

Thrive 39

Chapter 39 Nonsense will come when you open your mouth

Gu Shinian walked beside Mr. Yun, reached out and opened the heavy curtain of the main room for him:

"Grandpa Yun, don't worry too much. If Aunt Wang's illness is not good in the county, we will go to the provincial capital. The aunt my father married later works in the provincial capital hospital. take."

Mr. Yun paused for a while, the expression on his face was a little embarrassing, and he seemed to have some kind of sudden helplessness.

He didn't even think about Gu Shinian's phrase "the aunt married after the father", and he waved his hands and refused:

"Comrade Gu Xiao, I can't give you any more trouble. Sang Nan's mother is crazy, it's the disease of wealth and wealth. Where can we get this disease from the village family? Even if we go to the provincial hospital, we can't afford to see the disease. ."

When the two were talking, they had already entered the back room. The old lady listened to the words of Mr. Yun, and said from the side:

"Comrade Gu, our hospital in Qinghe County is pretty good. We also have acquaintances in the hospital. We'll take a look at Chang Nan's mother's illness, but if it's not good, we don't have to go to the provincial capital to spend that money."

Yun Chang suddenly realized.

No wonder Lao Yun's family was in a hurry to send Widow Wang to the hospital. The feeling was that there were acquaintances in the hospital, and they were very hands-on.

Widow Wang is completely mad, and it is difficult to find out what caused her madness with the current medical level. In the end, the doctor could only ask about Widow Wang's experience in recent days, and attributed her madness to being stimulated.

With the hospital's certificate, Xu Dalan's madness with her sister-in-law has become an established fact.

Widows can logically become the responsibility of the old Wang family.

This black pot, the old Wang family has to carry it, or not.

After thinking about this clearly, how could Yunshang let the old Yun family plan succeed?

"Master, milk, I don't want to be a wild child without a father or mother... I want to take my mother to see a doctor, go to the provincial capital to see a doctor, my mother has money to see a doctor, and let my grandma's family lose money to see a doctor for my mother..."

Yun Chang's words, 'Wild child without father and mother', silenced the old couple of the Yun family.

Listening to her crying again and saying that she was going to take Widow Wang to see a doctor in the provincial capital, the meaning revealed in her words was obviously that she did not want to be separated from Widow Wang, and she was a little stunned for a while.

Mr. Yun frowned and asked inexplicably, "Shangnan, don't you want to live with your grandparents? Your mother is crazy and can't even take care of herself. How will you support you in the future?"

Yun Chang choked a few times, then with her small hands, she replied to Mr. Yun:

"I know how to cook, and I cook for my mother. When my mother gets better, let my mother guard the house for me and the house I recruited... My mother said that if the house is gone, no one will come to my house to stop the door in the future. My dad's door won't stand up."

Gu Shinian: "..."

Gu Shinian was shocked.

When did his cute and cute silly white sweet little sister turn into dumplings filled with sesame seeds?

All kinds of nonsense come when you open your mouth, it's really stupid.

However, no one cared about what Gu Shinian was thinking at the moment. Yun Chang's words hit the deepest part of the Yun family's heart in one fell swoop.

Old Man Yun's eyes were wet. The old lady's tears fell in series:

"My eldest granddaughter still misses her father! Old man, we Dachuan didn't hurt Sangnan in vain..."

"...Hey, it's not in vain." Mr. Yun's lips trembled and he squeezed out a few words with difficulty.

"My eldest granddaughter is right. If I lose my house, what will my granddaughter do in the future? Then Li Hongmei can't build a suite for me... For such a worthless thing as Wang Guihua, let me lose my house, no It's worth it!"

After the old lady finished speaking, she was reluctant to let go when she hugged Yun Chang, and the old man Yun slowly put down the dry smoke and fell into contemplation.

Yun Chang secretly observed around, blinked, turned around and threw herself into the arms of the old lady,

Half coquettish and half tentative:

"Grandma, my mother is sick. You and my grandfather can move to my house. Otherwise, someone will bully my mother at my grandma's house. I can't beat her."

"This....."

The old lady and Mr. Yun looked at each other, then fell silent one after another.

This house was originally said to be built for Widow Wang, and they also crossed the Ming Road in the village. Now Widow Wang has only gotten sick on the front foot, and the old couple has moved here. It is inevitable that the villagers will gossip.

Besides, it is still unclear what the condition of Widow Wang's disease is. If this disease can be optimistic, it is useless to say these things. If it is not good, then we must first discuss the issue of her going to stay, and the old Wang family. To be ripped off...

The old couple's attitude was unclear, Yun Chang couldn't help but cast a look of help to Gu Shinian, who knew that Gu Shinian gave her a look to solve it by himself, and then immediately looked away.

Yun Chang was dumbfounded. She looked back at the old man and then at the old lady. Just as she was about to say something, Yun Erchuan, who went to the village to borrow an ox cart, pushed the door and walked in.

"Father, mother, the bullock cart is parked at the door, when shall we leave?"

Mr. Yun knocked on the cigarette stick, got up and walked out the door, and asked, "Have you opened the letter of introduction?"

"It's open," Yun Erchuan followed behind Mr. Yun, "Uncle Village Chief was afraid that he would not be in time, so he also gave me a letter of introduction."

"Well, take it when you open it. What else did the village chief say?"

"I didn't say anything, just let me find Brother Wang when I have something to do. I also told you and your mother not to stay here and wait for the old Wang's family."

Mr. Yun nodded, went out to take a look at the ox cart, and found that it was clean. He sent Yun Erchuan to find a handful of clean wheat straws, spread a layer on the ox cart, and then turned around to greet Yun Shuilian. Carry the packed bedding onto the ox cart.

Yun Shuilian quickly came out with two quilts in her arms. She first placed the quilts at the front of the ox cart to secure them, and then went back to the house to put the washbasin for washing, the tableware and chopsticks for eating, the teapot for drinking water, and the All the stone troughs for coaxing the widow of the king were loaded into the cart.

Yun Chang looked stunned from the side, and felt that hospitalization in this era was like moving house, and every trivial thing had to be prepared by herself.

At this time, Yun Shui Lian was as busy as a spinning top, and on a cold day, a layer of fine sweat actually appeared on her head.

Yun Chang couldn't help sighing in her heart that her aunt was really a good girl who was diligent and sincere.

The good girl Yun Shuilian coaxed Widow Wang into the car, and quickly checked the things she brought to the hospital to confirm that there were no mistakes, and then she raised her voice to greet Yun Erchuan and set off quickly.

On the ox cart, Yun Chang and Gu Shinian leaned against the bedding and sat in the lee, Widow Wang sat in the middle holding the stone trough, and Yun Shuilian sat at the back of the cart with small items such as the washbasin.

Yun Chang stared at the thick snow on both sides of the road for a while, but soon lost interest, simply tilted her head and carefully looked at Yun Shuilian sitting opposite.