

Triplets On SM 1541

Chapter 1541-The car drove out of the villa and Molly thought it was going to the dock.

But soon, she realized something was wrong.

“Are we not going to pick Mr. Ballard up?” Molly turned her head and cast a puzzled look at Sean in the driver’s seat.

The car wasn’t driving in the direction of the port she thought, but in the opposite direction from it.

Sean raised an eyebrow. “Yeah, we’re going to pick Mr.

Ballard up.”

“Then...”

“You’ll know when we get there.”

Sean smiled at her.

Molly didn’t ask any more questions.

After about twenty minutes or so, the car pulled up to an abandoned port.

“Here we are.”

Sean parked the car, unbuckled his seat belt, and got out.

Molly followed closely behind, and as soon as she opened the door, a fishy sea breeze blew on her.

She looked around and found she was in a lonely abandoned port. The ground was covered with weeds. Few people came here.

“Where’s Mr. Ballard?”

Molly turned her head to ask Sean.

Sean did not answer. He took her hand and walked forward for a while.

At that moment, Molly saw a ship coming toward them on the sea not far away.

She frowned. “Is Mr. Ballard on that ship?”

“Yeah.” Sean nodded his head.

Receiving the affirmative answer, Molly looked around again and laughed slightly, “So you’ve got the island all mapped out, and you even know there is such a port.”

“Of course. I never do anything unprepared.”

Sean put his arm around her shoulders and gazed at the approaching ship.

Molly pursed her lips and smiled, feeling it was really unbelievably reassuring to be around him.

Soon, the ship docked.

The long-awaited Mr. Ballard was finally here.

Molly was quite excited.

At that moment, the ladder slowly fell until it touched the shore.

Then, someone came out of the cabin.

It was Mr. Ballard.

As soon as she saw the familiar figure, Molly was about to greet him. Suddenly, her eyes widened.

She wondered why there were three small figures beside Mr. Ballard.

Her heart beat faster.

Molly thought, 'Could it be...' "Mommy!"

This time, Mr. Ballard came to the island with Alex, Ben, and Claudia.

Once they left the cabin, they saw Molly standing on the shore.

After such a long time of separation, they missed each other so much. The three ran eagerly to their mother.

Molly originally thought that only Mr. Ballard would come.

Excitement and longing instantly came over her.

When Molly saw the three little ones running toward her, tears rushed out of her eyes.

She hurriedly wiped them, squatted down, and opened her arms to greet the three kids.

“Mommy!”

The three little ones ran very fast and crashed directly into Molly’s arms.

Fortunately, there was Sean behind her.

Otherwise, all four of them would have fallen to the ground.

As she smelt the familiar scents, Molly’s eyes turned misty again. She hugged the three children very hard as if to embed them in her body.

The three little ones stayed quietly in her arms, enjoying the long-lost warm embrace.

“Mommy still smells so good.”

Alex was the first to speak.

Ben grinned, “Mommy’s fragrance is so comforting.”

He liked Molly’s scent, which made him feel at ease.

“Mommy, we missed you so much.”

Claudia pouted, blinked her big moist eyes, and spoke in a tender voice

Chapter 1542-yes glistened with unshed tears, which was enough to make everyone’s heart ache.

Sean felt a tug at his heartstrings. The corners of his mouth lifted into a gentle smile. "I knew you missed them, so I asked Mr. Ballard to bring them along."

Mr. Ballard came up and chuckled at the sight of how the three little ones clung to Molly. "These kids kept asking 'are we there yet?' the whole way here. My ears are practically calloused."

"Thank you for bringing them over."

Molly looked at him gratefully.

Mr. Ballard pretended to scowl at her. "I'm your teacher, remember?"

Molly smiled. "Yeah."

She wiped away a tear and took Alex and Ben by the hand.

As for Claudia, she let Sean hold her.

Mr. Ballard smiled, pleased. Then he asked, "Is everything going well here?"

Molly nodded. "Yeah. We rescued Logan. He's no longer under the control of the research base."

The news surprised and delighted the old man. "That's wonderful. He is finally free."

Seeing him so happy, Molly felt that all their efforts had been worth it.

"Are you feeling well?"

She asked and then added apologetically, "That was a long trip for you."

"Silly girl," Mr. Ballard chided gently. "Don't worry about me. We're family, and that's what I do."

Molly smiled. "You're right."

"That's more like it."

"Let's go back and talk," Sean chimed in.

Mr. Ballard nodded in agreement. "Yeah. It's not safe to stay here."

Even though it was an abandoned port, the entire island was still under the control of the martial art union. There was no telling if someone might suddenly appear.

So, the group made their way back to their residence.

Claudia hadn't seen Molly for some time and clung to Molly the moment she got into the car. She hugged Molly's arm tightly, as if afraid Molly might disappear.

Molly's heart warmed with affection, but she also felt guilty for leaving them behind.

Alex and Ben chattered away about their time at the Grandset. Their voices filled the car.

When they arrived home, Claudia was exhausted and fell asleep in Molly's arms.

"I'll carry her upstairs. You can stay with Mr. Ballard and talk."

He scooped up Claudia and motioned for the two boys to follow him upstairs.

Once they were all upstairs, Molly accompanied Mr. Ballard to the living room and sat down.

Mr. Ballard looked around and smiled. "This is a nice place."

"It's not bad."

Molly pursed her lips and continued, "But it's not as comfortable as being at home."

"Of course not."

Mr. Ballard looked at her fondly, saying, "Thankfully, you're fine. Otherwise, Sean would have gone crazy."

Molly smiled. "It's all thanks to Sean. If he hadn't come for me, I wouldn't have gotten out so quickly."

They chatted for a while before Mr. Ballard changed the subject.

"Where are Logan and Lesley?" he asked.

Molly honestly filled him in on Logan's current situation.

"So, he doesn't live here?"

Mr. Ballard was eager to see Logan.

"It's not safe here yet, so he's staying in the underground lab for now."

Sean came downstairs after settling the children. He overheard their conversation and spoke up. "We'll have someone pick up Lesley and Logan for dinner tonight."

Chapter 1543-Upon hearing this, Mr. Ballard turned to Sean and asked excitedly, "Is it possible?"

"Of course it is." Sean walked over to Molly and took her hand. He continued, "They don't know you're here yet, but they'll be overjoyed when they find out."

Molly raised her eyebrows and smiled, "Let's surprise them tonight."

The members of the Ballard family were scattered all over the country, and after being separated for so long, they would surely be thrilled to reunite.

Tony brought Logan over at night.

During the day, Lesley also received a call from Molly, inviting her to dinner at her house tonight.

As a result, Lesley and Logan arrived almost at the same time.

"Logan!"

"Lesley!"

As soon as they met, the two hugged each other tightly.

Tony turned his head away, looking mournful.

Their public display of affection made him feel that he had lost his appetite for dinner.

"Mr. Anderson and Mrs. Anderson are still waiting for you."

Tony coughed slightly and interrupted the couple's romantic moment.

Only then did Lesley realize that there were still others present. She blushed, quickly leading Logan into the house.

As soon as they entered, Logan saw the old man and exclaimed excitedly, "Uncle Jordan!"

Lesley was initially looking down. When she heard the word "Uncle", her heart skipped a beat.

She immediately looked up and also exclaimed in surprise.

The two walked quickly to the old man's side.

When Mr. Ballard saw them, his eyes became moist with happiness and he said with a smile, "It's so good to see you again."

He had thought he might never see the members of the Ballard family again in his lifetime, so he was beyond himself with excitement now.

"When did you arrive?" Logan asked.

"This morning."

Since Logan finally saw his long-lost relatives, he was about to burst into tears.

He raised his head up, struggling to maintain a smile through his tears, and said, "At such a happy moment, I can't cry. I hate to be a buzzkill."

"Logan."

Lesley held his hand tightly.

The Ballard family had been forced to separate, and since Logan had been in pain for such a long time, the joy he felt now from their reunion was immense.

“Silly child, why are you crying? We should be happy. This is a good beginning, and our family will all be reunited in the future,” Mr. Ballard comforted him by patting his hand softly.

Logan took a deep breath, held back his tears, and nodded with a smile, “Yes, we will definitely be reunited.”

Watching this scene, Molly felt a bit reluctant to interrupt them, but the food was getting cold.

So she had to speak up, “The good times are still ahead of us. Let’s eat and chat together, okay?”

Mr. Ballard also agreed. “Yes, let’s chat while dining together. It After everyone took their seats, Lesley noticed three cute babies sitting next to the dining table. They all had delicate features, like porcelain dolls carefully crafted.

“They are...”

Out of curiosity, she looked to Molly for an answer.

She recalled Molly mentioning that she had three babies.

“Alex, Ben, and Claudia, say hello to Logan and Lesley. They are family to us.” Molly said to the three little ones.

The three immediately sat up straight, blinked their pretty big eyes, and said in a sweet voice, “Good evening, Uncle Logan and Auntie Lesley.”

Lesley's heart melted instantly. "Oh my God, they're so cute."

Unable to restrain her love for the three little ones, she sat directly next to Claudia, staring straight at her pretty little face.

Chapter 1544-Seeing that Lesley liked children so much, Mr. Ballard laughed and joked, "After we leave this island, you and Logan can finish your wedding ceremony, and you can live a stable life and have several children then." "Yeah! They will be beautiful kids!" Molly echoed.

These words made Lesley blush, "What are you talking about?"

She took a squint at Logan shyly, and couldn't help smiling.

She and Logan would certainly have very cute children too.

"Uncle Jordan, you should officiate at our wedding then." When Logan said this, he stared deeply at Lesley with her head bowed shyly across the table.

During this time, he owed her too much, so he could only make up for her for the rest of his life.

Of course, Mr. Ballard was very happy, and he responded with a hearty smile, "No problem."

Claudia blinked her big beautiful eyes, and asked in a childish voice, "Aunt Lesley will be a very beautiful bride."

Lesley gently stroked her little head and nodded softly.

"Can I be your flower girl?" Claudia asked again.

“Of course.” Logan rushed to answer and then turned to look at Molly, “Molly, Uncle Jordan will be the officiant, and the three kids will be the flower girl and the page boys. How about that?”

Molly smiled, “I have no objection, as long as they want.”

“We do!” The three children replied in unison.

This made the adults present laugh.

The dinner ended in a happy atmosphere. Molly asked everyone to sit in the living room and then turned to prepare some fruit.

After sitting down, Logan and Lesley looked at Mr. Ballard in front of them, and still felt like they were dreaming.

They had never expected that they would see Mr. Ballard so soon.

It felt very unreal.

“What’s wrong?” Seeing them staring at him, Mr. Ballard subconsciously raised his hand to touch his face, thinking there was something dirty.

Lesley smiled shyly, “Uncle Jordan, it’s been a long time since we met you, and we still can’t believe it for a while.”

Hearing this, Mr. Ballard understood, shook his head, and laughed, Don’t worry.

I’m a real person, not a fake.”

“Yes.” Lesley and Logan looked at each other and smiled.

“Mr. Ballard, wanna play chess for a while?” Sean came over with the chessboard.

Mr. Ballard nodded, “Okay.”

Then he said, “During your absence, no one played chess with me. I can finally have a good time today.”

Molly came out of the kitchen with a fruit platter and saw the two playing chess seriously at a glance. She couldn’t help smiling with her eyes full of tenderness.

She hadn’t seen such a warm scene for a long time.

She walked over and sat next to Lesley. Lesley turned her head, and both of them smiled at the same time.

At this moment, their mood was unprecedentedly relaxed.

Mr. Ballard made a move, raised his eyes to look at Logan, hesitated for a while, and asked, “Logan, do you know Selby’s whereabouts?”

Selby was Mr. Ballard’s grandson.

When Selby was mentioned, Logan’s originally relaxed expression suddenly became serious. He shook his head, “No.”

Mr. Ballard frowned.

If he remembered correctly, Logan had been arrested with Selby at the same time. How could Logan not know?

Seeing his doubts, Logan explained, "Uncle Jordan, Selby and I were indeed together for the first two months after we were arrested. But after that, those people separated us.

"Then I was sent to several research bases, but I never heard of Selby's whereabouts again."

Although the fact was somewhat cruel, Logan still spoke out truthfully.

Chapter 1545-Mr. Ballard hadn't expected such a situation, and he couldn't help feeling a little disappointed.

There was no news of Selby even from Logan, let alone the others.

Mr. Ballard didn't even know when he could see his grandson again.

Molly and Lesley were also silent on the side.

They didn't know how to comfort Mr. Ballard because any words seemed a little weak at this moment.

"Mr. Ballard," The three children ran over.

Hearing their voices, Mr. Ballard came to his sense, looked at them with a kind smile, and asked, "What's wrong?"

"Mr. Ballard, don't be sad. Daddy will help you find Uncle Selby." Like an adult, Alex patted his hand lightly and comforted him.

"Yeah, Daddy is the best. He will be able to find Uncle Selby and your other relatives."

"Mr. Ballard, we will always be by your side. So don't be sad!" Ben and Claudia comforted him too, and their cute voices made Mr. Ballard's heart melt.

When Molly and Sean were not around recently, the three children had lived with Mr. Ballard. They had gotten along very well and had a very close relationship.

Seeing this, Molly was very pleased.

She had always known that the three children were very sensible, but hearing them comfort Mr. Ballard like this, she still felt very touched and a little guilty.

Even the children knew how to comfort the old man, while the adults found it a little awkward to do so.

After Mr. Ballard was comforted by the children, the sadness that shrouded his heart disappeared, and he smiled cheerfully, "Yeah, your daddy is amazing...

and you are here. How can I feel sad?"

He touched the heads of the three children lovingly.

"Daddy!" Alex turned to look at Sean.

Sean raised his eyebrows.

Alex continued, "You must help Mr. Ballard find Uncle Selby! If there is anything we can do, just tell us and we will do our best!"

This made Molly and the others laugh.

Even Sean revealed a smile and nodded, "Okay, I will try my best. If there is anything you can do, I will tell you! During this period, practice your programming skills, and I may need your help in the future."

“No problem.” Alex patted his chest to guarantee.

Ben hurriedly said to Mr. Ballard, “Mr. Ballard, did you hear it? Don’t worry.”

Mr. Ballard nodded with a smile, “Okay, okay.”

Seeing that Mr. Ballard’s mood improved, Molly said, “Mr. Ballard, we will help you.”

She and Sean would do their best to bring Selby back so that Mr. Ballard could reunite with his grandson.

At this time, Mr. Ballard was both moved and delighted. He knew very well about Sean’s ability. As long as Sean promised, he would do it, but...he didn’t know whether Selby was alive or dead now.

He quickly put this thought behind him. The most important thing now was not this, but...

“Molly, the most correct thing I do is to accept you as my apprentice.” Mr. Ballard sighed.

Hearing this, Molly laughed and joked, “Hey, that is a little too sensational, and I am not used to it. Look, I have goosebumps all over.”

Mr. Ballard choked, “You naughty girl...”

Others couldn’t help laughing after hearing this.

The atmosphere lightened a lot after that.

Molly was relieved to see Mr. Ballard in a better mood.

Chapter 1546-Sean played a few games of chess with Mr. Ballard and then went to study because he had to deal with work matters.

Being separated for ages, Logan had a lot to say to the old man.

So Molly and Lesley took the three children upstairs and gave them some privacy.

As soon as they entered the room, Molly let the three children play, and then asked Lesley, "What's the situation at the base now?"

When mentioning this matter, Lesley curled her lips, "To appease everyone's emotions, the base agreed to give the doctors a vacation and extend the time to one day." Hearing this, Molly frowned, "This is just their expedient measure.

They will do something else."

"Probably." Lesley shrugged, "Anyway, their current focus is on finding the person who sneaked into the base that day, but not on the families who made trouble."

Molly nodded and said nothing more.

At this time, Claudia ran over, "Mommy, can you paint with me?"

Hearing this, Lesley immediately bent down and recommended herself, "Claudia, how about I paint with you?"

"Okay." Claudia agreed readily, took Lesley's hand, and went to the desk. Lesley raised her eyebrows at Molly, looking a little smug. Molly couldn't help laughing.

Seeing that the children were playing with each other, Molly turned around and went to the study.

Hearing the footsteps, Sean raised his head. When he saw Molly walking in, he smiled tenderly.

“Why didn’t you accompany them?” he asked.

“Logan is chatting with Mr. Ballard. Lesley has been fascinated by the three children and they are now playing happily without me.” Molly approached, squinted at the open file on his computer, and asked, “Are you busy?”

“I’m not busy when you’re here.” Sean stared at her deeply, “I can only see you.”

Even though they had usually gotten along like an old married couple, Molly couldn’t help but blush when she heard such love words suddenly.

“Come here.” Sean gestured for her to come to his side.

Molly went over as he said, and he put his arms around her waist and sat her on his lap.

Feeling his warm breath on her ear, Molly couldn’t help but think of that day when they had made out here, and she blushed even more.

Seeing her thoughts, Sean blinked, moved closer to her ear, and said, “What are you thinking about?”

“It’s nothing.” Molly quickly changed the topic and asked, “When will you bring Mr. Ballard to the lab?”

Now that Mr. Ballard was here, the solution to the Love Curse must be put on the agenda.

“No rush.” Sean stroked her soft hair lightly, and his eyes darkened, “Kara’s situation is not good now. I’m afraid it’s not suitable for dispelling the Venomous Insect.”

Hearing this, Molly raised her eyebrows, and glared at him pretending to be unhappy, “Are you concerned about Kara?”

Sean was stunned for a moment, but then he reacted and couldn't help laughing.

"Silly girl, what are you thinking about?" He tapped her forehead lightly, "I'm thinking about this for you. And whether Kara lives or dies has nothing to do with me."

"That's more like it." Molly said, leaning her head on his shoulder, and said, "When your Love Curse is solved, we will leave here, go home, and never come to this wretched place again." Sean pulled her into his arms, and said, "Aren't you going to the Grandset with me? If we can leave safely this time, we may have to go there."

Hearing this, Molly came to her sense, "It's fine to go back there, as long as it's not here! I'm happy as long as I stay with you and the children all the time."

Chapter 1547-After ten o'clock in the evening, Logan and Lesley were ready to go back.

"Uncle Jordan, take a good rest. We will come to see you another day." Logan said to Mr. Ballard who walked them out with a face full of reluctance.

But Mr. Ballard was very calm, "Anyway, we are all on this island now, and we can see each other anytime. Go back and rest. It's late."

Lesley looked at Molly and Sean who were standing behind Mr. Ballard, and said gratefully, "Thank you. If it weren't for you, I probably wouldn't have reunited with Logan, let alone Uncle Jordan."

"No, I should be thanking you." Molly sincerely said, "If it weren't for you, I wouldn't have survived when I first arrived on the island.

"Besides, Mr. Ballard is my teacher and mentor. Sean and I should do these things." "We're a family. Don't be so polite." When Mr. Ballard spoke, the young people all smiled and did not continue this topic.

"Tony, escort them back safely," Sean instructed Tony who was beside him.

Tony bowed his head respectfully, "Yes, Sir."

"Goodbye." Logan and Lesley waved.

Watching the car drive away and vanish round the street corner, Mr. Ballard turned and went back to the house.

When passing by her, Molly heard his sigh and also saw the disappointment on his face inadvertently.

She and Sean looked at each other, and then quickly followed.

"Mr. Ballard, do you miss Selby?" She held Mr. Ballard's arm and asked tentatively.

Mr. Ballard patted her hand, sighed, and stared at the front, "Yes, but what can I do?"

He shook his head.

"Mr. Ballard, I have sent someone to check the whereabouts of your grandson, and I believe there will be news soon."

Hearing this, Mr. Ballard turned his head to look at Sean who was speaking, and said with a helpless smile on his face, "Sean, Molly, you don't have to worry about me. I'm fine."

Knowing that Mr. Ballard was just being emotional, Molly quickly changed the topic and said, "By the way, Mr. Ballard, I'm afraid you'll have to go to the research lab."

When it came to business, Mr. Ballard's expression instantly became serious, "I know. I came here to help you solve the Love Curse. How is Kara?"

“She’s slowly recovering, but not fully recovered,” Molly replied truthfully.

Mr. Ballard pondered for a moment, and then said, “Well, when it is convenient for you, just take me there, and I will personally check her physical condition and evaluate whether it is suitable for inducing the Venomous Insect.”

“OK.”

After confirming this matter, Mr. Ballard went upstairs to rest.

Sean and Molly went to see if the three children were asleep. When they opened the door, they saw the three children lying on the bed obediently.

“They’re sleeping,” Molly whispered, and then gently closed the door.

Sean raised his eyebrows, “Aren’t you going in and make sure?”

Would these three children sleep so obediently?

He didn’t believe it.

“No.” Molly dragged him back to the room while talking.

An hour later, after the bath, just as they lay down, the door was suddenly opened by someone from outside.

Hearing the sound, Molly quickly sat up.

Three little heads poked in through the open door, and three pairs of bright, sleepless eyes were staring at her.

She couldn't help laughing, "You three haven't slept yet!"

Sean didn't look surprised at all.

"Mommy, we want to sleep with you."

Alex took the lead in expressing his thoughts.

"Me too." Ben followed closely behind.

After all, Molly felt a little guilty for not being with them for a while. So instead of refusing, she waved at them, "Come to Mommy."

As soon as the three children heard it, they immediately burst into smiles, rushed over with their pillows in their arms, and climbed onto the bed one after another.

Seeing this, Sean looked a little unhappy.

Their privacy was suddenly disturbed by the children. He was certainly not happy.

So, he stretched out his hands, took Alex and Ben to his side, and said with a serious face, "You are not babies anymore. You are big boys, and you should sleep by yourselves, you know?"

Alex and Ben exchanged a glance and tacitly chose to ignore their father's words. They climbed to lie down next to Molly again and covered the quilt obediently.

"We're going to sleep with Mommy."

They couldn't sleep by themselves tonight.

Sean suddenly regretted having asked Mr. Ballard to bring them here.

At this time, Claudia crawled over and said in a childish voice, "Daddy, I want to sleep with you."

Sean had always adored his daughter, and he immediately stopped moping and chose to compromise, "Okay."

Seeing this, Molly couldn't help laughing. This man had just tried so hard to refuse his sons' request, but he couldn't even say a single "no" to his daughter now.

He was completely controlled by his daughter.

Fortunately, the bed was big enough for five of them.

Lying by Daddy's and Mommy's side, the three children fell asleep within a short while.

"Good night." Molly lovingly kissed their little cheeks. When she raised her eyes, she met Sean's bitter gaze.

She was both amused and helpless, and said to him softly, "Good night."

Then she lay down and closed her eyes.

Seeing that she was about to sleep, Sean could only sigh lightly and decided that he would let the three children sleep by themselves tomorrow night.

In the early morning of the next day, Molly vaguely felt that someone was touching her face.

A bit frightened, she quickly opened her eyes and found a pair of clear and innocent eyes.

It was Claudia.

Seeing that Molly woke up, the little girl giggled, "Mommy, you're a slob. Why don't you get up yet?"

At this moment, Molly realized that Sean and their two sons were not in the room. She scratched her hair and then pulled Claudia into her arms.

"Then you can be a slob with Mommy." She kissed the little girl hard twice.

Claudia struggled and laughed, "Mommy, you haven't brushed your teeth."

"It's okay. I brushed them before going to bed." Molly hugged Claudia tightly, smelling her hair, closed her eyes, and muttered, "Let Mommy sleep a little longer, okay?"

"No!" Claudia directly opened Molly's eyes with her hands, and her beautiful and delicate face was full of seriousness, "Daddy said you can sleep if you want, but you have to eat breakfast first."

At this moment, Sean opened the door and came in. Seeing the mother and daughter lying on the bed, he smiled dotingly.

"Claudia, didn't I tell you to wake Mommy up? Why did you lie down and sleep too?"

"Daddy, I didn't sleep. It's because Mommy didn't want to get up." Claudia complained in a childish voice.

When Molly heard this, she could only sit up from the bed, and said to Sean with a wry smile, "Your daughter is more principled than you."

"If you are sleepy, take a nap after the breakfast." Sean came over, picked up Claudia, and looked at Molly's sleepy face with gentle eyes.

No.” Molly smiled, “I don’t want to be a slob.”

Chapter 1548-After Molly washed up, she went downstairs with Claudia in her arms.

As soon as she reached the first floor, she could smell the aroma of fried eggs and toast in the air.

Immediately, she felt very hungry and walked quickly toward the dining room.

Alex and Ben were helping set the tableware. When they saw her, they happily shouted, “Mommy, good morning.”

“Good morning.” Molly put Claudia on the chair and then walked over to hug the two boys.

“You’re great.” She gently rubbed their heads.

Being praised by Molly, the two boys smiled happily.

It was the first time the family had had breakfast together after being separated for so long. Molly watched the three children eating quietly, feeling that her heart was filled with happiness.

After breakfast, Sean was in charge of cleaning up. Alex and Ben glanced at each other, reached out, and tugged at Molly’s clothes.

Molly, who was wiping Claudia’s mouth, felt it and turned around. Seeing the two boys, she smiled and asked, “What’s up, guys?”

“Mommy, can we go out for a walk?” Alex asked cautiously.

Although they were young, they could hear from the conversations of the adults that this place was not very safe. Molly frowned slightly, "Go out for a walk?"

To be honest, she didn't want to show them around the island. If the people at the base found out that there were strangers on the island, they might be in trouble.

At this time, Sean came over and said, "Okay, but you can't run around."

Molly was shocked when she heard this, "Sean, you..."

"Don't worry. I'll avoid the base patrols and we'll be fine," he assured her.

Since Sean said so and the children looked so expectant, Molly could only agree.

"All right." She sighed and told the children seriously with a straight face, "This is not the Grandset, and you must stay close to Daddy and Mommy. You can't run around by yourselves, ok?"

"We know." The three children replied in unison.

So, they simply prepared and went out.

The three children were very curious about this strange place. Pressing their faces against the car window, the three little ones stared at the outside with wide curious eyes, asking questions from time to time. Molly told them very patiently.

When they passed the research base, the three children couldn't help but frown.

"Daddy, is that the villains' base?" Alex turned to look at Sean in the driver's seat.

Sean glanced at him sideways and nodded, "Yes."

After getting a definite answer, Alex narrowed his eyes slightly and looked thoughtful.

“Remember its location carefully,” Sean said again.

The three children nodded to show they understood.

Over the next hours, they simply visited a few sights and returned home around noon.

After lunch, Molly tucked the three children in and went downstairs. Mr. Ballard was sitting in the living room. When he saw Molly coming down, he got up and asked, “Are they all asleep?”

“Yes.” Molly nodded.

“Then let’s go.” Mr. Ballard turned and was about to go out.

During lunch, they agreed to go to the research lab in the afternoon.

After all, the matter of the Venomous Insect could not be delayed.

“Mr. Ballard,” Molly stopped him.

Mr. Ballard looked confused, “What’s wrong?”

“Do you need to take a rest? We can go there later.” Molly was afraid that Mr.

Ballard might be too tired. After all, he had just arrived yesterday, so it was a bit unreasonable for him to work immediately today.

“Why take a rest? You don’t have to worry about me, Molly. I’m very strong.”

Mr. Ballard shot Molly a glance and then urged, “Let’s go quickly.”

Molly sighed slightly and hurried out after him.

Chapter 1549-n the underground lab.

When Logan saw that Mr. Ballard also came, he stopped what he was doing and went forward to greet him, “Uncle Jordan.”

Mr. Ballard nodded happily.

Then he looked around and found that the equipment here was very complete.

He couldn’t help smiling, “Mr. Shepard isn’t bad. It’s much more convenient to have such a good place.”

“Logan.” At this time, Edmund ran out from one of the research rooms. The moment he saw them, especially the old man, he stopped and was a bit startled.

‘Who is the new face?’ “Edmund, this is my uncle and Molly’s teacher.” Logan noticed his gaze and introduced him aloud. Edmund came to his sense. Although he didn’t know the identity of the old man, the latter looked hale and hearty, and he was also Molly’s teacher.

Then...his medical skills must be very good.

So, he greeted obediently, “Mr. Ballard, hello.”

Mr. Ballard nodded, “Hi, I heard from Molly that thanks to your help, she was able to induce the Venomous Insect smoothly.”

“Well, this is what I should do.” Edmund scratched his head awkwardly.

Now that he was here, Mr. Ballard didn't waste much time and went straight to the point.

“What's the situation with Kara now?” He looked at Logan.

“I'll get the report.” Logan turned to enter the research room and came back with a stack of reports in his hand after a while.

“Uncle Jordan, take a look first, and I'll explain if you have any doubts.” He handed the report to Mr. Ballard. Mr. Ballard took it and read it seriously.

Seeing that they were about to get busy, Sean leaned into Molly's ear and whispered, “I'm going to the office. I will leave you to your work.” Molly turned to look at him and nodded, “Okay.”

After a while, Mr. Ballard finished the report with a solemn expression, “It seems that the induction of the Venomous Insect last time caused great harm to Kara's body.”

“It was even worse a few days ago.” Logan frowned, “She has recovered a little now, but it may take a while before she fully recovers.”

“Mr. Ballard,” Molly called out.

Mr. Ballard turned to look at her and met her worried eyes.

He knew what she wanted to say, so he gave her a comforting smile, and said, “Kara's current situation is not suitable for solving the Love Curse. But with me here, you don't have to worry too much.”

He patted Molly's shoulder, and said, “I'll go check on Kara's situation.”

“Mr. Ballard, please come with me.” Edmund heard this and took the initiative to lead him to the consulting room where Kara was locked. Kara had her eyes closed at first. But when she heard the movement, she opened her eyes abruptly.

When she saw Edmund and the others, her pale face instantly darkened.

Especially when she saw Molly, her eyes lit up with anger and she shouted, “Bitch, it’s all your fault. I’m dying because of you!”

“When I go out, I will call the police and arrest you!” Kara yelled and cursed angrily. Edmund couldn’t take it anymore, and asked Molly directly, “Do you want me to feed her some dumb medicine?”

“No need.” Molly didn’t care what Kara scolded, and walked forward calmly, taking out the silver needle she had prepared in advance.

The silver needle shone coldly under the light.

“What are you doing?” Kara turned pale with shock, subconsciously trying to escape.

But her body did not allow her to move.

The silver needle pierced into the top of her head, and she passed out in the next second.

Chapter 1550-Seeing her neat movements, Edmund raised his eyebrows, secretly marveling in his heart.

As soon as Kara fainted, Mr. Ballard immediately went forward to feel her pulse and his pupils shrank. He looked back at Molly and shook his head.

Molly’s heart suddenly tightened and she asked quickly, “Mr. Ballard, what’s wrong?”

“The Love Curse has penetrated her heart.”

Molly's expression changed when she heard this.

Mr. Ballard sighed heavily, and continued with a serious expression, "This means that she's become more emotionally attached to Sean. The most important thing is... we have to get the Venomous Insect out from the heart then.

IV He looked at Molly, "Molly, do you know what this means?" Molly nodded, "I know. Inducing the Venomous Insect from the heart will increase the danger."

This news made her feel very heavy, and her voice became tense.

"Yes, if it fails, all previous efforts may be wasted." Mr. Ballard sighed again.

Edmund, who stood by, heard this and asked Logan in confusion, "Is it so serious?"

"You were also present when the Venomous Insect was induced last time. Was it serious?" Logan asked.

Edmund pouted, "It was very serious."

The Venomous Insect didn't hurt Kara that much last time because it wasn't in the heart. But this time it was in the heart, and Kara would probably die.

The Mother Insect and the Child Insect were symbiosis.

Once the host of the Mother Insect died, Sean's life would be threatened.

The people present were all doctors. Even if some of them didn't have a deep understanding of the Venomous Insect, they all knew this very well, and the atmosphere suddenly became oppressive.

Mr. Ballard spoke first, "I also have to check on Sean to see where the Venomous Insect is."

Although he vaguely knew the answer in his heart, he still wanted to confirm it himself.

Molly nodded, "Okay, I'll take you there."

They hurried to the office where Sean was in.

Seeing them all coming, Sean was a little surprised. But seeing that all of them looked unhappy, he vaguely guessed something.

"What's wrong?" He asked Molly softly.

Molly forced a smile and said, "It's nothing. Mr. Ballard wants to check you up."

"Okay."

Then Sean went to another exam room.

After Mr. Ballard checked Sean's condition, his expression was more solemn than before.

Molly couldn't help but clench her fists tightly. A bad premonition arose from the bottom of her heart.

"Molly." Mr. Ballard looked over and hesitated before saying, "Sean's Venomous Insect has also invaded the heart, and he will be affected soon." "How could it be?" Molly's face instantly turned pale. She suppressed the panic in her heart and tried to maintain her composure, "Mr. Ballard, did you make a mistake in the examination?"

Mr. Ballard sighed, "Molly, I know you can't accept it, but it's the way it is."

Molly's eyes turned red instantly, and panic covered her entire face.

What she had been dreading all this time happened.

Sean put his arm around her shoulder. Seeing her like this, he felt sorry.

"Don't worry. With Mr. Ballard here, nothing will happen." He comforted softly, "And I will never forget you or confuse you with someone else."

It was not that Molly didn't believe him, but that the Love Curse was too hateful, and no one knew what would happen after it launched a full-blown attack.

She was unsure.

"Molly, you have to trust Sean." Mr. Ballard was afraid that she would be immersed in worry all the time, so he said, "Come here and help me make the medicine, prepare it in advance, and use it when we need to solve the Love Curse later."

Mr. Ballard was trying to divert her attention in this way.

Now that things had happened, Molly could only barely pull herself together.