

Triplets On SM 1271

Chapter 1271-continued to tour the foundation.

Not until it was almost noon did she leave satisfied with Sean.

Out of the finance building, they went to a nearby restaurant.

The first celebration meal after getting the marriage certificate was simpler than expected.

But Molly didn't mind.

In a good mood, she thought eating anything would make her happy. As long as she was with Sean, anything would be tasty.

At lunch, Sean took out his phone, busy with something.

Molly couldn't help but ask, Is it about work? If it is urgent, go back to deal with it."

Sean shook his head, put away his phone, and answered, ' Nothing urgent. Just a few things I asked Tony to do. I'll spare some time and take you somewhere else this afternoon."

Molly's eyes smiled. They were now two crescents, splendid and stunning as if some shining stars had fallen into them.

She asked with anticipation, "You have a plan for the afternoon?"

"Of course, this is the first day after we got the certificate. I don't want to waste it."

As he spoke, Sean peeled off a shrimp for Molly. "Keep eating. After eating, I'll take you there." Molly leaned over to bite the shrimp. As she chewed it slowly, she asked, "Can you tell me what we're gonna do? Or you also want to keep it a secret?"

"I'll reveal it only when we get there," Sean answered with a smile.

Knowing what he meant, Molly didn't ask anymore.

She knew Sean wouldn't let her down!

After lunch, Sean took her straight to a scuba diving club of Anderson Corporation. Sure enough, he didn't let her down.

This was where the rich kids would come to enjoy themselves when they were free.

The club was run with membership. There were professional diving instructors who would follow them around and teach them.

When Sean and Molly arrived, Tony was already there, waiting.

Seeing them, he immediately went up and greeted them with respect, "Sir, Ma'am."

"Why are you here?"

Molly looked at him, a little surprised.

Tony smiled, "Mr. Anderson asked me to come over."

Molly finally knew what was going on.

Sean asked lightly, "All arranged?"

Tony nodded and answered, "Yes, everything has been arranged. The most experienced diving instructor Eric and I will follow you and madam in the whole diving process."

As he spoke, he pointed at the blonde man beside him.

The blonde man greeted them politely, "Sir, ma'am, I'm Eric."

Sean nodded to respond, then looked at Molly, and asked gently, "Want to have a try?"

Now Molly already knew what he wanted to do.

To be honest, she was so eager.

She had never tried scuba diving since her childhood.

But she remembered Sean's health condition. She frowned and said, "Can you do this? Your legs just recovered a short time ago. The situation underwater is different. If something happens, you might end up in danger."

She didn't want Sean to take risks to make her happy.

Knowing her concern, Sean said with a smile, "I have the diving qualification certificate. Although I haven't done this for years, I don't think it feels like something so new to me.

And Tony and Eric will follow us. The two of them are professionals. If something happens, they'll immediately come to my rescue."

Chapter 1272-her hand and said gently, "Don't worry. In fact, we won't stay too long underwater. After all, you're just a beginner. We should do everything step by step. Today I just brought you here to experience it. Nothing will happen.

“And don’t you really want to take a look at the undersea world? The sea around the club is known for being blue and clear. When we dive, we’ll see corals, beautiful fish, and shellfish. If you’re willing, I can teach you myself.”

Molly had some concerns, but after hearing Sean’s words, she wavered.

Anyway, the words “I can teach you myself” were so alluring that she couldn’t refuse him!

Then she nodded and said, “If that’s really the truth, let’s try it for a while.”

“No problem.”

Sean agreed. “Let’s go change first. In a while, I’ll tell you what you should pay attention to when you’re underwater.”

“Okay!”

Not refusing him, Molly followed him to the changing room.

Although she just wanted to try it for a while, the diving would obviously not end in “a while.”

In fact, before diving, Sean had spent half an hour training and instructing her.

When they were underwater in the shallow-water area, they also spent about half an hour practicing a few times.

Sean was very patient. He accompanied her time after time without feeling bored.

For one thing, he could get close to his wife.

For another, he was really worried about her safety condition. Therefore, he was more patient than he usually was.

Molly learned very fast.

In the process, she gradually fell in love with the sense of "adventure."

Of course, the key was that Sean had been with her.

She thought every second was packed with meaning when she was with him.

After a while, she could finally dive into the deep-water area.

Finally, she could see the undersea scenery Sean had told her about.

The water down here was colorful in the sun. Clusters of corals were visible to the naked eye, shoals of fish moved from place to place, all kinds of shellfish and sea stars were seen... The world down here was dazzling.

Molly liked being here so much she subconsciously turned sideways to look at Sean.

Holding her hand tightly, Sean gave her a smile.

Molly was entranced. She suddenly felt that the man in front of her looked splendid even in the wet suit, especially the super handsome face and the affectionate eyes behind the goggles.

Even the undersea scenery couldn't match him at all!

About 30 minutes later, the diving finally ended.

Even after returning to the bank, Molly felt she had not had enough of it.

Seeing that, Sean coaxed her, "The first dive had better not be too long. Let's dive longer next time, okay?"

Also knowing that, Molly agreed with a little pity.

Soon these people returned to the changing room, where they took a shower and changed their clothes.

After that, Molly asked Sean, "Are we going home?"

Now it was already 4 p.m.

The two of them were out all day today, and she was satisfied.

But Sean gave her a suggestive look and said, "We won't go home tonight."

Chapter 1273-Molly froze for a moment, then looked him in the eye. "If we don't go home, where should we stay? Are we going to the hotel?"

Sean said with a smile, "No. We're going to stay in our home. IV Molly didn't immediately understand.

'Terahis Grove is our home, isn't it?' Half an hour later, they ended up at a seaside villa.

This villa covered a large area with a very big backyard.

The house was well-decorated with many precious ornamental trees. On one side of it, there were a golf court and a helipad.

The other side was close to the beach and sea, providing a good view of the sea.

The entire house was as luxurious as a water palace!

“Is this the ‘our home’ you spoke of?” Molly was shocked by what she saw.

She could see that this luxurious house was no less inferior to Terahis Grove.

Sean nodded and answered, “This place has been uninhabited. I rarely come here. I just ask someone to clean it regularly. After entering a relationship with you, I began thinking about taking this place as our future home, so I renovated it.”

Speaking of this, he looked down at her and smiled, “After getting married, we need to have our own private space. Terahis Grove is lively, but it’s inconvenient to be so crowded.”

Sometimes he wanted to do something, but he would be disturbed. Just thinking of it would make him frustrated.

And he didn’t want to experience anything like this again after getting married.

But Molly had not thought that much.

But she liked this gift from Sean because this was their own future little home.

And they might also spend the rest of their days here.

Thinking of that, she felt a sweetness in her heart.

Molly smiled joyfully and said, “I like being here. Could you show me around?”

Sean chuckled, "This house is already under your name. It's already yours. You can do whatever you want."

"You're so generous, Mr. Anderson!" Molly praised playfully.

Then she took Sean to tour around.

The decoration here had basically been made to cater to Molly's preference.

But what she liked the best were probably the white piano in the hall on the first floor, the viewing balcony on the second floor, the star ceiling Sean had specially built on the third floor, and the glass flower house at the top.

After touring the entire new home, Molly fell so much in love with it. "I guess the three kids will like the star ceiling on the third floor."

The star ceiling looked so real that anyone in it would feel like they were among the real stars.

The key was that the ceiling could be opened.

Then people inside could see the real night sky!

"When I began to build this, I had thought of their preferences," Sean answered with a smile.

Molly was happy and moved.

She had had so many surprises today that she didn't really believe they were real!

She held her man willingly, leaned against his chest, and said softly, "Thank you, Sean. You've poured so much of your heart into building the little home for us. I like it very much."

“Glad to hear that.’ Sean held her quietly in his arms, satisfied.

In the evening, the chef prepared dinner for the two of them in the rooftop garden.

They were in a sea of flowers. Waves were splashing not far away, and the low and romantic music was soothing their hearts. Occasionally, a breeze would come and bring them comfort.

Molly felt like she was in a beautiful dream.

Over dinner, she and Sean drank some wine. After dinner, both of them were a little drunk.

Chapter 1274-At that moment, fireworks appeared by the sea.

Molly raised her head in surprise. Sean stood up and walked to the fence. He looked down and said, “It’s Tony and the others setting off the fireworks from down there.” Of course, this was what he told them to do in advance.

Molly walked over as well and looked down. That was when she saw Tony and a few security guards busy with the fireworks.

Such a method of being romantic might be a little old school, but Molly had to admit, the fireworks were awesome. It was very dazzling to the eye.

Molly couldn’t help but wrap her arms around Sean’s and leaned on his shoulder. She just watched the fireworks quietly.

Around eight o’clock, the fireworks finally ended.

Molly seemed to still haven’t had enough. Something suddenly flashed in front of her.

When she took a closer look, she realized that it was a ring. The ring was dangling from a necklace.

Molly was a little taken aback and looked at the man next to her.

Sean's gaze was gentle. "This is a couple ring. I was going to use it at the wedding, but it seemed to have come in handy beforehand. If you don't wear it on your fingers, then you can wear it on your neck."

Molly raised her hand to grab the ring.

The ring had a simple design. It only had a few small diamonds as decoration.

However, her and Sean's names were carved on the ring.

It was just right to wear it on her neck.

"How about you put it on for me?" Molly said with a smile.

"Okay." Sean didn't refuse. He raised his hand and carefully put the necklace on Molly's neck.

The necklace was over her collarbones, so it looked even better.

Sean's eyes lit up when he saw Molly wearing the necklace. He leaned forward and kissed her. "From now on, you're mine."

As he said those words, the two of them were very close and they were only inches away from each other.

Molly couldn't help but lock gazes with him.

The two of them looked completely sober.

However, as the two of them looked at each other, they became lost in each other's eyes.

A while later, Sean's deep and hoarse voice sounded. "Shall we go back to our room and wash up?"

Molly widened her eyes. Her ears turned red and her lips turned dry. "I... I don't have any fresh clothes."

"I do. You can wear mine tonight, alright?" Sean's voice became even more attractive. He also somehow sounded a little seductive.

Molly began to blush a little. After a short pause, she nodded her head. "Okay."

Sean curved his lips and walked down the stairs holding Molly's hand.

After they walked into the master bedroom, Sean went to his dressing room and took out a shirt for Molly.

Molly couldn't help but look at Sean.

Sean looked at Molly with his dark eyes. "I've only got this. The pajamas are too big for you, so you probably won't be able to wear those."

Molly held the white shirt in her hand tightly. She didn't say anything, turned around and went into the bathroom.

When she closed the door, she felt that her heart was racing and she felt a little hot.

Molly guessed that it was because of the alcohol, so she went to turn on the tap and began to take a shower.

About 40 minutes later, she walked out of the bathroom with wet hair.

Sean had already had a shower and was waiting for her on the sofa.

When he heard Molly coming out of the bathroom, he raised his head.

As soon as Sean raised his head, he saw Molly's attractive state.

She was wearing an oversized white shirt, which made her look even more petite. The shirt was long and reached her thighs. The rest of her legs were bare.

Because Molly had just had a shower, her face was as pink as a fresh rose and her hair was a little messy. There seemed to be a layer of moisture in her eyes.

Under the light, she looked very attractive.

Sean's eyes darkened, but his voice was very gentle. "Come here, I'll dry your hair for you."

Chapter 1275-Molly clenched her toes shyly, but she still walked over obediently.

Soon, Sean got up to bring the hairdryer to dry Molly's hair for her.

Apart from the roar of the hairdryer, there seemed to be an ambiguous atmosphere in the room, which was spreading continuously.

Molly felt that all her senses had been raised to their maximum sensitivity. She could clearly feel the man's fingertips caressing her hair.

Sean's fingers would also touch her cheeks occasionally, which made Molly feel like she was electrocuted.

This caused her body to tense and her hands grabbed her clothes tightly. She had no idea where she should put her hands.

Sean was standing behind her and looking at how obedient she was being. His dark eyes looked like a bottomless abyss.

Especially from the angle that Sean was standing, he could see the white skin of the back of Molly's neck and her red ears. He could also see the side of Molly's beautiful face.

All that Sean could smell was the fragrance from Molly having just had a shower.

His eyes became even more unpredictable. There seemed to be some madness flashing in his eyes.

A while later, when Molly's hair was blown dry, Sean seemed to be unable to control himself anymore. Suddenly, he lowered his head and kissed the back of her neck.

His warm breath immediately overwhelmed Molly.

Molly's body trembled. She was just about to react when another kiss landed on her earlobe.

Her eyelashes flicked like butterflies flapping their wings. She subconsciously looked at the man next to her.

Sean's eyes were filled with a strong passion for Molly.

The feeling in his dark eyes couldn't be disguised at all. It was as if Sean wanted to suck Molly into his eyes.

"Sean..." Molly called his name quietly.

Her quiet voice tickled his heart like a feather.

This caused Sean unable to suppress his desires anymore. He pulled Molly to sit on his lap. He wrapped one of his big hands around her waist, whilst reaching for her face with the other.

The two of them locked gazes and their lips closed in on each other.

What Molly was facing was Sean's hot and passionate kiss.

He was desperate and domineering as he dominated Molly's mouth.

Molly didn't resist. She even subconsciously cooperated with Sean as well.

The man felt what she was doing, so he hugged her even tighter.

A thought appeared in his mind. He wanted to make the person in his arms completely his.

With that thought in mind, he kissed her even more passionately.

Molly's mind became blank due to Sean's kiss.

It seemed to be the first time that she saw Sean like this. Therefore, she felt a little overwhelmed.

When she came back to her senses, she was already lying on the bed.

She was lying on the soft bed. Her hair was scattered and the top three buttons on her shirt were undone. Her beautiful collarbones and shoulders were exposed. Even the parts below were a little exposed.

Her long legs weren't covered by anything either.

Sean's voice was deep and hoarse.

"Molly, can we do it tonight?"

His blood was already boiling, but he was still being patient and asked for Molly's opinion.

It was probably because Sean was worried about what happened a few years ago would cause Molly to resist.

Therefore, there was even a careful expression on Sean's face.

Molly saw how worried he was and her heart completely softened.

If it had been in the past, she would resist such a thing.

After all, it wasn't really a good experience the first time.

However, it was different now. They were married and she loved Sean.

How would she resist doing such a thing with the person she loved?

With that thought in mind, Molly curved her lips coquettishly, wrapped her arms around the man's shoulders and said seductively, "Don't people always say that every minute of the wedding night is precious? We're under such circumstances and surrounded by such an atmosphere, doing such a thing is natural. Why do you need to ask? Are you scared?"

With that said, Molly leaned in to kiss Sean.

Chapter 1276-tever happened after, Molly had always been in the passive position.

She didn't know when her shirt had fallen to the ground.

During the whole process, her mind was blank.

The only time when she knew what was going on was when Sean penetrated her. At that moment, she felt a pain that she had never felt before.

When she had gotten used to it, she felt like she was a boat in the middle of the sea. She was just going where the waves were taking her.

On the same night, Sean's stamina made Molly pay the ultimate price.

The whole process continued to late at night.

In the end, Molly couldn't take it anymore and fell asleep.

When she woke up, it was already lunchtime the next day.

Molly sat up and felt her whole body had just been taken apart and reassembled.

She couldn't help but gasp at the feelings. It nearly caused her to lie back on the bed.

"Are you alright?" Sean's voice sounded from the front and was full of concern.

He had just walked into the room. His handsome face was very lively. He didn't look like he had been having sex the whole night.

When Molly saw him, she immediately remembered about last night.

In her mind, she could clearly remember Sean's breathing and his exercising body.

This caused Molly to immediately blush. She looked at Sean sulkily. "I can't even stand up straight. Do you think I'm alright?"

Molly's feet were trembling as she stood up.

Sean's lips curved into a happy smile as he walked over and said, "I'm sorry, my bad. How about you go take a shower?"

"Stay away from me! You're not allowed to touch me."

Molly gave her order whilst feeling a little scared.

Last night, Sean didn't seem to be tired at all and just went on and on.

In the end, if it weren't for the fact that Molly fell asleep being too tired, Sean would have continued until daylight.

The more Molly thought about it, the sulkier she became. She raised her hand and poked Sean's chest. "What's up with that last night? I only asked you if you were scared and you treated me like that? I'm telling you, Sean. From today onwards, if you don't recover the trust you owe me in Domster, you can forget about doing the same thing again."

With that said, she ignored Sean, turned around and walked into the bathroom.

Sean looked at her attractive receding figure and felt very happy.

However, at the same time, he didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

Last night, they were both very passionate and she was responding very enthusiastically as well. Why was she being all sulky after she put her clothes back on?

Besides, Sean was finally able to have sex after so many years and with the woman he loved as well. That was why he couldn't control himself. He really couldn't be the one to blame.

However, at the moment, Molly was already sulking, so first and foremost, he had to figure out a way to be forgiven.

During the time that Molly was having a shower, Sean turned and headed downstairs.

At that moment, the servant was about to put the new flowers into the vase.

When Sean saw this, he walked over and took the flowers. ' I'll take these.'

Tony saw how enthusiastic Sean was and could roughly guess what had happened.

When he saw Sean with the flowers, he immediately suggested, "Sir, these flowers are for decorations and don't suit Mrs. Anderson. There are roses in the back garden which are blooming. You can take a batch now. Moreover, the meaning of roses is 'Falling in love with you is the greatest happiness of my life'.

It suits your current situation perfectly."

When Sean heard those words, he cocked his brows and immediately agreed with Tony. "Lead the way. I'll go pick the flowers myself." "Okay!" Tony responded enthusiastically.

He then went to get the scissors and gloves.

Soon, the two of them headed towards the back garden.

Chapter 1277-As for Molly, when she finished washing up, she didn't see Sean, but it didn't really bother her.

What Molly was worried about was that she didn't have a fresh set of clothes to change into. She couldn't really go downstairs wearing just a shirt.

Moreover, her clothes from last night seemed to have been taken away. She didn't know where her clothes were.

She frowned and headed to Sean's dressing room. She wanted to see if there was anything she could wear.

What she didn't expect was when she opened the closet, she saw a closet full of women's clothes.

There were dresses, suits, high heels, bags and even pajamas.

There were all the clothes she would need throughout the year.

The most important thing was that the clothes were all her size. The clothes were all new. Even the tags were still on them.

It was obvious that the clothes were prepared in advance.

"Alright, Sean. You have pajamas my size, but you lied to me to wear your clothes..."

It seemed that the man last night was full of schemes.

Molly felt funny. She then chose a set of clothes to be worn in spring.

The weather wasn't really cold recently, but the air was still cool.

The set of clothes that Molly had chosen was perfect for the current weather.

The clothes also covered the marks of what happened the previous night perfectly.

Molly was glad of the marks being covered. She then walked out of the dressing room.

As soon as she walked out, she saw the man leaning against the door and the bright batch of roses in his hand.

Molly was slightly taken aback. She raised her head and said, "What's this? Are you coming here to apologize? Let me tell you this. I won't be bought by a batch of roses." Although Molly said that, she still reached out to take the roses. She quickly held the roses in her hand and leaned in to smell the roses.

The faint scent of roses filled her nose. This made her eyes light up.

A smile appeared on Sean's face as he said, "The flowers are to please my wife.

How could it be an apology? Besides, there's nothing for me to apologize for, right?"

"There is. No there's more. You lied to me about not having any clothes. The whole closet was filled with women's clothes. Don't tell me they were for your ex." Molly glared at Sean.

Sean smiled helplessly. "You're the only girlfriend I've ever had. Where did the ex come from? Don't wrong me."

"You'd better be telling the truth." Molly hugged the flowers even tighter and looked into the room. She was wondering where to put the flowers.

At that moment, Sean raised his hand to hold Molly's and said gently, "Are you hungry? How about going downstairs to get something to eat? I'll tell the kitchen to make your favorite food."

Molly's attention was immediately distracted. "Of course I'm hungry. After so much exercise last night, I'm starving."

As she said that, her stomach grumbled as well.

Sean cocked his brows slightly. He wanted to remind Molly that he was the one who was doing most of the work last night.

However, in order to not annoy Molly, he still tried to coax her. "Right, you were tired last night. Come on, let's head downstairs to have something to eat."

Soon, the two of them walked downstairs whilst holding hands.

At that moment, the dining table was already filled with food that the chef had prepared for lunch.

There were four dishes and a soup. It was quite a lot.

Molly was really hungry, so she ate more than usual.

After lunch, she asked Sean, "Are we going back to Terahis Grove?"

"You want to go back? Don't you want to stay for a few more days? I can notify the people at home."

As Sean said those words, he looked at Molly meaningfully.

He was finally able to be with Molly. He didn't want anyone to disturb them.

Molly didn't see the meaningful look in Sean's eyes.

However, she didn't really want to leave either.

It was mainly because the view here was beautiful.

When she arrived last night, the sky was already dark. There were a lot of sceneries that she didn't see. She wanted to take this chance to have a good look around.

Sean saw that Molly was hesitating, so he took this chance and said, "Stay for a little longer if you want to. If you miss the children, we can bring them over for a few days before going back."

Molly was immediately a little convinced. "Okay, you can go tell them."

Sean replied with a soft voice, "Okay."

With that, he sent the children a message.

However, the content of the message wasn't asking them if they wanted to come over for a few days. Instead, he asked, "Do you guys want a brother or sister? If you do, then I'll live here with you mommy for a couple more days. Daddy will need your help."

Chapter 1278-The three children at home were about to take a nap. When they saw the message, they gathered together excitedly.

"Hey, are Daddy and Mommy going to give birth to a brother or sister for us? So soon as well?"

"Does that mean I get to be an older sister?"

Claudia blinked as she looked at her two brothers.

Alex nodded. "That's right. If Daddy and Mommy have another baby, you'll be the older sister.."

Claudia was immediately filled with joy. "I want to be an older sister. Alex, tell Daddy and Mommy to not come back for now."

Ben was also a little excited. "I want to keep being an older brother as well."

Alex smiled. "Then agree to Daddy's request."

With that said, Alex replied to Sean, "You go, Daddy!"

Sean looked at his son's reply satisfyingly.

He had taken care of the children.

However, he wondered what excuse to use to tell Molly that the children weren't coming.

Sean hesitated for a while and then sent a text to Chester."

Are you accepting students? I'll leave my children to you."

Chester was puzzled.

Sean then said calmly, "You're the top martial artist. It'll be a pity if you don't have anyone to inherit your skills. Both Alex and Ben are talented. As for Claudia, don't be too harsh on her. I just want her to be strong enough to protect herself.

Chester was rendered speechless.

'Master, you really know how to find jobs for people, don't you?' thought Chester.

However, when he recalled the time when he met the three children the previous day, he felt that they were quite talented.

Moreover, they were very smart.

It was obvious that they had inherited Sean's good genes.

Not only that, the three children were all still young masters of the Grandset.

They were the future leaders of the Grandset.

It sounded reasonable to train them well.

With that thought in mind, Chester asked, "When do I start?"

"Now," replied Sean.

"Why in such a rush?" asked Chester.

Sean didn't bother replying to his message. Instead, he went and told Molly about this matter.

Molly was surprised. "The children want to learn martial arts from Chester? Is...

he strong?"

She knew Chester quite well, but she had never seen him in action.

He looked elegant and polite, like a scholar.

It was hard for Molly to imagine Chester using violence.

When Sean heard those words, he wanted to laugh. "I think you'll be the only person in the world who would ask such a question. No one in the Grandset would dare ask such a question."

"Why's that?" Molly asked curiously.

Tony, who was standing at the side, explained, "That's because Mr. Merrick is the strongest martial artist in the Grandset! Everyone is scared of him. He's also known as the Grim Reaper. The Unbounded Land has a martial artist ranking.

Chester is listed as the most dangerous person. Normally, no one would dare to provoke him."

Molly was really surprised. "Well... I really couldn't tell."

Sean smiled. "You're right. That's why there's nothing to worry about leaving the children with him."

With that said, Sean calmed himself down and said seriously, "As our children, they might encounter some dangerous situations in the future. Leaving them with Chester is to train them to be able to deal with the possible dangers of the future. It's to also prevent them from getting hurt. Chester is the best person to train them."

When Molly heard those words, she agreed as well. "Then that's settled. I agree as well."

Sean nodded. "They'll be taken to Chester's today, so they won't be coming over."

"It's alright. There's always next time."

Molly wasn't really bothered.

Nothing was more important than the safety of the children.

When Tony saw this, he couldn't help but shake his head.

He had seen the whole process of Sean sending the messages.

He felt that Sean was truly very scheming.

'Mrs. Anderson is still very young,' thought Tony.

Chapter 1279-half hour. And she had to have a rest at a pavilion.

Sean could barely keep the smile off of his face and gave her a bottle of water, "How about I give you a little massage?"

Molly gave him a sullen look, "How you can laugh! This is on you!"

Goaded beyond endurance, she poked him in the belly.

Sean moved a little, grasped her hand, and sat next to her, " Yeah, it's all on me.

Well, I'll carry you back. What do you say?"

"No, I don't want to go back now.

"I'll go look around anyway. And later, I want to stand on the beach and watch the sun go down."

"Come on, I'll give you a piggyback ride," Sean said tenderly.

Molly raised her eyebrows, and her eyes glittered." Seriously?"

“Sure, I’m serious.”

Sean stared at her amused look with a smile.

He would not say no to anything she asked, even an unreasonable one.

Molly then invigorated and said, “Let’s go. Come over and crouch down.”

Sean smiled, “Okay.”

Then, he crouched down in front of Molly.

And Molly took his suggestion without demur.

‘But for you, it would not come to this!

‘Hum, I’ll not care about if you’re tired.’ She climbed on his back and clasped her arms around his neck.
“Let’s go!”

Sean whispered a response and carried her up without effort.

Sean could readily carry her up because she was light.

Besides, he thought this was a very intimate position for couples.

And he enjoyed it!

They then admired the scenery of the garden.

It was the first time that Molly had ever been carried. She felt great.

Lying on Sean's broad back made her feel secure!

After an hour, she finally was worried that he would be tired and said, "Well, put me down. I feel quite rested already. I can walk by myself."

"It's okay. I'm not tired!"

Sean had no intention of putting her down, hoping she could save energy for the evening.

Not knowing his trick, Molly wondered why Sean stayed up late and expended so much energy, but was always full of energy.

She continued to rest on his back since he would not put her down.

She finally fell asleep on the way to the villa.

Hearing her even breathing, Sean smiled and slowed the pace so as not to wake her.

When they got to the villa, Sean put her on the bed gently.

It was three p.m. then.

Sean tucked her in and went to the study room for business.

Tony came in and reported, "Mr. Anderson, the people who went to Domster with Mrs. Anderson will come back tomorrow."

Sean stopped writing and asked, "Are the people of the Shepard family included?"

"Yes."

Tony nodded, "Selon is among them."

Sean nodded, "What's the update on the Shepard family?"

"Williams has been staying at home. There's nothing wrong with him. And Anthony is seeing the patients. Everything goes well."

Tony reported every detail.

Sean squinted, "That everything goes well does not mean there won't be anything wrong at the Martial Art Union. The Shepard family could escape with their help."

Chapter 1280-"What shall we do? Shall we do something?" Tony asked with a serious face.

Sean nodded, "Send more men to investigate to know if the people of the Martial Art Union have sneaked into our country. If they have, deal with them without mercy."

"Yes, I will arrange it as soon as possible." After saying that, Tony soon turned around and left.

When Molly woke up, it was already five o'clock in the afternoon.

She was still a little confused when she was woken up by Sean, so she leaned against him as if she was boneless.

"I'm still sleepy. Why are you bothering me?" She murmured discontentedly with a voice full of sleepiness and laziness.

He looked at her gently and felt his heart melt. He bowed his head and kissed her hair, saying with a smile, "Don't you want to watch the sunset? Look outside."

Hearing this, Molly turned her head to look out of the window with her half-closed eyes.

The magnificent colorful sunset was like a painting, and the clouds in the sky seemed to be burned by fire, brilliant and beautiful.

Molly suddenly sobered up.

She immediately sat up straight, got out of bed, and ran to the balcony to look out.

From this place, the view was wider.

The sea even looked like it had been dyed gold.

The sky and the sea were of the same color, which had a great visual impact.

"Do you want to walk on the beach?" Just as Molly was marveling at the beautiful scenery, Sean walked to her and put his arms around her waist.

Molly leaned back and then nodded without hesitation, "Yes, I want to walk on the beach!"

Sean said with a smile, "Then let's go."

They walked hand in hand to the golden beach.

Molly didn't wear shoes and directly stepped barefoot into the fine sand, allowing the waves to rush to her ankles.

Sean walked beside her, so his pants occasionally were splashed with water and got wet.

If it had been in the past, he would have hated it very much.

However, today was different. After all, he was with his beloved Molly, so he didn't care at all.

After a while, it was getting dark. When it was time for dinner, Molly went back to the villa.

The chef prepared a sumptuous seafood meal. After eating, Molly made a video call to her kids.

Alex, Ben, and Claudia all looked listless.

"Why do you look like this? Are you guys sick?" Molly couldn't help being worried.

Alex shook his head and said, "No, Mommy, we are just too tired. Today, Chester suddenly came to pick us up and said that Daddy wanted us to learn martial arts from him. He asked us to do horse stance. We are very tired."

"Mommy, your little darlings' legs are going to be broken! I feel like Daddy is abusing us," Ben complained.

Showing a pathetic face, Claudia leaned over and said, "Mommy, I don't want to learn. Can I not learn?"

Hearing their words, Molly didn't know whether to laugh or cry.

She finally realized that they had been tortured too badly.

She was about to say something, but at this time, Sean, who was next to her, took his cell phone and said solemnly, "In this world, you have to work hard to do everything to get the best results. I'm doing this for your guys. If one day you are in danger, but you guys don't have the ability to save yourselves and get hurt, then your Mommy will be very worried and sad. I want you to take care of yourselves. If you really don't want to learn, then I won't force you. I respect your choice!"

Hearing their Daddy's words, Alex, Ben, and Claudia became silent for a moment.

Alex and Ben immediately said, "Daddy, I know what you mean. We can hold on."

Claudia struggled for a few seconds and finally said in a soft and pitiful tone, "I...

I also can hold on."

Sean was satisfied and praised, "Good. I believe my kids can do it. Learning from Chester will do you no harm."

Seeing that Sean persuaded them with just a few words, Molly just watched and didn't interrupt.

After all, Sean was really thinking for them and educating them not to give up lightly.

That was good!
