The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2361

Alex immediately started using the skills that the Mystic Maiden taught him, along with the mystical breathing method. In an instant, the energy of the Stardew Fruit burst in him. The power of stars clashed right into one another as his body glowed with silver light. Silver talismans surfaced on his skin, flowing about.

The mysterious breathing method was currently adjusting the power of his organs as well. It made the organs invigorated so that they could absorb and merge with the power of the stars.

Suddenly, he felt a sharp pain coming from within. However, Alex was mentally prepared for this outcome. Back when he swallowed the fires within the Tower of God, a similar reaction occurred as his organs felt like they were being burnt.

Right at this second, the pain was even worse than before. He felt like he was being pricked with needles and stabbed with knives.

The Mystic Maiden mentioned that this was a necessary step. Cultivation was never just a mere breeze. It was a no pain no gain process after all.

Alex had, in fact, trained bodily skills before, such as the Mystic Armor. Yet the only feedback the Mystic Maidan gave him was... that he was even weaker than a piece of her crap.

The Mystic Armor only refined one's bones, concentrating the Chi on one's bones to form a shield. However, the armor was nothing compared to the Strength Training method Alex received. That was because Strength Training methods are used for strengthening oneself. Not only would it strengthen the bones, but it would also enhance the organs and veins. It trained the body as a whole as if it were refining a pill non-stop.

In the end, the core of the subject would change entirely. The body would become a saint.

An hour later, a layer of black oil surfaced from Alex's skin. There was even blood mixed in. Those were the impurities discharged from his body.

“I excreted this much impurities?” Alex himself was surprised. Every time he achieved a particular stage in cultivation, his body would discharge a certain amount of impurities. As time passes, the impurities lessened more and more with every stage. In the end, it was almost unnoticeable. He even thought that he had become a pure entity.

Despite this, the impurities that he excreted this time were even more than the first time he built his foundation.

On the other hand, this mystical breathing method was able to activate his golden core when used. It was vibrating at a constant pace, discharging impurities within his core. This was simply shocking to Alex.

He knew that his golden core was filled with energy, which indicated that this breathing method could cleanse energies, taking out the impurities and leaving pure essence within. He was also able to sense a decrease in energy within his core, yet the power had significantly increased. This meant that the energy in his core had been refined to a higher quality.

“Hey servant, I just realized you’ve learned the Ten-Point Forbidden Spell. But you’re not using the correct methods,” the Mystic Maiden spoke up again, then let out a sigh. “You remind me of someone...”

Alex was confused. “Your man?”

The Mystic Maiden seemed upset. “I haven’t had any marriage arrangements yet.”

Alex replied. “Oh, that doesn’t matter. It’s trendy to try things out now, so you could just move in with someone, sleep in the same bed for some time. Then, if you think they’re the right match, you could marry them. If not, you could just call it quits.”

The Mystic Maiden was shocked. “Is that not immoral?”

“Nope, it’s a thing in this generation.”

Speechless, she snapped. “Bullsh*t!”

‘Does this goddess have something against crap? Why would she cuss whenever she’s mad? What did crap ever do to her?’

After a slight pause, she changed the topic. “This path would be quite difficult to pass. If you’re not careful, you could lose your life...”

After a sigh, she then sounded very alarmed. “Servant, she’s here!”

“Who is?”

“That wild chicken!”

In an instant, Alex immediately put his guard up. Although the Mystic Maiden called her a ‘wild chicken’, that was still a great Golden Immortal Demon.

One of her projections nearly killed him last time. Hence, it would be a piece of cake for her to kill him if she were present in her true form.

“What do we do then?”

“Run for it!”

Alex had thought about this scenario a while ago, so he took out a paper doll and activated it with the Paper Doll Curse of Three Realms. The paper doll instantly turned into his clone and ran in one direction.

He, on the other hand, went in another direction with Pigsy as his transport. However, this was all for naught

As the Mystic Maiden had mentioned before, this demon had extraordinary powers. The Peacock Tribe had many types of mystic arts as well. The fact that she could catch up quickly was most likely because she did something to Alex.

For example, she could’ve made a marking on his soul. Yet, it was quite a difficult task to remove such markings. Even the Mystic Maiden wouldn’t be able to remove it within a short amount of time.

Moreover, removing it would injure Alex, causing him to turn weak. So, without enough time, they decided not to use this method. Else they’d be goners if they caught up with them midway.

“Where are you running off to, you little prick?!” Dolores’ voice was as loud as thunder, showing her true form as a colorful peacock. She flew past Alex and turned back into her human form in mid-air, landing right in front of Alex.

Following behind her were three other peacocks, landing in three different directions, surrounding him and Pigsy.

“Oi, kiddo. What’s this? Are these birdies here to give you trouble?” Pigsy asked.

It then took a glance at Dolores, who looked malicious. Sensing that this person could pose grave danger, Pigsy ducked slightly from fear.

One of the peacocks was a man in his thirties, looking down upon Pigsy. “How dare you speak to us elegant peacocks when you’re just a dirty little pig demon? Do you have a death wish? I’ll be sure to steam and roast you for dinner, then eat your organs as supper.”

Another was drooling, watching Pigsy intently. “Now that you say that, Third Brother, this pig is oddly fragrant, and it’s making me hungry. I think this pig had high-quality meat for sure. We’ll deal with it together. I’d like to have some pork kidney.”

“Alright, you can have both of its kidneys.”

Pigsy felt as if his kidneys were sore upon hearing this. Enraged, it yelled. “You f*cking birds, are you all blind? How could you not know who I am, huh? Just you wait, I’ll rip all your feathers and intestines out, then make you into a barbeque skewer...”

Pigsy seemed well-versed in cursing. It was able to think of different types of insults in an instant.

The Peacock Tribe had always been prideful. Hence, they figured that only lowly peasants would curse. They were at their limit when mocking Pigsy just a while ago, but Pigsy’s words took them aback. It was just way too insulting. None of them have ever experienced this at all.

“Argh! I’ll just kill you off first!” one of the peacocks yelled and lunged at the pig demon.

Suddenly, Dolores reached out and stopped him. “Don’t!”

The man said, "Saint Orlando, I won't do anything to Rockefeller. I'm only going to kill off this insolent pig!"

Dolores replied, "If I'm not mistaken, this pig is not just any ordinary pig. It's a Treasure-hunting Pig! Haha, it looks like our trip here was worthwhile after all. Back then, the three guardians couldn't even find one despite searching for hundreds of years. Yet we managed to catch one here! Ah, what luck! That means my son's luck even affected us. Good things just keep coming one after another!"

"A treasure-hunting pig?" The other three peacocks looked at Pigsy with sheer delight, filled with greediness.

However, they were once again insulted by Pigsy, even more so than before.

It didn't hold back with any curse words as well.

Dolores initially acted all high and mighty, as if she had detached from this realm. But, upon hearing those insults, her face turned green, shivering with rage. "This pig does lack discipline, huh. Alright then, after we get back, I'll make sure to teach you some godd*mn manners. I'll make you into an obedient little pig!"

She then turned to Alex. "Hand over the Chaos Tree, and my son's Chaos Bead and Chaos Bell. Then, I'll consider letting you die less painfully."

Pigsy's eyes lit up. It initially didn't believe that Alex had a Chaos Tree, but now it believed that a little more. Alex was currently thinking of a way to escape this hopeless situation.

However, Pigsy couldn't bear it any longer. It had no idea just how strong the people in front of it were. Hence, it let out a scream and leaped off the ground, lunging toward them as fast as a ray of light.

It then stood straight up like a human in mid-air, expanding its body till it was ten meters tall, using just one of its trotters to stomp on Dolores.

"Unreasonable!" Dolores said as she slapped the pig's head harshly.

This made Pigsy lose balance and roll to the side as if it, were a bowling ball. Its nose and mouth were starting to bleed.

It let out a painful cry, crawling up back to its feet and hiding behind Alex. “Holy sh*t, how is this bird b*tch so strong? Who is she?”

Alex said, “She’s a peacock. And her powers... Well, she’s likely a great Golden Immortal Demon.”

Pigsy gasped loudly, almost fainting on the spot.

‘What the f*ck, a great Golden Immortal demon? Doesn’t that mean we’re done for?’

It immediately turned traitorous and turned to Dolores.

“Bi... Miss Peacock, I’m not with this guy. I was forced to comply. You’re just here for him, right? I have nothing to do with him, so you guys should talk this over. I’ll excuse myself now.”

Dolores didn’t even look at it and said, “Didn’t I just say that I have my eye on you? Which is quite an honor for you. I’ll bring you back to our tribe after I’m done dealing with this human. I won’t kill yo u as long as you serve under me, with the utmost loyalty.”

Pigsy was filled with extremely mixed feelings. It couldn’t help but curse in its head.

‘What the f*ck do you mean to serve you with utmost loyalty? I can pluck out all your feathers and hand you a nice plate of roasted chicks. How’s that, huh?’

Due to sheer rage, Pigsy started viewing these peacocks as chickens instead of birds.

However, it was quivering on the surface, nodding in agreement as it promised to serve Dolores. It even told her that it was talented in many different fields, saying it could do chores for her on top of treasure hunting.

And that it could satisfy all her needs.

Just as Dolores was satisfied with Pigsy’s attitude, it suddenly opened its mouth and spat a large mouthful of saliva at her.

Splash!

It was like pouring rain.

Dolores did not expect this pig to have the guts to spit on her, the Saint of the Peacock Tribe. Her entire face was covered in sticky, half-transparent saliva.

Dolores was a clean freak. She was simply shocked that such a horrifying thing happened to her. Extremely angry, she exploded right there and then.

“You b*stard, I’ll kill you!”

Pigsy ran off immediately after it spat on her. The greatest speed it could achieve was ten times the speed of sound, which meant that it was a master of escaping. However, peacocks were able to fly. Hence, they had an advantage in speed.

She quickly caught up with Pigsy as she reached her talons out to capture it.

Just then, Alex rushed over, using Instant Teleportation as he attacked Dolores from the side. Then, with the concentrated law power within his golden core, he tried saving Pigsy.

A terrifying scene then happened.

Not only was Dolores not defeated from this, but she also wasn’t even injured. On the other hand, she slapped Alex’s back, which let out a loud sound, smashing Alex three meters deep into the ground.

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2364

Pfft...

Alex vomited out some blood. He would’ve died from this attack if he didn’t eat a Stardew Fruit a while ago. The slap would’ve gone through his body. Hence, it was fortunate that he had refined his organs and achieved a body of steel.

The Mystic Maiden scolded him in the mind palace. “Hey, little servant, aren’t you a little too overconfident in yourself? You’re nothing compared to her, yet you dare to try and fight back? You're trying to break a stone with an egg. Do you know that? The only way out is to run!"

Dolores was just way too angry. She felt very humiliated after being spat on by a pig.

However, she regretted it right after slapping Alex on the back. That was because she wanted to take the Chaos Tree and the other mystical tools that Alex owned. If he were to die here, everything in his mind palace would vanish into the void, and it would end up in some other place.

She then felt relieved knowing that Alex wasn't dead yet. "You're just a small little ant compared to me. Do you really think you can escape?"

Dolores stared at Alex coldly, looking down on him as if victory was already at hand. "I just need to use my hand to crush you. So you should know that it's wise to hand over what I want now. I could let you die peacefully, then we can forget all about the past. Else, I'll just have to look for every one of your family members. And burn them all one by one."

After saying this, she noticed that Treasure-hunting Pig's trotters were starting to glow, leaping thousands of meters away. Finally, it was able to break free from one of the peacocks' grasp and decided to ditch Alex to escape.

"Are you trying to escape?"

"Have you asked me for permission yet, hmm?"

Dolores' speed was simply horrifying. She was even quicker than Alex's Instant Teleportation. She managed to catch up with Pigsy in mere seconds, but Pigsy was no weakling either.

For one, it was quite fast of a runner. In such extreme situations, it was able to force out his most extraordinary speed to run for his life, which exceeded ten times his original speed. This also caused void cracks to form behind his tracks.

"Huh?"

"Can it speed up even more?"

“Well, it doesn’t matter. Competing in speed with me is just digging your own grave.”

Dolores turned into her true form and flew over the skies, increasing her speed as she slashed a void into the air.

“Oh my god, you f*cking chicken bird, why are you chasing after me? I am not interested in your old chicken a*s. Don’t chase after me. I like younger women. You’re just an old hag. I won’t want to even look at you!” Pigsy was very vulgar. It kept screaming and shouting curses.

“I’ll skin you alive!” Dolores was so angry that she was going crazy at this rate. She couldn’t bear being insulted like this, especially after being spat on.

Just as Dolores’ hand was a few meters away from Pigsy, it screamed out loud. “F*ck your bird a*s, I’ll suffocate you!”

Pfft!

Pigsy then formed a large yellow mist at his behind, which surrounded Dolores in a mere second. The mist cloud was Pigsy’s fart.

The smell was even more pungent than that of a skunk since it was one of Pigsy’s talents. The fart was so intense that even Alex was able to smell it despite being miles away.

It was so smelly that it shouldn’t have existed in this world. Not even gods would be able to handle it. Moreover, Pigsy had let out a wet fart, which meant that it was even more disgusting than usual as if urine and feces particles were mixed.

Dolores was such a clean freak that she would never be able to bear this at all. She viewed herself as a noble, so this made her wish she wasn’t alive to experience it.

She didn’t even want to continue using this body anymore.

Bleugh!

Dolores immediately ran miles away from him and fell to the ground, vomiting profusely. She even ended up vomiting some bile out. The three other peacocks came to help, yet the moment they got close, the smell of Pigsy's fart attacked their noses brutally.

In an instant, they were all tremendously disgusted. Snot and tears dripped down their faces as they wept hysterically.

Pigsy was proud of himself, laughing at them. "Hehe, now you know how powerful I am, huh, birdies? How do my farts taste? Aren't they just top tier? Do you guys want one more special treatment?"

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2365

After saying that, Pigsy noticed that Dolores was standing back up with a resentful expression. She then leaped from the ground and chased after it once again.

"Oh my lordy lord, the old chicken is going mad!" Pigsy kept making a run for it. Just then, Alex came out of nowhere and landed on its back.

"For f*ck's sake, kiddo, get off of me! I'm going to die because of you!" Pigsy yelled, leaving its precious earring behind as well.

Alex slapped a speed talisman he formed in his palm on Pigsy's back, which took effect immediately. The talisman increased its speed to another level, giving energy into Pigsy's body as both of them turned into a ray of light, fleeing the scene.

"Argh! I'll kill all of you!"

Dolores was enraged to see that Pigsy had exceeded her speed, opening her mouth as she released a ray of red light, attacking Alex with all her might.

Alex's eyes widened as the adrenaline in his body kept rising. Since this was a near-death experience, all the hairs on his head started standing as well.

Pigsy started screaming as it sensed danger as well. Even the Mystic Maiden was panicking, telling Alex to be cautious and dodge.

However, it was just impossible to dodge such great speed.

“Athena, my goddess, please help us!” Alex prayed in his heart.

He then took out the Athena’s Golden Shield he snatched from Dolores and tried blocking the attack. All the golden cores were shaking aggressively. His golden core seemed to have quite obvious changes as well. It was even stronger and brighter than before.

“Block it!” Alex screamed.

At the same time, the red light that Dolores shot out slammed right onto the shield.

Ring!

Aloud ringing noise crashed into his ears.

This was the first time Alex had ever thought he’d gone deaf since he couldn’t hear anything at all. All that was left was the sharp ringing in his ears.

Suddenly, Athena’s golden shield released a blinding golden light. On the shield were mysterious words that looked like they were formed by little tadpoles, forming a mystical wall and blocked off Dolores’ attack. Alex even seemed to have heard Athena’s voice at one point.

It was a sigh, Athena’s sigh.

Whoosh!

Using the force from this attack, Pigsy’s speed had once again exceeded its limits, turning into a void. Moreover, it would even leave a void in every path it passed by. Its speed had reached the maximum limit, which was ten to twenty times the speed of sound, reaching ultrasound even.

In just the blink of an eye, they disappeared from the Peacock tribe’s view.

Smack!

Alex was so angry that he slapped Pigsy’s ears. “You ungrateful b*stard, how could you escape on your own like that?”

Pigsy shrieked. “And you’re just a scam! That chicken almost killed me! How could you say that? Those wild chickens were your problem, so why do I have to take the hit for you?”

Alex replied, "Right, you spat on her and farted on her too. Let's see if she'd chase after you once I take the speed talisman off of you."

Pigsy was shocked. It could tell that Dolores was still chasing after them in the skies. If Alex did that, it would meet its demise later.

"Don't. Please don't. We're a dream team! We've experienced life and death! We're a duo! If we worked together, we could kill off that old hen!"

When Pigsy finished speaking and turned back, it noticed that old hen, Dolores, had used some kind of technique to speed up, clattering and catching up again.

"Ouch, this old hen is really creepy. Brother, does she admire your beauty so much that it put her out of order? Is she carrying your flesh and blood in her belly that she has to risk her life so much to chase you?"

Pigsy shouted, and its voice was surprisingly loud.

Dolores heard all these, and she immediately felt the blood rushing into her brain, feeling like she was almost becoming crazy.

'This dead pig's mouth was so immoral. How dare she says that?'

"I will pull out your tongue," she shouted.

However, Pigsy had a burst of increase in potential after feeling threatened, and its speed rose to another level.

Unfortunately, this pig could not last long. After a while, white smoke came out from the nostrils, and it shouted, asking to stop.

"Holy sh*t, do you have kidney deficiency? You ran for just a little while and then screamed to stop?" Alex could not help but despise as he glanced at Pigsy's buttocks.

The rear tail of Pigsy was like being violated, and shouted, "Who has kidney deficiency? Mine is a super bull kidney. It is so bullish."

Alex was surprised. “Have you ever had a kidney transplant?”

Pigsy’s eyes immediately widened as it was rendered speechless.

At this time, the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens’ voice suddenly came out from Alex’s forehead. She said, “This pig does have some symptoms of kidney deficiency, which could be caused by the overloading the kidneys of seine kind of medicine, and over time, it is deficient, so he cannot run for long.”

The Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens narrated seriously. Alex listened and laughed. “Pigsy, I did not expect you to be such a... Pig!”

Pigsy was furious. “Bullsh*t. What are you? Hiding in the body of this boy? Are you afraid? Are you the kid’s private mistress, afraid of being seen by the boy’s lover for secretly fornicating? So, you rather hide in his body and have fun whenever you want?”

It could also hear the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens’ words, plus it saw before that a female foot would stick out of Alex’s forehead, so it could not control its words before they spilled.

Alex glanced at the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens inside his mind palace. He found her, quietly hovering in mid-air.

It was right next to the Chaos Tree.

The body and the Chaos Tree had a strange connection. Nevertheless, at this time, an extremely incongruous look appeared on her face that had been initially so charming and perfect that she had set a thousand perfections in one.

Irritation, disgust, killing intent, gnashing of teeth... Anyway, it had nothing to do with the goddess but a very human expression.

Finally, she said, “According to this pig’s kidney deficiency, in less than three minutes, that mimosa behind it will catch up with it. But, it is not without a solution. Little slave, feed this pig two Stardew Fruits in a row immediately. Then, it should be able to relieve itself.”

Pigsy heard that.

Wasn't this exactly what it needed?

This was a heavenly good thing and was more than Pigsy could wish for.

Alex thought that after Pigsy's kidney deficiency had been relieved, it would immediately be able to speed up, leaving behind the chasing Dolores. Without saying a word, he immediately stuffed the Stardew Fruits into the pig's mouth.

It was really Pigsy eating the Stardew Fruits. Without even tasting it, the two Stardew Fruits were swallowed.

It immediately felt its whole body was filled with energy as if it became the birthplace of the center of the universe. Its stomach felt like a furnace, with energy rushing to all the meridians, soaring.

Pigsy felt like it was becoming invincible.

This level of energy was so strong that it felt so lonely. It immediately raised its speed to a new level.

"Oh, I can do it! I can do it again!"

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2367

"I think that my kidney deficiency is completely fine!" Pigsy shouted with joy.

It really wanted to bow and thank the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens. "Woman, this is all thanks to you. Forget about what I have just said. You are so good. Of course, you can't steal other people's husbands. We can still be friends. "

After it spoke, the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens replied, "You are welcome, but I just forgot to say, when the medicinal effect of the Stardew Fruit passes, your kidney deficiency problem may be more serious. It will develop into a serious kidney deficiency and may even be..."

Pigsy was dumbfounded at once.

It hastily asked, "What might happen?"

The Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens answered, "You might have a kidney fracture and bleed non-stop."

Pigsy was speechless. Pigsy panicked. It wanted to stop, but the medicinal effect of the Stardew Fruit was too powerful and rampant in its body. The energy leaked out, tearing its internal organs; If that energy was not vented, the body would burst because it could not bear the pressure.

In this situation, it could only run wildly to vent.

However, it also felt that something was wrong with its body. The kidneys were in pain and seemed to be cracking open.

Although it could not see the kidney splitting and bleeding, it felt even more panicked simply because it could not see it happening.

"Beauty, goddess, what should I do? You save me!" Pigsy begged for mercy.

"I have a breathing method that can not only resolve your situation, but also make your cultivation go to the next level, and even achieve demon god status... However, this breathing method of mine is not for free. There are conditions."

"Fine, fine, whatever the conditions are, I will agree to them."

"Sign the contract and become my pet."

"Impossible..!"

Pigsy shouted with a determined face.

Nonetheless, as time dragged on, it found itself feeling increasingly worse as blood flowed down the back of its buttocks. Pigsy was scared and nearly screamed on the spot.

As a pig with a quest, if its kidney was broken, what was the point of a pig's life?

Therefore, it decided firmly to become the pet of the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens and said with incomparable dedication, "My supreme and beautiful mistress, I am willing to become the holy beast that guards you. I shall guard your beautiful legend every day and every night and aspire to become the most favored spirit pet of my master."

Alex felt as if he had a toothache after listening to the pig. This pig was simply the epitome of shamelessness. Then, it quickly signed a contract with the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens. After signing, it shamelessly said, "Master, I can lick your toes as long as you teach me the breathing method to resolve this crisis of mine."

Alex said helplessly, "Aren't you a super invincible treasure hunting pig? How dare you say such words. It's too disgusting, right?"

Pigsy said, "We are the same. Don't think that I did not hear. You are the master's little slave. Your status is lower than mine, the pet! Come on, come on, hurry up and help me, the master's spirit pet, scratch the back, scratch well, there is a prize."

As a result, the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens said, "The status of the little slave is higher than you. In the future, you have to listen to him."

Pigsy was speechless. He was about to die from depression.

In the end, Pigsy obtained the breathing method from the Nine Heavenly Mystical Maidens.

Alex thought it was another strange breathing method. Still, when he heard it, he realized it was actually the same as the one the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens taught him, and only then did he finally understand that this breathing method could be used wholesale.

The Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens uttered, "Well, Pigsy, you can now escape while practicing the breathing method. Remember, escape into the Endless Sea. Follow this path to the west, do not change direction. Whether you can survive this robbery depends on what's in front."

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2368

"Toward the Endless Sea?"

"My almighty beautiful master, are you serious?"

Pigsy was confused and felt its kidneys begin to deflate again. However, this time its buttocks did not bleed, but its heart did.

Was that place a place where people could go?

That was the Undying Clan's former stronghold. So many powerful undying demon beasts survived. They were way more powerful than those above the land, and there was a constant poisonous fog and a variety of endless prohibitions... These days, the fishermen obediently bypass the Endless Sea. Those whose cultivation was more than immortals also dared not rush into the Endless Sea. It was a pig. How would it be so daring as to go to that dangerous place?

The Nine Heavenly Mystical Maidens answered, "No nonsense, run, or be surrounded."

Her divine thought was obviously the strongest among the others. Well, it was inaccurate to describe it as a few people, but one person, one pig and one ghost

Even if the Nine Heavenly Mystical Maidens used the Chaos Tree's leaves and Chaos Beads to make a body temporarily, that was still the same existence as a ghost.

"But, but, that's the Endless Sea!"

"Run!"

The Mystic Maiden was angry. A pet was actually defying her will.

Pigsy was shocked. Its pig face turned purple as it hurriedly spread its hooves, charging all the way toward the west wildly while doing the breathing method taught to it by the Mystic Maiden, which was very powerful. Once it was running, its five internal organs were vibrating and resonating, and the energy of the Stardew Fruit was absorbed quickly, unlike before, when it rampaged in its stomach without restraint.

"Ah... How comfortable!" Pigsy opened its mouth and made an extremely obscene sound.

It was a strange sound indeed.

"My dear master, may I ask what kind of breathing technique is this? May I praise you some?" Pigsy asked without modesty, treating flattery as the greatest pursuit in life, rendering Alex a moment of speechlessness.

“You can call it the Old Bull Breathing Technique,” the Mystic Maiden said.

“Old Bull...” Pigsy wanted to vomit.

Alex laughed. “Now, your kidneys can finally become cow kidneys without a transplant.”

Pigsy jarred, “I’m better than you, a slave. I feel that after learning this breathing technique, I am stronger, faster, and my vision is brighter. You only have envy and jealousy.”

Alex said indifferently, “I learned it a long time ago. Moreover, to learn this breathing method, it is best to have chaos Chi energy to go with it. I have the chaos Chi energy. I can cross over to the extreme in a short time, you... Can only take your time.”

Pigsy was depressed. However, its speed didn’t change, and it soon rushed to the edge of the Endless Sea, where many people were standing, still looking at Mount Oro on the far side of the Endless Sea from afar, refusing to leave.

As a result, they saw a man riding a gigantic hairless pig rushing over... This year, many people were riding pets, such as tigers, wolves, earth dragons, and flying birds. But, this was really the first time they were seeing someone riding a pig.

The crowd immediately pointed out at them.

“Holy sh*t There’s a pig coming over.”

“Who is this guy? It’s too corny.”

“Uh, didn’t you guys notice? That pig is running at a weird speed. There is a void around it. This is several times, in fact, ten times the speed of sound. If I were to travel, I would arrive in a blink of an eye. So I’m not hallucinating, right?”

At this moment, the voice of the great Golden Immortal Demon, Dolores, came from behind, “Fellow Taoists, I am the Holy Nun of Peacock Mountain. Please help stop that hairless pig. The Peacock Mountain will greatly reward you.”

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2369

One word came out and shook the world.

Many people were shocked. "It's the sacred nun of Peacock Mountain. That Peacock Mountain is on the mysterious island in the North Sea, a party of hegemony since ancient times. Today, she appears."

The crowd was shocked.

What kind of earth-shattering things did that white pig do to alarmed the Peacock Mountain's sacred nun for her to chase it personally?

However, the reward from Peacock Mountain was not nothing, and Dolores's words compelled some people to strike at Alex and Pigsy brazenly.

"Get lost!"

Alex was indifferent. He shouted and brought out a gun, killing one person on the spot, cleanly and decisively.

Pigsy wailed, "Dolores, you silly b*tch. Stop chasing an old pig like me. I just slept with you for three days out of emotional attachment. But, I am a prodigal son. I cannot give up a whole forest for you. So, you go back and raise our baby. When the child is born, I will go to Peacock Mountain to see you. "

Pigsy sounded oddly loud and echoey.

Those who did not know the truth widened their eyes as they cast admiring glances.

"What is the origin of this pig? It is making the sacred nun of Peacock Mountain chase after it. She doesn't even care about her reputation at all. This is true love!"

"Pig and bird lovers, this is true love."

"This is a cross-border interracial love. But, I wonder if the child born is more like a pig or more like a peacock Will a new species with a pig head and peacock body be born?"

These gossips floated into Dolores's ears. She was so angry that her brain pressure rose on the spot. Then, finally, there was blackness in front of her eyes. She was the Peacock Tribe's sacred nun, who was once the leader of the younger generation. Up until now, her holiness could not be violated. In the Peacock Tribe, her reputation even exceeded the patriarch.

When had she ever been so falsely accused, corrupting her name and reputation?

"You damned pig, I will kill you, no matter if you go to heaven or earth, you will die for sure. The Peacock Tribe will hunt you down for life and death until you die!"

Dolores was burning with indescribable anger. Her loud and stern roar was like a thundering sword. People within a 10-mile radius felt restless as if a great disaster was coming.

However, Pigsy still kept yelling, "Listen, everyone! Let's judge this evil woman. How could she be so bad? There's a saying, husbands and wives ought to be kind to each other. We have only been together for three days, but there should be 300 days of kindness, right? Do you want the child in your womb to be born without a father? You're treacherous!"

Pigsy said this with a sad voice as it got into character. Dolores, however, was so angry that she almost vomited blood.

Some people were nosy and comforted, "Pig friend, your lover loves you too much to do so. Since the child is already there, you should not run away! Couples should love one another. Wait for the child to be born, from then on, live happily together, no? Peacock friend, since you love him, you must not fight and kill. You do not want to be a widow, right? Do sit down together and talk it out..."

Poof!

Dolores finally could not hold back anymore, and she stiffly spat out a mouthful of dark blood.

She could not catch up with Pigsy and so vented her anger on the one who had just spoken. Then, with a beat of her huge wings, she slapped that person on the spot, and that person exploded into pieces, dying instantly.

This time, no one dared to speak up to persuade her anymore.

At the same time, Dolores was raging. No matter the cost, she launched the forbidden spell for the race, which surprisingly increased her speed again. Even if she burned her life, she would chop that damn pig into pieces. However, just as Dolores started to smile coldly and, in the eyes of the crowd, would soon catch up with Pigsy, Pigsy suddenly rushed to the Endless Sea, reaching the depths of the sea in the blink of an eye.

Everyone drew a cold breath.

“To avoid its lover, this pig has rushed into the Endless Sea?”

“Isn’t it afraid of being killed by undying demon beasts?”

“Maybe in its eyes, the lover is more terrifying than the undying demon beast. Is it because this peacock’s daily requests are too much? That pig has kidney problems?”

The Pinnacle of Life Chapter 2370

“Argh!”

“You all deserve to die!”

Dolores was furious. She looked up to the sky and shouted at those who spoke foul words. She wanted to kill. Peacock Mountain and her reputation could not be ruined today in the mouth of that unethical pig. So, she shouted sternly at the other three Peacock clansmen, “Leave two, kill everyone here! Sam, you come with me and chase that evil beast!”

Sam’s eyes twitched. “Sacred Nun, that’s the Endless Sea. Think twice!”

Dolores was now angry with Pigsy. But, it was regardless of whether it was a mountain of sword or a sea of fire. “No need to think twice. I’m not worthy of my name Dolores until I catch up with that hairless pig.”

She shouted sternly, her wings flapping and flew toward the Endless Sea.

Sam hesitated for a moment but could only follow unwillingly and kept praying in his heart that no uncontrollable danger would arise.

As for the other few Peacock clansmen, they rushed into the crowd like wolves and tigers, transforming into the gods of death, killing everyone on sight!

“The Peacock clansmen are crazy. They’re going on a killing spree and killing all of us here!”

“Let’s all go together and get rid of these two stupid birds!”

The two from the Peacock Clan were met with extreme resistance and were jointly targeted.

However, the Peacock Clan was a great clan left from ancient times, and the clan possessed many mysterious and unpredictable means. Even though these two clansmen were a few notches below Dolores, they were still above Immortalization, plus they controlled supreme magic treasures in their hands, so they were simply not something ordinary cultivators could fight against.

In the blink of an eye, there were woes everywhere. Murder and blood.

The old, the weak women, and the children who ran here together to watch the show did not escape the tragic fate of being slaughtered.

A little girl, who saw her grandfather’s head chopped off by a Peacock Clan member, was dumbfounded, and her whole body was stiff with horror, and just as she was crying out in pain, she was broken into pieces by a Peacock clansman.

“Roar, you Peacock Mountain, do you want to make enemies with the whole world? Is there any humanity left, not even sparing little children?”

“Death is not to be regretted, this bunch of ants!” that Peacock clansman responded coldly and continued to kill.

There was blood and corpses everywhere. Many people were killed because the other side was too strong.

Everyone said that on Peacock Mountain, there were immortals. The rumors were true, and there was more than one, probably every one of them was an immortal. In this case, it was impossible to fight back!

"Everyone, run to the Endless Sea!"

"Spread out, enter the Endless Sea, maybe there is a chance of survival, whoever can escape, must let the world know the evil deeds of Peacock Mountain, so that everyone knows the true nature of Peacock Mountain, especially that sacred nun, who is not only psychologically sick and demanding, but also has a vicious heart!"

The crowd spread out and rushed into the Endless Sea, burrowing at once inside the deep seawater.

In the Endless Sea, Alex clenched his fist and slapped Pigsy heavily on his body.

"Ouch, little slave, why are you hitting me?" Pigsy shouted.

"Those few mimosas are actually on a killing spree on the beach. Even the children are not spared. Those who heard you just now were all killed! Old Pig, this karma should be on your head. Those people are dead because of you!" Alex had just left two paper doll puppets on the shore and saw what happened there clearly, and suddenly he felt sick to the core.

Cruel, ruthless. The people of this clan did not take human life seriously at all.

They should be killed!

Pigsy shouted, "Nonsense, what does those mimosas killing people have to do with me? Less b*llshit here. The karma is also yours. Hit me again, I'll throw you out!"

The Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens said, "Stop quarreling. Up ahead is the key to whether we can get out of danger or not, Pigsy, dive down to the bottom."

"What?!"

Pigsy was alarmed. Now it was on the surface of the sea, but once deep under the sea, it might really encounter undying demon beasts, there were rumors that the undying demon beasts either would not appear or would appear as a large group. If they surrounded them, death awaited.

“Go down!” the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens shouted in shock.

Pigsy immediately dived into the sea, but it was not slow at all.

However, Dolores, who was following closely behind, was actually fast in the water as well.

Alex seemed to feel the Mysterious Maiden of Nine Heavens’ cautiousness, and a feeling rose in his heart that she should also be a little worried about her current situation. If he was killed, she might also die along with him...

Logically, once the slave’s contract was signed, when the master died, the slave died, too. However, there had never been a case where the slave died, and the master died along, too.
