull Eric’s shirt over my head, I try to keep myself covered but being completely n*ked underneath I can’t cover everything.

“Please, Cas.” I’m literally shaking while he just towers over me, holding the t-shirt in one hand and covering my breast with the other. “Burn it.” I assume he’s talking to Heath because the next second both of his hands are wrapping around my waist and pulling me over his shoulder. I flick my head up in time to see Heath taking a lighter to Eric’s shirt, I’m happy to see that not a single other person is in the yard. Thankfully only Heath was the witness to my humiliation.

“Put me down Cas, please put me down!” I start pounding his back with my fists, it does nothing though, he keeps walking through the house and heading for his basement.

“Stop it. You have no right to be mad right now.” I keep pounding on his back because I honestly do feel like I have the right to be mad, I yelp and go limp as I feel a hard quick slap on my bare ass. “Keep going and so will I.”

I stay limp over his shoulder as Cas carries me down into the basement and into his bedroom, he plops me down on the bed and turns from me without a word. I sit in silence as he rummages in his drawer, he has a scowl on his face as he hands me a simple grey t-shirt.

“Put it on.” His words are curt and leave little room for an argument, I take the shirt from him and just hold it in my hands.

“If you let me go home I could put my own clothes on.” Apparently this was the wrong thing to say because he drops himself into his armchair and just stares at me.

“Put it on or I will find some other way to get my scent on you.” His eyes are flashing between brown and yellow, he’s clearly battling between himself and Storm right now, not wanting to anger him more I quickly pull the shirt on.

“Better?” I ask him quickly as I brush my dark hair from my face, he just sniffs loudly before jumping up from the chair and pacing along the room.

“I can still smell him on you, did you f uck him?” I’m so stunned by hist question that I don’t answer him immediately. This apparently is a mistake because he spins on me and plants his hands firmly on either side of my legs. “Did you f uck him?” He speaks each word slowly as he looks me dead in the eye, the way his eyes are shifting is really unnerving me.

“You’re scaring me Cas.” I try to lean away from him but he follows me until I almost laid down and he’s drawing his nose up my n*eck. I try to stop the shiver that works its way through my

“I suggest you answer him, he’s all riled up and about thirty seconds. from pinning you to this bed and f ucking the life out of you.” My eyes widen as Cas’s usually gruff yet smooth voice comes out all rough and growly, putting my hand on his shoulder I push him away from me to see his brown eyes are now completely yellow.

“I didn’t have S*x with him, Storm. I swear it, I just stumbled across him next to the stream. It wasn’t planned, he actually started to make me really nervous and I’m glad Heath came along and interrupted him.” I hold Storm’s yellow eyes as he just looks at me, “please, give Cast back to me. I’ll help him calm down, I swear.” I keep my voice low and calm even though I feel the exact opposite, I lift a shaky hand and put it on Cas's cheek in a comforting gesture.

"Cas? Storm. I'm so sorry." I can't stop the tear rolling down my cheek as he pulls away from me, his eyes have shifted back to his usual chocolate brown as he sniff's loudly and then lifts himself off the bed to drop himself back into the armchair.

"Stop crying Eva, I can't handle it when you cry." I nod my head as I sniffle and rub at my eyes, Cas's voice suddenly sounds exhausted and like all the rage has been zapped from his b*dy. "You broke the one rule I put in place, I told you not to leave the Pack border and not only do you leave but you then come back smelling like another male, another Alpha." Cas's hands tighten on the arms of the chair as he tries to stop himself from getting angry again, "you have to understand how hard it is for me not to have you but then to find you smelling like another Alpha, dressed in his clothes. You're d amn lucky I didn't throw you down on the grass and f uck you there and then."

"It was just a shirt he offered to me so I was covered, he never saw anything." I'm pleading with him to understand but I don't think he does because he just shakes his head.

"You shouldn't be in his clothes at all, there is no reason at all why you. should be covered in his scent." I'm starting to understand this is at hard limit for him so I just nod my head. I might not understand it but clearly it's important to him.

"Maybe, maybe we should just reject each other. It would make it a lot casier on both of us." I don't know if I mean the words, I just know that I don't want to constantly be on edge around my Alpha.

"Don't you dare, one argument doesn't mean you get to reject me." Cas' s hands have tightened on the armchair, his words have turned growly again but his eyes are still brown. "I won't ever reject you and there ist

Now get the hell out of my room unless you are willing to spread those legs and give me a full smell of what I keep scenting." He sniffs the air as I quickly jump from the bed and run from the bedroom, "keep running Angel, one day I will catch you." I don't look back as he taunts me, I know he's trying to bait me but I'm suddenly realising that Cas is not an Alpha you should piss off.

'You've never taken over like that before.' I'm pretty pissed at Storm for taking over like he did, thankful because I was on the edge but still annoyed.

'You were terrifying her, she was literally shaking. You were tossing between slapping her as s red raw or f ucking her into the mattress.' I can't argue with him because that was the exact two thoughts going through my mind. Stepping out of my SUV I could see she was scared but the scent of Eric was overpowering everything, I couldn't stop the anger that overcame me. All I could think about was replacing his scent with mine.

'Go shower and calm down.' Sighing at Storm I jump up from my chair and head for my little bathroom. Rowan should be back from the club soon so I can't take too long, looking down at my hard cock I already know this is going to be a cold shower. I don't know what it is about Eva but even when I'm mad at her I still want her with every fibre of my being. Stepping into the shower I turn the nozzles and let the cold water blast onto my back as I lean onto the tiled wall with one hand and bow my head.

Looking down at my cock I see that the cold water has done nothing to make it go down, I know what will make it go down but I can't have her. She doesn't want me, not how she should want me, any other shifter female finding their fated mate would run to them not away from them. As the water beats down on my back I imagine Eva kneeling in front of me, wearing one of my shirts and peering up at me with her soft blue eyes and pouty pink lips. Closing my eyes I can practically smell her, she looks so innocent kneeling before me, almost like she's never been touched. Except I know she's been touched, she might look like she's made of porcelain but I know deep down she's as dirty and broken as the rest of us. Reaching down I would grab her chin and run my thumb over her lower lip, a small gasp would leave her mouth giving me a glimpse of that tiny pink tongue. Unsure of what to do she would blink her eyes up at me before slowly sucking the pad of my thumb into her mouth. I feel my hand tighten at my side. as I imagine pulling my now wet thumb from between her lips and nodding at her, she would be shy at first and slowly peel down my joggers revealing my nine inch cock. I chuckle as I see her blush as the angry red head slaps against my stomach, I doubt she's seen a cock as big as mine, let alone knows what to do with it..

"Here, just hold it." I imagine her tiny hand wrapping around the base of my cock as I do the same in the shower, "tighter, you won't hurt me Angel." I tighten my own hand as I imagine wrapping my hand around hers and showing her how to hold me. I gasp into the shower as her hand starts moving up and down with my help, her touch grows firmer and stronger to the point that I let go and she starts to quicken her pace. I can't stop the moan leaving my mouth as I start moving my hand up and down my cock just like I would want Eva to do. “Can I taste it?” The imaginary Eva shocks me as she leans in and slides her tongue along the head of my cock collecting the precum forming. “Need more.” I just nod my head at her as she slowly pulls the head of my cock full inside of her mouth and sucks like she’s trying to pull the precum from my b*dy.

“Goddess Eva.” I imagine myself wrapping her dark hair into my hand. and helping her head bob up and down on my cock. I want to slam into her mouth but right now the way she’s swirling her tongue around the tip is driving me insane. “More, take more Angel.” I tighten my hand on my cock to mimic how her throat would feel wrapped around cock, her blue eyes never leave mine as she sucks more and more of my cock into her mouth. Gasping out loud I grab either side of her head and slam myself into the back of her throat, her eyes will never leave mine as tears start to roll down the side of her face. I hold myself still as I unload into her throat, I doubt she could even taste me like this but her throat constricting around my cock is milking me for everything I have to offer. Opening my eyes I watch my cm slide down the tiles and swirl with the water down the drain.

‘Feel better?’ I sigh loudly as I feel Storm stretch, reaching out for the nozzles, I turn off the water and lean out of the shower grabbing the towel.

‘No. I need her Storm, this is not enough.’ Imagining Eva on her knees is one of my favourites but it’s becoming more and more vague. I’m dying to see the real thing and each time I have the fantasy she seems further and further away.

“Cas, you in there?” I hear a knock from the bedroom door and quickly open the bathroom door so I can walk over to my drawers.

“I’ll be out in a second, meet me in the office.” I answer Rowan as I rub the towel over my b*dy and quickly pull on my joggers, as my Beta I’ve given him a key to my office in case he needs something while I’m busy. Once dressed I quickly walk from the bedroom and into the office, Rowan is sitting there with his little notepad, he has a stink of sweat and vodka about him.

“You should sit down.” Something about his tone makes me think I’m not going to like what he found out at Dragon’s Flame.

“Was he there?” I ask him as I slide into my office chair.

“Eventually he showed up but I never got inside of the club.” I shake my head in annoyance, the only reason Jeremy wouldn’t want us in the club is if he has something to hide. “He’s definitely shady and hiding something but I think I sl*pped up.”

“What did you do?” If Rowan messed up I doubt he did it on purpose but he wouldn’t say anything if it wasn’t important.

“I think he might believe Eva is here. He mentioned his missing partner and said that the only place he hadn’t looked around here was our land.” I slam my hand on the desk as I realise what that means, Jeremy is going to start snooping around the Pack.

“I want more patrols, that human is not to set eyes on a single member of this Pack let alone Eva.” Rowan is nodding and smiling at me, “you’ve already told Heath haven’t you?”

“Of course I have. We need to find a way to get Eva around the Pack house more though. Sure we can Patrol but this house is the safest place for her.” Rowan is scribbling in his notepad, I’m pretty sure he’s drafting ideas for how to get Eva here.

“Already sorted the next two weeks of mornings, we just need to figure out days and on a night you can have a warrior guard her cottage.” I tap my laptop to wake it up before adding, “out of sight though. I don’t want her knowing she’s being guarded. I don’t want her thinking I don’t trust her.

“Why is she here in the morning for the next two weeks?” I smirk at Rowan as he looks at me with confusion.

“It’s her punishment for disobeying my rule.” Rowan chuckles and shakes his head.

“Since when do we punish female Pack members?” I smile at him as I just wiggle my eyebrows, “you’re an evil Alpha. Let me go and give the warriors their orders.” Rowan stands and heads for the door before turning back around.

“Something else?” I ask him as I shift my eyes to my emails, I see one from Darryl, one from Fraction and a few from other Alpha’s in the area.

“Yeah, well we were invited to the Moon Ceremony this year. It’s in January and we have been asked to bring some produce and stuff to sell.” I look up at Rowan in shock, it’s been years and years since. Everfur got invited to the Moon Ceremony.

“Who issued the invite?” My question is answered when I open the email from Darryl, skimming it I can see it’s more of a, you will be there than an invite. “Guess we are going to the Moon Ceremony. Sh it, I’ve never been to one, have you?” Rowan shakes his head, I’m not. surprised he’s never been my father hated them and refused anyone in the Pack who requested to go. “Make the arrangements, I don’t see any harm in it.”

Once Rowan leaves I quickly type out a response to Darryl to let him know I will attend the Moon Ceremony along with Pack members and the produce and products he’s strongly suggested I bring. The email from Fraction mentions some helpful tips on how to approach an Omega who didn’t know she was an Omega. I expected the email to sound really condescending but it actually has some really good points. in it and considering Anna, I guess he knows what he’s talking about. He ends the email by reminding me that no two Omega’s are the same and the only thing I can do is get to know her and make her comfortable within the Pack.

Chapter 225

His Rogue Omega: Chapter 58.

Rowan

Eva is miserable. you can see it in the way she's holding herself hunched over the peach she is slicing. Cas is going about this all wrong but he won't appreciate me saying so. I've seen Cas when he goes all Alpha on someone he wants to fuck and he doesn't allow for any input. I can't understand why he's not pushing for the mating more, they both need it yet they are fighting it so much.

"You wanted to see me Beta." I look up at Francis and smile. I spread my hand across the table indicating he should take a seat.

"You busy tonight?" Francis shakes his buzz cut head, he's a handsome guy, something Selena has pointed out to me a few times and is a great warrior.

"No, do you need me to do something?" I smile as I sip at my coffee. what I have planned might bite me in the ass but it could also light a fire under Cas's.

"I think you and a few of the lads need a night out at Roxie's. Tonight could be good." I speak quietly so Eva doesn't overhear us but she looks very interested in cutting up her peaches. SEARCH THE FINDNOVEL.NET WEBSITE ON GOOGLE TO ACCESS CHAPTERS OF NOVELS EARLY AND IN THE HIGHEST QUALITY.

"Ah, well I don't think that's a good idea." Francis scrubs his hand over his head before reaching across the table for a muffin, they have become a breakfast regular since Eva arrived. Apparently she has a thing for blueberries, "all my friends have mates so I don't really like to go out much with them and if they go to Roxie's they ain't going for the dancing." I chuckle, I know exactly what is on offer at Roxie's and why a lot of shifters like going there.

"Maybe take Eva, she still needs to get to know people in the Pack. Least then you won't be out of place with your friends." Francis looks behind him at Eva cutting up what appears to be a grapefruit, he looks for a long time, long enough that I'm starting to second guess my decision.

"She ain't really my type and I think the Alpha has pretty much stuck a flag in her." The way he keeps looking back at her makes me think otherwise, however, I'm not looking to get the poor warrior killed.

“Just as friends Francis, I’m not at all condoning you hitting on her. Just take her out and introduce her to your group, she needs some friends.” It’s not a complete lie, Eva does need some friends, other than Selena she doesn’t really have anyone and for a while even that relationship was on the rocks.

“Alright I’ll ask her, need to make the future Luna feel comfortable right?” I nod at Francis and smile as more warriors start to pile into the kitchen.

I stay in the kitchen long enough to hear Francis speak to a couple of warriors about going out for drinks, I leave just as he approaches Eva. She looks really nervous but I catch her nodding her head with a small smile on her face, I bet she’s just excited about going out with people. After the Pack breakfast I start making the rounds, as Beta it’s my job to know what’s going on in the Pack before anyone else does. Everything seems to be running smoothly, I know Cas is worried about how most of the Pack don’t come round for meals but I think it’s due to the elderly population. We lack the younger members that some of the bigger Packs have and the younger ones we do have either work outside of the Pack or are bogged down with pups. Walking up to the Murray cottage I notice that it’s looking even shabbier than normal, ever since Stan Murray took off Lisa has really struggled to keep this place up. Her three pups try to help but with two of them being under five it’s a lot of hard work and I know she hasn’t been seen around the Pack a lot.

“Lisa.” I bang on the blue peeling door, when I don’t get an answer I knock louder.

“Hello Beta, Momma is at work.” I turn around to see a small sixteen year old red haired pup, she’s stick thin and deathly pale but over the years I’ve learned this is just her look.

“When will she be back?” I pocket my notepad and lean forward to grab the brown bag of groceries she’s carrying, peering inside I notice a lot of frozen meals and sugary cereal. I try to smile at Sophie but it’s hard to appear calm when your alarm bells are ringing.

“Probably late tonight.” I notice she doesn’t try to move past me to open the door, instead she just starts to fiddle with her fingers with her green eyes darting around.

“Want to open up so I can carry these inside for you?” I try to keep my voice calm and soothing so I don’t spook the pup, I’ll be the first to admit I don’t have a clue how to talk to pups.

“Sure, the house is a bit of a mess though.” I just shrug my shoulders as she speaks softly and walks past me. The first thing I notice as she opens the door is the smell, it smells like no one has so much as cracked a window in years.

“The pups in here?” Sophic shakes her head as she blushes and leads me across a paper strewn floor, in places I can see signs of cleaning but it’s clearly been done by someone who doesn’t understand cleaning or how to do it. “Where are the pups Sophie? They are too young for school and I know your momma doesn’t have them in day-care.” I’m surprised the kitchen actually looks clean, nothing like mine and Selena’s kitchen but someone has definitely been cleaning in here. Popping the brown bag down on the table I watch Sophie start to unload all the processed and sugary food.

“They are with momma.” Sophie blushes as she quickly stuffs the box of sanitary napkins that tumbles out of the bag back inside, I act the gentlemen and pretend I didn’t see anything. Crossing my arms I lean against the door frame and just watch her move about the kitchen, she’s avoiding my eyes and purposefully making herself not stand still.

“Sophie, your momma didn’t take them to work and I know for a fact your momma hasn’t been back since I came by last week.” Sophie just shrugs her shoulders before walking over to the sink and getting herself a glass of water, “alright, well from now on I want you at the Pack house every morning for breakfast. Sally will also sort you lunch and you will go to school.”

“Momma says I have to stay here.” Sophie actually looks upset at the idea of leaving the house, I just shake my head at her.

“This is coming from your Beta, Sophie. And by extension, your Alpha too, I also want you to ride up to the Nickels farm and get a fruit and vegetable hamper. Tell Mary I sent you and she will sort you out.” I wait until Sophie promises she will do as she says and leave the messy cottage, as soon as the door closes behind me I whip out my notepad and write a note for myself to visit here daily.

By the end of the day I’ve done about three laps of the Pack and spoken to several warriors, thanks to all the running around I haven’t actually managed to see Cas yet today which means I have no idea if he knows about Francis.

“Rowan Alexander Finn! What did you do!” I regret opening the door to the house as soon as Selena’s voice comes screaming down the stairs.

“I didnt do it.” I shout back. I hate it when she fullnames me, it has me instantly thinking about what I could have done. I have to quickly go through my mental rolodex, did I look at a female for too long, did my eyes stray to a n*ked female after a shift or maybe I messed up one of her dresses while doing the laundry.

“Oh you did it. I know you did it.” I can’t help but back away as my little blonde red faced mate comes storming down the stairs waving her finger at me.

“Give me a hint, what did I do, babe?” I hold up my hands in mock defence as she just stands there in front of me and shoots me daggers.

“Are you really going to pretend that Francis taking Eva to Roxie’s was all his idea?” I have to press my l*ps together to stop myself from laughing, “it’s not funny, Cas was angrier than I’ve ever seen him. She left in a cab with all the guys and their mates without so much as a word to him.” I smile at her before leaning forward and k*ssing her on the cheek, this seems to confuse her so I laugh as I walk further into the house and drop onto our comfortable soft brown sofa. “You planned this? You want him to be angry?”

“Our Alpha needs his mate and Eva needs her mate, something needs. to push those two together.” I feel Selena’s arms snake around my shoulders as she leans over the back of the sofa and starts k*ssing the side of my n*eck.

“My genius Beta, fixing the pack one f uck at a time.” I can’t help the moan that leaves my mouth as her mouth latches onto my car, tilting my head to the side, I offer her more access to my favourite spot. “You work hard, let’s get you relaxed.” I can’t stop the smile that comes across my face as her hands snake down my chest and into the top of my jeans. How this woman can go from raging to h orny in a matter of seconds will always confuse me but I wouldn’t change a single thing about her. Gripping her hands I pull until she slides over the sofa and “What?” Rowan rolls his eyes as I ask the question because I don’t understand what he just said, it’s just not registering in my red fogged. brain.

“Go and get your mate and stop making both of you miserable.” He says again as he leans over and tucks the two black bands into my front jeans pockets. SEARCH the (Find)NOvel.net website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Go and get my mate?” I don’t know why I’m asking such stupid questions, it’s like my brain can’t quite figure out what’s happening.

“Cas?” The sound of my mother bellowing through the house has the fog clearing quickly.

“Go, I’ll deal with her and then Pack my bags.” The smirk on his face tells me he will still be here when I get back.

“Smart as s.” I whisper as I quickly shoot from the kitchen and head for the front door before my mother can make her way down the stairs. I’m still not convinced I’m not going to kill Rowan, it will depend how I find Eva. If she’s doing anything with Francis then I might have to kill him and Rowan, I can feel Storm growling like a mad wolf as I jump into my SUV and point it towards Roxie’s.

I make it to Roxie’s in record time but apparently there is a band on tonight so parking takes me forever, for the twenty minutes it takes for me to find a park spot I’m honking raging at everyone in sight.

‘So are we mating her or killing him?’ I don’t answer Storm as I stomp into Roxie’s, as an Alpha I get to bypass the stupidly long line and walk straight past the bouncer. I’ve been here enough that the door ladies know me as well so I just drop my card down and slam my way into the bar room, the black bands are burning a hole in my pocket. I can’t wait to find her, I’m going to throw her over my shoulder and carry her right into room six.

The room is stupidly full as a rock band slams away on the drums and guitars, I've already spotted a few of the warriors and their mates as I circle the dance floor but I haven't seen Eva yet. As an Omega she should stand out to anyone who has spoken to her so I head straight for the bar.

"Hey." I beckon the young male bartender over with two fingers and he comes running over quickly.

"How can I help?" He has to shout so I can hear him, leaning over the bar so I don't have to shout as I hold my hand up to the height of Eva.

"You seen a dark haired Omega tonight?" He nods his head and points. over to the furthest corner from me.

"Came in two hours ago, she ain't moved from there. Management had us keep an eye on her because she doesn't have a band." I can't help the growl that leaves my throat, not only did one of my unmated warriors bring her here but he's also left her defenceless without a band. I nod my head at the bartender and pull a twenty from my jeans before throwing it onto the bar. If he's been keeping an eye on my mate he's earned that and more. I don't give him any more of my attention as I head for the booth he headed for, as per my normal visits, the people part like the Red Sea for me. Sometimes being an Alpha really does come in handy. I'm stopped in my tracks as I finally lay eyes on Eva, she's sitting alone in the booth, tucked into the side furthest from the dance floor. Her face is turned down into a frown, she seems to be nursing a drink but it's not the same pink thing she had last time.

"Fancy seeing you in a place like this." I expect her to jump like she did in the street but instead she just looks up at me and seems to sag with relief, "you alright Angel?" I slide into the booth next to her and she scoots herself over so she's closer to me.

"I made a mistake coming here, I thought it would be fun but it's nothing like last time.” Her voice sounds so sad as she looks out at the over full dance floor. I can stop the smile that comes to my face. I don’t want her to be miserable but I’m also glad she’s not enjoying her time. with the warriors.

“Did you dance?” She shakes her head no, “how about we get out of here?” I slide from the bar and hold my hand out for her.

“Thank you.” Her sigh of relief has me beaming as I throw my arm around her and lead her towards the exit. We almost make it out before I spot Francis in a dark corner k*ssing a dark haired female, I divert ust over to the couple.

“I expect you in my office tomorrow morning.” The poor warrior looks like he’s seen a ghost as he turns to me and nods his head, “I’ll be taking Eva now, not that you would have noticed.” I watch him visibly gulp as he looks down at Eva before looking back at me.

Once we are standing in the corridor and I can finally hear myself think I stop walking forcing Eva to stop next to me.

“Put this on.” I pull out the black rubber band and hand her one as I slide on the other.

“Aren’t we leaving?” I shake my head no as she slides the band over her tiny wrist, “I’m really tired, I’ve been up since four and if you didn’t know I’m not a morning person.”

“Don’t worry Angel, I’m going to wake you up.” I grab her tiny hand in mine and all but pull her along the corridor and out into the reception. area. Nodding at the lady behind the desk I take us into the black door marked with a Greek Alpha symbol. “Cas, is this another punishment?” I smile, the nervousness in her voice. is unmistakable but she hasn’t even seen the worst of it yet.

“Not a punishment Angel, you will like this I’m sure of it.” I stop as we reach the red door marked with a gold number six. I use this room each time I come, I know exactly what’s in here and how to use it. “This is where I come to let off steam, I’ve never shared it with anyone but I want to share it with you.” Eva nods her head as she tries to peer around me but the solid door won’t show her anything. “Eva, eyes on me.” Her blue eyes meet mine and I hold them for a solid minute, “once we go in here there is no turning back. I need you and I think you need me too, if at any point it gets too much say Blueberry and I’ll get your out.” She gulps and nods her head, I don’t think she’s nervous anymore. because I can see the way she’s pressing her thighs together. Without any more delay I open the door and let her walk in first, I hear her gasp as I walk in behind her and lock the door, blocking us away from any interruptions.

“I think you should explain before I do anything, I don’t deal with surprises well Cas.” I keep my eyes on him even though I can feel them wanting to go back to the floor. I need him to understand that he needs to lay things out for me before I’ll follow him.

“You’re right, I’m sorry Angel.” Cas rakes his hands through his hair as he walks across to the bed and perches himself on the end of it. “As an Alpha we have the pass of other shifters to fuck and screw whoever we want for as long as we want.” I can’t stop the way my nose scrunches up, “as you know I travelled when I left the Pack and I met Alpha’s and in turn I met their mates. The one thing I learned was that their past always got in the way.” I think this is the first time I’ve ever seen Cas uncomfortable, he’s moving his hands a lot as he talks and his eyes keep shifting to the massive mirror.

“So what? You’re a virgin?” For the second time tonight Cas starts laughing, I actually like his laugh, it washes over me and gives me goosebumps at the same time.

“Not hardly but I was careful with who I slept with over the years, I never wanted it to cause a problem for me when I found my mate. Found you,” this time I let my eyes fall from him and back to the floor, it still makes me uncomfortable to see the level of want and need on his face. “It would have been easier for me if you grew up in the shifter life, maybe we would have met at Pack cookout, scented each other and been screwing that night.”

“Sorry.” I don’t really know why I’m apologising but I feel like I should be sorry for not being the shifter mate he thought I would be.

“I don’t need you to be sorry Angel, you are exactly who I didnt realise I needed. There is an old wives tale about the Goddess sending us the perfect mate even if we don’t realise it.” I glance up at Cas and smile at little, it’s kind of sweet but still doesn’t explain why we are here. “So this room and rooms like it all over the world are for people like me, people who like what I like. It lets us enjoy our single time without having a partner attached to us and without any blow back when we do- find our mate.” Glancing around the room again I try to see what he’s talking about but I can’t figure it out, Cas gets up from the bed and walks past me to press the button under the mirror. I have no words for what I see so I just stand up and walk to the mirror which has magically turned into a window. The window shows a room exactly the same as this one except for the occupants, there is a muscled dark haired man slamming himself over and over again into a blonde hair woman. She seems to be loving everything he is doing, there is a soft blush to her skin as she throws her head back when his hand. disappears between them.

“Can they see us?” I can’t seem to take my eyes off the couple, they seem completely oblivious to us.

“No, it’s just a mirror to them. They know someone might be watching but there is no way for them to know.” Cas’s voice has dropped low as I feel him walk up behind me, I didn’t even realise he had moved from the mirror.

“I don’t understand.” I can’t take my eyes off the couple but I don’t understand what this is supposed to show me, “you like to watch. people?”

“It’s more than that, watch them. See how he touches her, each touch, each caress, it speaks a language only they know and for this short time we get to witness it. Watch.” Cas is speaking low and into my ear as he puts a hand flat on my stomach and pulls me back into him, “are they mated or maybe they are just here for a quick f uck. Maybe they don't know each other at all, maybe they met next door and have come in here because they just can't contain themselves." I shiver as the man pulls out of the woman showing us his glistening cock, it's pretty big but I can already tell that the one Cas is pressing against my ass is bigger. "He's flipping her over. will he keep fucking her pussy or will he go for the ass? See the toys? Maybe he will go for both holes at the same time." I can't stop the way my breath is panting in and out of me, I lick my lips and clench my thighs as the man does neither. Instead he drops to his knees and plants his face into her centre from behind. I've never had a man do that to me but the woman seems to be loving it. She's throwing her head back with her mouth open in what looks like a long drawn out gasp.

"I can't do this." I shake my head as I keep watching the couple. I might be enjoying watching them but I don't want people to see me like that.

"Angel. I would no more let a man see you in that state than I would allow another man to take you out." I gasp as Cas's hand moves slightly and skims the underneath of my bra, "I like to watch not be watched. I think you like it too." I feel his lips press against my neck as the man stands, he slaps the woman's ass before slamming himself back inside of her.

"I can't do this." I repeat myself as I feel Cas hum against my neck, "I'm not good at it Cas." "What do you mean not good?" Cas is still kissing my neck as his hand moves further up my chest and he latches onto one of my breasts.

"There is no way to be bad at it Angel, let me show you." I lean my head back as Cas starts to trail his tongue up and down my neck, "keep your eyes open Angel, you're missing the best parts." I hadn't even realised I'd closed my eyes, so I open them again to see the woman is on her knees and sucking on the man's cock. Her hands are latched onto his ass while the man holds her hair out of the way, “see how he watches her, do you think she’s using her tongue on his tip? Maybe he just loves the feel of her throat around his cock.” I press my thighs together to try and get some relief but it’s not happening, it’s like a fire is building up inside of me. Each time her head bobs up and down on his cock I can’t help but imagine how it would feel to have Cas’s in my mouth.

“Cas.” I’m not even sure what I’m asking for, my voice comes out breathy as I reach back and grab his jean covered hip to pull him against me harder. I can feel his stiff cock grinding against my leggings covered ass, he’s moving his hips in a subtle thrusting way but it’s just making me want more.

“Put your hands on the mirror.” I don’t move as he latches onto my ear and sucks the lobe into his ear. “Now Angel.” I gasp as he steps back from me, I suddenly feel cold and I want him to touch me again so I do as he says and place my hands on the window.

“You remember the word to make this stop?” I nod my head as I listen to the sound of a zip being opened behind me. “I won’t fuck you in here but we can play a little.” I feel his finger trace along the top of my leggings, I drop my head as I groan slightly. Just the feel of his finger on me is driving me crazy, “I’ll show you how good it can be Angel. Now push that ass back and don’t move your hands from that window. I want you to watch them the whole time.” I snap my head back up as I feel Cas’s lips on the bottom of my back, the woman is laying on the bed with her legs spread for the man just as Cas starts to leave sloppy kisses up my spine.

I can feel Eva shaking beneath my hands as I glide her top up her pale back to reveal more of her spine. I don't know why she thinks she's bad at S*x but I already know that's not true thanks to that dry humping in my bedroom.

"What are they doing Angel?" I ask her between k*sses, she might not have said it but I could tell from the way she was clenching her thighs that she enjoys this as much as I do.

"He's between her legs again." Her voice is breathy and I've barely even touched her yet.

"Just between her legs? What's he doing Angel?" I know she has some d*rtly inside of her and I'm determined to bring it out of her.

"His face is between her legs." I chuckle a little as I stand up and bring her shirt with me.

"Arms up." I pull her shirt up to reveal a red lace bra, it looks amazing against her pale skin, "did you wear this for Francis?" I can't help the anger that rises in me but I stamp it back down, "or was this a little secret for just you?" I pull her hair to the side as she slams her hands back on the window, thankfully the glass is pretty thick so the couple in the other room won't have heard it. "Looks like he's using that tongue on her, you said he was between her legs I thought maybe he was taking a nap."

"No you didn't." A gasp leaves Eva's mouth as I grab her hips and force

"Just getting a better view, have I ever told you what an amazing as s this is?" I grab both globes of her as s and squeeze until she's gasping.

"Cas please." Her voice is pleading but I doubt she knows what she's asking for. She might have been in a relationship but I think she's very inexperienced in the bedroom.

"What do you want, Angel?" Sliding my hands up her back I hook my thumbs into the back of her bra, I know what I want but I want to give her choices.

“Do that, what he’s doing to her.” I glance over her shoulder to see the guy is eating the woman out with so much gusto that she’s got his head clamped between her thighs and her hands in his hair.

“If I do that then you’re mine Angel,” I grind my hard cock against her as s as I lean in and speak into her ear. “No more running, you’ll be mine and one day soon I’m going to fuck myself deep into you and put my mark on your n*eck.” I don’t know if it’s fear or arousal but a shiver works through her whole b*dy.

“Don’t hurt me.” Her words are so quiet I barely hear them, it’s more like a prayer she didn’t even mean to speak.

“Never.” I vow as I drop to my knees and slowly pull her leggings down to reveal matching red lace booty cut panties.

‘Hot d amn.’ I smile as Storm says the exact words I’m thinking, I thought her smell was amazing but now I’m smelling her with only lace in the way I feel like a starving man.

“Angel, you better not take your eyes off them and keep these legs apart.” I don’t give her a chance to answer as I hook my fingers into the sides of her panties and slowly reveal my prize. Inhaling deeply I take in her intoxicating smell, her legs shake as I tap one leg and she raises. it so I pull her panties over foot. I repeat the action with her other leg without taking my eyes off her wet centre, she’s practically dripping with need.

“Cas.” Her voice is needy and her hips wiggle, making me realise that I’ve been sitting on my knees just staring at her centre for quite some time.

“What are they doing Angel?” Right now I could care less but I need another minute to enjoy the view in front of me.

“He’s back inside of her, she’s really enjoying it. I can see her scratching down his back in pleasure.” Her words end on a gasp as I take one finger and draw it from back to front to collect some of her juices, slowly I bring it to my mouth and let her flavour burst over my tongue for the first time..

“You’re mine Angel.” I don’t give her any more warning as I grab her as s and push up so she’s open to me. Diving in I slam my tongue right into her centre and start collecting up as much of her as I can get, I know I should have started a little slower but her taste and smell has me clouded. I attack her with my mouth as she moans above me, I have enough brain cells still working not to grab her too hard. Once I've had my fill of her natural juices I bring my tongue down and start attacking her clit, she seems to love this as her thighs start to shake and close around my head. Smiling into her centre I bring one of my hands off her ass and slide two fingers into her, she starts grinding back onto my mouth and fingers. I swear she's trying to suffocate me but I would be happy to go like this, I think I have just found my new happy place for morning, noon and night. I could eat her like this for hours and still not be satisfied.

"Cas!" She's screaming my name above me as I croak my finger and start punishing her g-spot, "Cas stop, somethings happening." I smile into her centre as I double my efforts on her clit, at this angle I can't suck on it the way I would like but I don't think it will be a problem. I lose track of time as I continue to punish her g-spot and attack her clit, she keeps begging me to stop but never once does she use the word I told her. Just when I think I might have to try something else her entire b*dy goes still and my name comes howling out of her mouth. I thought her flavour was amazing before but the liquid gushing from

"You." I smile as Eva leans her head back on my shoulder and closes her eyes, she's completely cum drunk and not in a position to take care of me right now.

"This was about you Angel, not me." Picking her up I carry her over to the bed and lay her down, looking down at her I fish my cock out of my jeans, I almost laugh as her eyes go wide. "Just watch Angel." Climbing onto the bed I sit between her legs on my knees and wrap my hand around my cock, staring at her centre I start to slowly stroke my cock.

“On me, want it on me.” Her eyes are on my cock, her pupils are blown and there is a flush to her skin, it might have taken an explosive orgasm but I’ve finally found her d*rtty.

“I knew you had some d*rtty in there.” I smirk at her as I shuffle up the bed and Aimee my cock at her flat stomach, it only takes me a few

“It’s warm.” I look over just in time to see her run a finger through a puddle of my cum and bring it up to her lips. I swear I almost die on the spot as she sucks it into her mouth and moans in pleasure.

“Angel, you are mine. I’m never giving you up.” She smiles over at me as I roll from the bed and walk to the cupboard, opening it up I grab one of the many cloths and come back to the bed to clean her up.

“I thought there was like whips and stuff in there.” I shake my head and chuckle as I throw the cloth onto the bed and grab her panties and leggings off the floor.

“Nothing so sinful Angel, how about we get home and sleep?” Eva nods her head as I slide her panties up her legs and hold out my hands to help her stand.

“Oh they left.” I look over my shoulder to see the room beyond the window is empty, “maybe we can come back again?” I just nod my head at her as I watch her redress, I hoped she would enjoy it but for her to ask to come back she must have really enjoyed it.

It doesn’t take us long to get back home but by the time I’m pulling into the driveway Eva is snoozing against the passenger window. Instead of waking her up I jump from the SUV and run around so I can slowly lift her from the se

The beefy hand on my n*eck is holding me down onto the bed so tightly I can barely breathe, I try to gasp for breath as he pounds into me over and over again. At least this time he’s taken me from behind so I don’t have to look at his face while he takes his fill. Each thrust in has me gasping for breath and each time he pulls out I find myself wishing that would be the last time, it’s like this every time he decides he’s in the mood for what he declares is his.

“So tight, how are you always so damn tight.” I cringe as Jeremy speaks into the back of my head, he sounds like he’s speaking through clenched teeth. My only saving grace is that he’s not that big so at least I’m only sore from his hands by the time he’s done. I know he’s getting close because his thrusting has started to speed up but his hand has also become harder on the back of my n*eck. Now it’s not about trying to breathe so much as I start clawing at the comforter to try and get out from under him, he’s completely blocking my airway now.

'Ghost, please help me.' I cry out to my wolf but she's not there and I seem to be devoid of all the extra strength she affords me. No matter how much I cry out or try to escape Jeremy continues to grunt and thrust above me, I can feel his sweat dripping down onto my back as I try to stop the vomit rising up in my throat.

"Go d da mn it!" I quickly curl into a ball as Jeremy jumps off me and throws me off the bed, tucking my head into my chest is the only thing that protects me from a good head smack. "Maybe if you did something other than lay there like a dead fish I could finish." I stay curled into a ball as his n*ked foot starts slamming into my back, I flinch as he grabs the hair at the back of my head and drags me across the room just to slam me into the opposite wall.

I try to stand from the floor but I suddenly find myself in a completely empty bedroom, it's dark and I can't see any furniture. The only thing I can see is the metal chain dangling from my n*eck attached to the wall, the sound of siren's and talking from the street below flowing up to the window.

'Ghost? Where are we?' I can't keep the confusion out of my voice as I try to reach Ghost, one second I was being beaten by Jeremy and now I'm here. 'I swear this could be the first night I slept with Jeremy.' I look down at my n*ked thighs and see the telltale sign of c um and blood, 'this is that night.' Ghost seems oddly absent as I start pulling tugging on the chain keeping me in place, I scream and pound on the wall but as per the actual night nothing happens. In my despair of being back here I drop to the floor and cry until there is nothing left.

'How long did you spend in here?' I sniffle as Ghost's voice comes to me, she sounds so far away.

'I don't know for sure, I was basically a bag of bones by the time he took me off the wall.' I smash the back of my head off the wall as I try to block the memory of how Jeremy dragged me back to this apartment kicking and screaming. For weeks I was covered in bruises, I remember it hurting to breath for ages, sitting down was out of the question and so was breathing at the start of the healing.

"Why did you stay here for so long? Why not run?" I feel the tears roll down my cheek as Ghost asks me the questions I've been asking myself for weeks, it's so easy to ask these questions when you are looking in from the outside.

'It wasn't that easy at the time, I was stuck and I was already so broken and beaten down after living on the streets. I tried to leave but he just dragged me back, he hurt me so badly that I was scared to try again.' I can't keep the pain out of my voice, it's not easy explaining to someone else how you can become so trapped and become so helpless within a fraction of time.

'Why not just kill him in his sleep?' I tilt my head to the side as Ghost makes a very serious suggestion, honestly it never even occurred to me to try, sure I fantasised about him dying but I never actually imagined. me doing it.

'Fear I guess.' My ears pick up the tell-tale jingle of keys telling me Jeremy is back in the apartment, I know as a wolf you haven't felt fear like this but it's all consuming, it's enough to keep you from doing something. After a while he didn't have to use his fists anymore although it didn't stop him.' I turn my eyes to the door as I hear a key being inserted, I know what comes next, Jeremy comes in and beats me so hard I lose days and wake up in a puddle of my own blood. It was right here that Jeremy realised how quickly I healed and that it would hide his secret.

'Get us out of here then,' Ghost suddenly sounds panicked as the door starts to open and the lights behind Jeremy make him look like a massive black silhouette, I clench my eyes closed and brace myself against the wall for him to start the beating. I can feel and hear Ghost whimpering inside of me as she also prepares for the pain she has no idea how to handle.

"This garden is a real mess, you know you should fix that." The warming voice of Anna catches me off guard and I open my eyes to see I'm in the garden of the Pack house. Except the cell block is gone and the sun is blazing overhead, I've never seen the Pack garden in such bloom or covered in so much sunshine.

"How did I get here?" I look over at Anna who is sitting on a plastic garden chair, reading a magazine and wearing a white dress covered in sunflowers. She looks absolutely beautiful, with her blonde hair it seems like she's almost glowing.

"I don't know, where were you?" She doesn't look up at me, she seems totally engrossed in her magazine, "this garden is a mess by the way." This time she does look up and she nods her head towards a flower patch in front of the back porch. All of the flowers have been uprooted and are strewn across the lush green grass.

"Somewhere I didn't want to be," I murmur as I walk over to the plants and lean down to pick them up, with a plant in each hand I turn back to Anna. "What happened?" I can't keep the hurt out of my voice, I don't understand why someone would uproot all the plants like this.

"I don't know, it's not my garden. If I was you I'd get them sorted before they wither and die though." Anna seems totally uninterested in the plants as she flicks through her magazine, I look back down at the plants and decide, she's right, they need replanting right now.

"How did you get here?" I ask Anna as I drop to my knees and start to dig through the earth, it's warm to the touch and feels really nice in my hands, perfect for planting.

"A story for another time." I shake my head at her, I'm pretty sure that's what she said last time.

I'm not sure how long it takes me to plant the little uprooted plants. back into the ground but once I'm done the sky is dark and there is a chill in the air.

'Looks good.' I turn to see Ghost strolling towards me, she's so white against the inky darkness of the sky.

"Thanks, I think they look good like this." My voice sounds as exhausted as I feel, dropping back on my ass I look up at the sky and see there are hundreds of stars shining down on us.

'These ones smell weird.' I chuckle as Ghost snorts as she sticks her nose in a tiny sunflower just starting to grow.

"You're not supposed to stick your nose in them." I laugh loudly as Ghost starts rolling around in the grass trying to clear the pollen from her nose, it isn't until I'm wiping the tears of happiness from my eyes that I remember Anna. Turning around to the seats I see the magazine is on the chair but Anna is gone.

'She left a while ago, she said you were in the zone and not to disturb you.' I nod my head in understanding as Ghost comes over and plops herself on the ground next to me.

"Do you think I'm making a mistake letting him in?" I push myself into Ghost's fur, for some reason I feel closer to her than I ever have before. SEARCH the FINDNOVEL.NET website on GØØGLE to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

'I don't think so, he's no Jeremy that's for sure. I'll never let anyone hurt you like that again.' "We need to talk about Lisa Murray, she ran off about a week or so ago, took the two youngest with her and hasn't been seen since." I just stare daggers at Rowan as he fl*ps through his notepad, "got Sophie coming here for breakfast and set her up with the Nickels for fresh fruit. and vegetables." Rowan looks up at me as if it's only just clicked that I'm not listening to a word he's saying, sighing as he slaps the notepad on my desk and stands. "Let's do this on the field, I'll let you get two good punches in before I start to fight back.” I shake my head as he makes a sweeping motion with his hand towards the door.

“Sit down.” I growl with my jaw clenched, I’m still so mad at him, I understand why he did what he did but I can’t contain the rage I feel at him.

“No mate mark, can I assume things didn’t go to plan?” I just glare at him as he drops himself back in his chair across from me.

“What was the plan? I’d show up at the club and what exactly?” I need to understand his reasoning as to why he sent my mate off to a club with an unmated warrior.

“So the sixteen year old left on her own, that doesn’t bother you?” I can see the annoyance all over his face as he narrows his eyes at me.

“No it doesn’t!” I slam my hand on my desk causing the lamp to rattle, Rowan doesn’t even flinch as he continues to stare at me. “S hit of course I care but you send my mate off with an unmated male, what the hell were you thinking?” I’m practically shouting, I’d be surprised if the females upstairs don’t hear me.

“I was thinking you’re off your game and all you seem to be doing is worrying about Eva. I get it she’s your mate, of course you worry but as soon as that mark is in place and link established you can stop worrying all the time.” I know what he’s saying is logical and probably even right but right now I’m not exactly feeling logical.

“You’re my Beta, I have to be able to trust you.” I drop my head into my hands as I scrub against my eyes, with how late we got back last night and now this, I’m exhausted. “How can I trust you now?” I speak into my palms but he must understand my muffled voice.

“You trust me to do right by the Pack and getting you and Eva mated is what’s right by this Pack. Did it do nothing? Did I make it worse?” I shake my head as he starts to waver, I can hear the worry bleeding into his voice. Just as I’m about to answer him a knock comes to the office door.

“Come in.” I shout out as I just look at Rowan, his face has become a mask of worry as his green eyes stay on me. The soft lavender scent mixed with warm chocolate brownies has me glancing at the door as it opens, I can’t stop the smile that breaks out on my face.

“I have coffee and waffles,” Eva walks past Rowan and pops the tray on my desk.

“You made these?” I ask Eva as I lean forward to see the waffles covered in blueberries and a dusting of powdered sugar, they smell amazing.

“Sally showed me how, these were the third batch. One and two didn’t go so well,” she starts fiddling with her pale blue apron nervously as Rowan leans forward and grabs the coffee cup closest to him.

“Smells amazing Eva, thank you.” Rowan’s voice has turned sickly sweet as he praises her, I suddenly feel the need to stake my claim on the female in front of us.

“Angel, come sit and eat with me.” I don’t take my eyes off Rowan as he raises an eyebrow at me.

“There’s nowhere to sit and I still have to make breakfast for the Pack.” A growl leaves my throat as she goes to walk from the office, I manage to cover it with a small cough as I look down at my desk. “That girl you sent over is in the kitchen, once she’s eaten I was thinking she could shower? I also want to offer to do her laundry?” She sounds so uncertain that I shoot my eyes back up to her and see she’s turned red in the cheeks, “if that’s alright?” I nod my head at her as Rowan starts to beam at me.

“You’ll come back when you’re done?” It’s a question but I’m not really giving her a choice, I meant what I said last night, I want her in my bed. with me.

“If you insist.” I shoot and look at her as she closes the door, just before she disappears from view she blows a k*ss at me. It’s the most childish yet sweetest thing I’ve seen her do and I can’t help but let it melt my heart a little.

“So Eva cares about Sophie.” I grunt at Rowan as he sips his coffee.

“Shut up and eat your waffles.” I ignore his laughter as I dig into the sweet treat, it’s not the best I’ve ever tasted but I can tell she’s really tried. With time she will be cooking up a storm, if that’s what she wants of course. We eat in silence, I keep shooting looks of disgust at Rowan as he moans around his food, it’s actually pissing me off that he’s enjoying my mates food. “Sophie.” I say as I drain the last of my coffee and burp, I cover my mouth and wipe away the powdered sugar I can feel lingering at the

“Sophie, we need to keep an eye on her. I heard a rumour that Lisa has gone to Chicago, I’m looking into how accurate that is.” Rowan has picked up his notepad and started flicking through it again. “I haven’t felt the bond snap yet but if she gets brought into another Pack we will know it.”

“And she just left her pup here?” Rowan nods his head at me but he doesn’t look surprised.

“Sophie is heir to her true mate, he died about ten years ago. He challenged your father and never walked away.” I sigh as Rowan explains more of my father’s mistakes, even dead that bas t ard is causing me problems. “My guess is she left Sophie here because the pain of losing her mate was too much, she went downhill after he got killed. Started drinking and sleeping around, two more pups appeared before anyone realised how bad it had become.” It’s a story as old as time, a mate dies and the other part of the mating crumbles. For an Alpha, our wolves go insane and most of the time we have to be put down, it’s different for females, they are left with an unfillable void.

“Keep an ear out for Llsa, I don’t like that she’s abandoned her pup. And John?” I tap on my laptop to wake it up and see an email from Darryl, ignoring it for now I look over at Rowan to see him flicking through his notepad.

“Clean and sober, I suggest another week and then let him out so he can look after his family.” I nod my head in agreement, as I scan the email from Darryl, “anything interesting?" I shake my head as I scan the outline of requirements for the upcoming Moon Ceremony, Darryl has laid it all out in black and white which I appreciate. I've never been to a Moon Ceremony so I'm clueless on what's expected.

"Just Moon Ceremony stuff. I'll forward it to you so you can set some of it up." Closing the email I look back at Rowan to see him scribbling into his notepad. "fine, you're forgiven. Pull anything like that again though and I'll beat you into the floor." Rowan laughs as he looks back up at me and closes his notepad.

"It will work out, just give it time. At least she brought you breakfast." Rowan's still chuckling as he stands from his chair and leaves the office.

'So now we beat the warrior to death?' Storm is out for blood after last night but after more thinking it's not Francis's fault the situation he was put into.

I'm not killing Francis.' I tell him as I lean back in my chair and stretch my arms, he just did what he was told and it all worked out in the end.'

'So we don't get to kill the Beta or the warrior, who can we kill?' I have a few suggestions but I keep them to myself, no point in angering my already pissed off wolf. Standing from my desk I decide it's time to meet this pup I'm suddenly hearing a lot about, however, I won't disturb Eva's plans. She will be Luna soon and stuff like this will fall under her duties, I kind of like that she's already doing it without even being asked.

'The k*ss was a little much don't you think?' I chuckle as I run back up the stairs, I couldn't help my little flirtation. I woke up in a fantastic mood, I actually didn't hate joking Sally so early, I've been humming and happily baking since I got up.

"Did they enjoy the waffles?" I smile at Sally as I enter the kitchen, it seems to have gotten a little busier since I left, more Pack members are at the table eating their breakfast.

"I think I interrupted something important." I tell the older woman as I move back around the breakfast bar, I cast my eye around the kitchen but I can't see Sophie. "Did Sophie eat her breakfast?" The poor girl reminds me so much of myself, she came into the kitchen and muttered something about Beta ordering her here. Me and Sally both jumped into action and started shoving food at the skinny girl, she yawned while she was waiting and I swear I saw her ribs when her top lifted.

"Left a few minutes ago, you're welcome to go and check on her if you want?" I look over at Sally as she pulls the final tray of muffins out of the oven and smiles at me. She has this warming smile that you can't help but give back, it lights up her whole face.

"I'll go and ask Cas." I learnt my lesson yesterday and after my run in the trees, no more running off without Cas's say so.

"Ask me what?" Turning away from Sally I see Cas walking into the kitchen with an empty plate and still sipping his coffee, Rowan heads straight over to the breakfast table and starts grabbing more waffles.

"Sophie left, I wanted to go and check on her." I don't know why but I suddenly feel nervous, with him standing here in the kitchen smiling at me I can't help but remember all the whispered words from last night.

“Alright, I’ll come with you, I want to see this house for myself.” He looks over at Rowan as he puts his cup and dish on the side, “you staying here?” Rowan’s mouth is full so he just nods his head and keeps shoving more food in.

“Be careful you don’t choke, can’t have you dying on my waffles.” I take my apron off as I walk around the kitchen island to meet Cas at the door. I don’t even think twice as I take his outstretched hand.

“You seem happy,” I smile at Cas as we walk along the street. I don’t know why he’s surprised, unless last night wasn’t as good for him as it was for me. “What just happened?” Cas lets go of my hand forcing me to stop moving, he places a hand on either side of my head and just stares at me intently.

“Nothing, it’s nothing.” I try to pull my head from his grip as he holds onto me a little tighter before leaning in to claim my l*ps. My eyes close on their own accord as he slants his mouth over mine, I don’t want for his teasing tongue instead I go straight in and deepen the k*ss. Moaning into his mouth I start to really get into it just as he pulls back, opening my eyes I see his warm chocolate eyes gazing down at me.

“That’s better, now tell me what just went through your head.” I bite my l*p as his tone leaves no room for me to lie, he will get the truth from me one way or another.

“You know that’s playing d*rtly right? You can’t just k*ss me to make me do what you want.” I pout at him and he just chuckles before letting go of my head and retaking my hand, “I was wondering if last night was as good for you as it was for me.” I can’t help how small my voice comes out, I guess we all have our insecurities and this is my big one.

“The only thing I would change was you being there with Francis, otherwise, it was perfect.” His voice drops to a sultry seductive tone as he lifts my hand up to his mouth and places a k*ss on it, “this is the Murray house.”

The smile that was on my face falls as we stop in front of a really run down house, there is no way you could call this place a home. The grass is patchy and light brown from not being taken care of, the bushes along the fence are wilted and drooping. The house itself is a mess as well, the paint is peeling from the doors and wooden structure, it also looks like someone has used old newspaper to block the windows.

"I'd hate to see the inside." I mutter as Cas opens the brown gate, he holds it open for me and I walk down the overrun garden path. "She really living here on her own?" I ask Cas as we both head for the door.

"Rowan said Lisa ran off with her two younger pups about a week or so ago. So I guess she's just been hiding away, she should have come to me." I can hear the annoyance in his voice as he reaches out a big hand and knocks on the door. We don't wait long before the skinny red haired girl from breakfast opens the door, she doesn't open it fully, almost like she's trying to hide the inside from view. However, just the door opening has given me an idea of the state of the house, the smell. of dust and grime is lingering in the air.

"Sophic, you ran off and we were worried." I poke my head out from behind Cas and smile at the teenager, she doesn't smile back, she seems too focused on Cas.

"I'm sorry Alpha, I didn't mean to leave without paying my way. I cant come back and do my chores." Panic is written all over her face, clearly she thinks we are here to punish her.

"You're not in trouble, can me and Eva come in?" Although Cas is asking a question his tone is firm enough to make it sound like an order, clearly he hasn't spent much time around scared teenagers. I'm only a few years older than Sophie so I think that's why she looks at me and opens the door fully when I nod my head.

"I'm sorry about the mess," her embarrassment is clear as her pale skin grows red. I understand why she's embarrassed when I see the lounge, she's obviously tried to clean up but it looks like the place could use a good dust and vacuum. Not to mention someone seriously needs to clean out the tobacco smell which seems to have soaked into the walls.

"Don't worry, I've seen worse." I tell her as she leads me further into the lounge, I look back to see Cas standing in the doorway looking around the room with a look of disgust.

"Where is your mother's room Sophie?" Clearly used to her Alpha asking for things Sophie doesn't hesitate at point to the stairs.

"Second door on the left, momma doesn't like anyone in there though." Cas just nods his head as he closes the front door and jogs up the stairs. Alone with Sophie I spin in a circle and try to think of a place to start, cleaning this place up is not going to be a one afternoon job.

“How about I help you get some cleaning up done and you can tell me about living in a Pack, it’s all so new to me.” I try to make it sound like she will be doing me a favour rather than accepting charity, she might not be homeless but she has that vibe about her.

“I can do that, we have some cleaning stuff in the kitchen but momma always said not to touch it.” I follow Sophie to a surprisingly clean kitchen, sure the trash is overflowing and the floor needs a good clean but the dishes have been done and the surfaces are kind of clean. She’s obviously been trying to clean the home but at sixteen she’s just become overwhelmed.

“These are perfect,” I say triumphantly, spotting the black bags in the cupboard, I grab them and wave them at Sophie, “let’s start with these.”

The whole time we walk around the lounge talking and piling old papers and magazines into the black bag I can hear Cas rummaging around upstairs.

“You going to be alright if I go and check on Cas?” Sophie just nods as she dives back under the sofa looking for more papers. I pop the black sack on the chair and jog up the stairs. Up here is just as dirty and gross as downstairs, I try not to touch anything as I follow the sound of Cas closing and opening drawers. Walking into the bedroom, the first thing I notice is the stripped double bed and the pile of white baggies upon it.

“Don’t touch them Angel.” I look over at Cas as he pulls two more out of a chest of drawers.

“Drugs?” I ask him, I try to get a closer look but he pulls me back, I’m not sure what he thinks will happen if I get close to them.

“Yeah, Rowan is on his way over now. Seems Lisa might be a user, it could explain her running off.” I just look down at the stash as Cas goes quiet, I assume he’s contacting Rowan.

“Why would she leave it all here? If she was using it then she would have used it or taken it with her right?” I don’t know much about addiction but I can’t see a drug addict leaving twelve little baggies behind.

“This has gone too far.” The rage that keeps threatening to bubble over is back at the surface, I don’t know why I’m so da mn angry all the time lately. “You done fondling them?” I snap at Rowan, he arches hist eyebrows at me and drops the little baggy back onto the bare bed. At some point someone has come in and stripped all the linen and taken it away, either that or there was never on the bed to begin with.

“I’ll ask around, see if we know anyone who can test this but I would put money on this being the same sh it John was on.” I run my hands. through my hair as Rowan turns over each of the little bags of white powder, I’ve seen enough drugs on my travels to know that this is cocaine, maybe even a blend with something else. Selena told me John was on a mix of drugs, maybe they are cutting it all together and mixing it, it would certainly explain why shifters are getting high off it.

“I want this shi t off Pack land, Sophie can’t stay here. Goddess knows how much more is stashed in this house.” Rowan nods his head at me as he scoops up all of the baggies I’ve found so far, they were stashed all over the bedroom. At first I was looking for a clue as to where LIsa might have gone but when I found the first bag I started ripping the room apart. Nowhere in this room has been safe from my eyes, I found some in her pantie drawer, in with her tops and even behind the frame of a photograph of her mate.

“I’ll get the warriors in to strip the rest of the house.” I shake my head. as Rowan pulls out his ever present notepad, “no? Who then?”

“You and Heath, I don’t want the warriors in on this. After John I can’t be sure who is doing the drugs or even dealing. He said someone was getting it to him in the cells, which means someone in this Pack is dealing or at least delivering.” I knew I was going to have problems. with trust but I didn’t think it was going to come with drugs, dealers and possible S*x trafficking. “What’s my mother been up to lately? And Vince?” is suspicious to me that Vince has just slunk off into the background, everything I know about that man says he would do the opposite. He left far too easy and my mother only seems to pop up now and again. Search The Find novel.net website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Not sure, your mother is out or in her room more often than not and Vince is bouncing from sofa to sofa. He doesn’t have a permanent home yet.” Rowan scribbles something on his notepad and then looks. up at me, “want me to look into them? Get more information?” I nod my head before turning back to the newspaper covered window. I don’t know how long I stare at nothing but when I turn back around Rowan is gone and so know how are the little baggies. My rage is still simmering so I roar and slam my fist through the d*rty glass, it does nothing to soothe me so I run from the room, down the stairs and out into the garden.

“Cas?” I barely register Eva’s shocked voice as I feel Storm push forward and take over, my clothes split around my b*dy as I land on four paws and take off running into the trees. “Storm, where are you going?” I feel Storm’s reluctance to leave our mate behind but I urge him to run faster and harder, I have the need to pound my fists into something or someone, at least running I can keep from harming someone.

‘She’s following us.’ I shrug my shoulders at Storm, I can feel Ghost near us but Storm is faster than her and soon we are pushing ahead and her presence grows less and less.

‘Where are you taking us?’ I ask Storm after a while, we have long since left the border behind, yet he keeps going like the devil himself is chasing us down.

'You need to let this anger out so I'm taking you somewhere you can do that without hurting the Pack.' I grunt at Storm as he leaps over a small stream and keeps dashing around trees, 'this guy has it coming anyway, seeing our mate n*ked and putting her in our clothes.' I understand where Storm is taking me just a few minutes before Eric's scent hits me. Storm doesn't hunt or pretend to hide once we reach his cabin, instead he instantly jumps out onto the grassy area and starts to growl at the man standing on the wooden porch.

"Wondered when you would come growling by." Eric sips from his bottle of beer as he leans over the porch railing, "you going to stay like that or we going to talk about this like men?" Storm growls louder as he starts slowly walking towards the man I want to destroy, "you need to mate that Omega, it might calm down some of that temper of yours. If you insist we can do this but it won't change anything, I'll still have seen those pale pins she calls legs." That has my anger boiling over and Storm leaps just as Eric drops his beer bottle and leaps over the railing, we run at each other until we collide, we become a blur of black and slate grey as we both start to bite and claw at every available surface.

"Cas, Storm, stop it!" I can barely hear Eva over the sound of Storm snarling as he tries to get to Eric's n*eck, he's a strong fighter though, equally matched we are more just shoving at each other than actually inflicting any wounds.

"Eva, don't. If you try to get between them you will get hurt." The sound of Rowan's voice and Eva's screaming has Storm pushing Eric to the floor and moving backwards. Between Eva's howling and my own anger it takes me a solid two or three minutes to get Storm under control enough for me to pull him back, Eric shifts at the same time I do.

“Get her out of here!” I scream at Rowan without taking my eyes off Eric, he’s just as angry as I am now. I watch as his eyes shoot behind me, he shakes his head before walking backwards, he doesn’t turn his back to me which is probably a smart idea. “I’m not done with you yet.”

“Oh we are done, the next time you come here you better be prepared to kill me because I will kill you.” I take a step towards Rowan as a tiny hand wraps around my big one, it feels almost cold compared to my flushed skin. “Do you and your Pack a favour and mate her before your anger gets the better of you, you’re looking a bit rabid Alpha.” I feel two more sets of hands on me as I start to move towards him, Rowan is in front of me blocking Eric from my view and his hands are on my chest. Heath is behind me with his hands wrapped around my neck, both are using all their strength to keep me in place.

“Cas please, stop. You don’t kill people, this isn’t who you are.” Eva’s voice is tiny and I can hear the worry in her words, I snap my head round to her, I can feel Storm pushing at me again.

“You have no idea who we are.” My voice comes out on a snarl as Storm bursts through and pushes everyone off me.

“Don’t just stand there, follow him. Make sure he doesn’t hurt anyone!” Eva’s panicked voice actually makes me feel proud for a second, she’s ordering my Beta and Head Warrior around like she was born to it.

I feel both of them follow Storm as he breaks back through the trees, he runs for hours before he starts to slow. The anger is giving way to a burning in my muscles, Storm can run for a long time but it seems we have both finally run out of energy.

“Are you done?” Storm looks over at Rowan who is standing a few feet from us, next to him is Heath’s shaggy brown wolf, laying in the leaves. I pull Storm back, it takes a while but soon I am panting on the forest floor.

“You’ve run into the national forest, how do you feel?” Rowan sounds like he’s talking to a wounded animal, in a sense I guess he is. Not able to explain how I feel I just shake my head and drop back to the floor, “how long has this anger been going on?”

“A few days, maybe a week. Started when I saw how few were coming to the Pack house for breakfast and it’s been building from there.” My voice is slurred and very unlike my own. I feel drained of every possible emotion and thought.

“So you figured you would pick a fight with the only wolf strong enough to issue a challenge? At what point did you think that would end well?” Rowan sounds more pissed off than I have ever heard him, “you are meant to look after this Pack and instead you try to throw it under a bus.

“I know.” It’s a shitty response but I don’t know what else to say.

“Get up and dust yourself off Alpha, you have a mate to mark.” I look over at Rowan, even completely n*ked he still manages to gain control of the situation. “Eric was right about one thing, you need to mate Eva before your wolf totally turns on you. The anger has nothing to do with you, it’s Storm, he wants his mate and you need to give him what he needs.” Rowan walks away and shifts back into his wolf before I have even pulled myself off the floor, Heath’s wolf just sits and watches me with his yellow eyes as I struggle to bring Storm back out. It’s the first time in a long time that I’ve actually struggled to grasp onto my wolf but eventually I find him, hiding in the corner of my mind. Soon we are running back to the Pack as a group, back to Eva, back to claim. what is mine.

“You can’t just ignore me, I’m here and I’m not leaving until you tell me what just happened!” I pound on Eric’s door for the third time, Rowan and Heath went chasing after Storm but not before Rowan warned me to stay here. He said I didn’t need to see what was about to happen, I can’t say I understand any of it anyway.

“You need to go back to your Pack, why did your Beta leave you here anyway?” Eric opens the door in a pair of basketball shorts, he has some blood running down the side of his face which tells me Storm got at least one good hit in.

“I guess he figured I was safe here, want me to look at that?” Eric just shrugs and opens the door further before walking back into his cabin, it’s nothing much. Just one room with a bed tucked into the corner and a fridge, an oven and small table with two chairs. Eric walks into another door and comes back out a second later with a small first aid bag, he drops it onto the little table and sits in one of the chairs.

“Afterwards you can leave.” His tone is curt and leaves no room for argument so I quickly walk over to the table and start to pull out antiseptic wipes and steri-strips, the wound is just on his hairline and not that big.

“Why did he attack you?” I ask him as I place the wipe against his skin. and start cleaning the blood, he doesn’t hiss or make a single motion to

“That can’t be all there is, he’s had a dislike for you ever since you came to town. I’ve seen it.” With the blood gone I apply the strips just like I’ve seen Selena do, I’m sure she would do it better but I’m certain. it will hold it close while it heals. “Done.” I tell him as I walk over to the small sink and wash my hands.

“I killed my twin brother, Beta and Head Warrior. “I gasp as I turn from the sink, he’s speaking so quietly I’m sure I misheard him, “I’m sure Cas and his Beta know all about it by now. I left England with blood on my hands and now he knows he has a murderous Alpha in his backyard." Eric looks up at me, his face is set in stone, his voice has all monotone like he's detached himself from what he's saying.

"You must have had a reason, you don't just kill the people closest to you for no reason." I don't know why I'm trying to help him justify murder but Eric doesn't strike me as a violent person, I know violent men and Eric isn't one of them/

"I had a reason but it still isn't justified. The Elders let me go as long as I came back to America, I'm banished from England. I'm actually supposed to be back in Texas but I'm not going there either." I sit down at the table as Eric gets up and walks to the fridge, he comes back with two beers, holding one out to me I shake my head and he just puts it on the table. "He fucked my mate, my brother, caught them in the act. My wolf lost control and I killed him while he was still inside of her, how I didn't kill her I don't know." His voice has taken on a kind of pain I don't think I've ever experienced, "afterwards I found out she had been with my Beta and my Head Warrior knew about it. The pup she was carrying was my Beta's, I killed them both before running."

"Cas asked me why my wolf wasn't rabid, you know what happens when an Alpha loses their mate?" I nod my head, "I think it's because we chose to leave her, I rejected her and the pup before running, the Elder's caught up to me before I managed to get on a plane." Leaning across the table I place my hand on top of his, it's a comforting gesture and one I hope helps soothe some of his pain. It makes sense now, Eric isn't a bastard because of who he is, it's because of what they made him do. I can't imagine an Alpha kills his most prominent Pack Members without feeling some kind of pain deep instead.

"I get it, your anger got the better of you." Eric just smirks at me before lifting the bottle to his lips and downing it.

"Your Alpha is angry because his mate is so close but you aren't connected, his wolf is feeling the loss. That out there," Eric points out of the window, "that was him looking for someone to beat up without harming his Pack."

"I'm not enough for him." I speak to the table as I drop my head, it's something that has been rolling around my head ever since I found out Cas and I were fated mates.

"You're perfect for him, that's why you're fated. My Luna was a chosen mate, chances are my fated mate is gone or was never out there to begin with." I look up at Eric to see the anger from his face has gone and instead there is a far off look in his eyes.

"You all have this romantic notion about mates, how do you know? Maybe it's all just a lie, people get lied to everyday." Eric smiles at me. before putting his bottle down and walking over to his bed. It takes him a minute but soon he's walking back to me with a brown folder, he drops it in front of me before sitting back down.

"Open it." I fl*p the first page and gasp when I see my picture. "This is everything the Elders have on you and The Shalamayne. I was to go to Texas and find out why The Shalamayne have settled there. The Elders think they are working with the Pack based there but instead I came here. I had to see what happened to the girl who escaped." I flick through the folder and see a very detailed description of me and my time on the streets of Seattle, there is also mention of Jeremy, some of the pictures after meeting Jeremy show the abuse I endured while under his control. "They knew about Jeremy, they have him under surveillance for something else. Right now they are more concerned with The Shalamayne and how they are linking themselves to Packs. once they took shifters every now and again but since Swiftmane they have moved on up."

"What does any of this have to do with me mating with Cas?" While good to know The Shalamayne are far from me it's a little concerning to know the Elders have so much information on me, especially when they are already investigating me.

"You know what a lie is, what you feel for Cas, does it feel the same? Does it feel like how you grew up?" Eric leans over the table and points at the photograph of me and Jeremy walking down the street. "does it feel like him?"

"No, Cas is nothing like Jeremy. Cas is kind, thoughtful and he's been like that ever since I met him at The Swiftmane Pack. Even behind bars I knew there was something about him I could trust, it was like this feeling deep down in my gut." Eric nods his head with a small smile on his face

"Even without your wolf you knew he was someone you could trust and I'm guessing now you've spent more time with him it's more than that "I close the file and look up at Eric, his face is a mix between sadness and relief, I guess he thought I was going to get mad at the file. he wasn't exactly in a position to say no to the Elders.

"I crave him, even when I don't like him I still crave him, something about him calms me. When he holds me his heart beat makes me feel safe. his touch makes me calm, it's hard to explain." Eric nods his head. as if he understands what I'm saying but if he's never had a mate how could he know that's what this is.

"And soon you will find things you love about him and from there your relationship will only grow stronger. The mating mark will just strengthen what is already there, if it's not meant to be your Omega side will reject it." Standing from the table, I head for the door, I've made my mind up and sitting here with Eric is not going to change it.

"Take me back to Everfur please. I need to get home." It's the first time I've referred to Everfur as my home but that's what it is, it's my home, it's where my mate is and it's where I belong.

Eric drives me back in silence, his truck rumbles along the empty road, he drives the long way around so we don't have to drive through Midsey. He doesn't even ask, he just does it automatically like he knows I would not want to go back there. I know when we he have reached the Pack border because Rowan is standing in the middle of the road wearing a pair of jeans and blue t-shirt, his arms are crossed over his muscled chest, he doesn't even flinch as the truck rolls to a stop just inches from him.

"Thanks Eric, really, thank you." Eric just nods his head as I jump from the truck, he doesn't wait after I have closed the door, he just puts the truck in reverse and disappears down the road.

"Is he back?" I ask Rowan as soon as Eric's truck is gone.

I hear the shouting just before I see the Pack house, looking back at Rowan I can tell he's heard it too. Together we start running towards the noise, it sounds like a woman is shouting just outside of the Pack house or somewhere nearby.

"What do you mean I can't see him? What has that rogue done now!" I round the corner to see Cas's mother standing in the driveway, she's wearing some tiny denim booty shorts and bikini top, her hair piled onto her head in a messy bun. She is waving her hands around while pacing in front of Heath and an older man I've not met before.

"What the hell is going on?" Rowan storms past me and up to Cas's mother without giving me a second glance. Sadly that causes her to look back and she spots me instantly,

"You, you've done something to my boy." I back away as she starts walking towards me with her finger outstretched.

"Will someone tell me what's going on? Who hurt you?" I keep my eyes on Cas's mother as Rowan blocks her path so she can't reach me, I look her up and down but don't see any injuries.

“Alpha got a little pissed when his mother and Vince decided to drop by, he pushed me a little harder than intended and I fell, it’s nothing.” I look around Rowan and Cas’s mother to see the older man, who I assume is Vince, standing next to Heath. Heath has a ga sh down his arm that is steadily dripping blood onto the white porch.

“Where is he?” Rowan grab Cas’s mother by the tops of her arms, “as Beta I command you not to harm your Alpha’s mate. Do you understand me?” I feel something wrap around me, I’m not sure what it- is but I have the sudden need to drop to my knees.

‘We don’t bow to Beta’s, get to Cas, Storm is in pain.’ I nod at Ghost ast I shrug off the weird presence that has come over me.

“He left, went to the cell block. He told me to stay away,” I don’t wait to see what else Heath has to say or see what Rowan is doing to Cas’s mother. I just set off around the house towards the cell block, I can’t imagine he’s off doing Alpha duties after harming his Head Warrior.

Pushing into the cell block I ignore the warrior who tries to stop me, I have this need to get to Cas that I think isn’t totally Ghost. I scrunch my nose up against the stale smell of sweat, blood and urine, I remember the way to Cas’s old cell so I head there. I don’t stop as I pass the cell holding John, I do notice he looks much better than he did before.

“He’s down there Luna.” I don’t correct him, I’m not the Luna but right now it’s not what matters. The closer I get to Cas’s childhood cell the slower my steps are, I’m swarmed with this overwhelming anger, rage and outright sadness. I can feel it pushing on my back as I try to get closer to Cas, I start gasping for breath as Ghost lets out a deathly harrowing howl.

“Cas, are you doing this?” My voice comes out really low as I try to get closer to the cell, I can see him standing behind the closed door but he has his back to me.

the cell door but I can't go any further, dropping to the floor I start to sob with the pain that is overwhelming me. This must be what Cas is feeling, all the time and it's because of me, because I haven't mated him.

"You can't help, I don't want you here, I don't need you here, get out!" His voice roars as he turns and hits the cell bars, I can see the anger on his face and the yellow tinge to his eyes. He's not Cas right now but he's not Storm either, he's somewhere in between, lost and broken.

"I get it, you think if you stay in there you can stop yourself from hurting people but you hurting me, right now you are causing me pain." Cas just sneers as I sob out in pain, I can feel everything weighing me down like a hand on my head pushing me to the floor. "I get it, being close to you is enough for me but it's not for you. Having me close but not connected it's torturing you and Storm, I understand now." I don't mention Eric, Ghost is whispering to me telling me what to say and she's also telling me that mentioning another Alpha is a very bad idea. "I need you to hold me up, be my strength when I can't be strong enough for myself but you need those things too. Just because. you are an Alpha doesn't mean you can do these things alone, please Cas. I can be that for you," Cas pushes his face into the bars, trying to get closer to me, the sneer on his face is actually frightening but I don't recoil. I stay sitting on my spot just out of arm's reach as I watch the pain wash over his face.

"So now you are ready to spread those legs and let me in? What if I don't want you now? Ever thought of that, maybe I've had enough of waiting and this is who I am." I shake my head at him as I force myself off the floor, "you come any closer and I might hurt you." I ignore his warning and slowly make my way towards the cell doors.

"You won't hurt me," even though he's not himself right now I know he won't physically hurt me. His words have cut me deep but I know it's not him talking, it's his wolf taking over and changing. "You won't hurt me.” I say again when I get closer enough to reach a hand through the cell bars, I place it palm down over his heart, it’s beating wildly but it’s still the heart I’ve come to know brings me comfort and safety. “I’m sorry Cas, I wasn’t ready but I am now. I need you and you need me but to claim me you need to come out.” I plead with him as he tries to turn away from me, I grab his shirt in my hand to hold him in place.

“Leave.” I shake my head as he grabs my wrist, his voice is pleading but I refuse to listen, “I can’t not like this. You don’t want it, you just want to stop my pain.”

“Da mn right I want to stop your pain, I want to stop mine too. I’m ready. for a home, somewhere to call my own, someone to call my own, I might not know what the hell I’m doing or why I’m doing it but I crave you with everything I have.” I look him dead in the eye as tears start to roll down my face, I don’t think I’ve ever been this honest with myself let alone anyone else. “You will protect me forever and I’ll protect your too. We will be a team, me and you.”

“I need to calm down before I can,” he leaves his sentence unfinished as he pulls my hand off his t-shirt and walks over to his small bed, “I’ll hurt you like this.” I just nod my head in understanding, I don’t think Cas will ever be able to hurt me but he clearly thinks he can.

“That’s alright, we can just stay like this.” I slide to the floor and put my back against the cell door. I can understand needing time but that doesn’t mean he has to do it alone.

“Eva, wake up, Eva.” I blink my eyes open, I groan as I lift my head to whoever just woke me up, my n*eck has this awful pain in it. Selena ist standing next to me holding a blanket and a little picnic basket. “Rowan sent me in with these, he said for now it’s best if the males stay away.” I nod my head as I stand from the floor, I don’t know how on earth I fell asleep in this place and with a rabid Alpha next to me.

“You don’t have to do that.” I tell her as I take the blanket and basket from her, she doesn’t listen, she just walks off towards the other cells.

“I told her to, if you insist on being in here you’re not sleeping on the da mn floor.” I turn around to see Cas laid on the floor of his cell, he looks calmer but I can still feel the anger floating in the air, his muscles are still tense as well.

“You could just come out then we can go into that big bed.” My attempt at enticement falls flat as he just rolls onto his side to face the wall, sighing, I turn away from him in time to see Selena dragging a bed along the floor. It’s making a horrible screeching noise but it’s soon over when she stops just in front of the cell.

“It’s not much but at least it’s not the floor, you sure you want to stay in here?” I nod my head at her as I drop the blanket and basket onto the small bed.

“I can help him, I just need time.” Selena looks past me and into the cell, she has a worried look on her face, “Rowan and Heath can look after stuff while he’s in here right?”

“Yeah of course, you just focus on Cas.” Selena grips my shoulder. before turning and leaving the cell, she seems to almost run and I wonder if it’s because she too can sense the Alpha’s emotions in the air.

“Come on, a growing Alpha like you needs all his veggies, get them caten.” I glance up at Sally as she pushed my plate back towards me, she’s such a kind lady, not like my mother. She always makes me my meals, makes sure my clothes are clean and that my bed has clean. sheets. She even helps make me feel better when my father hurts me, sometimes it doesn’t work but I like it when she tries. I smile at her kind face as I start forking the leeks and cabbage into my mouth.

“Where is he?” I drop my fork and try to jump down from the chair at the breakfast bar.

“Don’t, run and it will be worse.” Sally’s voice is low so father won’t hear her, I know she’s right, running never works and it always leads to further punishment.

“There you are, eating as usual, you realise how much you cost me a month?” My father comes into the kitchen waving his hands about, his dark hair is greasy and in need of a good clean. His beer belly is stretching his shirt out so much it looks like it might actually burst open, his green eyes, so unlike mine are blazing with fury.

“I’m sorry Alpha.” I cast my eyes down to the floor, I’m not allowed to call him father or allowed to look at him. I think he would rather I not be here at all but my mother insists that I stay, I don’t know why she cares.

“Come with me, now.” I don’t look at Sally as I jump down from the breakfast bar and leave my plate of half eaten food. I keep my eyes on the floor as I follow my fathers heavy footsteps, he leads me to the office. his office, it’s where he always punishes me. Going in here I know I’m about to endure some kind of pain, I don’t know what I did to make him angry this time or even if it was me but I know I’m about to be punished as he closes the heavy wooden door.

“I was at a meeting today, you know what the meeting was about?” I shake my head no as I kneel on the floor in front of his desk, I’m not allowed to sit in the comfortable chairs. My father moves over to his desk and pulls open the bottom drawer. I know it’s the bottom one without even looking up, it’s where he keeps his whip and belt.

“No. Alpha.” Everything inside of me wants to scream and shout but I keep my voice low and appeaseable. It won’t stop the punishment but it might make it not last as long.

“They want me to make plans for when you take over, they actually think that you are going to be Alpha of this Pack. Will you be, Alpha boy?” I shake my head no, “take your shirt off, I’m not buying another one.” I start to pull my t-shirt over my head, it’s not that the Pack doesn’t have money it’s just that he doesn’t want to spend it.

I try to brace myself as I hear the whip sail through the air, no matter how tight I hold myself I always fall forward when the whip lands. It slices through my skin, I can feel the blood running down my back as he does this five more times. I'm gasping in pain by the time he grabs me by the scruff of my n*eck and drags me over to the cupboard. I have no fight left in me to protest as he shoves me inside.

"You will never be Alpha, I'll kill you myself before you take over from me." I cringe as he spits at me and slams the door closed. It's only once. I am alone in the dark that I let my tears fall, alone and afraid I cry until there is nothing left. One day I'll get out of here, one day I'll be strong and I'll be able to fight back, I just wish that day would come soon.

"Cas?" A soft knock comes from the other side of the door, I know the voice but I can't place it, it sounds like some kind of Angel. I'm not sure how long I've been inside the punishment cupboard, maybe I've fallen asleep and I'm dreaming. Maybe he actually did it this time and killed me, maybe I am speaking to an Angel.

"Hello?" My voice sounds small and so far away.

"I'm here Cas but I can't open the door. Did he do this often?" I nod at the voice before I remember she can't see me.

"Yes, this is my punishment." I hear scratching on the door as if the Angel is trying to claw her way inside.

"How old are you?" What a strange question to ask, surely an Angel knows how old I am.

"I'm nine, don't you already know Angel?" I hear chuckling and then more scraping. I'd move closer to the door but I can't even turn around in here it's so small.

"Still with that silly nickname, I'm no Angel, Cas. Hang on, think I've got it." A loud bang fills the cupboard as the door flies open, the light behind the Angel is so blinding I have to hold up my hand to block my eyes. After a minute or so I see the dark Angel is holding a hand haired out to me, offering me help, slowly I reach out towards her. I push as she pulls and I fall from the cupboard landing on top of her.

"I know your face." I tell her as I push up off of her b*dy, my arms that were tiny only a second ago are now long and muscled. I can feel the strength of my b*dy as I lift myself up and hold a hand out to her, by the time she's standing I am towering over her.

"Now that's the Cas I know." Eva beams up at me with her shining blue eyes. looking around the room I notice we are in my father's office but it looks dusty and musty from not being used.

"I don't understand. I was just in here." Eva takes my big hand in her tiny one. looking down I notice how pale her skin is compared to my slightly tanned arm.

"You were dreaming. I could feel your pain so I guess I pulled myself in. Don't ask me how, I keep getting told it's a story for another time. Come on, I want to show you something." I follow Eva as she pulls me from the old office. I'm not sorry to be leaving. I hate this room and always have. I don't understand how Eva has made it into my nightmare but I'm glad she's here. she seems to have chased the nightmare of my father away. Normally he stays with me until I am on the floor in a puddle of blood, it always ends the same way, with me trapped and unable to breath in that tiny cupboard.

Eva takes me through the kitchen and out into the garden, the sun is beating down on the grass, in the distance I can see a bundle of slate. grey and white fur.

"Ghost is talking with Storm, he's quite upset. Maybe let them be for a little bit?" I nod my head as I stare at the two wolves, laying on the floor they are wrapped around each other, it almost reminds me of a yin and yang pattern.

"Why are we out here?" I ask Eva in confusion, I have no idea what's happening or why it's happening.

"I need to plant these, I tried to plant some before but they died. I think if you help me they might take to the soil." She points down to a flower bed that isn't actually in our Pack house garden, the soil has been. overturned and the plants lay on the grass beside it.

"I'm not a gardener." I kneel down on the grass and pick up one of the lavender plants, it smells amazing and reminds me of Eva. "You smell like these, I always think of lavender when I smell you." Eva chuckles. as she kneels next to me, picking up a small shovel she starts to dig at the earth.

“What did you do this time? I know he did it often but what was the punishment for in this nightmare?” Eva holds out her small hand for the plant and I pass it to her, I think back to the nightmare and what happened.

“He had a meeting, it’s one all Alpha’s have when they have a male heir. It’s one that sets out the guidelines for when the son will take over, he never wanted me to take over.” I turn to look over at Storm and Ghost, she seems to be licking the side of his face, almost like she’s grooming him, it’s a personal thing to allow another wolf to groom you.

“Will you be like that, if we have a son?” I look back at Eva as she casually asks the question.

“No, I’ll guide him, teach him how to do better and learn from my mistakes. When it’s time I’ll send him off to another Pack to learn from another Alpha, the way it should be.” I shock myself with my answer, no one has ever asked me how I would be with my own son but I know deep down inside of me that I will never be like my own father.

“Of course for us to make a son you will have to leave that cell.” Her words startle me and I stand up so quickly that I am pushed from the garden. search the Find novel.net website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Opening my eyes I see Eva asleep on a small cot just outside of the cell bars, she looks peaceful in sleep and now I know why. She’s in a sunny garden, planting flowers and planning our future, standing from the floor I stretch before pulling the key from my pocket and opening the cell door.

The sensation of movement has me cracking my eyes open, the sky is dark and I can see the stars above me, Cas is carrying me across the Pack garden snuggling deeper into his arms I close my eyes again.

“Has that happened before?” His voice vibrates through his chest, his low timber soothing me into calm.

“The dream?” My voice sounds as tired as I feel, I don’t feel like I’ve slept at all, getting into Cas’s dream was harder than I thought it would be. “Anna has visited me but she didn’t tell me how she did it. When you started dreaming I fell asleep wishing I could help you, next thing I was watching you at nine years old.” Cas adjusts me in his arms and I hear a door being opened and then closed, “I’m sorry, I honestly don’t know how I did it.”

“Have you done it before though?” I crinkle my brows in confusion, I’m pretty sure I just explained everything to him. “Done it with another male?”

“Just you.” I place my hand over his heart as I feel us descending the stairs to his room, I swear I feel his puff out a little as he carries on down the stairs.

“Do you understand how this works?” His question has me opening my eyes, I’ve never heard Cas nervous before but he most certainly is now.

“You bite me and I bite you, Selena says it will connect us.” A small white lie to soothe his rage, maybe one day I’ll tell him it was actually

Eric who explained things to me.

Cas shakes his head as he drops me on the bed, he pulls his t-shirt over his head dropping it onto the floor.

“Not quite. I could just bite you but that’s not how you and I will be connected, the link will be fractured until we join together.” My palms go sweaty as I watch him toe off his boots and undo the button to his jeans.

“I told you I’m not good at this, what if you don’t like it? What if I’m a disappointment?” It’s my heart’s turn to start beating a drum as I watch Cas undo his zip, it draws my eyes to this muscled v-shape he has. leading into his pants. I have the sudden need to lick it and see where it leads me.

“Nothing about you could disappoint me Angel, you’ll tell me if I do something you don’t like?” Still unsure, I close my eyes and take a deep breath, “I think I’ll start with something I know you enjoy.” I feel the bed dip a split second before his warm hand starts pulling at my leggings, “join in anytime Angel.” Taking the hint I lift my hips slightly so he can pull the leggings over my ass and down my legs. He must have taken my panties with them because I can feel his breath on my naked thighs and along my wet slit, opening my eyes. I look down to see him just staring at my centre with a hungry look on his face.

With a wink he flattens himself on the bed, grabs my thighs in either hand and pulls me onto his mouth. I can’t stop the gasp that leaves my mouth or the way my hands latch onto the comforter, he attacks me with a hunger I’ve never experienced before. He was right, I do like this, I loved it in the club and I’m loving it now. The way he zeroes in on my clit and then dives into my centre has my back bowing off the bed, he might be feasting on me but he’s in no rush. Looking down my body I see his eyes are on me, his chocolate orbs look almost black from his blown pupils, he’s enjoying this as much as I am.

“There, don’t stop.” I slam a hand on his head to keep him from moving from my clit, I can feel it throbbing in his mouth as he does some kind of sucking motion. My hips start to grind against his face of their own accord as I feel a finger slide into me, he crooks it once and I explode. around him. Gripping his hair I give him no choice but stay between my legs as I ride out my orgasm, I’m panting for breath and feel hot all over. My thighs have tensed and I’m surprised I haven’t crushed his head, eventually I start to ache as he keeps attacking my clit, I push gently on his head and he leans up showing me his wet lips and chin.

“I could have you for breakfast, lunch and dinner,” he licks his lips in an obscene way before placing a kiss on my thigh, “I think I might own this pussy now, all mine.” I feel his growl vibrate up my body as I nod my head in agreement, each time he’s pushed me over the edge has been better than the last so I can’t disagree with him. “Show me those breasts.” He keeps his eyes on me as he keeps kissing up and down my thighs and across the top of my mound, I jump a little when I feel his finger swirl in my wetness. Leaning up I pull my t-shirt over my head, thankfully I’m wearing a simple bralette and I’m able to pull it off with the top. Laying back on the bed I’m fully open to his appreciating gaze, I feel my body flush as he just looks his fill, I start to squirm as his finger delves deeper into me. I think he’s using more fingers this time. because he’s filling me more than he has before.

“Cas.” His name leaves my lips like I’m begging for something but I don’t know what.

“All in good time Angel, I’m not a small man. Need to open you up so I don’t hurt you.” His voice has dropped lower than I have ever heard it as he starts k*ssing across my flat stomach, “so tight and warm, I can’t wait to be inside of you.” I lean my head back as he adds another finger, he keeps hitting this spot inside of me that sets little fireworks off inside of my b*dy.

“Please,” I’ve never felt this needy, never needed someone so badly as I do with him right now.

Cas smirks at me as he withdraws his fingers, sucking them into his mouth he closes his eyes as he enjoys my taste. I start to feel a little embarrassed, I can feel myself blush as he opens his eyes and pushes his jeans down with one hand. My eyes widen when I see him in all his glory, I’ve seen it after a shift but seeing it like this and knowing it’s going inside of me makes him seem impossibly large.

“You wont fit.” I whisper as he strokes himself twice before placing a hand on the side of my head and starts k*ssing up my stomach. Search the website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“I’ll fit, you’ll love it Angel.” I throw my hands back into his hair as he latches onto my left breast, he has one hand on the side of my head and another holding his co ck at my entrance. I can feel him swirling the head in my wetness, my hips start to thrust up to him without me giving them permission to do so. Unable to take his torture anymore I pull on his hair, he lets my n*pple go with a loud pop, pulling him up to my face I bring my l*ps to his just as his head pushing through my folds. My entire b*dy shakes as his tongue invades my mouth, I type my hands onto the bed and grip the sheets below us, his hips push his co ck deeper into me. I have to break the k*ss to gasp, he’s stretching me more than I have ever been stretched before.

“Too big.” I groan as he places his forehead against mine, holding my eyes he holds himself still so I can adjust to his girth.

“Relax Angel, eyes on me. I’ve got you.” Balancing himself on one hand he reaches between us and starts to strum on my cl it, I moan in pleasure as more of him sl*ps into me. Bucking against him I feel his hipbone meet mine, “all in Angel, Goddess you feel fantastic.” He closes his eyes with a look of pure pleasure on his face, he stops playing with my c lit to put his hand in my hair.

“Cas, move please.” He’s holding himself still and now that he’s in I just want him to take me over the edge again.

“Give me a second Angel, you’re gripping me so da mn tight.” I’m amazed that I’m the one making him feel good, I’m doing that, me. Thrilled with the idea that I’m making Cas feel good I bring my hands. to his as s and grip him tightly, I feel my nails dig into his skin and I thrust my hips up into him. His eyes open, the hand in my hair tightenst as he starts to slowly thrust his c ock into me, he starts off shallow, testing little thrusts to make sure I’m ready. I nod my head as he brings. his forehead down to mine, breathing each other in, as he starts to draw more of himself out before slamming back in. Each time he snaps. his hips back into me I moan out, he’s not just touching that spot inside. of me, he’s beating it into submission and it feels incredible. When he thrusts back in I bring my hips up to meet him, every now and again he does a slow grind which makes his hipbone rub against my cl it. For a while he keeps f ucking me in this slow, magical pace, all I can hear is the sound of our moans and the slapping of our skin.

“Cas, so good.” I latch my hands tighter onto his as s as his thrusts start to get faster, I throw my head from side to side as I feel the explosion getting ready to go off inside of me again. It’s right there but I can’t quite reach it, “Cas, I need,” I stop speaking as Cas places a k*ss on my nose before reaching down to my leg and dragging it up his b*dy. He tilts my hips so they are at a different angle, his cock suddenly feels larger and deeper than it did a second ago.

“Let go Angel, I’ll catch you.” Throwing my head back I roar out my release, I feel a gush of wetness as I start to clench around him. I can feel him throbbing inside of me a split second before a sharp pain in my n*eck has me groaning. Rather than dulling my orgasm it seems to heighten the pleasure I’m feeling, I hold Cas’s head to my n*eck as blood starts to run down my collarbone and onto the bed.

“Mine.” Cas growls into my n*eck as slams his hips into me and holds.

himself still, I feel him kick inside of as he starts to lick at my n*eck, all I can do is hold on as he pants and groans.

He keeps licking at my n*eck as I start to come down from the high, I can feel Ghost going crazy inside of me.

“Mine, mate. Mine!” She’s growling as I start to k*ss Cas’s shoulder, I pepper k*sses up his n*eck and along to his ear.

“All yours, Angel.” I blink my eyes open when I realise he heard Ghost, he leans up from my n*eck and I can see his chocolate eyes have a heavy tint of yellow to them. “You know what to do, let Ghost lead.” I nod my head as I feel Ghost push forward, I strike his n*eck and my teeth cut through his skin like a warm knife in butter. As his blood fills my mouth I feel a click inside of my brain, it’s like clicking two pieces of Lego being put together, one second we are two separate people and the next we are one.

“I feel you.” I whisper against his n*eck as I start to lick where his shoulder meets his n*eck.

“Mine.” Cas roars as he starts to slam into me again, his co ck has become impossibly large, he grabs both of my legs and holds them at his hips as he starts to really f uck me.

“Yours.” I whisper as he leans up off me to gaze into my eyes, “only yours.”

The heavy pounding on the bedroom door has me pulling Eva's n*ked b*dy closer to me, my hard c ock is nestled between her as s cheeks making me want to take her all over again. She needs to sleep though, after she bite me I was rock hard again and I started to really f uck her. The sweaty, nails clawing down my back kind of f ucking, whoever told Eva she's bad in bed needs to seriously get themselves checked because my mate is f ucking phenomenal. I took her again in the shower and then several more times in bed, even after telling me she was sore I kept going and not once did she tell me no.

"Alpha." I groan into the back of Eva's head as Rowan calls out to me from the other side of the bedroom door. Reluctantly I pull myself from the bed and grab my jeans from the floor, I don't want him coming in here and invading the little love nest I've created. This is now mine and Eva's space and I'll kill any male who tries to come in here and taint it with their scent.

"What?" I growl as I throw the bedroom door open, Rowan just smiles. broadly as he eyes my fresh mate mark and down to my open jeans.

"It's been two days, Sally is going me ntal, says Eva needs to eat before you f uck her to death." "Welcome to mate S*x, can I give Sally the all clear to bring some food down?" I shake my head as I step through the door and close it behind. me, I quickly fasten my jeans as I walk past Rowan.

"I'll get her food." I growl at him as I start up the stairs, Eva is my mate, I'll make sure she is fed.

"The Pack knows they have a Luna, they felt the link when it happened. Told them you will do a Pack meeting in a few days." I just grunt at Rowan as I open the door to the lounge, my eyes bug out of my head at the amount of Pack members sitting around the room.

Walking into the kitchen I see Sophie is sitting at the breakfast bar eating some waffles, the kitchen is no less Packed than the lounge.

“What’s going on?” I mutter to Rowan as I push my way to the table. and start stacking some food on the table.

“They all want to meet the new Luna, I forbid anyone from coming downstairs though.” I nod my head at the few members who shout out good mornings, I notice Francis is steadfastly staring at his plate. After mating Eva, Storm doesn’t seem to see him as a threat anymore though.

“You can all meet the new Luna soon, she’s sleeping.” A few chuckles. meet my announcement as I walk over to a beaming Sally, “any muf fins. left?” Sally just bobs her head enthusiastically as she opens the oven and pulls out a plate of five blueberry mu ffins.

“Freshly baked for the Luna, give her my well wishes. I can’t wait to see her.” I take the plate from her, with two plates in my hand I suddenly realise I have no hands left for coffee. “Tray over there, coffee for you and hot water with lemon for Eva, she prefers it to coffee.”

“Thanks Sally,” I almost drop the tray of mu ffins when a screech sounds through the kitchen, “what the hell?” I look over at Rowan and see he’s quickly running into the lounge, “Sally watch these, I’ll be back.” Leaving the goods on the side I run past the shocked Pack members and into the hall.

“He mated her, he stole it from me.” Rowan is holding my mother back with hands around her stomach, her brown hair looks wild as it flows. around her face. Her makeup is smudged and her clothes look like she’s just dragged on what was closest to her. “I’m Luna, me!”

“Stop.” I pulse out my Alpha aura, my mother whimpers and slides to the floor when Rowan lets go of her, “back to breakfast, all of you.” The few Pack members who came out to see what’s going on scurry back towards the kitchen or lounge, I know they will be listening. though. “Eva is my mate, you know this. She and I mated so yes she is Luna now, you can either get on board and help her or you can be a salty bi tch and leave the Pack.” My mother’s head bends down as my aura keeps pulsing out, “your time as Luna is over, it was over the second I became Alpha.”

“I’ll never kneel to that rogue.” My mother spits out, I nod at Rowan and he picks her up with a hand under either of her arms.

“You will not only kneel but you will offer her any assistance she might need, you will help teach her, it’s your duty as the ex-Luna of this Pack. If you don’t want to do that duty you can leave this Pack house and I’ll find someone else to do it.” My mother starts to shake as tears stream down her eyes, “you don’t come back in this house unless. it’s to pledge yourself to Eva.” I nod at Rowan and he drags my screaming mother from the house, pinching the bridge of my nose, I turn to go back to the kitchen, I stop short when I see Sally standing there wiping her hands on her apron.

“I know it’s not my place but I can help Eva, if you like, until your mother comes around. I might not have been Luna but I know thist Pack and I’ll gladly help her, she doesn’t need much, just some refining.” I smile at Sally as I pull her in for a hug, k*ssing the top of her head I lean back and nod my head.

“Thank you, I best get her fed though.” Sally swats my arm with a blush on her face as I walk back into the kitchen, it’s clear the Pack was listening in because the whole kitchen is deathly silent as I grab the tray of food and head back to the basement door.

“Alright guys, back to your food. Shows over.” I chuckle as Rowan orders the Pack back to their food, the chatting increases in volume as I close the basement door and head down the stairs.

“Was that your mother screaming?” I chuckle as I use my foot to close the bedroom door, Eva is sitting up in bed, her black hair is wild around her face and the comforter has sl*pped so one of her breasts is playing peek-a-boo

“That’s not fair, cover up so I can feed you.” I lick my l*ps, her eyes get wide as she looks down and sees she’s displaying herself to me.

“You can’t possibly want it again, are those mu fffins?” I pop the tray onto the bed and she dives into the floor immediately.

“It was my mother, she’s not happy that we mated. She’s always been a salty bit ch but now she’s realising that me as Alpha and you as my mate removes her from what little power she had.” I pick up the coffee mug and start to sip at it as Eva drops the muffin she was eating back onto the tray. “What is it?” Her face suddenly has a look of revulsion about it, “you feel sick?” Picking up one of the muffins and sniffing it, they smell fine to me.

“I didn’t mean to upset anyone, I thought,” Eva shakes her head as she looks up at me with watery eyes, “I thought I was doing the right thing.”

“You did, mating with me will never be a bad thing. I promise, I’ll never give you a reason to regret it, my mother is a drunk, by tonight she will have downed some gin and forgotten the whole thing.” I put my coffee cup down, leaning over the tray I put a finger under Eva’s chin and drag her blue eyes up to my face. “Never listen to my mother, rule number one of being Luna.” Her watery smile has me leaning in and placing a small peck on her lips, “now eat, you need some energy so I can take you again.”

“So it wasn’t bad?” The small blush on her cheeks tells me how insecure she’s still feeling. I have the sudden need to go and bury Jeremy in a shallow grave.

“Angel, I just spent two days buried inside of you. If Rowan hadn’t knocked on the door I’m pretty sure I would be inside of you right now, you’re perfect.” I wink at Eva as I push a muffin towards her, “eat.”

Eva ☆

“You really don’t need to be up here, you should be sleeping with your mate.” I shake my head at Sally as I wrap my apron around my waist, it’s just gone five in the morning and she already has breakfast well underway.

“I want to help, that’s alright isn’t it?” I stop fastening my apron to look at her, maybe I have overstepped by bonds, it’s not like anyone has told me how this Luna thing works.

“You’re Luna, if you want to be part of the meals then you will be part of the meals. Want to do the waffles or fruit?” I smile at Sally as she goes back to mixing up the muffin batter, finishing typing my apron and I start working on the fruit.

“Sally, what’s happening with that Christmas tree in the lounge?” It’s been there for almost two weeks now, it’s still undecorated and still just sitting in the corner.

“I think the Alpha thought you might like it, with you having grown up with the humans. We don’t usually do Christmas here so I think he’s waiting for some decorations to come.” I make a mental note to ask Cas to remove it, if the Pack doesn’t celebrate Christmas then I don’t want them to do it just for me. It’s not like Santa ever visited me, we never even had a Christmas tree when I was growing up.

“Has Sophie been coming by?” I ask as I lean over and grab the watermelon from the bench, me and Cas have been holed up for two days and I kind of feel guilty about leaving her alone.

“She comes in for breakfast and then scuttles off, Sarah, run up to the Nickels farm and ask them for some vegetables for a roast dinner.” The young dark haired girl stops brewing the coffee and runs from the room, she barely ever speaks but she’s here every day to do her duties. alongside Sally.

“What do you think about me asking Cas about allowing Sophie to live in the cottage I was in? Now that I’m not there she could use it, at least. we know it’s clean and tidy.” Sally looks up at me with a warm smile on her face, I smile back thinking I have finally gotten something right.

“You don’t need to bother Cas with that, it’s your cottage and you can give it to whomever you want. I bet if you ask Beta he will get her situated.” I rub my hands on my apron and go to leave the kitchen, “Eva, you don’t need to hunt him down. You’re Luna, call for him over the link and he will come. Make it nice and official, he will get a kick out of it.”

Sitting on one of the breakfast bar stools I close my eyes and try to feel around in my head until I feel Rowan, it’s like I have these strings. attaching myself to each of the Pack members. Finding Rowan’s I pull on it until I feel us connect.

‘Beta, can you come and see me in the Pack kitchen please?’ I smile as I feel him chuckle, I did what Sally said and made it sound really official, I don’t think I’ve ever referred to Rowan as Beta before.

I’m on my way Luna.’ I chuckle as I close the link down and start working on the watermelon again. We work in companionable silence for a while before the kitchen door is open bringing in a blast of cold air.

“Luna, you wanted to see me.” I slide the rest of the watermelon into a bowl before turning to Rowan, he has a massive smile on his face, clearly he’s enjoying something, “perhaps in the lounge?” The sound of Sally’s laughter follows me and Rowan into the lounge, we sit on one of the sofas just in front of the massive Christmas tree.

“I wanted to talk about Sophie, is she still living in that house?” Rowan pulls out his notepad and opens it up, flicking through a few of the pages.

“She’s still there for now, I’m looking for somewhere for her to stay. The Pack house isn’t suitable for an underage pup and me and Selena. aren’t in a position to take her in.” Rowan sounds annoyed that he’s yet to fix the young girl’s situation.

“How about my cottage? The one Cas gave me? I know it’s clean and it’s perfect for a young lady on her own. She would be across the road from you and Selena should she need anything and it’s not far from the Pack house.” I know Cas is coming through the basement door before it even opens, it’s like I have this awareness of him now.

“I think that’s a good idea, an hour alone and she steals my Beta.” I tilt my head up to Cas’s teasing voice, he leans down and places a k*ss on my forehead, “morning Angel.”

"I agree, it's a good idea. I'll send some of the women around today and ask them to make sure it's set up for her. Still no word on Lisa but I have some feelers out." Rowan scribbles in his notepad before jumping up from the sofa, "anything else Luna?" I smile at him and shake my head.

"Eva, not Luna." Cas chuckles at my firm tone and Rowan just smiles at me, "you can get rid of the Christmas tree," I tilt my head back to look at Cas, "we don't celebrate Christmas."

"Christmas tree goes then." Cas speaks to Rowan but doesn't take his eyes off me, I don't realise he's left the room until Cas leans further down to k*ss my n*eck and whisper in my ear.

"Come down stairs, I have something for you." I stand up from the sofa and pull his face down to mine so I can whisper in his ear in return.

"Later, go and put a shirt on before the Pack gets here." I place my hands on his bare chest and press a k*ss to his chin.

"I forgot how to dress, come show me." He thrusts his hips at me so I can feel his hard co ck press against me, I'll admit I almost give in, having him inside of me has quickly become my favourite thing. Just as I'm about to take him up on his offer his back goes poker straight and his face goes blank.

"Cas?" The grip on my arms gets tight as his face turns into a mask of anger, "Cas, what's happening?" I start to slap his chest to get his attention, I'm practically screaming at him now.

"I have to go, stay here, don't leave the Pack house." His voice is angry as he lets me go so quickly I almost fall, he speeds out of the lounge. and changes into Storm the second the door is open. "Luna?" I turn around to see Sally and Sarah standing in the doorway of the kitchen, "what's happening? The warriors just flew out of the kitchen like their asses were on fire."

“I don’t know, he just said to stay here and ran out.” I have the urge to chase after them but I promised Cas that I would listen to him and do as he asked after the last time I ran off alone.

‘Guide them Eva, you’re Luna.’ Ghost is just as worried as me but even she is listening to our mate.

“How about we carry on with breakfast?” I close the door and turn to the two ladies, “I bet when they all get back they will be hungry.”

Long after breakfast has gone cold the warriors and Cas are still not back, I’ve tried not to let the worry settle in but it’s harder to keep at bay the longer we wait. The kitchen and lounge has filled with more and more females, some are family of the warriors and some are mates, the odd one are just Pack members looking for somewhere to be.

“Any news?” I look up to see Selena walking into the kitchen, she has on her blue scrubs and her face is a mask of worry.. SEARCH THE \(F\)INDNOVEL.NET WEBSITE ON GØØGLE to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Nothing,” I whisper as she comes to sit next to me on the sofa, “Rowan?”

“Went running off like all the others, like his as s was on fire.” I close my eyes as Selena takes my hand, part of me thought that if Rowan was still on Pack land then it can’t be that bad. I go to pick my coffee cup up, just to keep my hands busy, when suddenly this sharp agonising pain rips through my whole b*dy. Screaming out in pain I make many of the women jump up and rush over to me, Selena pushes them away demanding to know what’s wrong and where it hurts. I can’t get any words out as Ghost takes over and suddenly I’m bounding towards the back door. I don’t know what happened, I just know Cas is hurt badly and I need to get to him. Now.

'Rogue's a lot of them, on Pack land!' 'At least twelve of them, they have two of our pups!' 'Heath, come to the South, they just keep coming. Dane is down.' 'Sophie, they have Sophie.' The voices keep screaming over the Pack link, coming fast and worried, some sound. angry and some sound like they are in the fight of their life.

"Cas?" The grip I have on top of Eva's arms tighten to the point I know I must be hurting her, "Cas, what's happening?" Eva's fists pounding on my muscled chest have me blinking and looking down at her worried face.

"I have to go, stay here, don't leave the Pack house." I don't wait to see if she listens, I turn and run from the Pack house. I feel Storm break loose almost as soon as I step into the fresh air.

'Alpha, they keep trying to get Sophie and the boy.' I push Storm harder as the pained sound of a warrior comes over the Pack link, I feel Heath and Rowan join me as I break into the trees and Storm starts to expertly guide us through them.

We aren't running for long before the smell of blood and the snarls of wolves reach my ears, I can feel Storm getting ready for a fight just as we break into a clearing and see a dozen wolves I've never seen before attacking our warriors. I can see at least two of our warriors lifeless on the leaf strewn floor, I ignore the motionlessness as I watch Heath and Rowan head for the two rogues in human form pushing Sophie and a young male pup into the back of a van. Storm barrels into a rogue getting ready to snap down on a warriors n*eck, he growls back as he quickly rights himself and starts charging at me instead. Feigning to the side he sails right past giving Storm a chance to latch onto the back- of his n*eck, with one hard snap of his jaw the rogue goes limp and his blood floods our mouth. The coppers taste to it makes me want to wretch even as Storm howls loudly and turns back to the van.

"Get them in before the Alpha gets here!" I watch as a tiny Chinese man tries to shove a struggling Sophie into the van, she's clawing and screaming with everything she has.

“The girls a fighter.’ I feel Storm getting ready to leap towards the man when a force hits him from the side, it’s like an electric bolt that goes through his entire b*dy. I can feel it rattling around as it pushes Stor back and I am left on the floor n*ked and gripping my thigh. My hands quickly become slick with blood as it pours in a river down my leg, my b*dy breaks out in a cold sweat as I turn to see a huge black wolf attacking the Chinese man as Rowan pulls Sophie away from his grasp.

“Eric?” I’m not surprised no one hears my low voice, warriors all around me are howling in pain as the rogues start to get the better of them. My own heart is beating a drum as it tries to pump more and more blood round my b*dy.

“Cas!” Rowan’s roar of alarm gets lost as I suddenly feel a wolf on my back, his jaw snapping towards my n*eck as I fl*p us over and use my hands to push him off me. He has the power of his wolf to his advantage, so I struggle to keep him more than an inch from my face. I feel his tooth graze into my arm as I force his jaw to the side, I fight against the darkness and roar out as I jerk the wolf’s jaw and hear his n*eck snap. His heavy weight drops on top of me pulling whatever air I had left, I claw at the ground to try and pull myself from under the dead rogue.

“I got you.” Looking up I see Eric leaning down to pick the wolf off me, he tosses him to the side like he weighs nothing at all. I hear the b*dy hit the ground with a sickening thud, “he’s been shot!” Eric roars as three more wolves race into the clearing. My vision starts to get spotty as I try to understand where all these rogues are coming from, one rogue making it onto Pack land is unusual but an actual army should have been impossible. I watch from my spot on the floor as if the clearing has suddenly started moving in slow motion, my warriors. are dropping like flies, Eric is throwing rogues around like they are made of feathers and Rowan is screaming my name and trying to push his way towards me. Blood is soaking into the floor and creating a sticky mud puddle under me, leaning up I see the blood from my leg has started to slow and I know that can’t be good.

‘Storm, we need to shift.’ I will Storm to take over as a warrior jumps over my b*dy to pounce onto a rogue, ‘Storm!’ I start to truly panic when I can’t feel Storm at all, he’s always been there, even when he’s been mad at me he’s still there. He’s never just left me and I can’t understand why he would now.

'Cas!' I spin my head around as I hear Eva over the Pack link, this far out here voice shouldn't sound so clear. 'Where are you?' I spot Ghost's white fur as a warrior in front of me takes down a rogue, she jumps over two bodies and dashes around a fighting couple. She keeps running until she comes to a stop in front of me, just behind her I see Selena's cream wolf.

"What are you doing here?" I shout over the snarling and snapping around me.

'I felt you, what happened?' Ghost starts to sniff at me until she gets to my thigh, shocking me she instantly starts to lick at the wound. Her tongue is like a soothing balm over my skin, even in the middle of a battle I lean back and moan, it's not arousing it's just soothing, whatever she's doing feels fantastic on the open wound.

"I got shot, I can't feel Storm." My voice comes out pained as I feel two very human hands squeezing my thigh, looking down I see Selena now kneeling next to me.

"It's not hit anything vital but you've bled too much, we need to get you out of here." Selena's voice is calm even as her hands start to shake, she might be a fantastic doctor but she's no field medic. She starts looking around wildly as Ghost starts to whine, "Rowan!" Selena screams out for her mate a split second before more shots sound, Ghost flattens herself on top of me as Selena ducks to the side. I can't see flattens herself on top of me anything thanks to how Ghost has put herself but I can hear wolves howling in pain as more bullets hit their marks, the stench of blood gets stronger and after a few minutes the clearing is filled with an eerie silence.

"Storm, come on. I need you.' I feel nothing but a black void where my wolf used to be, I feel a pain the top of my shoulder just as my vision finally fails and I fall into the darkness.

"Get your Alpha out of here," Eric's voice sounds really far away, I feel someone dragging my arms as I blink my eyes open, looking up I see Rowan dragging me across the clearing with Selena running next to him.

"Rowan, he's awake. We need to get him back to the Pack house." I groan as Selena places a hand on my chest and tries to help Rowan pick me up, for some reason I can't seem to lift my arm to help her. "Shift, carry him back." Rowan's grim face nods as he drops me to the floor and shifts into his wolf, it takes his wolf a second but soon he has me flopped over his back. I manage to lift my head enough to see. Ghost biting into the n*eck of a rogue holding a gun before the darkness. comes back to me.

“Don’t you dare shift, your mate isn’t in a position to fight me right now and I won’t be the man who kills your mate.” Eric points towards the van, “go and sit with the pup.” Ghost just glares at Eric as he angrily raises an eyebrow at us.

‘Who died and made him boss?’ I close my eyes as I feel Ghost’s worry, she’s making light of the situation but I know she’s as worried about Cas as I am. Ignoring Eric I pull Ghost back and shift, he quickly diverts his hazel eyes before swearing under his breath.

“Get over it,” I tell him as I look out over the clearing. I quickly lose count of how many bodies are on the ground, most of them I recognise and some I don’t. I can smell the weird difference between Pack and Rogue now, it’s like a metallic earthy scent that I can’t quite place. I cover my mouth as I notice the little boy laying limp in the mud, I start to walk towards him when I feel a hand on my arm.

“Luna, please. Alpha will do his nut if he knows we didn’t try,” I turn to see a warrior whose name I don’t know, he seems to be a younger man who didn’t shift. He’s still in his jeans and boots but he’s holding his t-shirt out to me leaving me bare chested, nodding my head I take it from him and pull it over my head.

“How many?” I can’t stop the tears from rolling down my face as I continue to walk over to the little boy’s b*dy.

“Nine of us, ten including the pup. It was a stray bullet, I don’t think they were aiming for him.” I kneel down to the boy as the warrior keeps talking. I run my fingers through his short blonde hair and see the bullet hole just below his hairline. An inch higher and he would still be here, “Heath has one of the men. he’s taking him back to the cell block. The rest are dead or fled once Eric started in on them.” I look over the clearing to see Eric throwing wolves off to the side, I know instantly they are the rogues because every now and again he picks one up with care and walks the b*dy over to the rogues van.

“Cas got hit, where?” I can barely catch my breath, I can feel the panic rising in me but with Cas down the Pack needs me to be strong, I just don’t know how to do it.

“We got him to the Pack house, Don go and help Eric with the dead. and take them home.” I close my eyes in relief as Rowan’s strong voice booms across to us, I cradle the small boy in my arms as Rowan walks to me and kneels down. “Let us take him Luna, he’ll be buried properly I promise.” I ease my grip on his tiny b*dy as the warrior, Don, leans down to carry him off to Eric,

“What happened?” I ask Rowan as I try to get a handle on my emotions, “I don’t understand what happened.” The stench of blood gets stronger as the bodies move, it’s almost like disturbing them is mixing the scents in the air..

“We don’t know,” Rowan holds his hand out to me but I shake my head and stay kneeling in the wet ground, “we got the alert of a rogue watching Sophie and Alex playing and the next thing there was twelve of the bastards. They just kept coming,” Rowan sounds tired as he runs. his hand through his hair.

he's racing here now with his medical team, Eva," I look up as Rowan seems to struggle with what he's trying to tell me. "Fraction was there when I called and I believe he might be coming too."

"So we have nine dead warriors, a dead pup, an Alpha in critical condition and two visiting Alpha's. One of whom hates me," I look up at Rowan, shaking my head, I stand from the ground and brush my red hands down my borrowed top. "Do you know how to get ready for an Alpha visit?" I hope he knows because I have no idea.

"I do." I nod my head as I start walking over towards the van, right now I'm working on instinct, "does the boy have family?" I ask as I look into the can and count nine bodies, I can't see the boy so I assume Don has placed him somewhere else.

"Not anymore, his father died here." I close my eyes as I pray for strength and for the ones we have lost, I stay like that for a moment. before I turn from the bodies.

"Then we bury him, with no family the Pack are his kin. We take care of our own, the rogues get burned, they don't deserve to be buried." Without waiting to hear what Rowan has to say I walk away and hope he gives Eric my orders, "I'll be with the Pack." I only take a few steps when I hear a commotion off to the side, stopping, I turn back and look at Rowan who just shrugs his shoulders.

"I'm not going to hurt you, look, I'm not touching you." I recognise Eric's voice but I can't see him. I quickly run past Rowan and round the side of the van to see Sophie on the floor. She's curled up into a ball and shaking so much I can actually see her moving, Eric is standing back from her his hands out in front of him.

“Eric, she’s scared, let us help her.” Keeping my voice low I walk forward and place a hand on Eric’s bare arm, he looks down at me with bright yellow eyes, his wolf has completely taken over.

‘Eva, don’t let the males touch her. You take her home, protect her.’ Ghost is so insistent but I can’t say I understand why anyone is behaving this way, Eric growling louder has me looking over at Rowan to see Don has joined him.

“Sophie.” I whisper her name as I kneel down in the mud. I keep my hands on my knees, shes giving off some serious seed vibes right now so I dare not touch her “It’s Eva, will you come home with me so we can get you checked out?” I see her little redhead move as she shakes her head no. “You see I don’t remember the way and Alpha Cas isn’t here, I don’t want to tell Keta Rowan or the other Alpha, please help me.” I know it’s awful to truck a child and to be to them but

I nod my head and step back, it takes Sophie a minute but eventually she manages to turn into a small pale prey wolf, she somehow managed to do it without displaying any of her b*dy.

"Eva"" I look back to see Eric is still blocking Rowan's view of me and Sophie, I lean around his massive form to smile at Rowan.

"Meet us at the Pack house, bring the warriors home." I put my hand in Sophie's fur and direct her into the trees, I try to avoid clearing, a child doesn't need to see all of that death and honestly, I don't want to see it again either.

"I'm telling you, it's the same damn bullets. Anna was hit by one and I watched our Doc pull it out right in front of me." I feel my eyebrows draw together in confusion as Alpha Fraction's voice penetrates the fog surrounding my brain. "You need to beef up your patrols, The Shalamayne are close and this was just the first attack."

"With what? We lost nine in the clearing and another two to complications. We have maybe four warriors left, not including me and Heath." I try to open my eyes so I can ask Rowan what the hell he's talking about but they don't want to open, "what if he doesn't wake up?" I feel a small hand in mine, I try to grip it tighter but my b*dy just won't listen to me.

“Eva, I didn’t mean that, it’s just we have to be realistic. He’s on the edge right now, one wrong push and he will fall.” I feel something wet across my forehead, it’s only then that I realise my entire b*dy is on fire.

“If he doesn’t wake up really loud as he shouts at my mother.

“I’m not leaving when my only son is dying.” Even to me her sadness. sounds fake, she’s not a very good actress.

“Goddess, my Anna would have you on your ass right now. I might send her down to give you some lessons.” I have to agree with Fraction, his Luna would not put up with my mother’s behaviour, I don’t understand why Eva is not fighting back. I’m not gone, I’m still here, surely she can feel me. I try to reach out to Eva with the Pack link but I can’t feel it or her, it’s like I’m here but everything else is gone.

“Get out,” if I could cheer at Eva’s small words I would, “get out, your spiteful evil woman. I don’t want you here, get out!” Eva is practically screaming by the time she is done, I can feel the wetness of her tears as they fall onto my hand. I want to reach out to comfort her but instead. the darkness comes back to me and I lose all sense of time.

“Sophie is doing well, she’s staying in the basement lounge. She seems. to have taken it upon herself to make sure her Luna is looked after,” Rowan’s voice sounds really close like he’s sitting next to me. “Fraction’s Beta sent us five warriors and Darryl has called for another eight from Grey Pack. That gives us some numbers again but they are borrowed, we need to put the word out that we are looking.” The fl*pping sound of a notepad makes me realise Rowan is holding his own Alpha and Beta meeting, regardless of the fact that I can’t seem to answer back. “Darryl and Fraction are helping with the running of the Pack but Darryl has to head back to Grey Pack tomorrow. I think Fraction is staying a little longer, he says he's not comfortable leaving with Eric sniffing around." That gets my attention, I want to ask him what he's doing to keep Eric away from Eva but again the words get stuck in my throat. I hear the door being opened and closed just as I feel my fingers twitch in the comforter, I try to do it again but I seem to have gone back to not being able to move.

it.

"Nothing, I keep thinking that he's going to turn around and offer me a smart as s answer but nothing. Selena and Leon are worried about the infection, his leg is getting worse." The sadness in Rowan's voice is killing me, I want to scream at them both, the two people I care for most in this world both think I'm gone.

"Maybe she's right, maybe he is gone. He can't be gone when I've only just found him." Eva's tiny hand slides into mine as the bed dips a little telling me she's taken a seat next to me, "I need him to tell me what to do. Fraction keeps asking me stuff that I just don't know, I'm not ready to be Luna, I shouldn't have let him mate me. Maybe we should have just rejected each other and went our separate ways." It's killing me that I was just starting to break into her walls and now she is hiding behind them again, she's strong, she doesn't need me to be strong.

"He was never going to let you go Eva, he wanted you and he took what he wanted. He's never had anything that was just his, even the Pack came with his mother and Vince in tow. You are his and his alone, he was never going to let you go." I wish I could show Rowan how much his words mean to me, they are exactly what I would say to Eva right now, although I would probably sl*p in some suggestive se xy talk too.

"He just squeezed my hand." Eva's shock has me tightening my hand again, "go and get Selena, he's doing it again. Go now." I feel a rush of air beside me and then the bedroom door is slamming shut, "Cas, baby, can you hear me?" I try to open my eyes, I feel them flutter a little bit but I can't quite open them. I do manage a low moan though, which is more than I have managed so far. "Oh Cas, I knew it, I'm here," I feel Eva's hands on my chest and then her wet l*ps are pressed against mine. "I'm here, I'm waiting." She curls into my side and I can feel her shaking as she cries, I don't know if it's relief or fear, I try to curl my arm around her back but I can't quite make my arm move.

The bedroom door opening again has Eva shifting off me, I instantly miss her warmth and want her back.

"He moved his eyes, I think he's trying to wake up." This time I don't miss the relief in Eva's voice.

"We can hope, let the docs have a look at him, Eva." It's the first time I've heard Darryl's voice in here and I actually welcome it, the man was like a father to me growing up so I know he will have tried to help Eva while I was down.

"Alpha, can you hear me?" I feel a warm set of hands on me and then something really cold over my heart, "heartbeat is strong and his temperature is down, I think the infection is passing." Selena sounds hopeful as she forces one of my eyes open and shines a light into it, I recoil from it and actually manage to move my head out of her grasp. "Yeah, he's coming round. Give him some time, maybe later today if not it will be soon." A strong hand clasps my covered leg just as a small b*dy presses against me again.

"We will leave you to it Eva, shout if you need us." The bedroom door closing makes me think me and Eva have been left alone, I try to lift my hand around her again and this time I manage to cup her as s just a little.

"Even injured and down he's trying to cop a feel," Eva chuckles ag against me as Darryl talks softly. "You did him proud while he was down you know, I know having Fraction here hasn't been easy for you but you handled it amazingly." I smile as Darryl praises Eva, he doesn't just praise anyone which means he is genuinely proud of her. "You'll call if you need me?"

"Of course, I hope he wakes up before you leave, I know he will hate not thanking you himself." Eva doesn't move off me as she speaks to Darryl, I kind of like that she's still thinking about me even when speaking to another Alpha.

“I wish I could stay but I have to get back, I’m having problems of my own and I need to sort them.” Darryl sounds worried, I don’t think I’ve ever actually heard him worried before.

“And you’re sure we can’t help?” I love Eva for offering, it’s exactly what I would do..

“Nothing you can do, nothing anyone can do. It is what it is, I’ll do. what’s needed of me and what’s best for the American Packs, I always have.” I want to reach out to my friend but the door closing again tells me that he has left.

“Cas? Oh my G od, let me get you a drink.” I feel her move off me and a second later a metal tube is put to my cracked l*ps, “I’m so glad you’re awake.” I can tell she’s crying so I let the straw go and crack my eyes. open, the room is dim which I’m thankful for but I can still see her above me. Bags under her eyes and hair matted around her head, her cheekbones look more pronounced and her l*ps are as dry as mine feel but she’s there. My Angel.

“I love you, Angel.” She offers me a watery smile as she puts the cup back on the bedside table and climbs onto the bed with me, snuggling into me, I breathe in her smell and enjoy the feel of her next to me.

“Come on, I’m not dying. Tell me what I need to know.” I want to slap Cas something stupid, he’s been awake for two days and he’s already sitting up in bed demanding to know what’s happened within the Pack.

“This can wait, right?” I look around the bedroom at Rowan, Darryl and Fraction, I want them to agree with me but all three just stay silent. “Cowards.” Cas chuckles as he reaches out and grabs my hand.

“I need to know Angel, they understand that. You can go and do other stuff if you prefer.” I shake my head and sit in the chair he once sat in while I slept, I’ve been sitting in this chair for two weeks and I’m not leaving now.

“Go ahead, I’m not leaving. You can’t make me.” Fraction actually laughs out loud as Rowan and Darryl take a step back.

“Tell me you’re mated to an Omega without telling me, trust me Cas. It will only get worse once pups come into play.” I shoot daggers over at Fraction, the tattoo’d Alpha has been nothing but nice to me while he’s been here, it’s actually had me on edge so I’ve stayed in here a lot.

“Alright, get to it. How many did we lose?” I look down at my hands as Rowan pulls out his notepad and steps forward. I hate it when he starts listing off the dead, Darryl had to oversee the funerals and it was horrible. There was so much sadness I felt like I was drowning in it.

“Nine in the clearing and then another two, Alex was shot and killed. instantly.” I want to slap Rowan for talking in such a monotone but I know he’s doing it to try and distance himself from the situation, I saw him at the burials it killed him to bury th pup.

“All buried on Pack land?” Cas asks quietly and we all nod, “we are short of warriors now?”

"We are but Darryl and Fraction have loaned us some. We are alright. for now, I've put the word out that we are recruiting." Cas closes his eyes and drops his head back on the headboard, it's almost like he's praying but I know he doesn't do that.

"Anything else I need to know?" He doesn't open his eyes, I can tell he's getting tired but he won't say anything in front of two strong Alpha's.

"We can talk about it later," Rowan closes his notepad as Darryl and Fraction nod, they leave the bedroom without another word. I'm actually surprised that the two Alpha's didn't have more to say.

"Have you eaten Angel?" I angrily shake my head at him and stand from the chair, "you're mad, why are you mad?" I walk for the bedroom. door, once I get there I think better of it and spin on him.

"Why am I mad? Did you really just ask me that?" Standing there with him laid in the bed covered in bandages and smirking at me I let my anger go, every emotion of the last two weeks is finally boiling over and I let him every part of it. "You almost died!" I throw my hands up in the air as I start shouting at him. Search the website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

"Eva." I point a finger at him and grit my teeth.

"No, don't Eva me. No Angel, you don't get to sweet talk me right now. I get to be mad, two days Cas, two days, that's how long I got you. before you went and nearly died on me!" I start to breathe heavily as Cas just looks at me from his sick bed, "you made me think you would always be there and then you went and vanished. You got shot, actually shot, you have holes in your actual b*dy!" I know I'm not making much sense, my mind is all over the place and all I know is that I'm terrified he's going to die and leave me all alone with this craving for him. "There is a pup out there who is really sick but I've been in here wishing you would wake up and what do you say when you do? You love me. You can't love me Cas, you have no idea who I am!" I slap my hand over my mouth, I didn't mean to say that, I don't know what's wrong with me.

"Eva you're exhausted, I'm not going anywhere. How about you come and get in bed, we can take a nap?" His voice is low like he's speaking- to a wounded animal, he pulls the covers back but all that does is show me the bandage on his leg, around his stomach and over his shoulder.

"I'll hurt you. I'll nap upstairs, sleep Cas." I turn from him and open the door, I close it on him shouting my name, hearing him grunt, I know he's trying to get up but that's not happening anytime soon.

"You can't avoid him Eva, he's your mate. You will always fall back to each other." I almost jump out of my skin as Fraction's deep voice speaks in the darkness, he flicks on a lamp and the soft glow warms the room. "I get it, he scared you and you think you're going to lose him. Anna went through the same thing when I was stabbed, he's healing and he's not leaving." He leans back making the sofa look tiny compared to his massive tattooed b*dy.

"I hate him." I say quietly as I lean against the wall, I know Cas will be listening in and unable to join us.

"No you don't, you're scared." I shake my head as Fraction stretches his arms along the sofa, "you are and that's alright. You fell for him fast and quickly, that's fated mates for you, you can be mad at him for almost dying but you will forgive him. Over the years he's going to piss you off something rotten but you will always come back together." I feel the warm tears spill down my cheeks, I dash them away not wanting him to see me like this. "You have to know that if you run he will hurt himself to chase you, it's not safe out there for you Eva. You and I both know what The Shalamayne are capable of, you've been through some sh it but look at what you have here." He's right, if it was The Shalamayne who sent the rogues then it means they know I'm here, I don't understand why they would attack otherwise. "So you have two choices."

"Just two?" I ask Fraction with a bit of a smirk on my face.

"More than you've ever had before." Fraction chuckles as he stands from the sofa and pulls his phone from his jeans, "you can take these keys and run, triggering a series of events that might lead to Cas dyiftg and maybe others. Maybe even you. Or you can take the dangerous path." I blink rapidly wondering how it could possibly get worse, as he drops his car keys on the sofa.

"That one's not the dangerous one?" I ask in disbelief.

"Not hardly," he nods his head to the bedroom door behind me. "You can go in there, strip down and feel your mates skin on yours. Remind yourself that he's there and hasn't left you and then guess what?" He drops his voice low, I'm sure it's so Cas can't hear him. "You live the rest of your life together. Two broken shifters become one and Everfur becomes a home to you both." Fraction smiles at me as he climbs up the stairs, I quickly run to the sofa and grab up the keys.

"Fraction." He stops and looks down at me, "I really am sorry for what I did to you and Anna. It eats at me, I need you to know that." It's the first time I've mentioned the kidnapping in the whole time he's been here.

"We know, everything is working out exactly how we expected. That human we didn't foresee mind you," knowing Fraction has actually forgiven me feels like a massive weight has been lifted off my shoulders.

"Don't forget your keys." I hold them out and Fraction's tattooed hand leans over the banister snatching them up.

"Knew you were a smart one, do me a favour and when you see Anna, tell her I do give good advice." I nod at him as he presses something on his phone, brings it to his ear and keeps walking up the stairs, "Little one, you should be asleep. Tell me what you're wearing." I blush as Fraction closes the basement door.

Walking back into the bedroom I see Cas has turned off the lamp, I carefully make my way to the side of the bed and pull off my clothes. Doing exactly what Fraction said, I climb into the bed and press my n*ked b*dy against the side of him, his b*dy warms me as his arms comes around my back and pulls me tighter into him.

I

‘She’s drooling.’ My eyes fly open as Storm slowly whispers to me, can only just hear him, like we are at opposite ends of a tunnel and we aren’t allowed to shout.

‘Storm.’ I’m so glad that he’s back, I can’t keep the joy out of my voice, where have you been?’ I clutch Eva harder as she nuzzles into my side, looking down I can see she is in fact drooling onto my bare chest.

‘Whatever that first hit was, it knocked me for six. I couldn’t get up again, I’m sorry, I failed you.’ Before I can tell him it’s alright and that I’m not mad the bedroom door pushes open and I catch Selena’s scent.

“You awake?” Selena whispers into the dark room, I lean over with a grunt and flick on the bedside lamp. “I need to check your bandages.” I grimace at Selena as she closes the door and walks over to the bed, leaning over to the lamp pulled on my shoulder and now it’s throbbing.

“Let me move Eva.” I try to roll Eva off me but she latches onto my stomach, I feel her nails dig into me as she refuses to be moved, I frown down at her and look up at Selena.

“Leave her, she’s exhausted.” Selena pops her medical bag on the end of the bed and starts rummaging in it, she’s still whispering, I think she’s worried about waking Eva up. “She’s barely slept more than twenty minutes at a time for the last two weeks, if she hasn’t been in here with you she’s been out there with Sophie.” I look down at my dark haired Angel, I’m not sure when she climbed into the bed or why.

the last thing I remember is her screaming at me and then listening to

“I don’t know why she’s here, she hates me.” My brain still feels foggy but I’m aware enough to know what she said to me, I look back up at Selena to see a sad smile on her tired face as she walks over to me and lifts my arm.

“Hold this here,” she whispers as she places my hand over my head. “She doesn’t hate you Cas, I don’t know much about Omegas but I know plenty about women. She’s worried she’s going to lose you, add that to her exhaustion and she can’t figure out her emotions.” I hiss as Selena pulls the bandage off my shoulder and starts to put a clean one on, “only someone who cares as much as she does can be in such turmoil.” I look down at Eva as Selena moves the blanket off me so she can get to my stomach and thigh, I don’t even blink at me being n*ked, she’s been around me often enough after a shift.

“How long until I can get up?” I groan loudly and clench my jaw as Selena pulls the bandage off my thigh.

“When that doesn’t hurt, then you can get up.” I laugh at Selena as a growl sounds around the room, I feel Eva tense in my arm as Selena looks around her.

“Selena, take your hand off my thigh. Slowly.” I speak slowly as I try to tighten my hold on Eva, I can feel the growl vibrating through her whole b*dy.

Selena looks up at me with shocked eyes, the confusion is evident on her face, she doesn’t understand why I’ve given her such an order. Search The FindNøvel.net website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“I need to clean this.” The hurt in Selena’s voice is evident, I ignore her to try and keep Eva calm although judging by the smell it’s not Eva I’m dealing with right now.

“Ghost, calm down.” I keep my voice calm although I can feel my heart beating a drum, if Ghost attacks Selena right now then I’m screwed. Selena’s eyes shoot down to Eva and she quickly holds up her hands, she moves too fast and startles her. Grunting I manage to grab Eva around the waist just as she tries to grab for Selena.

“Eva?” Selena sounds horrified as I try to hold onto my struggling

“Selena. get out now.” I give up the calm voice and go for a full commanding boom. “get out. Ghost stop.” I hiss out in pain as one of Eva’s elbows hits my stomach, Selena flees from the room in the blink of an eye.

“Mine.” Eva’s voice is not like her own, Ghost has fully taken over and she’s not happy about another female’s hands being on my n*ked b*dy.

“She’s gone, calm down. Come on Ghost,” I try to pulse out my Alpha aura but I’m weak so it’s proving to be ineffective, Eva’s b*dy becomes limp in my arms so I breathe out a sigh of relief.

“Bastard.” Her words are said around a growl as she pushes away from me and rolls over in the bed until all I can see is her long black hair and pale back. I don’t miss how I can see more ribs than I could before.

“Oh Angel, what have you done to yourself?” I shift myself so I can run a hand down her boney spine, “you need to rest and eat, how can you look after others when you can’t look after yourself.” I feel a shiver work down her b*dy as I lean forward and place a k*ss on her bare shoulder, “this is my fault. I’m supposed to be the strong one and I IEN you alone, I’m sorry Angel.” I think I understand what Selena was saying now, Eva needed me when I found her. I bulldozed her walls and made her trust me, I gave her a home and a family just to then leave her alone in the middle of it all.

“Promise me something?” I can tell from her soft voice that Ghost has retreated and now I’m alone with Eva.

“Anything, if I can give it I will.” I try to keep my l*ps close to her skin just so I can enjoy her smell and taste but the pain in my shoulder becomes too much. I drop myself back on the pillow just as Eva rolls over to look at me, her eyes are red although I don’t see any tears in her eyes.

“Let me go first, whenever that might be. I can’t be here without you.” Her words are so raw that I feel goosebumps along my skin and a lump forms in my throat.

“I’m not going anywhere Angel but sure, I’ll let you go first.” I can’t imagine the world without Eva in it but if this is the promise she needs from me then I’ll give it to her gladly. I hold my arm out and nod my head, “come here Angel.” She dives onto my chest and nuzzles into my armpit, I chuckle as I feel her scenting me. “Can’t imagine that smells so great." If I've been in this bed for the last two weeks I can only imagine that I stink to high heaven right about now.

"I gave you a bath everyday, you're clean. Ghost is demanding your scent." I try not to move as her breath tickles my skin, "I'm sorry I attacked Selena, I don't know what happened. I just woke up and saw her hand on your thigh and it was like Ghost just took over." She must have her fill of my scent because she places her head on my chest and curls her arm back around me.

"Ghost was jealous, nothing wrong with that Angel. Once I'm better I'll show you both you have nothing to be jealous of." She glances up at me with a small smile on her face when yet another knock comes at the bedroom door, "might as well put a revolving door in. Yeah?" Eva giggles as the door pushes open.

I start growling before the door is even fully open, grabbing the comforter I push on Eva's head to get her under the cover before Darryl has even fully entered the room.

"Shit." Darryl curses and spins around so his back is to the bed, "tell me when she's covered." I appreciate him understanding that I don't want another male seeing my mate in any form of undress.

"So not just Ghost then?" Eva calls out as I watch her tiny hand poke out from the comforter to grab the shirt off the bedroom floor, "alright let me up." Hair wild and looking flushed Eva makes sure the comforter is covering her lamp before smiling at me.

"Alright idiot, turn around." Eva chuckles more as Darryl turns around with his hand over his eyes, thanks to his beard having more growth he looks really silly.

"Is it safe? Am I going to be mauled by a wounded Alpha?" Grabbing a pillow from behind Eva I throw it at my friend with enough force to bring a umph out of his mouth.

"What do you want?" I can't help but sound a little annoyed, him. joking about my mate being n*ked is not something I'm finding very funny right now.

"Just came to tell you I'm off, Fraction will stay for another day or two. but I need to get back to Grey Pack." I don't miss the way Darryl's eyes. move to Eva and he smiles sadly at her, "got some shit of my own to fix."

"Anything I can help with?" I ask him quickly, not that I'm in a position to help right now.

“No, I can deal with it.” I don’t miss how Eva tuts and crosses her arms over her stomach, “Eric is still at the border, he’s refusing to leave but I think it’s good you have him there for now anyway. You’ll call if there are any more problems?” I nod my head at him as questions start to swirl around my brain, I can feel the fog starting to get heavy again though as my b*dy demands rest.

“I’ll be calling you soon, so we can chat.” Darryl just nods at me before waving slightly and leaving the room, “what’s going on with him?”

“The Elders are trying to force him to mate, he refuses to take a chosen mate. Says he had his chance and it’s gone.” Eva turns to me and snuggles back into my chest, “he’s sad Cas, like down to his bones, sad.” Leaning back on the pillows I look up at the ceiling, if my friend is hurting then I need to find a way to help him. I don’t know how I do that with all the shit I have on my shoulders at the moment but I vow to find a way.

“Come on, just the tip. Just for a second, I need to feel you wrapped around me again.” I moan as Cas whispers into my ear and thrusts his hips so his cock pushes against my ass.

“No, you heard Selena, no S*x until you are healed.” I try to pull away but his hand just tightens against my bare stomach as he nuzzles into my n*eck.

“I’m rested, I’m healed. Come on, it’s been four days, let me just sl*p in.” His hand slides down my stomach to fondle through my patch of dark curls, I clench my thighs to keep him from finding my centre, “no fair. You’re not playing fair.” He’s trying to sound annoyed but I can hear the playfulness in his tone.

“I have to go help with breakfast, stay here and I might bring you some food.” Cas rolls off me with a deep sigh, so I take the opportunity to slide from the bed. I start running around the room gathering up clothes, I feel full of energy after a few days tucked up in bed with Cas.

“Fine, go be a Luna, slow down though. Let a man enjoy the view.” I roll my eyes but I do slow d as I pull my panties up my legs, he moans dramatically as I slide my legging and sports bra on.

“Honestly, one more day and you can get out of bed, behave while I’m gone.” I look up from righting my top to see him watching me with his hand under the cover, “now that’s not playing fair.” He just smirks at me as I watch the comforter move up and down as he slowly strokes himself.

“Then come here, you can do Luna duties when I get out of bed.” I shake my head and grab a hair tie off the top of the dresser, I know what he’s doing, he’s trying to reconnect after I had my freak out. “Look at that, it’s a Luna out in the wild. Don’t scare her off.” I roll my eyes as I walk into the kitchen, Selena is whispering to the table in the kitchen as she watches me cross the room. As soon as I opened the door to the basement my stomach started growling, now all I can do is beeline for the food on display.

“Thank Goddess, here I made some fresh muffins, some waffles and pancakes.” I almost laugh as Sally starts rushing to shove food at me.

“Looks amazing,” I tell her with a smile as I start to load up a plate, I don’t take too much, I don’t want to give myself a stomach ache. “Has. Sophie been up? I didn’t see her in the basement.” When Sally doesn’t answer me I turn around to look at Selena, she’s steadfastly not looking. at me. “Selena?”

“Alright, she’s at the border talking to Eric. Fraction is there too so it’s not like she’s alone.” I can tell from Selena’s that she doesn’t quite believe her own words, for some reason I can’t understand Sophie. keeps running to the border to talk to Eric. The last time I saw them together was in the clearing and she was terrified of him.

“I don’t get it, one second she’s shaking on the ground and now she can’t keep away from him.” I shake my head as I take my plate over to the table, it’s fairly late in the morning so it’s only the three of us here today.

“Like what?” I cover my mouth as I take a bite out of my muffin, the blueberry flavour burst across my tongue making me moan. “These are amazing, your best ones yet.” Sally beams from behind the counter before going back to her cleaning, I’ve come to learn that Sally is not a slave to this kitchen. It’s a labour of love for her, she genuinely enjoys being in here and feeding the Pack..

“Well maybe he scented her and although she’s young maybe she’s drawn to,

I almost spit my muffin out at Selena’s absurd observation, I can’t help the choking laugh that comes out of my mouth.

“She’s sixteen and he’s a full grown Alpha, that’s just wrong.” I put the muffin down and pick up my hot water and lemon, my stomach

“It’s not like he’s going to ravage her in the street Eva, he physically can’t tell her until she’s of age. And we don’t know for sure that’s what’s going on.” Selena looks really calm considering she’s just. accused a full grown Alpha of having the hots for a sixteen year old.

“Yeah,” I draw the word out as I get up from the table. “I’m going out there, this is just wrong on so many levels.” I leave my food behind suddenly not very hungry at all and run from the kitchen before either of them can stop me.

'Eva, where are you going?' I'm barely a few steps out of the driveway as Cas's voice comes over the Pack link.

'Just off to find Sophie.' I have no doubt Selena has gone down there and grassed me up but it's not like he can come chasing after me. 'Fraction is there, don't worry.

'Don't want you going over the border and you better not come back smelling like that rogue Alpha.' Even over the Pack link I can hear him. growling, he's really not letting go of the time I was in Eric's shirt.

'Yes, yes, you are Alpha, I hear you roar. Now shoo and get some rest,' I don't know where this sassy side of me has come from but honestly I don't hate it, I feel Cas close the link down after he mumbles some words I don't understand. I'm not walking for long before I see Sophie sitting in the middle of the road, Fraction standing behind her and Eric sitting across from her.

"What's this?" I ask as I walk towards the group. Fraction just shrugs. his shoulders and steps back. Sophie looks a little embarrassed to be caught out here again and Eric just looks mildly annoyed at being interrupted.

"Just talking, Luna." Sophie is looking down at her hands as she shakes her head causing her red hair to swing around her head.

"We've talked about you coming out here, it's not safe. Come on back to the Pack house." I start to turn around but after a few steps I realise Sophie is not following me, "alright. What am I missing here?" I throw my hands up in the air and look over at Fraction, he again just shrugs his shoulders.

"She's perfectly safe with me Eva." Eric unfolds his massive b*dy and stands, crosses his arms over his chest; he looks like a towering beacon over the tiny girl still sitting on the floor.

"Is this some kind of weird shifter kinky thing I just don't understand?" Fraction bursts out laughing as I look around the road, almost like I'm. waiting for someone to jump out and shout surprise.

"Gross." Sophie says quietly.

"Eva, I think you are miss understanding the situation." Fraction mumbles as he walks closer to me.

“Well then someone explain it to me. It was only a short time ago Sophie didn’t want you anywhere near her and now she’s sneaking out to the Pack border everytime our backs are turned.” I step closer to Eric, making sure I don’t cross the border and break my promise to Cas, I cross my arms over my chest and wait for him to explain.

“She’s blood, my brother’s daughter.” I look down at Sophie in confusion, I was sure Cas and Rowan told me Sophie was born here in Everfur.

“Sophie is Everfur, your family is from Texas. Your brother died in England.” I shake my head, “you’re lying.”

“He’s not, I can smell him. I’m connected to him by blood, my wolf confirmed it.” Sophie jumps up from the floor and looks to Eric, “he’s my Uncle and the only family I have here now.” Her voice cracks, I can understand needing family.

“How is this possible? I thought your mother had a fated mate who died, isn’t he your father?” Eric shakes his head with a smirk.

“My brother wasn’t one to care if you had a mate or not, apparently neither was Sophie’s mother. Sophie is my kin, I’ll be staying with her to ensure she’s safe.” I look over at Fraction and he just shakes his head, he’s going to be no help here, this is mine and Cas’s decision.

“Fraction stay here with them, I’ll go talk to Cas about allowing you in Pack land. I’m sorry, I assumed the worst of you.” Eric just shrugs his shoulders as if he doesn’t care but I can see the hurt on his face. I accused him of something really gross and it turns out he just wants to protect his family.

‘Cas, are you still awake?’ I take a few steps away from the group and

'You coming back yet?' His response comes quickly, I smile as I turn my back to the group,

'Soon, Eric is Sophie's Uncle. If we don't let him in then she's just going to keep sneaking out to the border.' I feel Cas's annoyance as he understands what I'm asking.

'I'll send Rowan out to chat to him, he can go to your old cottage. He doesn't come into the Pack house Eva, I won't have it.' I don't disagree with him, I don't want this to cause problems for me and Cas but we can't keep an eye on a sixteen year old who keeps running off.

'I'll tell him. I'll come back now.' I turn back to the group and walk over to them with a smile on my face.

'Hurry up, I'm waiting for my reward for not being, how do you put it, an Alpha—a-hole.' I have to look away from the group as an image of Cas stroking his cock pops into my mind, I squeeze my thighs together, suddenly I want to get home.

Chapter 245

His Rogue Omega: Chapter 78.

☆ Jeremy

Throwing the file on the table I grab the bottle of vodka and pour myself a healthy measure. They killed four of our men in that ambush, admittedly we killed more of them but I still don't like that number.

"She's becoming more trouble than she's worth." I grumble, I hear static on the other side of the phone just before a chuckle echoes around the small office.

“Aren’t they all? Have we confirmed the Alpha as one of the dead?” I lean back in my chair, bringing a cigarette to my lips, I take my time answering the old man.

“No one’s seen him since the attack but then again we haven’t seen a funeral either.” I don’t add that we watched them bury nine warriors and a small boy, grown men trying not to cry over the death of a child. Pathetic. “The tattooed one who killed Guardian Reginald is there, so is that older Alpha, so something big has happened.” I bite the cigarette between my teeth as I pat my hand down my pants, looking for the blasted lighter.

“We had a tip yesterday. She should be arriving at your club sometime soon. She can help you get Zoe out and if not then we get a new womb. to fill.” I groan as I flick my lighter and fill my lungs with smoke, “I don’t give a crap about the big guy right now, his Pack isn’t causing trouble. I’d rather focus on Zoe and getting her back to us.

“And you’re dropping this on me now?” I can’t keep the annoyance out of my voice, God forbid they give a man a heads up about what’s going on in his territory.

“Be thankful you’re still where you are, Heins. Lesser Guardians than you have been removed for smaller failures, losing Zoe was unacceptable. It’s your job to bring her back to the light of His glory.” The line disconnects, his scolding is still ringing in my ears as I drop the burner phone into my desk drawer.

I find comfort in the fact that I manage to drain my drink and finish my smoke before a pounding knock comes to my door.

“Enter.” I don’t shout, if they want to hear me then they can open their damn ears and listen.

“You have a guest, two actually.” I look up to see Cyrus’s face poking around the door, he’s wearing his ever present joggers and wife beater but today he at least looks like he washed and brushed his hair.

“Check on the back room, make sure the girls are producing.” I stand from the desk and shrug into my suit jacket, presentation is everything, even to scum like shifters. “In the bar?” Cyrus just nods his head, as far as thugs go he’s not bad, he does his job which is more than I can say for some. "Female or male?" I pick up my cigarettes and lighter, pocketing them I walk around my desk while I button my jacket up.

"Both." I raise an eyebrow at myself as I look in the mirror and fuss. with my short hair, odd that a female and male have come to see me.

"Put Lucy on the stage, I was told it's the female who wants to talk to me. Keep everyone out of the bar, except for Liam." I'm not stupid, I won't leave myself alone with two shifters with no protection. Unlike my counterparts, I know the Lord can only control so much of our lives.

my face as I walk into the bar, I spot the single older male watching Lucy do her thing like he's never seen a half n*ked woman before. The female is something different though, she's nursing a small glass of clear liquid and dressed more like a twenty year old than the forty maybe even fifty year old she is. With her booty short and low cut top she's the definition of mutton dressed as lamb.

"I believe you're here to see me." I tap my cigarette packet on the clean bar as I nod at Liam, he quickly pours me a glass of vodka with a single ice cube. "Jeremy Heins, pleasure to meet you." I keep a smile on my face as I sip my drink, I hate being around shifters but if she can help me get Zoe then I don't care.

"Martha Freelin, I believe you are looking for a rogue female?" I just nod my head at her, the less she knows from my side the better, I've already pegged her as the Alpha's mother thanks to the surname. "She's at the Pack land, she mated the Alpha so she's their Luna now." I close my eyes and try to hide my annoyance as the woman downs the rest of her drink, now I'm close to her the smell of gin is unmistakable.

"That's a problem." I look over to Liam who drops his head, he should have known Zoe had mated the Alpha, this should not be a surprise to 1. me.

"She's stealing my Pack from me, stupid Omega comes in and weaves her magic over my son. I can help you get her but you have to promise she never comes back." I just nod my head at her as I try to process the fact that Zoe is an Omega, another fact my rogues have failed to tell

1. me.

"How can you help me get Zoe?" The woman looks confused, "Eva. How can you help me get Eva?" I keep forgetting these backward ass shifters only know Zoe as Eva and not her God given name.

“My son is injured, he’s not at full strength and Eva is going around the Pack on her own. It’s not going to be hard for me and Vince to overpower her, she’s untrained and doesn’t know what she’s capable of.” I look behind me at the older man drooling over Lucy, I assume that must be Vince.

“And you will do this out of the kindness of your own heart?” Sophie laughs as Vince shouts over the floor, I do admire the shifter’s sense of hearing.

“Not hardly. Don’t do nothin’ for free lad.” Vince doesn’t look back at us nor does he move from watching Lucy.

“We want in on the drugs you have running all over town, we are sick of the small income from the mine.” I pretend to think about her offer for a few minutes, I don’t want to seem too eager as that will tip my hand. There is no way she’s getting anything from the drugs we run but she doesn’t have to know that.

“One week, bring her to me and then I’ll deal you in.” Martha grins showing off her yellow teeth as I stand from the bar, “now if you’ll me I have business to attend to. Enjoy the room, we don’t open for another two hours.” I turn my back on Martha and walk across the bar, I nod my head at Liam and he goes to stand by the entrance. He will watch over them until they leave. I don’t want them wandering around the place, I have secrets to keep after all.

“All good?” Cyrus is there as soon as I push into the corridor, I recoil back at the acidic smell coming off him.

“What the hell is that?” I can’t help but sound disgusted, I wave my hand around but all that does is help spread the smell more.

“The wolfsbane went bang again, don’t worry we have more. You sure you want to up the percent of that?” I just nod my head as I walk past him, I walk quickly to put some distance between us.

“I need it finalised and now, we will have a guest sometime in the next. week and I’m going to need her to be compliant and quickly.” I push into the third room in the hall, it’s one I have set up just for Zoe. Honestly, I've outdone myself, I've personalised every single aspect after my dark hair vixen, she's going to be right at home in here. Well until she gets shipped off back to the home compound.

"You planning on keeping her here long?" Cyrus walks over to the solid wood St Andrew's cross and runs his hand down it like he's caressing a lover.

"Not long, they want her back where she belongs now she's blossomed. Time for her to start popping out the next generation for us." I walk over to the cabinet and open it up to check all my whips and chains are still there, I do this every now and again. It's like foreplay for the main event, I know it's coming but I have no idea when.

"Damn I was hoping they would send her to make money, at least then I'd finally get a go at her." I slam the cabinet closed and turn around to sneer at Cyrus, he instantly drops his eyes to the floor, he knows how I feel about other men rutting away in my stuff.

"She's mine until they say she's not anymore. Now get out and make yourself useful." He scurries from the room quickly, alone I pull out my cock and start to slowly jack myself to memories of Zoe on her knees, I*ps trembling and blood running from various places. God my whore really did mark up well and the best thing was that in the morning you got a whole new blank canvas.

His Rogue Omega: Chapter 79.

'I think you've been left hanging,' Storm mocks me as I let my cock go and put my feet on the floor. I can't disagree with Storm, I told Eva to come back almost an hour ago and she's still not here, clearly we need to have a conversation about who is in charge around here. It takes me some effort but I manage to get to my feet, putting on my joggers and t- shirt is another matter. By the time I'm dressed I can feel myself sweating from the effort it took.

'Why is this taking so long to heal?' I ask Storm as I look down at my shoes, 'guess it's barefoot today.' There is just no way I'm bending down to put socks and shoes on.

'I'm working on it, there was a lot of damage and whatever was in those bullets weakened me as well as hurt you.' I can hear the annoyance in Storm's voice, he doesn't like being vulnerable anymore than I do.

After some serious difficulty I manage to hobble my way up the stairs, I make my way into the kitchen to see Sally putting the finishing touches to some meat sandwiches.

"Well, I didn't think I'd see you up here until tomorrow." Sally is all smiles as she wipes her hands on her apron and rushes around the bench to pull a chair out for me, "coffee?"

"Please, have you seen Eva?" I look around the kitchen and don't see a single other soul, I guess we really did lose quite a few of our warriors.

"She went off with Rowan to settle Eric into the cottage, if you asked she told me to tell you she's fine and won't be alone with him." Sally chuckles as she brings me my coffee, "I honestly don't think you have anything to worry about, she adores you." Sally pats my hand in a motherly way before walking off to look in a cupboard.

"And Heath? Have you seen him around? He didnt come and see me when I woke up." Sure I could contact him by the Pack link but sometimes it's nice to have an actual conversation and it's been a while since I got to talk to anyone thanks to being trapped in my room.

"I think he's still in the cell block," Sally looks over her shoulder, her "I think he's still in the cell block." happy mood has suddenly turned sad. "After we lost so many, Heath said he doesn't trust anyone to watch the one he captured so he's been practically living there." Putting my coffee mug down a little too hard, I wince at the cracking sound it makes against the counter, getting up from the counter I look out of the window. Sure enough there is one warrior standing guard when there should be two and zero signs of Heath.

“No one mentioned a captor to me.” I can help but feel annoyed that my Beta and mate have kept this from me.

“You only woke up a few days ago, Cas, give them some time to catch. you up. Maybe they just didn’t want to flood you with information.” Sally says with a hint of sadness in her voice, “losing that many and then you being seriously hurt has affected a lot of people in the Pack, just give them time.” I nod my head without really paying attention to her, if the Pack wants to see I am alright then I need to go about my Alpha duties as normal which means I need to visit the cell block.

“If Eva asks, tell her I’ll be back shortly.” I shout over my shoulder as I walk through the back door, closing it behind me I hobble down the porch steps. Thanks to the bullet wound to my thigh, steps are rather tricky as it means I have to put all of my weight on the leg so I can actually get down them.

“Alpha? Anything I can do for you?” Francis’s voice catches me before I’m even halfway across the garden, from the kitchen window I hadn’t realised it was him standing guard.

“Grab the door for me.” I tell him as I lean against the wall with one hand and try to catch my breath, after weeks of doing nothing just a simple walk across the garden has proved almost too much for me.

“You sure Alpha? You don’t look so good.” I just nod my head and Francis opens the door for me without asking any more questions, “he has him just a few cells in, he didn’t want Mary walking all the way down if she came to see him.” I don’t say anything as I walk into the cell block, I let the smell of blood, urine and sweat wash over me. I notice the smell of John is almost gone which means Rowan or Heath released him when I was down and out.

“Alpha, I didn’t expect you for a few days yet.” Heath jumps up for the chair he was sitting on just outside of a cell, I notice he has blood on his hands and his clothes are covered in even more blood.

“Been busy?” I nod at his clothes as I walk along the corridor to see a rogue chained to a chair in the middle of one of the cells. His eyes. trace me as I walk over to the chair Heath was sitting in, the gag in his mouth stops him from asking any questions.

“Been trying to figure out who sent this fucker to kill nine of my brothers and an innocent pup. He’s not said anything yet but he will.” Heat sounds pissed off and I can’t say I blame him, becoming a warrior you get close to the guys you serve with and our Pack is no different. As Heath said, it is a brotherhood and they treat each other as such.

“He not said anything?” I can see the blood dripping from the rogue’s fingertips so he’s obviously been recently worked over.

“He said he’s not a rogue, sure smells like one though.” I furrow my brow, if he’s not a rogue then who the hell is he

“Take the gag off, I have some questions.” I lean back in the chair and watch the guy flinch as Heath takes the gag out his mouth, I understand why when he steps away. It seems the rogue is missing some teeth and his nose looks like it’s been broken, realigned and then broken again.

“I was pretty pissed off and with you down I had nothing better to do with my time.” Heath doesn’t even sound apologetic as he shrugs his shoulders and then leans against the cell bars.

“So a you and a group of your brothers just took it upon yourselves to around, might as well get straight down to it. “You were well organised, never seen rogues travel in more than three or four and definitely not that kind of organised.”

attack a Pack and steal two of it’s pups?” No point in de ourselves to

“Not a damn rogue.” The guy’s voice is deep and rough, it sounds like talking is causing him some pain.

“So if you’re not a rogue, then you must be Pack?” Shifting in the chair I try to hide that of a Pack. Which discomfort I’m in but Heath’s worried glances makes me think I’m not doing such a good job.

“They killed our Alpha and our Luna, we don’t have a Pack anymore, they own us.” I look at Heath and he just shrugs his shoulders, he has no idea who he’s talking about.

“How about an introduction then, this is Heath, Head Warrior for Everfur Pack and I’m Alpha Castiel. Your turn, I keep my voice firm but I have to say I feel for this guy, if he is Pack and he lost his Alpha and Luna then he must be in pain.

“Mitch Stephenson, Head Warrior for the South Moon Pack.” I sit forward in my chair, Mitch’s tone has dropped and I can hear the sadness for the loss of his Pack. As Head Warrior it would have been his job to save its members after his Alpha and Luna fell.

“South Moon, I ain’t ever heard of them.” I look at Heath and shake my head, I’ve heard of them.

“I’m sorry about your Alpha and Luna, to be betrayed by your Beta,” I shake my head and look at the floor. “I can’t even imagine but why attack us?” South Moon’s attack was all the talk about six years ago, it’s members scattered and it became a story. Until now I just assumed they had all gone to different Packs.

“It was my job to protect them so when they approached us it sounded like a good idea, a way to keep the Pack together but it didn’t quite work out like that.” Mitch looks at me with sad bloodshot eyes, “I’m no Alpha, I couldn’t order them to do anything. I stayed to try and protect them but most rolled into the life, others got lost to the drugs. I don’t even think they noticed when the females started not coming back to the bunks.” Mitch swallows hard as he tries to control his emotions, “they want your Luna. She’s a shifter and fertile so they want her. I didn’t tell them she’s an Omega but it’s only a matter of time before they figure it out.

“Who wants her?” Heath asks confused but the hairs on my b*dy have already gone on end, Fraction was right, they have come for my Angel.

“The Shalamayne.” Me and Mitch say at the same time, my eyes connect with him as I just nod my head. He’s given me and heads up and I’m not going to waste it.

“I’ve told the Pack members that the gathering will be tomorrow at sundown in the clearing, they are aware that they will be running to honour the memory of the fallen but also that it’s a celebration.” I smile at Rowan as Cas pulls me further onto his lap, I’m being punished for going to the cottage but I can’t say I hate it.

“And people are onboard with it?” I understand Cas’s worry, he wants to honour the fallen warriors but he also wants to introduce me to the Pack as Luna, even though I think we should split the two things.

“We can’t Angel, it’s in the bylaws, we need to introduce you within a month of you becoming my mate and thanks to my injuries tomorrow is the last chance we have.” I drop my shoulders in defeat, I can’t say I’m excited about being in front of the Pack again. “Tell me what’s going on in the Pack, don’t spare any details.” Rowan looks at me and then back to Cas, he’s right to be confused, normally I’m not involved with the Alpha and Beta chats.

“With Eva here? No disrespect intended, Luna.” I wave my hand at his apology, I understand why he would ask, some things are private and I don’t need to know them.

“Eva knows why she is here, maybe next time she will listen to me.” I shift uncomfortably as I feel Cas growing hard under my ass, I can’t believe he’s getting turned on with Rowan in the room. However, it does seem like even a gentle breeze gets him going since his injuries, I guess it’s almost three weeks of no release catching up to him.

“Alright then, shall we start with the harvest?” Rowan pulls out his notepad and I groan, looking at the clock I see it’s just gone two in the afternoon, surely these meetings can’t go on for too long.

“And Elle Prescott is coming down at five to talk to you, she was the mate of Dean, he passed in the clearing.” I yawn without meaning to, two hours they have been talking and honestly it’s been the most boring thing I have ever sat through.

“Why is she coming to see me?” Cas pinches my arm making me jump, I don’t miss his little chuckle, “just checking your still with us Angel.”

“What and miss all of this riveting conversation?” My sarcasm must be clear because both men burst out laughing.

“I think she’s wanting permission to leave Everfur to go back to her birth Pack, without Dean here she doesn’t really have anyone.” Rowan sounds sad to be losing one of our Pack members but I can understand this woman not wanting to be here anymore if her mate died.

“Is that normal? For someone to ask permission before they leave?” I know I’m showing my little understanding in terms of the Pack but I can’t keep myself from asking the question.

“Yeah Angel, it’s seen as disrespectful if you leave without permission and her birth Pack could reject her due to it.” I raise my eyebrows in surprise and look at Cas, his face is set in a frown which shows his unhappiness at having a Pack member leave.

“That’s it for me, I’ll let you guys be because Elle should be here anytime soon.” Rowan jumps up from his chair and all but flees from the room. I can’t help but watch after him wishing I could leave too.

“You don’t need me here for Elle, it’s probably going to be really sad and she might want it to be private.” I make my voice small so it sounds like I’m just being sympathetic with the female and not that I just want out of this tiny office. SEARCH THE website on Gøøgle to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Nice try Angel, I think having you here will be good for Elle actually. Another female might make it less daunting for her.” I lean my head against his shoulder resigned in my fate, Cas decides that is the moment he’s going to start placing k*sSES on my n*eck. “And if you behave once she’s gone, I’ll fuck you over the desk.” I press my thighs together at the idea of having Cas back inside of me. I know I was mad at him before but now I've slept and actually thought about my feelings, I realise I was more worried than actually mad.

The soft knock to the office door cuts off any reply I have for Cas, he places one last k*ss below my ear before sitting us both up straighter.

"Enter." He calls out in a very authoritative tone, I've noticed he has a different tone of voice for the Pack than he does with Rowan or even with me.

"I'm sorry to bother you Alpha, oh and Luna." A small blonde haired woman enters the office, she's wearing a simple black dress and her hair is tied back in a tight bun. Her hazel eyes are red and sore looking, almost like she's been crying for days.

"Elle, take a seat." I notice Cas speaks to her like he knows her, however I don't think he was aware of her until a few minutes ago, "I'm sorry about Dean."

"Thank you Alpha, that means a lot. I'm happy to see you have mended and are feeling better, I was worried about you when I heard what happened." She flicks her red eyes to me and I understand, she means she was worried about me and how I would be after I lost my mate.

"I can't imagine the pain of losing a mate." Cas grips me tighter in his lap as Elle just nods her head a little.

"Dean died the way he would have wanted. I take comfort in that. He always said that the warriors were his family. I know he was proud to serve you Alpha and to die protecting the Pack is how he would have wanted to go." I can hear the truth in her words, she doesn't blame Cas or me for her mates death. she's just devastated that it happened. "I'd like permission to go back to my birth Pack. I have no family here and only came because of Dean. I want to be with my family to grieve my loss." She dabs at her eyes with a white hanky I hadn't noticed she was holding

"Are you sure that's what you want? Where is your birth Pack based?" Elle nods her head at Cas. I notice him move the trackpad on his laptop and pull up his emails. I see a list of Alpha names and Pack names.

"Blue Moon Pack, based in south Alaska." Cas raises an eyebrow at her. "yeah I know. why leave Alaska right?"

"It's beautiful up there, a wolf's wet dream. Then again. I get it, I'd follow my mate anywhere too." Cas places a k*ss on my shoulder before scrolling through the list on his screen, "what's the Alpha called at Blue Moon again?" I can see he is hovering over the name and telephone number for him, I don't understand why he's asking if he already knows

"It was Alpha Drake when I left but I believe his son took over last year so it's now Alpha Logan. I spoke to his Beta yesterday. Ben said that they are in Canada next week and if I can fly over they can meet me at the airport" Cas nods his head and I see both Logan and Ben on the little spreadsheet, whatever Cas was after he's clearly got it because he smiles at Elle call with Blue Moon's Alpha. As long as it all goes well I will have Heath take you to the airport so that someone can meet you at the other side." Elle just nods her head and gives us both a sad smile.

"I'm sorry I'm leaving. I have a feeling Everfur is really going to be a great Pack. Maybe I'll even come back and visit one day" Elle stands. from the chair and holds out a hand to Cas, who shakes it quickly, she turns to me and bows her head. "I wish you all the best Luna. I truly do." She sweeps from the office taking her air of sadness with her, I get the impression that she's going to carry that grief around with her for a long time.

"Angel. I know I promised you a special fuck over the desk but I really should call Alpha Logan and confirm these details." I nod my head in understanding. he's dismissing me from the office.

"How about I shower and meet you in the bedroom?" Cas smiles at me as I stand from his lap for the first time in hours.

"I don't know how long I'll be." Cas looks sad as I blow him a k*ss and start to walk from the office

"Don't worry, Selena ordered me something to keep me occupied while you were injured. It's proved very useful," I run from the office as his growl starts to echo off the walls. I can't help but keep the teasing laugh from escaping my mouth. I love this fun side to Cas, I'll have to remember to draw it out of him more often.

"If it's bigger than me we are going to have problems." I close the bedroom door on Cas's shouting and head for the bathroom, something tells me I'm going to regret teasing him but it's so much fun.

Chapter 248

His Rogue Omega: Chapter 81.

*Cas

“Will you hurry up? Storm grumbles as I listen to Beta Ben from the Blue Moon Pack ramble on about the trip they have planned to Canada. ‘We get it, they are in Canada, good for them now let’s go.’

“Listen Ben, I have to cut this short, something has come up.” I look down at my rock hard cock, just the thought of being inside of Eva has me hard as a rock.

“No worries, although we are sad about what happened to Dean, we are excited to have Elle home, her family is well known here.” After a few more pleasant exchanges I finally hang up the phone, glancing at the clock I curse when I realise I’ve been on the phone for twenty minutes. Not wanting to waste any more time I lock my laptop and head out of the office. I almost forgot to lock my office door, I’m in that much of a rush but a few minutes later I’m walking into my bedroom and dropping the keys on the drawers.

I expected to see Eva squirming in pleasure on the four poster bed but the room is empty. I can hear the shower running though. Pulling my shirt over my head and dropping my joggers I walk into the bathroom completely n*ked.

“You can’t get in, your bandages will get wet.” I ignore Eva and slide the glass door open to see her dripping wet and standing directly under the hot spray of water.

“Damn,” I mutter as I step into the shower and slide the door closed before me. I don’t give her a chance to complain, wapping my arm around her tiny waist I pull her hips to me. I search her mouth for that delicious flavour that has me throbbing. She needs breaking the kisses she moans and leans her head back

“Cas your bandages” I ignore her breathy complaints and start placing kisses down her throat, it is long before I find that spot under her breast that has her hands going to my hair and pulling me closer “Turn around, hands on the wall “I don’t give her a chance to argue. I just turn her around and pull on her hip. She slaps her hands against the tiles and gasps as I slide my hands down her thighs. “Can you feel what your tearing has done to me?” I slide my cock through the globes of her ass, thanks to the water I am able to slide through her with ease. “Tell me what did Selena buy you? Leaning forward I lick up her spine collecting the water that is riveting down her back.

“She didn’t.” Eva gasps as my cock angle changes and I slightly push against that tight little opening she has. I have no intention of sliding in but I want her to know that I could if I wanted to, “Cas please, I’ve never, not there. “I feel myself throb as I realise I would be the only one who enters her here.

“All mine Angel?” Leaning back I suck the pad of my thumb before reaching down and pressing against her opening. “You could take me here, you know, just a little training and I’d be deep inside.” My mouth waters at the idea of being inside of her here, a tremble works through her body as I tap the pad of my thumb against her.

“You’re too big “I chuckle at her and slowly slide my fingers down until I find her dripping wet centre, her legs widen to allow me access

“You’re so wet, it turns you ok Angel? Knowing I could slam into you and there is nothing you could do. “I slide a finger into her just as she looks over her shoulder, her mouth is open wide and her pupils are “You won’t hurt me.” Her whispered voice has me stopping and looking at her, I slide my finger from her centre, placing both hands on her hips, I line my cock up so the tip is just teasing her folds.

“Never.” I tell her truthfully, she drops her head down and moans loudly as I slowly guide myself into her. I don’t stop until my pelvis is resting against her ass, I hold myself still as I try to adjust to the way she’s gripping me, she’s still so tight around me. It’s just as good as the first time, I could swear no other man has ever touched her here.

“Cas, please.” Eva pushes her hips back onto me but I just grip her tighter, I’m not ready to move yet, I’m enjoying the view of her stretched around me. Search the FindNOvel.net website on Google to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Give me a minute to enjoy the view.” I mutter, without thinking I take my hand off her hip and slap her ass cheek. My eyes go wide as I realise I’ve just slapped a woman who was a victim of domestic violence. “S hit, Eva, I’m sorry.” Lifting my hands up I try to back away from her but she just grabs my hip from behind forcing me to stay.

“Don’t go, make me c um.” She doesnt sound traumatised or upset so I put my hands back on her hips and slam myself back inside of her, “yes, like that.” I use my hips to guide her on and off my co ck as I snap my hips back into her. I can feel my wounds hurting me but I ignore them, her breathy moans and the way she slaps her hands on the wall are driving me on.

“You like this Angel?” I ask her as I lightly slap her a ss cheek again, I don’t go for pain, this is all about pleasure.

“Feels so good.” She’s trying to make me go faster, she’s chasing her or gasim but I’m not ready for her to go over the edge just yet. Pulling out of her I step back and leave her wanting, it takes her a minute to realise I’m not coming back. “What the hell?” She turns around ready to give me a piece of her mind but I just guide her hands to my shoulder and lift her up. Her slender legs wrap about my waist and I guide myself back inside of her as I push her against the tiled wall. Il feel her nails dig into my shoulders as she throws her head back and moans out her release, I can feel her gripping me even tighter as I really start to slam into her.

“Mine.” I growl as I lick at her throat, her hands slide up my n*eck and into my hair as I lean down and take one of her breasts into my mouth. Using my tongue I push her n*pple against the roof of my mouth and suck.

“Yours, Goddess, yes. Yours.” Hearing her call out to the Goddess has me going crazy, placing a hand on either of her a ss cheeks I pull her onto me and until I feel myself erupting inside of her. I can’t stop my teeth coming out and tearing into her soft breast, I lick up the blood and Storm soothes the pain. “Cas, I can’t stop it.” The hands in my hair. really start to pull as she explodes around my co ck, I feel a warm rush of wetness join the now tepid water. We stay like that for a while, met holding myself inside of her and latching onto her breast as she strokes. my hair and comes down from her high.

“I missed you Angel.” I murmur against her skin, “Goddess I love you.” I know she’s not ready to say it back and I’m alright with that, I know how she feels and her saying it wont change that.

“Cas, bed.” Her words are slurred as I pull myself from her, I lower her legs to the shower floor and step past her to grab the shower head.

“Spread your legs Angel.” She does as I say, her head still against the tiles and her eyes closed. Seems I’ve f ucker her into a state of total. bliss, I quickly turn the shower head to her centre and rinse her down. Satisfied she’s as clean as she’s going to get, I shut off the water, pick her up and carry her into the bedroom.

“Wet.” She murmurs against my damp chest, I just place a k*ss on her forehead and place her into the bed.

“I’ll change the sheets tomorrow.” Flicking out the lap I limp my way around to the other side of the bed, I’ll never admit it to her but I know I’ve pushed myself too far. Although I feel satisfied, I’m also a mass of pain, falling into the bed I pull her onto my chest and close my eyes.

The lack of Eva’s warmth is what wakes me up, squinting my eyes open, I see her standing next to the bed pulling on my t-shirt and a pair of panties.

“Too early.” I grumble as I stretch out a hand to her.

“It’s still late, go back to sleep. I just need some water.” Satisfied with her answer I roll over and close my eyes once again. I fall back to sleep so quickly that I don’t even hear her open and close the door.

Chapter 249

His Rogue Omega: Chapter 82.

Eva

“Too early.” I chuckle as Cas grumbles in his sleep, his hand is searching the sheets for me even though he’s looking at me.

“It’s still late, go back to sleep. I just need some water.” He must be satisfied with my answer because he rolls over in bed and soon the room is filled with his soft snores. I open and close the door as quietly as I can. while the shower was fun I know it must have hurt him. I’m not huge or anything but he has a serious wound in his shoulder, leg and stomach so I can’t imagine holding me against the wall while fucking me was easy for him. The house is eeriest silent. I don’t think I’ve ever been out of the basement at this time of night before. I navigate my way to the kitchen without turning on any of the lights, all I want is a bottle of cold water and then I’ll go and curl with Cas again.

‘Eva. something is wrong.’ I stop before I get to the fridge. I glance around the dark room but I can’t see anything that is out of place.

‘What is it?’ I ask Ghost. I’m in the Pack house kitchen, surely nothing bad can happen in here.

‘Outside, Heath is hurt.’ Fridge forgotten about, I run for the back door, it takes me a minute to understand why it won’t open. Turning the key in the lock I throw it open and the smell of blood hits me instantly.

“Heath?” I call out into the darkness, I can’t see anything thanks to my human eyes but I feel Ghost pushing against me. It doesn’t feel like it does when I’m shifting though, I let her pass and suddenly I can see the garden as if it was/daylight. I spot Heath laid in the grass clutching at his face.

“Luna.” His voice reaches me, it’s full of pain and need so I jump down the porch steps and dash over the grass to him.

“What happened?” Dropping to my knees I see that he’s holding his hand over a long gash that seems to go from his forehead down to the top of his l*p.

“Luna.” I shush him as I try to contact Cas to come and help, when I can’t find him I assume it’s because he’s asleep so I try for Rowan.

'Calm down Eva, you're panicking so you can't reach the links.' I nod my head at Ghost as I try to help Heath stop the bleeding on his face. The blood is just flowing through my fingers though and it's definitely not helping with the whole not panicking thing.

"Eva!" Heath grabs at my t-shirt with his other hand and pulls me close, "run." Feeling a presence behind me I turn just in time to see Martha bring something hard and heavy down on my head.

"He only wanted the female, not the male." I try to open my eyes but they feel so heavy, there is something around my neck and wrists. I try to pull on the bindings but it's no use, they aren't budging.

"He saw us, we couldn't just leave him there." I recognise that voice, it's Martha, Cas's mother. It comes back to me in a flash, Heath being hurt in the garden and then Martha hitting me over the head with something.

'Stay still Eva, don't let them know you're awake.' Heath's voice comes over the Pack link, I try to talk back to him but I can't quite grasp onto the thread. 'It's alright, it's the head wound. Just stay still and let your wolf heal you.' I do as Heath says and stay as still as I can.

"Well what do you want us to do with a Pack Head Warrior, Goddess you people are idiots. You better get out of here before he comes back." I hear a door slamming and then some heavy footsteps, "sorry about this Heath, I don't see a way for you to get out of this one though."

"You could let us go, when Alpha Cas finds out you took his mate he's going to rip you all apart." Heath is clearly pissed and not in pain anymore. I hear chains rattling and can only assume he's tied up like I

"He won't find us, he has no idea about us." The guy sounds so sure but Cas just laughs.

“If you think that’s true then you’re a damn moron. Let her go and maybe he will just hurt you.” I want to scream that I’m not going anywhere without Heath but Ghost urges me to stay still. I can feel her frantically trying to heal me, it’s like this itch under my skin almost like she’s sewing my skin together from the inside.

“That’s enough Hugh,” my blood turns cold as I recognise that voice. “You may leave,” I hear the sound of skin on skin, Heath grunts in pain and then more footsteps. “Well aren’t you the surprise nobody asked for. What to do with you?” I know this tone, Jeremy uses it when he knows exactly what to do but he’s playing with his food before he pounces.

“What do you think, Zoe?” I flinch when he uses the name The Shalamayne gave me, I have no idea how he knows that name. I open my eyes to see Jeremy standing in the middle of what I can only describe as a sexy dungeon. He’s wearing a three piece grey suit, his black shoes are shiny and his dark hair is brushed off his face. He looks just as dreamy as he did on the streets of Seattle when I first met him, however, I’m not so easily fooled anymore.

“My name is Eva.” I say quietly, I keep my eyes on his as he just smirks and steps across the room. His hand lashes out and connects with my jaw, the pain makes my eyes water as I try not to let the pain show on my face.

“I see you’ve developed some bad habits while you’ve been away. We will have to fix that.” He smirks at me again as I just glare at him. I can’t believe that after all I’ve done I end up back in Jeremy’s hands and all because of Martha.

“Leave her alone you bastard, want to hit someone try me on for size.” I look over at Heath, his face is still bleeding but it seems to have slowed. His t-shirt and jeans seem to be soaked in it. he’s struggling against his bindings as if trying to get loose. “Did you hear me?” Heath yells as Jeremy gets up and walks to the door, for a second I think he’s going to leave but all he does is open it to let Liam and Cyrus in. Liam’s eyes connect with mine, sniffing I realise he’s the rogue I smelled in the trees that first time I shifted with Cas, that’s why the scent was so familiar to me.

“You’re a shifter.” I shout out as they both head for Heath. “how did I not know?” Search The FindNovel.net website on Google to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Because you’re a sh it wolf.” Liam goads as he and Cyrus drag Heath from the room, he tries to fight them but with his hands chained he can’t do much other than kick his legs and scream.

“Hold tight Eva, they are coming!” The room goes silent as Jeremy closes the door and looks at me with his arms crossed over his chest.

“Are you going to kill me?” The silence is killing me so I break it with the only question I can think of.

“No, I’m going to remind you of your place and then you are going to be sent home.” Jeremy walks across the room and pulls off his jacket, hanging it on a hook he rolls up his sleeves and walks over to the cupboard. “Go on, ask me, I know you want to.”

“I don’t need to ask, I already know.” I say quietly as I watch him test a whip on his forearm, shaking his head he places it back on the shelf. “I have my wolf now, I can leave if I want to.”

“Not bound in silver you can’t and even if you could there are countless shifters between you and the exit. You aren’t getting out and no one is getting in.” I feel tears fall down my face as he picks up a paddle with what looks like nails hammered into it, “now retraining you is going to hurt but it will be worth it.”

“Why, why do this to me? Just let me go, you don’t want me, you don’t need me. Please let me go.” I know it’s no use begging but I try anyway, I let my tears flow freely as he walks over to me with the paddle in hand.

“Hysion was in Aurora’s bed again this morning, that’s two weeks in a row now.” Anna’s irritation comes across the phone line clearly, I just chuckle and shake my head.

“He cares for her.” I’ve told her this several times now, do I like the pup crawling into Aurora’s bed, hell no but he’s very protective of her.

“Oh will you be saying that when they are of age and he’s got her pregnant?” I growl into the phone, her talking about my baby girl being pregnant is no joke.

“I’ll lock her up before that happens. No mate until she’s at least twenty-one, maybe twenty-five if she’s sassy like you.” I open the back door and step out into the morning garden, without Anna next to me I’ve found myself rising early each day. It’s like me and Leo just can’t settle without her close.

“I’m not that sassy, when are you coming home? I miss you.” Her whine calls to my wolf and I can feel him urging us back to our mate, we haven’t been apart like this since our early years of mating.

“I’m setting off in a few hours. Cas is up and about again so he can get his Pack under control.” I lean over the railing and inhale deeply, at least this part of the country smells good, all the fresh farms in the area I guess. I scrunch up my nose when a scent that doesn’t belong greets me, “hang on little wolf.” Jumping down the steps I walk across the dew covered grass until I am standing in front of a drying blood patch, from the way it’s spread it’s clear the person laid here for a while.

“Fraction, what’s going on?” Anna’s voice is full of worry as I call Leo forward and inhale deeply. He confirms what I thought, there is more than just one person’s blood here. “Fraction?!” Her voice is full of panic

“Little wolf, I’m sorry but I won’t be home just yet.” Standing from the grass I look around but I don’t see anything out of place, taking a few steps towards the ugly as sin cell block I notice the door is open. “I have to go. I’ll call later.” I hang up the phone and slide it into my jeans before she can answer me back.

“Why is that door open?” I turn to see Rowan walking out onto the porch, he’s in jeans and t-shirt, looks weird for this time of a morning. I’m too used to my Beta. James walking around the Pack house in his pyjamas.

“Somethings happened to your Head Warrior and Luna.” I point to the grass and watch as Rowan’s nostrils flare, his eyes go blank for a second and then he nods his head. “He know?” Rowan just looks back at the Pack house before walking past me towards the cells.

“He knows, he’s in the cells.” I jog after Rowan as he heads into the cells, if Cas knows his Head Warrior and Luna are missing then why the hell isn’t more of the Pack here. When Anna went missing, both times, I had my entire Pack around me within minutes and even Darryl from Grey Pack.

“Where is she?” Cas’s roar and the sound of skin meeting skin has me and Rowan running towards the cell the rogue is in. I expect to see Cas beating on the rogue but instead I see him still chained to his chair and the sounds seem to be coming from the cell next to it.

“Goddess, Vince?” Rowan sounds horrified, he’s looking into the open cell with wide eyes and all the colour has drained from his face. “Cas you have to stop or you will kill him.” Poking my head around the bars I see Cas has Vince pushed against the floor and he’s repeatedly punching him in the face. Vince’s face resembles a smashed bloody apple more than the lined angry face he had before.

“He knows where she is, I know he does.” Cas roars as he grabs Vince by his plain t-shirt and starts to shake him, “tell me!”

“Still a pissant pup.” Vince spits blood at Cas causing the Alpha to completely lose control, I manage to grab him around the shoulders. just before he slammed his fists into the old man’s head.

“Easy, kill him and you won’t know where she is.” I mutter into his ear as tries to break free of my p

“I get it, I understand the pain but let us help you.” I nod at Rowan as I drag Cas into the hall, slamming him against the wall. I use a hand on his throat to force him to look at me.

“Let me go.” He growls at me as he claws at my tattooed arm, I squeeze his throat slightly as his wolf comes to his eyes. I can feel Leo just under my own skin, ready to protect me against another Alpha if I need him too.

“Stop.” I pulse out my Alpha aura, I’m stronger than Cas, although he won’t kneel the aura should be enough to soothe him a little. I push it out further and hear whimpering from the cell with the rogue. “Rowan, you good?” I shout without taking my eyes off Cas, his wolf is slowly receding back into him.

“You could cool it a bit so I can move.” Rowan speaks from between clenched teeth, being a Beta he’s probably on the floor, I know James would be and he’s a strong Beta.

“You good, under control? Can I let up?” I stare at Cas until he nods. his head slightly, pulling my aura back as I watch him take a full breath for the first time in minutes.

“He knows where she is, I know it.” Cas gulps as he tries to gain control of his emotions. I’ve been in his position before. I know that no matter what this man will break before he finds his mate. losing that one person who means everything to you has a way of testing you in every way possible. Letting go of his throat I step back and watch him slide to the floor, he lifts his bloody hands to his face and just sits there.

“I get it. beating the sh it out of him won’t get you answers though. It will just give you a dead b*dy and no clue as to where she is.” I crouch down so I’m level with him but I don’t touch him, he’s an Alpha on the edge right now and this could be bad. “I’ll stay and help you through this but we need to get Vince seen to. then we can question him properly.” I know it doesn’t matter what I say, I could say the most sane thing in the world and the man in front of me just won't hear it. He doesn't want to hear it, he just wants his mate back.

"Call your mate and have her come and clean him up." I command Rowan as I step back into the cell. Cas isn't moving off that floor anytime soon. "And get your Alpha some Jameson." Rowan just stares at me, his wolf will be rebelling against taking orders from another Alpha and as a Beta he can resist me more than others.

"Is that what Cas wants?" Rowan stands up from Vince and crosses his arms.

"I get it, you want to protect your Alpha but you need to think clearly." I point back into the hall, "that man doesn't want to hear anything we have to say right now, his wolf is raging and fighting to get out. You need to step up and be his Beta." Rowan looks worried for a second before his eyes go blank, he stays there for a second before coming back to himself.

"Selena is on her way, you don't leave her alone with this f ucker."

Rowan holds my eyes until I nod and then he walks out of the cell. I wait until his footsteps stop and then start again before I lean down to check for a pulse on Vince,

"Do you know where she is?" I murmur to the smashed up man on the floor, his arm is at an odd angle and his face is barely recognizable anymore.

"We did it for his own good." His words come out garbled, he spits up a load of blood before closing the one eye I can see.

"Don't die old man, you will talk." I walk from the room and into the hall to wait for Selena, pulling my phone from my jeans. I see three missed calls from Anna and two from James and Darryl, looking down at Cas I see he hasn't moved since I walked into the cell. Sighing I pull up James's number, I need his advice on how to help Rowan be Cas's rock through this, there is no better man to ask than my own Beta and rock.

"Alpha?" James answers the phone instantly, I can tell from the lack of noise that he is somewhere alone.

"They took his mate, tell me how to help his Beta. Cas is a mess and I don't know what to do." James is the only man I would ask for help from, sure Anna has helped me but
