

The Truth 211

Chapter 211 Little Things..

"Hmm over there," the humanoid light pointed toward one of the runes on the gate, "its figure should be a bit narrower, and... over there! Redraw that rune again from scratch there are too many mistakes on it, and..."

As usual, after almost every week of work, Robin summoned the All-seeing God to see the developments up to the moment and point out the mistakes, so that he could move to the next step steadily and everything he did is in perfect condition.. and today was one of those days.

"Alright.. yes I agree with this one, I also see that... yes..." Robin kept nodding his head, going through everything that the all-seeing god pointed at and burning it in his memory.

After about two minutes of nodding and pointing around, the all-seeing God looked at Robin with the side of his eyes, and pointed at him, "And there too... something is a bit off."

Robin tilted his head and looked toward his own chest, then looked toward the humanoid Light in surprise, "...Huh? what are you talking about?"

"What is this negative atmosphere around you? ...Are you Alright?" the humanoid Light turned its body to face Robin and spoke seriously

"Me? Ahahaha of course I'm fine! what else can I be? ... I'm fiiiiine." Robin hit his chest and declared the humanoid Light looked at him for a long time and said, " Boy, I was not named the All-Seeing God out of the blue, If I say I see something off about you then I know what I'm saying! ...everything we do will be useless if you are not at your best, I'm sending you on a precise mission and I expect only success, If you go distracted and looking for death then you better not go at all! I'll repeat the question... Are you alright?"

"...Sigh~ I don't know.." Robin found himself a chair and put his chin on his hands then added, "I have spent most of my life in complete solitude with no problems, even after returning to the Burton family I have spent most of my time here in seclusion too, to create something or to find Solutions or cultivating... I don't know why being alone suddenly became too heavy for me to bear."

"hmmm I see, Solitude is the way of the Great, whether for cultivating, scheming, or creating... you will never find a social genius who sits with this, drinks wine with that, or finds himself some useless blood sucking friends...

You clearly understand this very well, and it is also clear that you have no problem with the life of solitude since you spent most of your short life in it, and I see that you know your direction very well and you want to keep pressing forward or you wouldn't be here now doing your work even with the high level of depression you are having

The trick, my little friend, is how to vent your human needs after those long periods of stressful hard work... I'm talking about those little things that bring a smile to the lips every now and then to keep you moving forward

There are those who find satisfaction in seeing bloodshed and initiating massacres, and there are those who have their satisfaction in protecting the innocent and hearing the words of thanks, and there are those who seek it in women and make up a large harem to spend some time with, and there are many other examples... The question is, which of those are you?"

"... I don't know, I have no difference in the matter of blood whether I see it or not doesn't matter, and I do not care about the subject of protecting the weak also, I used to do it a lot during my early years in the cave but it was just a stupid burden and I stopped, rescuing one of them is like rescuing a thousand, they keep popping up!

in fact, with my current strength, I think I need the protection of my kids never the less than going around saving some strangers! and For women... this can be difficult...." Robin scratched his head

"difficult? Why would it be difficult...?" The All-seeing God asked, surprised

"...Sigh~ It's not like you are going to tell anyone, well... I have been to a brothel twice lately and tried to do it with two different women, both are gorgeous and expensive! but he.. he didn't respond.." Robin lowered his head.

"He...? Oh!" The All-seeing God seemed to understand something, "Ahem... it's okay... Do not let your preferences defy you, you can make a harem of men you know, who can mock you as long as you have the strength to shut them up? Rise up and announce your preferences bravely and-"

"what are you on about? .. Oh!! WHERE THE F*CK DID YOUR MIND GO?! I love women!!" Robin quickly shouted, sat down again, and continued, "...I used to visit bars and brothels frequently in my younger years, I'm sure I liked women! But when I tried Once again I found it disgusting... I couldn't force myself to do it..."

"Hmm.. the ones you buy with your money can satisfy you physically, but not psychologically, whores lose any advantage when a loved one comes." nod light structure

"A loved one? What are you talking about...?" Robin was surprised, but a certain image clearly appeared in his head

"There are two possibilities for those brothel incidents, and there is no third of them. Either your preferences changed and you should try your luck with men, or you are constantly thinking about another woman and can't stand being intimate with someone else... And believe me, I also hope with all my heart that it will be the second option."

A complicated look appeared on Robin's face, then he turned his face to the left and drowned in his thoughts...

"Pheo~ It seems that the second option is correct then." The All-seeing God said with relief, "Where is she? Why don't you go to her directly and instead try to replace her with whores? Is she.. dead?"

"...." Robin was silent for a few seconds and then spoke, "She is fine, she left me because I don't care about her..."

"HAHAHAHA, women, hah? They are all like that, I also got into a similar situation with my wife number 109... Heh~ those old days.." The All-seeing God burst into laughter

Robin ignored the Light humanoid's laughter and furrowed an eyebrow, now just facing reality... There's no doubt that she really pops up a lot in his head,

Even behind the closed rooms in those brothels, he was comparing the bodies of the women in front of him to Mila's and their beauty to hers, but he thought it was a normal thing since she is the most beautiful woman he saw... but to the point that he can no longer have sex with any other woman?

He had never expected that her absence would affect him to such a degree!

As he seeks to immortalize his name forever, he will travel to another planet to put an entire race under his control!

...but he was depressed because of... a woman?

Chapter 212 Son-In-Law

Robin sank in thought for a few minutes, his eyebrows furrowed and his head between his palms.

'Are the words of the All-seeing God true? Do I really love Mila...?'

There is no doubt that he had more feelings for her than ordinary women, and these feelings deepened more and more during the years she spent in Jura, but... love?

This didn't cross Robin's mind for a moment, his idea of himself being a practical person with only his goal in mind

Falling in love with a woman was definitely not one of his goals...

"...." The humanoid light kept staring at Robin from the side the whole time, and at last, he spoke, "Well, looks like this will take a while, you continue your little existential thinking here, I'm out."

"Wait!! ...even if I wanted to get that girl back, could I? In a few months, I'm going on a mission where I'll spend decades, and probably will never come back... should I just forget about it? should I tell her nothing and just disappear when the time comes..? what should I do..?!" Robin quickly stood up and asked.

The humanoid Light looked deeply into Robin's troubled eyes, deep down he could see Robin was Almost begging for something

He certainly didn't look like he was asking sincerely but wanted to confirm an answer he desperately longed to hear...

the All-seeing God sighed, " Since when this exalted one became the All-Romance God?! ... Heh~ forget it, listen here brat.. as long as you have these feelings for her, go tell her your circumstances and let her decide for herself.

At least if she rejects you, you will gradually be able to forget her, because she is the one who decided to stay away from you, and the feeling of regret that fills you will seize to exist as well, I am sure you will have no problems sleeping with whores again if you probably cut ties with her."

"Feeling... regret...?" Robin looked at the ground for a few seconds and then faced the Temple of Light again, "Can I bring her with me to Nihari? she's strong and she can protect me until I get stronger... I have enough gold to buy more Energy Stones to move one or two more individuals with me."

"Is she beautiful?" the All-seeing god Asked with a serious face

"Of course! She is the most beautiful girl in the kingdom, maybe in the entire continent!" Robin said with a bit of pride

"Then no." The All-seeing God gave a decisive response

"What the...?" Robin was surprised by the response

"The Nihari giants are very lustful creatures. If they see a girl as beautiful and petite like her, they will rape her. My words are not talking about the worst of case scenarios, it is simply what will happen, her strength will do you both no good there."

"Nihari giants..? What do you mean by petite, she is almost as tall as me!" The amount of information in that sentence closed Robin's brain

"You too are petite compared to what you will face there! You will know everything when you arrive there, don't take women and don't take anyone to protect you because they will need protection, this job requires adaptability, intelligence, and even the ability to take humiliation while keeping your head down! if you really want you can take someone with you then pick the one you wouldn't be afraid to sacrifice when the time comes... bye for now."

The All-seeing God said his last sentence and didn't wait for another reply, his body dissipated and hurriedly entered Robin's head

Robin sat for a few minutes trying to flip what had just happened in his head, then suddenly stood up and headed toward his palace with a decisive look in his eyes... It was clear that he had made up his mind.

After another ten days--

Robin came out of the palace and told one of the guards, "Get me the fastest possible transportation to travel to Bradley Pearl City!"

Robin was already following Mila's news whenever the opportunity arose, asking Billy or one of the Fire legion about her whereabouts or her condition, and Billy even assigned part of the intelligence team to closely follow her movements.

And 3 months ago, Mila returned with her father to Bradley's Pearl City.

The situation was already settled in their new lands, and the abundance of saints in the family afforded the patriarch and his daughter the luxury of returning to the capital and living the good life they are used to, and also for Galan to supervise all his lands from his capital...

It's time to meet Mila again.

After 5 days... Outside Bradley's Pearl City...

"Hahaha, My dear son-in-law, I couldn't believe it when I was told that you were spotted near the city, why didn't you give us advance warning to receive you better?" Galan opened his arms in front of the gate and laughed out loud

Robin jumped out of his carriage that was dragged by multiable warhorses, furrowed his eyebrows, and muttered, "son-in-law...?"

"What? You don't want to be called that?" Galan asked, surprised

"No, no, it's good... How are you, my father-in-law?" Robin put a smile on his face and walked over to Galan, extending his hand to shake his

"arghh" But Galan opened his arms and hugged him so tight that he almost broke his ribs, before finally leaving him and asking with a laugh, "Why are you here? A new business deal..? Or are you visiting your fiancée whom you forgot?"

"....." Robin didn't reply directly but just made sure all his bones were in the right place, before adding, "Who could forget Mila? I have just been a bit busy lately, and I'm here now to visit her, where is she? Why didn't she come with you.. is she mad at me?"

"Hahaha good! I heard about you arriving just now and came right away, she probably doesn't know yet... She must be in her mansion now, she has only been out once or twice since we got back to the city and this was to fetch raw resources to make the oath tablets I asked her for, oh, thanks for letting her do that by the way..."

"No problem at all, we're family, aren't we?"

" Hahaha of course!" Galan Advanced and patted Robin's shoulders with enough strength to main a low level knight, then continued, " come, let us catch up at my office, I think we have quite a few things to talk about."

"No problem, but not now! I need to go to Mila now." Robin said with a voice that appeared like crying

Galan nodded, "That will do too," then looked beside him, "Brown, take Robin up into that girl's mansion, and make sure she knows he is there."

"Of course, of course." Saint Brown Bradley took a few steps, "Come with me, Your Excellency."

"Haha, no need for this Uncle Brown, if it wasn't for your testimony that day I probably wouldn't be here today, just call me Robin, let's go!"

Two hours later -- inside Mila's mansion

"I couldn't believe it when they told me that His Excellency Robin had come to visit this little girl. To whom do I owe the pleasure of this visit?" Mila entered the reception room and spoke softly, only Robin was in the room...

Robin quickly turned toward the source of the voice and his eyes roamed her body slowly... "Really? You let me wait two hours for this?"

Mila just looked amazing.

Jewelry, makeup, and luxury clothes, nothing revealing this time, just pure beauty and class, as if she was preparing for a party that only the kings of the world would attend...

This is the first time he has seen Mila in all her elegance... She simply looked like a drawing of a fairy who came out of a painting.

"What? Don't you like how I look?" Mila spun around herself and laughed

"How can I not like it... it's just that I never thought you can become even more beautiful..."

Mila stopped turning and looked at Robin with a cheerful smile, "Oh..? Ice boards can say nice words like everyone else?"

"Hehe, if you don't make the Ice board speak, who can?" Robin laughed low and then pointed to a chair next to him, "Have a seat please, we have a long talk to finish today..."

Chapter 213 Heart Talk

"Here I sat~ now, what is that long talk Your Excellency wants to start with this stupid little girl?" Mila sat right in front of Robin with a big alluring smile on her face

Robin couldn't hold back his laughter after hearing Your Excellency again and again from her, so he gave a low chuckle and then said, "Before anything... why is your father still calling me my son-in-law? and that receptions outside the city... I was afraid to announce my coming so that he wouldn't close the gates! You didn't tell him we broke up?"

Mila smiled, "A decision like this would surely have caused a stir in the relations of the two families, and my father might get angry and consider it an insult to me and to the Bradleys, who knows, he might have completely severed the relations between the two families..."

"Oh..? Do you want to keep your family's good relationship with me so bad? Why did you leave then?" Robin was puzzled, something like that can't be hidden too long anyway

"I don't care, you idiot! ...I wanted to see if you'd come to see me if everything remained the same, an apology wouldn't have made me feel any better if you had come because of problems between the two families, hmph!"

I told them at first that I had come to help them establish the family in the new lands, and then said that you were too busy and that I would spend a few months here until you were done with your seclusions, I was making all kinds of excuses so that no one would think we broke up, just for today... Well... You came on your own and without pressure, whatever you want from me now will be your real decision.. so.. what do you want to say?"

Robin was shocked by the response and smiled spontaneously afterward... The topic he came for hadn't been opened yet, yet he smiled happily today already more than in the past 9 months combined

Although in theory he no longer needs the Bradley family for anything, it is a huge ancient family, who has an extremely long border with him, and has the ways of making Fire Explosion Talismans and Darkness Talismans...

Under no circumstances would Robin turn the situation with them into hostility unless there is absolutely no other way out.

If Galan became angry about the breakup of the engagement, Robin would have tried to make up for it out of guilt because he was on the wrong side...

Mila apparently expected this and did not want to see this version of Robin...

"Mila...." Robin leaned his back forward and spoke but quickly fell into silence, before trying again, "I will... after 2 months I will have to... Sigh~"

Mila turned back to look at him, "What's wrong with you stammer? Are an apology and a little promise that hard?"

"...If only it were that simple...." Robin leaned back to rest his head on the chair and started rubbing his forehead.

"...you are starting to worry me, Robin..why are you here today? Speak, even if we're not together anymore, even without the oath I took... I would never reveal your secrets." Mila furrowed her eyebrows and asked seriously

"The point is, the All-seeing God said... No, you wouldn't know who that is... two weeks ago I was... that wouldn't work either...." Robin tried to start the conversation more than once, but he stopped each time, after a few minutes he resolved and looked at Mila directly, " Any single part of what I want to say to you will not be understandable on its own, for you to understand what I will ask of you later you must know all about my journey from the very beginning until I came to this seat, listen carefully...

When I was 14 I got tired of everything about my life as the family genius and hope and wanted to cripple myself, but I was afraid that my and my mother's lives would have only gone worse, So I left the Burton family and went to that cave where we met with an impossible goal in my mind, to discover my own Minor Law! and then I started-----, but my loneliness drove me even crazier and my dreams developed as I finally was determined to discover a whole path of my own, the path of Truth, and then----"

Robin went on, trying to remember every little detail and put them in the right sequence for her... Sometimes she put her hand on her lips in panic, and sometimes on her chest in relief she smiled sweetly when the day of their fated meeting was mentioned, and her chest narrowed when he explained to her his experience in the cave

when the story reached the moment of his death A few tears fell from her eyes, but soon Her eyes and mouth opened wide when he mentioned the appearance of the Humanoid light and the time stopping act

It's been over two hours since Robin started telling his story, but Mila felt like a moment has passed... and it was one of the most beautiful moments of her life.

The person she loved finally opened his heart to her.

"..... Well, That is it... that's everything that has happened to me during the nearly 170 years I have lived on this planet." Robin finished and reached out his hand and grabbed a glass of water in front of him and drank it in one go, it was a long talk, longer than he thought it would be...

"Planet... Nihari..." Mila muttered furrowed eyebrows, she let him speak without interruption so as not to lose his train of thought, but she certainly remembered the most important point in her head.

Robin smiled, "Smart.. you must be aware of the dangers of this journey, it's a death sentence. Even if a miracle happens and I somehow managed to do it with keeping my head intact, I won't be back for decades."

"..." Mila remained silent for a while, she had already realized all this since he explained his plan, but her heart sank when she heard him talk about the possibilities himself, but she got on her nerves and asked, "And..? Why are you telling me all this now?"

"... Mila, I didn't prevent you from leaving me because I knew my future path, a path in which you do not exist, there is no Caesar or the rest of my adopted kids either, it is only me in another world struggling against fate...

previously I thought it was better to let you go and have you hate me than tell you my fate, but I changed my mind, I didn't want you to think that you were less of a woman than anyone else, or that you were not loved, No... I want you by my side, but fate does not agree... that it.

After I leave today I want you to announce that you broke off the engagement because I am a weird person, and I'll confirm your words so that you preserve your reputation and prestige... The other option is we go and get married for a month or two and then I leave you to live as a widow for the rest of your life... Haha.. hah.."

Robin spoke slowly, feeling suffocated by every word.. the last sentence sounded like sarcasm, but it was Robin's biggest hope, the reason he's here.

Everything was put on the table now, all that was left was Mila's reply... He closed his eyes and silently waited for the answer.

After about two minutes, Mila's voice was finally heard, "You bastard... you selfish bastard..!!"

"..Hah?!" Robin opened his eyes in surprise

"You think you and that fate of yours can treat me like I'm a side character? I'm the one who should have made these decisions from the start! I'm the one who should you say if I want to continue with you or not!!" Mila stood up and kicked Robin in the foot

"Ouch.!!" Robin raised his foot on the bench and began rubbing the spot where he had been kicked, "Why did you hit me?! Damn woman, you broke this beautiful moment of romance and sacrifice!!"

"Dammit, we lost about 9 months because of this nonsense, I could have carried your baby during that time!" Mila again approached Robin and weakly punched his shoulder

"Hi..!!" Robin patted his shoulder, furrowing his eyebrows, but astonishment suddenly appeared on his face, "You... what did you just say?"

Chapter 214 Wedding Gifts

"Why are you so stupid when you are supposed to be a genius? Even if I'm sure you will die tomorrow, I will still agree to marry you today!" Mila put her hand on her chest and announced

"Mila..." Robin said in a low voice, the statement was very strong but sweet at the same time...

"Hehe It is not like I will sacrifice for love or anything, the person who discovered the Heavenly Path of Truth, the person who turned his family from crumbling into the biggest duchy in the kingdom and probably the richest family in the continent, the person who made a God trust him and demand favor from him.. the person I love.. wouldn't die in a mission like this!

...I will consider your mission as a long journey to broaden your horizons, but don't make it a chance to be late if you don't absolutely have to!!" Mila took my step towards him and bent down so that their faces were only a few centimeters apart

Robin couldn't hold himself any longer, so he quickly reached out and grabbed her hair to bring her closer to him, then placed a passionate kiss on her lips.

After a few seconds, he finally let go of her with a smile, but Mila looked down and then looked back at him again, "Why is your little general so excited? We are not married yet darling hehe."

"Hahahaha, he is just so happy to see you, let's go, I want to visit your father right now!" Robin stopped suddenly and took a few steps towards the door

"Uh, maybe you should wait a bit before you get out of here," Mila said shyly pointing at his lower half

"Hm? ooh! " Robin quickly sat down again, "...Do you have tea or coffee here...?"

"Haha, you finally decided on the date of the wedding ceremony?" Galan stood and laughed out loud

"Yes, the wedding will be in the new city of Jura in three weeks from now, if you agree, of course, my father-in-law," said Robin.

"3 weeks... 3 weeks.." Galan sat up and rubbed his lips, "The time frame is very tight, we need at least two months to make a good event and send invitations to a good number of saints and-..."

"Father!! Did you forget that the opening ceremony of the new Jura City and the announcement of the Duchy of Burton will be in 3 weeks? The arrangements are already in place and all the big families will send envoys that day to bless the Burton family, all we have to do is announce that our wedding will be that day too ." Mila interrupted him and said,

"Ah, I totally forgot the date of that Burton family party. Excuse me, Little Robin, my head has a thousand things chasing each other Ahaha." Galan looked at Robin with a sorry look

"Don't mention it, I too forgot about the specific day and your daughter was the one who chose the date." Robin raised his shoulder

"Ahahaha, this is one of the benefits of women, huh?" Galan laughed out loud

Robin laughed out loud and adjusted his seat, "You are absolutely right, they have a remarkable memory for those little things, once I was-..."

"You two, come back to the topic!!" Mila hit her foot on the ground

"cough cough... this day would be really perfect but, what about wedding gifts and all those other formalities? I really think we should wait for a little longer" Galan spoke in a low and rather shy voice, The last war nearly wiped out the Bradley family treasury

"What are you talking about, father-in-law?" Robin interjects, "You have already delivered your wedding gifts by sending many knights and five saints to help us in the time of need. Had it not been for Saint Edward, we would not have revived our family's army so quickly, and had it not been for Mila, the Rune Academy would not have grown and developed so quickly."

"These are simple favors between any two families with a good relation, how is it appropriate as a wedding gift for my eldest daughter to marry your Excellency? Haha, no no I have to arrange something good." Galan laughed and shook his head.

"I will not accept anything else from you, please close this subject for good! Actually, we are the ones who haven't handed you the wedding gifts yet, and... there you go!" said Robin emphatically and then took out three metal tablets from his pocket.

Galan's eyes started shining the moment Robin those famous metal tablets

In the past, he would break it on the head of its owner, but now he looked like a child who saw the most beautiful toy, "What is this? Huh? What is this..?!"

"You know, I recently started selling the Minor Heavenly Law Cultivation Technique of Blaze and heard that the Bradleys hadn't bought it yet, so I brought you this copy of the first and second stages of the Technique." Robin put the first tablet on the table in front of Galan

Seeing the tablet showed a big smile from ear to ear on Galan's face, of course, he wanted this technique!

But it was simply out of reach at the moment, he needs almost 9 million gold coins to even think about it, and this is no longer available after the war, and probably won't be available for a very long time, until he starts reaping something from his new lands at least...

When he was about to thank Robin, he found that Robin continued, "The Techniques of the Heavenly Laws in this world are full of flaws and mistakes, and whoever learns them leaves permanent traces in his foundations that cannot be erased with normal means, and this may cause him to stop his future potential..." At this point he placed one of the tablets on the table in front of Galan, "This is a foundation modification technique, whoever uses it can access the issues in his previous solid cultivation and modify it."

"What-..?!" Galan grabbed the tablet with her hand almost trembling, of course he knew the value of a technique like this!

Even those who don't know the right way to cultivate their laws still have some regrets considering their previous cultivation!

But the question still hit his head and asked, "How do we identify the problems in the previous training...?"

"Good question," Robin puts the third tablet on the table, "This one contains the perfect technique for the first and second stages of the Fire shards Minor Heavenly Law. You can use it as a reference to modify the previous solid cultivation of those who are using this Law."

"P..- Perfect... Technique?! ..Perfect...." Galan simply couldn't help himself!!

Mila looked with the side of her eyes at Robin, "You came to give me a farewell speech, but you have already prepared such well-thought wedding gifts?"

"Let us say that I had confidence in my personal charm hahaha... Ouch!!" Robin laughed out loud but was stopped by a punch in the shoulder, when he looked next to him he found a big smile on Mila's face...

"Slgh~ you are embarrassing me, Robin," Galan shook his head after about two minutes of going through the content of the tablets in his mind and put the three tablets on the table, before speaking again, "If we speak only in the language of gold, these three tablets can't be purchased with gold, not even hundreds of millions of gold coins can buy that Modification technique, let alone the rest..."

"You are doing it again my father-in-law, these are simple things for me that can't even amount in my eyes to be proper gifts to my Mila, If I had time I would have prepared even better things for her, so please don't take it like that, I just hope that after today, our families will be closer than before."

"No, no, it's not enough, listen... I have two other daughters who are younger than Mila, they are not quite as talented, but they are very beautiful too, I can give-"

"Father!!" Mila stood and cried out loud

"what? Don't you want good for your sisters?" Galan asked with an innocent face.

"Hmm... maybe I should leave now to prepare for the wedding, goodbye!" Then Robin stood up and quickly left, afraid that he would be there when Mila smashes the room on Galan's head.

Chapter 215 A Day To Remember

Three weeks later - Jura City

SWOOOOFF... BOOM

boom boom boom boom

"Mom, look!!" A little boy eagerly pointed towards the enchanting colorful explosions in the sky

"Wow, what attractive colors!"

"The city is more beautiful than ever! Ah, I have never seen a city of this structure and beauty in my life... Maybe it rivals the royal capital!"

"I went to the royal capital once, the capital is a little bigger in size, but Jura is more beautiful and more luxurious... I can't imagine how much money they spent on a project like this..."

"Do you think the Burtons are short on money? Look around, they even spare nothing for today's party, these decorations and musical bands and the colorful explosions that have reached over twenty thousand explosions so far, all of this is surely worth hundreds of thousands of gold coins! Right, did you see the Fire Legion parade an hour ago?"

"The Famous Fire Legion put on a public parade?! Oh, Damn me!! why didn't anyone tell me?!"

hustle hustle

The colorful explosions haven't stopped for a moment since the opening festival started 3 hours ago

The explosions were actually arrows attached to them a level 6 fire explosion talisman + a bag filled with various colored sand that fuses very quickly with the explosion, creating this stunning view.

Two more hours later, at dusk, it was finally time for the official announcement of the Duchy of Burton

A huge number of people gathered in the main square looking toward a high platform on which the Burton Family Patriarch and 8 other people were seated

With a quick look, all those who have basic knowledge were left stunned, those eight were all Dukes!

Galan Bradley and Raymond Alton came, of course, and the rest of the Dukes couldn't refuse the invitation even if they wanted to...

After the sale of the Minor Heavenly Law Cultivation Technique of Blaze and the announcement of the name X Burton, the Burton family was simply above A Duke family even If they had a shortage of saints

The only one who didn't show up was Donald Evren, for obvious reasons, and everyone knew he would have come if the Burtons had sent him an invitation!

Under everyone's gaze another person appeared on the high stage, when he appeared, all the Dukes rose from their places and gave a deep bow.

Even the common people who did not know who this person was, just his arrogance that was rightfully integrated into his bones and his aura that they felt without him trying to show off were enough to subdue everyone...

And before anyone realized what was happening, most of them found themselves on their knees.

A few seconds later Brian Burton introduced and exclaimed, "We salute the wise Albert and we are honored to have him in our small town."

THUD

Those who did not kneel yet followed their fellows and got down on their knees... This was the first time that a Sage has appeared in public in hundreds of years!!

Without further ado, the sage gestured to a few knights to come up the platform, carrying a huge scroll, evidently from the hide of a beast.

Then they reached the edge of the platform that faced the crowd and unfolded the scroll

Everyone was more surprised when they saw this huge scroll fully extended, it was tens of meters in all directions and it was clearly a one piece of beast hide and not sewn, the skin looks very solid and can even withstand the attacks of saints..?

'What kind of beast could reach this size and have such power?!' That was the only thing going on in everyone's head!

But everyone's questions were interrupted by a shout from the Fire Legion that was standing nearby, "Long live the Burton Duchy!"

"Long live the Burton Duchy!!!"

Only now did most of them realize that this huge scroll contained a symbol resembling the 3-clawed paw of a huge beast in the middle, with words like Duchy of Bradley or Duchy of Alton around the huge paw... This was the specific map of the new Duchy of Burton!

While everyone was contemplating the absurd size of the Duchy of Burton, they found that the Dukes on the square straightened their backs once again...

Sage Albert left as he came, without saying a word.

"Hahahaha today is a happy day, give out the drinks and food, all our guests please eat whatever you want! Everything in this City is free today! hahahaha" Duke Brian Burton opened his arms and announced

"YEEEEES!!!"

"Long live the Burton family!"

"Long live the drin- ..ahem, long live the Burtons!!!"

boom boom boom boom

Colorful explosions came back in action over the city, turning the night into a bright day

"Haah~ What a day, I don't think the kingdom will witness a similar celebration before at least another five hundred years," said one of the dreamy girls while looking at the sky

"Huh? The night isn't over yet, there is still Robin Burton and Mila Bradley's wedding, it will start in minutes"

"... Haaaah?! let's go!!!"

After about three hours - inside the administrative area of the Burton family

"I didn't expect you to be at the duchy announce today, you even attended my wedding... Thank you for that, and thank you for the gifts... It's nice..." said Robin, leaning against the room door, most of his body covered in shadows.

"Haha, no need to mention such simple things, the Black Sun doesn't announce a new duchy every day, and it doesn't witness the wedding of two of its best geniuses every night!" replied Sage Albert while looking through the room window and then looked back at Robin. "You look nice and polite hehe,"

"Tsk~ Mila said I have to wear this crap or she won't come to the wedding." Robin walked over to a chair and his features were finally visible, with a shaved beard and mustache and brushed his hair back, all dressed in white... This was the traditional look for weddings in the Kingdom of the Black Sun.

"Hmm, Mila is a good girl and she deserved the legendary wedding she got, it's good that you listened to her words, but you looked pored as hell kid, I bet she will punish you for that later" Sage Albert nodded with a laughing face as if to hold himself from laughing as much as possible,

" don't even make me remember it, arghhh! these things we had to do in the marriage ceremony, it was silly and stupid!! I just wanted to get it over with.. how are those silly things supposed to get two persons married?! why not just announce that she is my wife? I felt it is like preparing the two for a long life of humiliation!" Robin spoke while pouring a drink for himself with an angry face

" Don't say that in front of your wife, they love those things haha," then continued, "Look at the bright side, it's over now, Mila Bradley is a perfect start to your harem, you know who's good too? My great-granddaughter!"

"Forget it, I still have a 160-year-old virgin waiting for me, I still need to see if I can satisfy her first!" Robin laughed out loud and shook his head

Chapter 216 Last Session

"This is your loss!" The sage said with a chuckle, then continued, "SO...? why did you contact me and asked to meet here today? You have a bride waiting for you on your bed, why do you want to meet with an old man like me right after your wedding?"

"... There is no need to hide it, Actually soon I'll be gone for a long time, I'll definitely be back, but I don't know when..." Robin spoke in a low voice.

"Oh, really... and...?" an expression of surprise appeared on the sage's face, but they quickly disappeared

"I remember that you promised me earlier to do one thing for me, whatever it is.. and the time has come." Rubin spoke earnestly, "I want the Royal Family to protect the Burton family during my absence from any danger, both internal and external."

The sage raised his eyebrows, "That's easy, I really don't think your family needs protection, in fact, some families are talking to me about protecting them from you haha."

"No one knows what might happen tomorrow. If you think my request is easy, that's better for you, right? Promise me you will do it."

The sage didn't reply directly and remained silent for a few minutes, "You know the politics of the royal family, we can't go and fight with your family if someone attacks your lands, but... I can promise you that no one will touch Jura City in your absence, is that good enough?"

Robin's serious face turned into a smile, "Good.. very good!"

The sage nodded and turned to leave, but he stopped abruptly as if he remembered something, "By the way, the ancestor of the kingdom of Garia noticed the age of your body and asked for a way to return his body to a young man like you, he said he would offer you half of his fortune if you did this for him, And believe me when I say that his fortune is massive! What do you think?"

Robin furrowed his eyebrows and then sighed, "Your Highness, if I told you directly that I refuse to help him, will this affect our relationship?"

Sage Albert shook his head, "No, it has nothing to do with us, but ancestor Noah would not like this response very much, our transactions with the kingdom of Garia will surely be affected, especially those involving the Burton family, a big chunk of the resources you requested has come from there after all..."

"As long as it does not affect the relationship between us and you, there is no problem, as for that trade, there are always alternatives to take... But in order not to put you in a bad situation, let me give you an official response. What happened to me was a phenomenal event that I could NOT repeat even if I wanted to, please send my sorry to that ancestor Noah."

"Oh? The ancestor of our royal family died a hundred years ago, and now I am the oldest person in the royal family and my age is slowly coming to an end as well... If I asked you to do something similar one day, you would also refuse?" Albert narrowed his eyes.

"Don't say that Your Highness, you still have a long life ahead of you, who knows what will happen during those years? everything is possible with a bit of time..." Robin Hinted and went quiet, he did not promise him help and did not refuse outright either...

it would be stupid if he won the enmity of Albert now on something he will face hundreds of years later!

"Hmm, well I can live with that answer, now go get that 160-year-old virgin of yours! Hahaha" said the sage and disappeared.

"Silver Ice Lotus Ink with Giant Forest Worm Sap, and one Broadbrush!" Robin spoke in a hurry, he was hanged from his waist with a rope to a point on the left side of the portal

"Yes!" Mila responded and quickly flew to Robin's side

This is how their honeymoon was from the second night after the wedding...

After a long night of bed wrestling that ended with Robin raising his ancestors' head again, he came straight to work on the portal, but this time his new wife followed him to be his new assistant as well.

And who better than to be an assistant to Robin, other than the head of the Rune Academy?

Robin's work became more efficient and faster with her presence, during the 3 weeks he completed work equivalent to approximately 2 months when he was alone!

He didn't know if it was because of the good and quick help, or because of his recent high spirits... but the answer didn't matter much, in both cases Mila improved his productivity and he was pleased with it.

With this, their days passed quickly.. all day long working on the portal inscriptions, and all night working to determine who was the controlling party in the relationship.

Of course, Mila came out victorious every time.

After another 6 weeks from the wedding ceremony...

"Good... That's good enough... Mila, bring me the ink jar number 34 and brush number 7.." Robin spoke in sweat, looking excitedly up at the Rune that was almost on the floor.

"there you go.." Mila quickly brought the things and passed them nervously

Robin grabbed the brush and dipped it into the jar and then, whoosh, drew straight across over the last Rune.

Bbbzzzzzzzzzzzz

All the Runes on the metal gate glowed for a moment as if they had been resurrected before dimming again.

"Hahahahaha!! We did it!!!" Robin laughed hysterically when he realized what had just happened.

The Space Portal.. has been completed!

All he needs now is to provide it with energy stones and enter the coordinates into the control board and the space portal will be ready to move him wherever he wants!!

"So... are you leaving...?" Mila asked in a hesitant voice, not showing any enthusiasm or happiness.

"haha... Hh.." Robin's laugh was cut off midway when he heard the question, the smile fading away, until suddenly a few moments later, "I'm not leaving now of course! Caesar still needs an extra session in two weeks, have you forgotten?"

"And after the two weeks..." Mila asked again

"We'll see then!" replied Robin, annoyed, then gave a dirty laugh and moved forward and leaned into his lap, "Don't you think this achievement deserves a special celebration?"

"Oh, are you sure? The last time you said you were going to punish me by sleeping alone for two days?" A smile full of meanings looked on Mila's face

"It's because you provoked me! At least cooperate with me more, I'm doing my best here!!" Robin was annoyed

"Hehe No, quickly increase your cultivation level and listen to the little voices and moans you like with your own power, wouldn't it sound even better then?"

"Tsk~just shut up and let's go, you know what, we will do it standing today, to bed for you tonight!!" Robin found nothing more to say, so he slapped her in the buttocks and started walking towards a special corner of the warehouse.

His cultivation level and even his body that was weaker than those who are at his level made it difficult for him to handle a level 26 saint!

He had to squish even an ounce of energy and experience every day to gain some face!

Actually, he finally started thinking of ways to strengthen his body for the first time just because of this!

For the next two weeks with no urgent work and nothing to do, Robin was back in training to increase his strength.

after the first week of trying he came to make sure that strengthening his body with alternatives was much easier said than done, and even if there is room to make it happen he will need months and maybe years to even begin, so he just brushed it aside, and went to raise his cultivation level.

Although he knows that increasing his level does not increase his actual strength by much, every small amount of strength can benefit him wherever he goes...

And indeed, after fifteen days of seclusion, he managed to break through to level 16 of Knighthood without problems and even made a few preparations for the next level...

Today is the date of the last foundation modification session for Caesar...

Today is the date of the last thing that binds him to this world...

Chapter 217 Ability

"AAAAHHHHH.... AAh... AAh...." Caesar's cries slowed down until he stopped completely and fell on his face, but this time the blood did not flow from all the orifices of his face as much as usual, and his eyes were still open, he did not faint as usual..

"Hmmm, your endurance is much better, congratulations on your new foundation, kid!" Robin chuckled and patted Caesar's shoulder, then looked at the standing Fire legion members, "Take him to his house to rest."

...After everyone had left, only Mila was left with him in the room, he felt her gaze on him, but he was afraid to look back at her.

He knew what she was thinking, there was nothing left to tie him to this place anymore, if he wanted he could leave at once!

After a few seconds at last he looked at her for a long time and then moved towards her then gently hugged her and kissed her head, "I will go into seclusion to speak with the All-seeing God to prepare for a plan for the coming period."

"A plan for what! Do you think I'm stupid? Robin.. don't you dare leave without saying goodbye to me! I will follow you step by step from now on." Mila pushed him and yelled

"Hah? Haha, How can I dare do that to my Mila? don't worry, I will talk to him for a moment and ask him for a few things, even if we agreed to make the move today I will still have to cross get out of my room and pass this place to get to the warehouse right? just wait for me here." Robin laughed a fake laugh and stroked her hair

"...En." Mila nodded gently, then watched him as he descended the stairs toward his seclusion room.

swoosh swoosh swoosh

Bright spots began to emerge from Robin's head and gathered in the form of a humanoid light, "Finally you summoned me... are you ready now?"

"...Yes" Robin replied in a low voice

The All-seeing God furrowed his eyebrow, "What is wrong with this depressing response? you didn't manage to get that girl of yours or what? don't worry, It's her loss, you will find many pretty girls where you will go!"

Robin smiled, "Actually, I did marry the girl we spoke to here, My mental state has improved a lot since the last time, your advice was spot on, you should really consider renaming yourself to the All-Romance God hehe..."

"Your mental state has improved? Well, I don't see that in you!" The All-seeing ignored Robin's teasing and then added, "Listen here kid, this is a very important and dangerous task and I think you are well aware of this,

I know you are not fond of the idea of going, but at least Tell yourself otherwise and have some morale or you will die the moment you reach Nihari... and If you absolutely refuse to go, it doesn't matter, I'll think of something else!"

Robin quickly shook his hand, "No no, it's not that... Actually, I have been getting excited to go for a while, I have nothing to do here anymore, and life can be said to be getting boring, seeing another world and taking on a new challenge doesn't seem like a bad idea at all, But.."

"but what..?" the humanoid light Narrowed his eyes

"I have a bad... feeling," Robin spoke slowly

"A feeling? Describe it to me." The all-seeing God didn't mock Robin and asked quickly

"I don't know... I feel bad about something, when it hit me I feel like my heart is squeezing... I feel like someone is choking me!" Robin put his hand over his heart

"oh? To that degree? why does that happen in your opinion? because of leaving your loved ones behind perhaps?" asked all-seeing God again

Robin shook his head, "No, I had that feeling before, it was just a year or two after we meet... At that time Caesar left for an event called the Eight Kingdoms Tournament, Because of this feeling I tried everything to help him, and I was right! ...After my ked arrived there, there were several attempts to kill him, and even my blood brother betrayed the family to make a trap him...

If not for the high-level talismans I sent him, and the arrangements I made with Mila beforehand to protect him, if I didn't even send him Theo and Peon to help him... He would have come back to me a dead body."

"...interesting.. very interesting.." The all-seeing God raised his hand under his chin and muttered.

"What exactly is interesting?!" Robin was surprised, what would interest such a person?

"There is no harm telling you.. since I took the first opportunity to leave my mother planet countless years ago and I have been jumping from one planet to another trying to understand my new path more because there were no manuscripts or previous research talking about this path on my planet...

After moving to several planets and searching for the secrets of the few users of this path on each planet for a few thousands of years I found some useful thing things but some strange things as well mentioning one, I read in one of the history books on a middle planet that a person lived on that planet one day, he invented many techniques and made inscriptions that benefited everyone, and his memory was still alive even after dying for nearly a million years...

He was definitely a student of the true path! Unfortunately, I couldn't find anything left off the track that might help me, but I read something about him that baffled me.. it was said he could memorize any technique just by looking!"

"Memorize any technique just by looking...?" Robin was startled and said the words slowly

"Yeah! Strange, huh?" Then the All-seeing God continued, "I thought that this history book exaggerated the glorification of that person, but I read about his life from several sources and all of them confirmed this information. He was even called the copyist. Some history books even explained situations in which he was able to copy ancient mighty attacking techniques that were kept secret for thousands of years from his enemies after they used them once in front of him!"

"That... But this is very difficult even for the path of the Truth! we should first check the law itself and try to merge or add some other laws and tricks to come closer to the original! that could take months and... and..? wait a moment.. you mean..?" It was as if Robin understood something and suddenly stopped

"I don't mean anything, it might just be an illusion in my head and yours...." The All-seeing God closed his eyes as he shook his head, but suddenly opened them, "But it might not be so..!"

I will only tell you what I know about this... During my travels, I found many traces of others who were using the path of truth. History wrote details about their lives and achievements, most of the things I read I could relate to, but there were sometimes other things that I was not able to do no matter what... it was like a special ability for some sort

In the end, I stopped after I learned that I too have an ability that no one has ever had before me, at least, it was never written about."

"Are you saying that each Truth Master has a certain unique ability?!" Robin stood with his eyes wide open, that was huge news!

Chapter 218 Final Preparations

"Not all of them." the All-Seeing God shook his head, "During my lifetime I have met or read about thousands of truth path users, only nine of them had a special ability that I am unable to comprehend."

"Oh.. you think the original discoverers of the path like us were the ones who enjoyed these special abilities?" Robin sat down and started rubbing his chin

"No, at least one of the ten was a disciple of a former truth master, and another one discovered the path when he was at the top of his planet in terms of strength and age... There is no particular pattern connecting the nine of them.

the only thing they have in common is that this ability has shown itself close after they gained the Truth path approval, they were in a very dire state when their abilities started to show themselves, and somehow every time they had received just the ability they need."

"Strange... I wasn't the one in a dire state at that time! and you mean the Truth itself gives this ability in certain situations and not randomly..? does it like.. have consciousness?!" Robin muttered then raised his face toward the humanoid Light

" I don't know, the only thing I'm sure of is that every one of those abilities really had something to do with the path of the Truth but just a little overpowering compared to the norm of the path.

as for your other questions... I don't anything, I'm still but a student of this magnificent path." the All-seeing God shook his head

Robin frowned, " what kind of a God are you?! anyway, What about your ability? What can you do that I can't?"

"Sorry I can't tell you, my ability is the secret that made me who I am today and no one is allowed to know it, not even my children!" the All-seeing God refuse bluntly

"Hey, that's unfair!! You know mine" Robin furrowed his eyebrows and shouted

"What is my fault that you are an idiot and you revealed it yourself? Secondly, neither I nor you know what your ability is yet.. a bad feeling? What is this exactly? And it may not be ability at all, maybe you are just overthinking the worst because you are worried about your little chicks haha. "

Finding that Robin did not react to him and still looked at him with a strange look, the All-seeing God continued, "Ahem... you told me you were feeling it when he thought of your son Caesar before that incident happened to him... who are you thinking about this time when you get that feeling ?"

"...everyone."

"...." The All-seeing God raised his eyebrows after releasing how serious Robin's thoughts about this matter were, "Boy, don't you dare change your mind about your mission because of this! Even if this is indeed a special ability and something bad will happen to everyone in the future, your presence here with them won't prevent it! if even those saints and that massive army of yours can't do a thing about it then you wouldn't be able to too, you are still too WEAK!"

"I know this! that's one of the reasons why I didn't decide to stay, But..." Robin put his head in his hands

"...You said your preparations saved Caesar earlier, right? That means your bad feeling about the future can be reversed, right?" The all-seeing God suddenly asked

"correct.."

"If you left a few things behind to help everyone, would that make you feel better...?"

"I think so.. what do you want to say?" Robin shrugged, then asked seriously

"I helped you speed up your research once already. What's the problem if I did twice?" The all-seeing God said and then looked seriously at Robin, "Today we will begin your last seclusion in this world, after which I will not accept any excuses... Understand?!"

"... Alright."

After a month and ten days...

KRRR

The sound of the door opening came from the basement

whoosh

A shadow mover quickly and stood in front of the door in a blink, "Robin!! what took you so long? I was worried sick about you!! you told me you were just entering a short meeting with the all-seeing God guy!!"

An involuntary smile appeared on Robin's face as he gently hugged Mila and kissed her on the cheek before speaking, "Would you please summon my kids back here? And Billy too.. I need to talk to you all as soon as possible."

"This... Alright." Mila's heart clenched when she heard these words, he clearly wanted to say goodbye...

Three days later - inside Robin's Palace

"Sorry for... being late.... father." Theo walked in and bowed completely, then found a chair next to the rest. His tongue was still not fully accustomed to speaking yet.

"Oh, you also reached level 16? No wonder you came from the easternmost corner of our Duchy in just three days.." Robin nodded with a smile and then looked at Caesar with a wry smile, "I told you they would outrun you."

"Tsk~ Just a pause, you will soon see how I get past them all!" Caesar punched in the chest with confidence

"Well, everybody's here now..." said Billy, "Robin, why did you ask to meet us today?"

"...." Robin did not reply immediately, but merely looked around at the faces of everyone present, the bad feeling, and suffocation accumulated to an awful degree.

But he quickly restrained himself and said, "..some of you already know what I'm gathering you her for and of you who are still ignorant... for those who don't know yet, I'm about to take a long journey to another planet and it may take tens of years, I'm leaving today in fact."

"what?!" Everyone, except Mila and Caesar, suddenly shouted

"Another planet? What do you mean another planet?!" asked Billy, furrowed with eyebrows.

"You are leaving today? Can we come with you?" Peon asked

Robin gestured with his hand to calm them down, "The topic is long and there is no need to go through its details, the important thing is to know that I will be away for a while, but I will definitely come back... definitely!"

"Dad, please take me with you!!" Zara came forward with tears already filling her eyes

Even after becoming a stunning young lady of about 24 years old, she still finds herself as a child in the presence of the person who once saved her childhood.

"Sorry, my dear, I can't take anyone with me for this mission, especially if it's a lovely girl like you!" Robin said, patting her hair

"Hmph, you just want to run away from everyone you know, looks like you are bored with us and want a change of scenery," Mila said excitedly

Robin looked at her and chuckled, "You know that's not true, even if we put aside how much energy stones it costs to move, it might be too dangerous out there and I can't afford to put anyone of you in danger."

Mila didn't say anything else, she just looked away as a thread of tears started to fall from her eyes.

Seeing that no one else cared about the most important point, Billy shouted again, "Is there anyone still sane in this family?! What the hell do you mean by another planet!!"

Chapter 219 Parting Gifts

Robin looked at his side with a frown, "Another planet means another planet, what do you keep raising trivial matters?!"

"A planet... a planet... you mean those dark things we see in the sky sometimes? What are you going to do here?" Billy kept pressing, he simply didn't want to take it.

"You... Sigh~ We are not alone in the universe, there are other beings on other planets, and I'm going to one of those planets, is that explained enough?"

"This... this..." Billy felt as if a wire had been cut in his head

Robin's words weren't as simple as it seems, if he can go to other planets doesn't that mean that the inhabitants of other planets can come to them as well? Will they come in peace to explore or to conquer? What do we do if they come?

Only a rational Billy who had a huge family to protect thought about these things, while the rest were busy looking at Robin as if it was the last time they would see him.

"Well, maybe we should take this conversation to the next level.. I brought you together today mainly to say goodbye, but also to hand you some new toys." Robin spoke, then reached out to his chair and grabbed an open small bag full of metal tablets

"This..? Did you invent something else?" Billy woke up from his confusion and took a few steps toward the bag, with anxious eyes

"Wow, that was so fast, I thought you faint again hehe." Robin looked at his friend's condition, gave a slight laugh, and began to take out the first tablet.

"This tablet contains the second stage of the Perfect Major Heavenly Law Cultivation Technique of Fire, it will be the property of the Fire legion and will always be with their commander." Then throw toward Caesar

Everyone opened their eyes to the last of them, this was very big news!

The discovery of the second stage of any Minor Law is a cause for celebration and pride. What about the discovery of the second stage of a major law?!

Then Robin took out three more tablets, "the second stage of the Wind Major Law, the second stage of Darkness Major Law, and the second stage of Life Major Law... the first two will also be the private property of both the Wind and Dark Legions commanders whoever that be!

If one of you three decided one day to roam the world and leave the army then do as you wish, just choose a good successor, give him a more strict oath, then hand him the tablet.

As for the Major law of life, it will remain specific to Zara and her future personal disciples... I nominate to open a special fourth smaller legion in which the absolute elites of the family are chosen to study the law of life under Zara's direct supervision, and it is better to keep their numbers few, and of course, they also must follow a strict oath! "

"Wh-.. what the..?!" Billy's heartbeat drove up, everyone was dumbfounded at what they are seeing...

The second stage of the Four Perfect Major Heavenly Law Cultivation Techniques in the family!!

"What?! Can't I advance my research...?" Robin asked with an annoyed face

"When did you have time to research all this?" I asked Mila, surprised

"I had a special moment of enlightenment... that lasted a month..." Robin shrugged the question away, then took out another tablet and threw it toward Caesar, "This tablet contains the second class of the Death Fire Technique."

"Whoaaaaa I knew you wouldn't forget me!!" Caesar happily picked it up, and hugged it as if he saw his long lost child while leaving the tablet of the Perfect Heavenly Law of Fire to fall next to him

"This was also during the last month?!" Mila asked, narrowing her eyes

"Yeah, it was a very productive month," Robin replied, then took out another tablet and gave it to Mila, "This one has a copy of the Foundation Modification Technique that can help upgrade a person's foundations from a minor law to the main law in the same path... You and Billy should use it and train in the Perfect Major Heavenly Law Cultivation Technique of Fire"

Mila opened her eyes wide, even Billy took a few steps toward the tablet and saliva started dripping down on him, "This... if all the elders trained in the Perfect Minor Heavenly Law Cultivation Technique of fire as well, the family will--"

"NO! Only you and Mila can use it!! or you can use it as a reward for the one who makes the biggest contributions to the family and it has to be approved by everyone present here, and you have to be sure of his absolute loyalty to the family, and to ME before he can take this technique, understood?!" Robin spoke decisively

"Huh? Why? If the entire Elder Console are trained on this, they would--"

"NO MEANS NO!" Robin interrupted firmly, then after a few seconds he added, "...I don't feel good when I see of most of them..."

"Don't feel good? What are you talking about...?" asked Mila

"Aha...nothing..." Robin shook his head and took out another tablet and gave it to Mila, "As for this... it is your wedding gift, I'm sorry if it is too late... this tablet contains the first and second stages of the Fire of Life Law Cultivation technique, it is a special technique I made just for you.. after you have upgraded your foundations to be of the perfect fire law, change some of them into the law of life with the help of this technique... Caesar and Zara will teach you how, since you are a high-level Saint now, you'll be able to handle pain much better and you won't need my personal help."

"Robin, this..." Mila's heart pounded when she heard what Robin said, this was simply a very expensive gift!

"No need to say anything, you are more special to me than any gift can say, just don't give it to anyone else, after you are done practicing with it, destroy the tablet." Robin smiled and stroked her hair

He thought a lot about what he would leave for her before he left, and found Caesar's wish to be special wasn't a bad idea... who likes to be special more than women?!

Also, the Fire of Life will preserve her life in his absence much better than the fire shards she is currently using

Chapter 220 My Name

"Wow, looks like when you said you might be gone for a long time, you weren't exaggerating..." Billy looked at the metal tablets in everyone's hands and said.

At this stage, all these tablets weren't just temporary parting gifts, he didn't know when Robin got the time for all of this, but it looks like he is saying his final goodbye!

"Leave that sentence to the end, I'm not done yet." Robin chuckled and then took out another metal tablet, "The energy training technique I made earlier relies on directly absorbing natural energy that is hovering in the atmosphere and it is perfect in this regard, but the density of the natural energy is limited after all and that limit the speed of my technique..."

here, this one contains a specialized technique In absorbing energy from energy stones, using it, a cultivator can absorb a large number of energy stones at the same time and increase his cultivation speed by MUCH... Now that the family is this rich, I think we can provide good amounts of energy stones for our elites, right?"

Billy slowly took two steps and grabbed the tablet in Robin's hand with a dazed look on his face, "This technique..."

"All these techniques that I have produced so far and you have come to be amazed at this one?!" Robin reached out and slapped Billy in the forehead, laughing out loud

"You... don't you realize its value? If it's as you say... it's definitely as important as the Life Major Heavenly Law Technique, maybe more!!"

Robin's first energy training technique is truly miraculous and has rocketly speeded up their cultivation, as for this one that he described as much faster how fast would it be?!

"Really? I didn't think of that.." Robin shrugged

"Have you given it a name?" Billy asked, his eyes not leaving the tablet

Robin shook his head, "No need, it's just an energy absorption technique like the rest and--"

"No! you will have to name it, The atmosphere Energy Absorbing Technique you made earlier needs a name too, stop being lazy!" Billy said angrily

Robin scratched his head and looked around, "Does anyone have a name suggestion? ... come one you have to help me get this guy over my head"

The look on Robin's face softened the atmosphere a lot, even Zara giggled a little and wiped some of her tears.

"The two techniques my husband made are the absolute best, there is no comparable one that ever came before and will never be another that will come after him, unless it was my husband himself who upgrades them again later, they are absolute and incomparable." Mila said proudly, "Let's call them: The Absolute Atmosphere Energy Cultivation Technique and The Absolute Stone Energy Cultivation Technique."

Caesar and the rest nodded, even Billy nodded twice, "I can live with that name..."

Robin gave a big smile, "Okay, as long as we agree, I want The Absolute Atmosphere Energy Cultivation Technique to be disseminated among all of our family members and subfamilies, and also to be auctioned under the name of the creator X Burton... Only The Absolute Stone Energy Cultivation Technique will be preserved for the upper class of the family and the family's special forces."

"Hmm... as you wish, it's your invention after all..." Billy nodded, "As long as the topic is brought up, do you have another recommendation?"

"Yes, spread the policy of increasing births, encourage the bearers of the name Burton to have a lot of babies and to do it fast, give those who give birth to more than four children financial support, and increase the support for each new born."

"Hmmm?" Billy furrowed his eyebrows, this kind of decision might cause a population explosion in the city they just finished, but he eventually nodded and asked, "What else?"

"Begin to enlarge the Special Forces, make it so big that it doesn't even become Special after that, but of course, its growth must remain restricted by an oath of absolute loyalty to the family and to the chief of forces - one of my four sons - ...I think that after the strength they have shown and successive successes, you will have no problem finding volunteers."

Also, don't get all the Rune Masters to create just for sale when you hit like a million talisman in stoke, always keep 50% of what they produce in our storages, put in mind that you will never have enough!"

Billy opened his eyes wide, even the rest of the room looking at each other, if this request is linked to the one before it...

"I thought we would enter into a period of peace and prosperity after our wars were finished and the Duchy is formed, especially since you were leaving..." Billy said solemnly, those decisions are absolutely not to stay peaceful!

"I hope so too, but prevention is better than cure... Do not neglect the army even for a moment, I repeat, Do NOT neglect the army even for one moment... pump most of the profits you gain from selling the talismans that the Rune Academy produces into nurturing more knights and saints to the family, do not leave it in the hands of those old men to spend it On luxury and bullshit, DO YOU UNDERSTAND?!"

"..." Billy was silent for a while, then asked again, "What else?"

"Haha, nothing specific, I'll leave the rest for you, Mila, and the Kids to decide, I trust that you have already got my point and that you will make the right decisions when the time comes."

"Alright then, I won't let you down." Billy patted his chest and looked at Robin's hand, "oh right, We got it off-topic, what else do you have in that treasure bag?"

"Oh, it's some old stuff like the Perfect Minor Heavenly Law Cultivation Technique of Blaze and some other techniques with the ways of making copies of them to sell, you will also find here the way to upgrade the furnaces to make high categorized weapons!

there are also ideas for talismans to teach the Rune Masters... just a few ways to secure the family's profits for years to come," said Robin and threw the bag over to Billy.

"Is that all?" He took it with both his hands and looked at the tablets, "You gave Caesar the fire of death, you gave Mila the fire of life, didn't you do something good for me too?"

"Are you my son or my wife?" Robin looked at him in a weird way

"I'm your friend!!" Billy said agitated, but it was obvious he was joking

"Try harder!" Robin laughed loudly and patted his shoulder

"Sigh~ my feelings hurt but whatever.." Billy put his hand on his chest sadly, before he also burst into laughter, "Alright Alright, looks like the important things are over... I'm leaving now to give you time with your close ones."

"You are family to Billy, secondly, I'm not done yet, there's something very important that you should take care of." Robin grabbed his arm.

"Hmm? What can I do for you?" Billy asked with a serious look on his face

"If I don't come back in fifty years from now..." Robin paused for a moment and continued, "Announce to the world that X Burton is none other than Robin Burton."