

Triplets On SM 1111

Chapter 1111-Everyone was shocked by the scene in front of them.

Out of which, the scar-faced man's men were the most shocked.

To them, the martial art families were people beyond their reach. Therefore, the status and power of the two leaders were very high in their eyes.

What they didn't expect was that one of their leaders was on the ground and the other was captured.

Without a leader, the rest of them had lost the will to continue fighting.

It didn't take long for all of them to be taken care of.

About 20 minutes later, over 100 men who were left to guard the place were all thrown into the warehouse.

The ones that were alive were all tied up.

Folke breathed a sigh of relief, but he didn't look relieved at all.

He had brought four squads with him this time. Some of the members of the squad died in that battle and some were severely injured.

He said to Jamie and Hector, who weren't severely injured, "Count the man and check on the injuries of our men."

The two of them nodded and went to do their jobs.

Dubhe came down from upstairs and said to his subordinates, "Go help."

His subordinates obeyed the order and went off to do their job as well.

The scar-faced man and the woman didn't expect themselves to have lost.

Their faces were full of disbelief. "Who the hell are you?"

When the woman saw Merak's face, she couldn't accept defeat at all.

Merak was just a teenager with a baby face.

She couldn't believe that she lost to such a person.

"Losers are not worthy to know our names," said Merak as she looked down on them. She then couldn't be bothered to talk to them anymore. She looked at Folke. "I haven't seen you in ages, Folke. I didn't expect to see you in such a poor state."

Folke smiled bitterly. "You're right. I have to thank you and Dubhe. Otherwise, I don't know what we'll end up like."

When he was behind the shelf and heard this girl's voice, he thought he had misheard.

The good thing was that he didn't mishear; it really was Merak.

"We're on the same side. You don't need to thank me." Merak giggled. "If you really want to thank me then all you have to do is to treat me to 100 lollipops."

"Not a problem." Folke didn't hesitate to agree. He then looked at Dubhe. "But how come you're here as well?"

Dubhe looked at the scar-faced man and the others who were on the ground and said nonchalantly, "Let's talk outside."

Folke nodded.

Soon, the three of them gathered outside.

Dubhe told Folke about the supplies that they were ordered to escort and the matter of them taking back the medical supplies on their way as well.

When Folke heard that, he became a little excited. "So, are you saying you've taken back two warehouses of medical supplies, right?"

"Yes. We've ordered our men to send the medical supplies to the slums first before we got here."

With that said, Dubhe frowned. "However, what I didn't expect was to bump into you here. How did you know there were supplies here?"

"That's a long story..." Folke sighed.

He told Dubhe and Merak about the lack of medical supplies in the slum and the lead that the elder gave her.

He then concluded, "Therefore, under the elder's guide, we came to take back the supplies."

"I see." Dubhe was finally about to understand what was going on.

"You've brought so many men. Are the slums safe? Isn't the Master's wife there?"

Would there be any danger?"

As soon as Merak said those words, Dubhe looked at Folke as well.

Folke was a little taken aback and finally remembered. "The Master's wife came us this time. She's waiting for us about 10 kilometers away. Now that things have been settled here, she would bring the medical team over to treat my men."

Chapter 1112-"What? You've brought her here?" Dubhe and Merak's faces changed instantly.

A helpless expression appeared on Folke's face. "I wasn't planning on bringing her, but the elder who gave us clues was saved by her. He insisted that she come with us. I had no choice."

"You should have told us this earlier." The casual look on Merak's face disappeared. She then said, "Dubhe and I were ordered to protect her. If something happened to her because you've brought her out, then Master is not going to let us off that easily."

With that said, Merak wasted no time and said to Dubhe, "Dubhe, shall we go find Madam?"

Dubhe nodded in agreement. "Merak and I will go and meet up with her. After that, we'll bring her over. You stay here and clean up the battlefield."

Folke nodded. "Okay, thank you..."

Before he could finish his sentence, the two of them had already disappeared.

Meanwhile, in the camp that Molly and the others were in.

Jason had already gone out for over half an hour, but had not yet returned.

Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Burce were beginning to feel worried. "What should we do? Should we go look for Jason? Had something happened to him?"

Molly was a little worried as well as she looked at Eric, who was next to her.

"Eric, how about we go and see what's going on?"

Eric was quite worried as well, but after some hesitation, he shook his head.

"Jason has always been a very careful person. He should be fine. Let's wait a little longer. If he doesn't come back in 10 minutes, then I'll go and check on him."

When everyone heard those words, they could only wait worriedly as time passed slowly.

Mr. Dan was lying on a mat and his face was full of guilt. "It's all my fault. If I didn't insist on looking for the wolf cub, then Jason wouldn't have gone out.

What would I do if anything happened to him."

Seeing how guilty he was feeling, Molly tried to comfort him.

However, Eric suddenly said quietly, "There's the sound of footsteps."

Everyone's eyes lit up and looked outside.

In the dark, under the dim light, someone was heading towards them with incredible speed.

"Is that Jason?"

Molly leaned against the car door and tried to get a clear view.

However, the environment was too dim and she couldn't see clearly.

Everyone else shook their heads as well. None of them could get a clear view.

Only Eric was able to see clearly after squinting his eyes. He then said desperately, "It's Jason! He's got a wolf in his arms as well. There's... blood on him as well."

"Is my wolf cub injured or is Jason injured?"

Mr. Dan was both excited and worried.

Eric shook his head. "I'm not sure. I'll go take a look..."

As he said that, he jumped off the car.

Seeing this, Molly followed as well.

If someone was injured, they would need immediate treatment.

However, at that moment, Jason shouted from not too far away, "Don't get off the car. Go back inside. It's dangerous..."

Everyone felt confused and looked in Jason's direction.

All they could see was the fear on his face as he ran as fast as he could. There seemed to be a white figure not too far behind him.

It was very fast and it didn't take long for everyone to see what it was.

When everyone present, saw what the white figure was, they were terrified.

They finally understood why Jason wanted them to stay in the car.

That was because the figure behind him was a giant white tiger.

Its strong limbs showed how powerful it was.

Its eyes glowed in the dark and looked terrifying.

Molly was dumbfounded.

She was so scared that she couldn't move at all. She felt all the energy drained from her limbs.

Chapter 1113-“This place is not only in a mess, but why are there tigers?”

Both Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce were so scared that they broke into a cold sweat.

“Domster's already in such a mess, and those fierce animals in the zoos could no longer be kept in cages anymore. I also saw two lions about two weeks ago as well,” Dan answered their question. However, his voice sounded nervous as well.

He then shouted at Molly, “What are you doing, young lady? Get in the car! Do you want to be swallowed by that thing?”

“I want to move as well, but my legs aren't responding.”

Molly was already in tears.

She had thought about all the dangers that she could have encountered when she came to Domster, but she had never thought she would bump into such beasts.

Soon, Jason arrived in front of Molly.

A wolf cub was in his hands.

The wolf cub's fur was silver and it looked very pretty. The cub wasn't small, either.

However, one of its legs was injured and there was a lot of blood.

At that moment, the cub seemed to have sensed the presence of Dan. It then jumped out of Jason's arms.

Because it was injured, it could not get into the car and could only circle around it.

However, at that moment, no one was paying attention to the cub.

Everyone was looking at the tiger not too far away from them.

The white tiger was fierce and had been chasing Jason.

When Jason stopped, it stopped as well. Its eyes were sizing the people in front of it.

Eric subconsciously stood in front of Molly and couldn't help but ask, "What the hell is going on? You've gone to find the wolf cub; how were you able to draw this thing over?"

Jason smiled bitterly. "I didn't want to, but the cub was injured and surrounded by a pack of wolves, so I thought of an idea to save it. When I saved the cub, the white tiger appeared."

“What should we do now?” Eric asked with a frown.

“I’ve used all of my bullets. You can shoot it if it launches an attack on us. Dr.

May, get back into the car when you get the chance and close the door. Eric and I will think of a way to deal with this tiger.”

Molly had finally calmed down a little.

She still felt weak, but still nodded her head. “Okay.”

She knew she would be of no help if she stayed. Therefore, she didn’t hesitate to agree with their plan.

After that, Jason pulled out a dagger and stared at the white tiger alarmingly. At the same time, he said to Molly, “Let’s back off slowly now.”

Molly nodded and subconsciously moved her legs. At the same time, she kept her eyes on the white tiger.

Whilst Molly kept her eyes on the white tiger, she kept getting the feeling that the tiger was staring at her.

It was as if the tiger was staring at its prey.

Molly quickly broke into a cold sweat. She then moved a few more steps.

She was just about to get close enough to jump into the car, but she accidentally bumped into the wolf cub behind her.

The wolf cub howled in pain quite loudly.

At the same moment, the white tiger suddenly pounced forward towards Molly.

“Eric, shoot it!” Jason saw that things were getting out of hand and quickly shouted to Eric.

However, the white tiger was too fast, which caused Eric to miss.

Soon, the white tiger arrived in front of Molly.

Molly’s face turned pale. She had no time to react at all.

Both Eric and Jason’s faces changed. “Dr. May!”

“Dr. May!”

“Molly!”

The doctors in the car and Dan let out a cry as well.

As soon as their voices died down, Molly was pinned to the ground by the white tiger...

Chapter 1114-Molly thought that she was going to die and felt hopeless.

Everyone present thought they were going to see a bloody sight.

Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Bruce covered their eyes and didn’t dare to continue to watch.

Dan fell off the mat as well.

Jason and Eric rushed over with a dagger in their hands and red eyes. They were determined to kill the white tiger.

However, when they arrived in front of the white tiger, the scene in front of them stunned them.

The white tiger pinned Molly to the ground with its front paws, but it had no intention of eating her. It was actually rubbing its nose against Molly's head.

It looked like it was sniffing her scent.

Molly froze on the spot.

She wasn't eaten by the tiger and got lucky, but the animal in front of her was still a beast. The two of them were basically face-to-face and it was too much of an impact for her.

Molly was so scared that she was about to faint.

Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Bruce in the car didn't hear anything and thought that Molly didn't even have time to scream before being swallowed in one bite. They only removed their hands from their eyes a while later.

In the end, they looked at the shocking scene in front of them in a daze as well.

"What the..."

"What happened? How's Molly?" Dan asked desperately as he was the only one who couldn't see what was going on.

He was really scared that the tiger had swallowed Molly in one bite.

If he didn't insist on wanting to find his wolf cub, then Jason wouldn't have drawn the white tiger over.

Dan struggled to get up.

When Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce saw this, they quickly went over to help. "You can't move like this. Dr. May's fine..."

"Don't lie to me!" Dan didn't believe their words. His eyes actually turned red at this moment. It wasn't like him at all. "How can she be fine? The tiger was pouncing towards her."

With that said, tears welled up in Dan's eyes. He looked like he was about to cry.

Seeing this, Jason and Eric quickly walked over to comfort Dan. "Mr. Dan, Dr.

May's fine."

They might have said that, but they still had worried looks on their faces. They were wondering whether they should head over and chase the tiger away.

No matter what, it was too dangerous to keep the tiger around. It might look safe at the moment, but no one was sure if it would become aggressive again.

Jason looked at Eric and signaled him to shoot the tiger when it wasn't watching.

They could only feel relaxed when the tiger was killed.

Eric nodded his head. He then took aim at the white tiger.

At that moment, the white tiger suddenly began licking Molly's face intimately.

After that, it released its paws which were pinning Molly on the ground. It used its head to bump Molly as well.

It then walked to Molly's side and sat down like an obedient pet.

Such a scene caused everyone to be gobsmacked.

"What... what the hell's going on?"

Eric was dumbfounded. He didn't know whether he should shoot the tiger or not anymore.

Jason was stunned as well.

Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce, who were in the car, also had faces full of disbelief.

Was this still a beast? It looked more like a little kitten.

Dan was also gobsmacked when he saw such a thing.

"What the hell's this tiger thinking? Did it choose to become a vegetarian?"

Just when everyone felt confused, Molly had finally come back to her senses.

"It... it doesn't seem to want to hurt me?"

The tiger was still beside her and was still of great threat, but she kept on getting the feeling that the tiger was not going to hurt her

Chapter 1115-Everyone present felt puzzled.

“No matter what, we can’t let our guards down. We need to drive this animal away first.”

When Jason came back to his senses, he quickly made a decision.

Everyone felt that Jason had a point.

Such a beast would need to be as far away from them as possible. It would be very scary to keep it with them.

“Don’t! Don’t be so reckless!” shouted Molly.

She told Jason and Eric to stop what they were doing.

When the two of them heard such words, they hesitated and gave Molly a puzzled look.

Molly took a deep breath and said, “It looks fine at the moment. If you use force, then you might piss it off. Then it won’t be a good thing for any of us.”

“What should we do then? We can’t really keep it around. What if it suddenly decided to attack us?”

Eric was desperate.

Their captain told them to take care of Molly. If anything happened to her, then they wouldn’t be let off so easily.

However, Molly was calm as ever. “I’ll attempt to get up first. If the tiger becomes hostile again, then you can do whatever you want.”

Jason and Eric hesitated, but in the end, they had no choice but to agree with Molly’s suggestion.

Molly's hair stood on end.

Everyone present was nervous as well.

However, the good thing was that the situation they were afraid of didn't happen.

Even when Molly got off the ground, the tiger didn't make a move.

When Eric saw this, he said with disbelief, "Looks like it's not hostile towards Dr.

May."

"Hey, it looks like this tiger belongs to someone. It has a collar around its neck."

Dan had sharp eyes and immediately saw the collar around the tiger's neck.

Everyone had been too nervous and didn't notice the collar. Only with Mr. Dan's reminder did they notice the collar under the white fur.

"Hey, he's right, but who would keep such a pet in this place? Could it be the pet of the enemies 10 kilometers away?"

Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Bruce began to wonder who the tiger belonged to.

Jason and Eric were just about to say that they didn't know, but Molly's face changed. "I hear cars!"

When everyone heard those words, they immediately quietened down. As expected, there was the sound of cars coming towards them.

At this time, at their current location, it wasn't a good thing to hear the sound of cars.

Especially when they knew that Folke had gone to the warehouse on foot.

Jason and Eric immediately became alarmed.

Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce were nervous as well.

Their current problem wasn't solved yet and they already had a new problem.

If the people coming towards them were the enemy, then they would be dead meat.

Just as everyone was feeling nervous, an SUV arrived at their location.

A young man and woman got off the car.

It was Dubhe and Merak.

The former was emitting a cold and lethal aura, which made him look a little scary.

However, Merak, who was beside him, was completely different. She was wearing a lolita outfit and had a teddy bear in her arms. There was also a lollipop in her mouth, which was in contrast with Dubhe.

When everyone saw such a combination, they were all stunned.

Jason wanted to ask who they were, but the girl shouted, "Sillow, what are you doing here?"

With that, she ran over excitedly. "I haven't seen you in two days. Come here and let me pet you."

However, the white tiger which looked very obedient suddenly roared and it sounded very unhappy.

Chapter 1116-Merak shrank back in fright and said, "You're so stingy. If you don't want me to touch it, I won't touch it!"

When she spoke, she looked aggrieved and not reconciled. She squatted next to the tiger as if she was looking for a chance to strike.

At this time, Dubhe came over.

It was probably because his aura was too strong. Both Jason and Eric felt that he was not simple, and immediately asked, "Well, who are you two? Why are you here? Is this tiger... raised by you?"

Dubhe stopped, glanced at them, and said immediately, "We are here to send a message for Folke. They have already taken down the warehouse, but some teammates were injured, so we came to inform you to go over."

"What?" Hearing his words, the several people at the scene no longer cared about the tiger. They were overjoyed, "Are you serious? Captain Green succeeded?"

"Yes." Dubhe nodded lightly, "Get ready. There are a lot of wounded over there and they are in urgent need of treatment."

Jason and Eric were very happy when they heard the good news.

But they calmed down soon and felt that the two people in front of them were a little suspicious.

"Are you Captain Green's friends? But I don't seem to have seen you before..."

Besides, did you come from the warehouse? Are Captain Green and the other members all injured?"

Logically speaking, if the two of them came to send a message, they should bring at least one of their teammates back.

Molly and the other two doctors also found it strange.

Dubhe looked very calm, "We are indeed Folke's friends. We met him when he was on a mission abroad. Normally, you haven't seen us. As for your team members, not all of them were injured... We have something to do, and we came here in a hurry, so we couldn't bring your teammates with us."

He didn't explain anymore and glanced at others with cold and sharp eyes.

In the end, his eyes slowly fell on Molly and he said, "Excuse me. Are you Ms.

Molly May?"

Molly hadn't expected that he would know her name.

But she still nodded, "I am!"

Dubhe breathed a sigh of relief when he heard her words. He stepped over, picked up Merak from the ground, and then greeted Molly respectfully, "Madam, my name is Dubhe, and she is Merak. We are here to protect you by ma... the president's command."

Molly was a little confused. She didn't react at first, wondering why this man called her Madam.

By the president's command? Who was it?

A familiar figure flashed across her mind. But she subconsciously felt that it was unlikely.

Sean was back in the country. How could it...

Then Dubhe said, "The president is very worried about your safety, but he has to stay in Ferro City because of something important. So, he's sent the two of us to come here first. But we accidentally met Folke halfway and heard that you're here to get back the supplies with him, so we came here."

Molly was stunned for a long time and finally realized what was going on.

Her face changed and she said, "Are you talking about Sean? You said he is in Ferro City? Isn't that the capital of Domster? How could he come to such a place? His legs are still not healed!"

Seeing her agitated expression, Dubhe said in a calm tone, "It's him!"

Indeed, the president's legs have not fully recovered, but they have been improving. Besides, Ferro City is safe now. The president is there, and there are some men especially to protect him. Nothing will happen.

Madam, you can rest assured."

Hearing his words, Molly was anxious and worried.

Sean's legs weren't fully healed, so it was inconvenient for him to move around.

If anything happened to him... She couldn't breathe when she thought about it.

Chapter 1117-ctedly, he came by himself! Molly was moved and blamed herself.

She tried to calm down and said to Dubhe, "Can you tell me about his situation?"

"Okay, I'll tell you." Merak excitedly raised her hand, and briefly told what had happened to Sean after he arrived in Domster.

However, she didn't mention a single word about his status as the master of the Grandset and his involvement with the ancient martial arts families.

"Later, we escorted the medical supplies to the slums. Unexpectedly, we heard that the medical supplies were looted... We thought you must need those medical supplies very much, so we went to get back some of them. Tonight, we were originally going to the warehouse to take the medicine, but we ran into Folke and the others." Merak quickly explained the ins and outs of the matter clearly.

Hearing her words, Molly had mixed feelings.

It turned out that on the day she set off, Sean had arrived in Domster, and even arranged so many things in private.

Besides, it turned out that Folke knew Sean. No wonder Folke had helped her the first time they met, and he had taken care of her ever since.

It was all because of Sean!

The sense of security given by Sean was everywhere, and he had been silently protecting her.

Molly was so moved. She was so lucky to meet Sean in this life!

When Molly was talking to these two people, others vaguely realized what was going on. These two people seemed to be sent by someone who knew Molly.

In other words, they were not the enemy! They finally breathed a sigh of relief.

After Molly understood the general situation, she knew that the current matter could not be delayed, so she immediately said, "Dubhe, Merak, could you lead the way? We will go to treat the wounded team members first. As for Sean, you can talk to me about him later."

Naturally, Dubhe and Merak had no objection.

Soon, they began to move medical supplies.

Ten minutes later, when the preparations were complete and they were about to set off, the big white tiger lying on the ground suddenly walked over. He was just a few steps away from Molly.

When Molly saw him, she was still a little intimidated.

After Merak saw it, she quickly comforted her, "Madam, don't be afraid, this tiger Sillow is raised by the president, and he usually only eats chicken, duck, beef, etc., and he doesn't eat people! Moreover, he recognizes the owner. You probably smell like the president, so he won't hurt you! This time, the president ordered us to bring him out."

Molly was a little surprised when she heard that.

This tiger was raised by Sean?

Recalling the way the big white tiger had sniffed her, she couldn't help feeling amused. So he was a "family member"?

Thanks to her courage, she hadn't been scared to death on the spot. Otherwise, Sean would probably end up alone! Molly complained in her heart and became bolder.

When she got into the car, the big white tiger insisted on following her.

She glanced at him, calmed down, and allowed him to lie by her lap. She was now completely unafraid.

But Dr. Ferguson and Dr. Bruce were quite frightened beside her. They didn't even dare to move!

Chapter 1118-On the way to the warehouse, Molly treated the injury on Dan's wolf cub by the way.

This wound looked like it had been grazed by a bullet, and the blood on the wound was a little congealed.

Moreover, there were some signs of inflammation!

“It has probably been injured for many days and the wound hadn’t been treated in time,’ Molly said to Dan next to her while disinfecting and applying medicine neatly.

Dan rubbed the silver-white hair of the wolf cub, feeling sorry for it, and comforted it, “Be patient. It will be fine soon.”

He sounded like he was comforting a child.

The wolf cub whimpered as if it was in great pain, but it was very obedient.

Seeing this, Molly tried to act as lightly as possible. A few minutes later, after the treatment, she carefully wrapped the wound with gauze.

The wolf cub licked Molly’s hand very friendly. After seeing it, Dan couldn’t help laughing and said, “He likes you very much.”

“Really?” Molly also laughed.

Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce couldn’t help feeling impressed. With the tiger and the wolf, they thought Dr. May was a genius!

At this moment, the car finally stopped.

Dubhe and Merak came over and said, “Madam, here we are.”

Molly nodded, and told Dan, “You can rest here. We’ll go check the wounded.”

Dan nodded, "Go ahead." Then Molly got out of the car. She took Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce into the warehouse in a hurry.

At this moment, the injured teammates had all been helped to the open space.

Their injuries were ranging from mild to severe!

Not far away, several other teammates were not breathing. They had died in the fierce fighting.

When Molly and the others came and saw this scene, their hearts sank.

However, they didn't dare to neglect it and quickly calmed down.

Molly instructed, "Dr. Fegurson, Dr. Bruce, deal with the seriously injured first."

The two nodded, hurried over with the medicine boxes, and started to deal with them. Molly also joined in the rescue.

Fortunately, although these wounded were seriously injured, none of them had life-threatening injuries.

It was just that the on-site conditions were a bit rough. So during the treatment process, some team members needed to endure the pain.

The atmosphere was oppressive.

Dubhe and Merak, as well as their subordinates, also came to help. They could help with some minor injuries.

After two hours, it was finally dealt with. Folke came over and said, "Thank you.

Dr. May, Dr. Fegurson, Dr. Bruce.”

The three shook their heads and said, “You’re welcome.”

“You’ve been working harder than us, and these teammates...” Molly looked at the several dead teammates with a sad face.

‘The situation is better than expected. The good thing is that the warehouse has been taken back, and our mission has been fulfilled!’ When Folke said this, he didn’t look very relaxed, and his eyes were even full of sadness.

He’d been through too many of these things. The eternal separation from death was the most painful thing in the world.

Some teammates even burst into tears. To them, these fallen team members were no different from their family members and good friends.

They had shared joys and sorrows for so long, and their friendship was very deep.

Molly was also sad with tears in her eyes, and she bowed deeply to those fallen team members.

She choked up and said, “They are the greatest heroes.”

Seeing this, the others also bowed, saying goodbye to them.

Chapter 1119-A few minutes later, they calmed down and helped the injured team members into the car.

The rest started to count the materials in the warehouse.

The number of medicines stored in this warehouse was far more than imagined.

“Now we don’t have enough vehicles to transport them, so we can only deliver in batches.”

Folke and his teams had driven only several military armored vehicles on this trip, but the medicines in this warehouse were too much for them.

“It doesn’t matter. We have vehicles, ten large freight vehicles. I have sent someone to notify them, and they will arrive soon.” Dubhe stood aside and said lightly.

Hearing his words, Folke and others were a little surprised and overjoyed, ‘ Great! You’ve helped a lot tonight. In this way, even if we can’t send them all at once, we won’t have to worry that it will delay the treatment over there.”

“There will be no delay. We have already sent a batch in advance. Given the situation, it will reach the slums in the morning.” Merak sat on the shelf, dangling her legs, and said.

Folke nodded after he heard it.

Molly also heaved a sigh of relief, but at the same time she was a little worried, “I am afraid that these accumulated medicinal materials were robbed from other hard-hit areas. Medicines are in short supply in the slums, and it is probably the same in other places. Now, our problem of supplies has been solved, but those areas may not be able to resolve it. We can’t sit idly by and we should distribute some of the supplies to them. Otherwise, when the word spreads, the slums may become the target of public criticism and it will even cause new turmoil.

“Besides, if possible, we should try to contact other regional leaders, team up with them, and go out together to get back the supplies. After all, our manpower is limited, and many team members were injured this time. We can’t do it every time!’ Hearing Molly’s reasonable analysis of the current situation, Folke felt that it made sense, “That’s true! Doctor May is right. But we don’t know where the rest of the medical centers are stationed, or where to send the supplies. ■ Molly thought about it and suddenly looked at the group of enemies who were tied up in the middle of the warehouse, “Ask them. They certainly know.”

When Dubhe and Merak heard this, they looked at each other.

They hadn't been with Molly for long. The only impression they had of Molly was her focused attitude and neat techniques when she was saving people just now.

Now, hearing her calmly analyze the pros and cons, and weigh the followup arrangements, they couldn't help being impressed.

The fiancée of the master was different from what they had imagined. They had thought that she was just an ordinary doctor who hid in the slums to treat the wounded.

Unexpectedly, she dared to rashly follow Folke and the others to take risks.

Faced with this situation, she didn't look afraid. When encountering something important, she could still think calmly! She was courageous and wise. No wonder such a woman was so missed by the master!

Dubhe came to his sense and immediately said, "Let me ask them."

As he spoke, he stepped over and came to Scarface and the others.

Dubhe said bluntly, "Tell me. Where did you take these materials? The location and the route. Tell me everything honestly."

After Scarface heard this, he snorted coldly, "If you want to kill us, just do it. But if you want to get information from us, don't even think about it."

"Really?" Dubhe's face darkened and his voice turned a little cold.

In the next second, he took out a dagger, stabbed it into Scarface's arm, and picked out the bullet in it.

Chapter 1120-Scarface let out a scream.

“Boss!” The woman next to him exclaimed.

Dubhe looked careless and said, “Are you not going to say it? If so, I have plenty of time. And you...”

He looked at the woman next to Scarface, and his tone was cold, “You have a pretty face. It would be a pity if it’s ruined. Don’t you think so?”

The woman couldn’t help feeling a little intimidated and shivered subconsciously.

The man in front of her was a monster. No, he was scarier than a monster!

Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce were also terrified. They subconsciously shrank behind Molly and said in a low voice, “Dr. May, is this your fiancé’s subordinate?”

Why does he look more like a villain than a real one?”

Hearing this, Molly didn’t know whether to laugh or cry, and quickly comforted them, “When facing a villain, we can only use the methods of a villain, or he won’t tell the truth.”

Hearing her words, Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce felt that it made sense.

Folke hadn’t expected Molly to say so, and he couldn’t help but look at her.

“Madam, don’t you think Dubhe is scary?” Merak hugged the bear doll and asked beside her.

When they set off from Ferro City, Tony repeatedly told them to try not to scare Madam.

This scene was brutal and bloody, and most people would probably find it cruel.

Molly said, "People who disregard human life are terrible. They have looted so many medical supplies and caused so many wounded not to be able to get treatment. They've been doing evil things everywhere. If it weren't for them, we wouldn't have taken risks to get back the supplies and those team members wouldn't have been killed. I am not a saint! I think there is nothing wrong with what Dubhe's doing! They deserve it."

'Yes, they deserve it.' Hearing this, Dr. Fegurson and Dr. Bruce were no longer afraid and stepped forward to speak for Molly.

Merak blinked and said nothing. But in her heart, she somehow liked Molly.

Perhaps Dubhe's intimidation worked. Soon the woman confessed everything!

Not only did she tell Dubhe the locations where they had robbed, but she also gave out the locations of several warehouses.

At this moment, there suddenly came the roar of vehicles from outside. It was the vehicles brought by Dubhe and the others.

There was also a loud bang! It sounded like a helicopter! Moreover, it seemed that there was more than one of them!

"Why are there helicopters in this place? Could it be the enemy's?" Merak jumped down from the shelf and asked with a serious expression.

Folke and Dubhe also looked slightly serious because of this sudden change.

They were about to go out to have a look when a subordinate rushed in to report.

"Boss, the master has sent more than a dozen transport helicopters to assist your work, and they are all in place now."

Dubhe was taken aback for a moment. Then he smiled and looked at Folke, "It seems that the delivery of materials to other places is no longer a problem."

Folke was overjoyed, "They came in time...It's so amazing."

"Of course, our master is amazing," Merak said proudly.

Molly's heart was pounding, and she couldn't calm down.

She didn't understand what Merak and the others meant by 'the master', but she could hear that the helicopters outside were sent by Sean.

How much had he done to make sure she had no worries?!
