

Triplets On SM 1591

Chapter 1591-What happened this time was a very serious matter. If things were done according to union rules, then he would be given a death sentence.

He didn't want to die. Selseey was so scared that he was trembling. He reached out and hugged Ward's legs. He then pleaded, "Please, give me another chance. I'll definitely catch the person they want!"

Ward didn't show any sympathy at all. He just looked down at Selseey as if he was looking at an ant.

A while later, he finally said, "Alright then. I'll give you one last chance."

After hearing those words, Selseey was overjoyed, but before he could say anything, Ward continued, "I'll give you a week to find out the person before all of this. If you don't..."

Ward squinted his eyes. "Then the only thing that'll be waiting for you is death."

"I understand. I won't let the union down." Selseey quickly nodded his head.

As long as he didn't have to die, he would move mountains to find the person behind what happened.

"Then I'll be waiting for your good news." Ward looked at Selseey with a cold gaze before leaving.

As soon as Ward left, Selseey finally was able to feel relaxed. He quickly gave the order for his men to capture anyone suspicious on the island.

On the morning of the next day. Molly was having breakfast with Sean.

Tony rushed over in a hurry. He had a serious look on his face.

“Sir, something’s up.”

Sean cocked his brows and said, “Speak.”

“The security on the island has just been upgraded and they’re clearer about their target. It seemed that Ward had made his move.”

“I see.”

Sean was very calm about what was happening. This was because he had already guessed such things would happen.

‘Is that it?’ wondered Tony.

He was a little taken aback. He then asked, “Sir, do you have any plans?”

Even Molly looked at Sean curiously. She knew that from the looks of Sean, he would already have a plan.

“It’s alright. Let them do what they want. They won’t be able to find us anytime soon anyway,” Sean said calmly.

“You have a point, sir.” Tony nodded in agreement.

The men from the base had already come over once. Tony had given them a big box of red wine. He felt that they wouldn’t be coming over any time soon.

Molly furrowed her brows. “That may be the case, but we can’t stay here forever.”

They had to think of a way to leave this place as soon as possible.

"I know." Sean grabbed Molly's hand to calm her down. He then said, "The most important at the moment is to send Mr. Ballard and the three children to safety."

Mr. Ballard was an elder and the three children were still young. They would need to be sent off the island first.

"Okay." Molly agreed with Sean's suggestion.

Sean smiled. "You can leave with Lesley as well when the time comes."

"What?" Molly was taken aback.

'Is he planning on letting me leave first?' she wondered.

"What about you?" asked Molly.

Sean knew what she was worried about, so he said softly, "Don't worry. I have Tony and the others. Nothing's going to happen to me. I'll leave right after you."

"That's not what I want." Molly shook her head. "We're leaving together. I don't want to leave first."

Sean had just undergone treatment for the Venomous Insect and hadn't fully recovered yet. No one knew what would happen next.

If it had been in the past, Molly would have agreed without hesitation, but it was different this time.

She wasn't going to agree at all this time.

"Molly..."

Sean wanted to convince Molly, but she covered his mouth with her hand.

“Sean, I feel I will definitely be useful if I stay behind.”

Chapter 1592-Seeing that Molly had made up her mind, Sean didn't know what to say for a moment there. He wanted Molly to be by his side, but he didn't want Molly to be in any danger with him.

Molly knew what Sean was thinking. He would never allow her to stay behind.

She was left with no choice but to be unreasonable.

Therefore, Molly raised her chin and said in a voice that didn't allow any disagreement, “If you send me away again, I will never talk to you again. Not only that, when I arrive back home, I'll immediately marry someone else.”

This was a clear threat.

Sean wasn't angry at all. Instead, he smiled helplessly and dotingly.

“What nonsense are you talking about?” Sean pinched Molly's face lightly and sighed. “Alright, alright. I'll let you stay.”

When Molly heard those words, she immediately smiled, but she still pouted her lips sulkily. “That's more like it.”

When everything was decided, Molly went to inform Mr.

Ballard and the three children of their plan. After notifying them of the plan, Molly told them to pack their bags.

Lesley received a call from Logan and immediately rushed over.

“Logan’s upstairs.”

Seeing Lesley arrive, Molly didn’t ask any questions and just told her where Logan was.

“Thank you.” Lesley smiled at Molly and then went straight upstairs.

Molly turned around and looked at Lesley, who was running up the stairs. She then sighed. The two of them were just able to reunite, but had to separate again. She knew that the two of them were a little upset.

She understood what they were going through all too well.

Lesley opened the door to Logan’s room. As soon as she saw the familiar figure, tears welled up in her eyes. However, the next second, she forced a smile on her face and walked inside.

“Logan.”

After hearing someone calling his name, Logan quickly turned around. When he saw who it was, his lips slowly curved into a smile. “You’re here.”

“Yes.”

Lesley walked up to Logan and looked at the open suitcase on the ground. She then asked, “Are you all packed?”

Logan didn’t answer. Instead, he looked at Lesley and said, “I’m sorry, Lesley.

You’ll have to leave first today.”

This was the decision he made after talking to Sean.

“It’s alright.” Lesley tried her best to maintain the smile on her face. “Although we went through a lot of trouble to be back together again, I still know the current situation. I...”

Lesley wanted to say that she didn’t want to cause trouble for everyone else.

However, the words got stuck in her throat and her eyes turned red uncontrollably.

If it was possible, she would like to stay with Logan and be there for him.

Logan’s heart ached and he pulled Lesley into his arms. He lowered his head and kissed her on the forehead. He then said in a soft voice, “Lesley, I know you don’t want to leave my side, but I don’t want you to be in danger by staying behind. You should know that you’re the one that I’m worried about the most.

That’s why I want to go with Uncle Jordan. Let’s get married when we get back, alright?”

Lesley didn’t say a word. She lay in his arms and tears trickled down his cheeks.

The room’s atmosphere became a little grim.

A while later, Lesley said, “I know what you mean. I’ll do as you say.”

She knew that if she insisted on staying, she would just be a drawback.

Besides, she was also different from Molly. She had no knowledge of medicine at all.

Therefore, all Lesley could do was to make sure that Logan didn’t have to worry about her.

After calming herself down, Lesley raised her head and looked at Logan. She forced a smile on her face. "Then I'll wait for your return. If anything happens to you, I won't choose to live either."

She had just cried, so her eyes were crystal clear at the moment.

Logan's heart ached again. He nodded, lowered his head and kissed Lesley.

This was the woman he deeply loved.

He was determined to return in one piece to marry her.

Chapter 1593-Molly went back to her room as well to pack the luggage for the three children.

The three children remained by Molly's side. Instead of being very noisy like what they would usually do, they were actually very quiet today. They seemed a little down.

Molly could feel the change in their moods. She put down the clothes in her hand and pulled the three of them into her arms.

"I'm sorry, guys. Mommy doesn't want to be separated from you so quickly either."

Her voice was filled with guilt.

The three children were forced to run around with them recently and still had to be separated from them again.

Molly's heart ached and she was unwilling to be separated from the children.

“It’s alright, Mommy.” Alex reached out and touched Molly’s face. He then said in a mature manner, “We know Mommy and Daddy have some important things to do. We’ll be good and listen to Mr. Ballard.”

After hearing that the children were being so mature, tears welled up in Molly’s eyes and her heart ached. She then said, “I know you will.”

“And we will behave well when we get back as well.”

“We will wait for Daddy and Mommy to come back,” Ben and Claudia both said.

This time, the three children were going to head back to the country with Mr.

Ballard.

Molly and Sean would be less worried when the children were with their family.

“Okay. You’re all so excellent.”

Molly rubbed the children’s heads. She then changed the subject and said in a relaxed voice, “Then how about you guys help me pack?”

“Okay.”

The three children put aside their sadness and helped Molly pack.

About 20 minutes later, the luggage was finally packed.

Molly then went to check on Mr. Ballard.

“Mr. Ballard, do you need my help?”

As soon as Molly entered the room, she saw Mr. Ballard packing his luggage.

Molly quickly went over to help.

“There’s no need.” Mr. Ballard turned around and looked at Molly. He then said with a smile, “There’s not much to pack for me. I’ve only got a few sets of clothes.”

With that said, he placed some clothes into the suitcase and zipped it up. Only after doing so did he begin checking on Molly.

“You’ve made a good decision this time, Molly.” Mr. Ballard nodded. “As a couple, the two of you should be together at all times. You shouldn’t be separated for so long like before.”

After hearing those words, Molly couldn’t help but smile helplessly. “You know me too well, Mr. Ballard. You’re completely different to Sean. All he ever thinks about is to send me away. You have no idea how hard it is to convince him of something.” “Don’t listen to him.” Mr. Ballard shook his head and sighed. “He hasn’t fully recovered yet. Even with Logan and the others around, you won’t feel relaxed at all. You might as well stay by his side and take care of him, if you’re going to be worried sick when you’re separated.”

“That’s exactly what I thought as well!” Molly wrapped her arms around Mr.

Ballard’s intimately and said, “I’m going to have to ask you to take care of the children for me again, Mr. Ballard.”

“Don’t say that.” Mr. Ballard pretended to give Molly an angry glare. “Besides, the children are far more mature and independent than we think. You don’t need to worry.”

“I know.” Molly nodded.

When everyone finished packing their luggage, Molly took the children to see Sean.

“Daddy!”

The three children ran up to Sean and raised their heads to look at him.

“Daddy, you have to take care of yourself and listen to Mommy.”

They were like adults as they talked to their father.

“Okay.” Sean smiled warmly.

He then pulled the children into his arms and kissed each of them on the forehead.

He then raised his head to look at Mr. Ballard. “This time, Megrez and Alioth will be escorting you on your way back.”

Chapter 1594-Mr. Ballard had heard Sean’s arrangements and had no problems with them.

He then nodded. “Okay.” Then, Sean raised his head and looked at Megrez and Alioth. He then gave the order in a deep voice. “You have to make sure they arrive in one piece no matter what.”

“Yes, sir!”

Both Megrez and Alioth lowered their heads.

“Stay in the country when you arrive back. Protect the children and the people in the family.”

“Don’t worry, Master. We’ll definitely take good care of everyone.”

Megrez made a promise with a serious face.

Sean nodded in satisfaction when he heard those words.

At that moment, Tony walked in.

“Sir, everything’s been arranged. We can move on now.”

“Okay,” said Sean.

He then hugged the three children and told them to listen to Mr. Ballard.

When the time really came for them to separate, the three children couldn’t control their emotions anymore. Their eyes turned red.

“Daddy, Mommy, come back soon.” Claudia pursed her lips and blinked her eyes. Tears began trickling down her cheeks.

As for Alex and Ben, they felt that they were boys so they shouldn’t cry so easily.

They forced a smile on their faces and tried to comfort their sister.

“It’s alright, Claudia. Don’t cry. Daddy and Mommy are going to come back home once they’re finished taking care of the matter.”

With the two brothers comforting her, Claudia stopped crying. However, she still had tears in her eyes and she looked very pitiful.

Molly walked up to give Claudia a hug. "Be good, Claudia. We'll come back once Daddy gets better. Therefore, Alex and Ben, take care of Claudia for us."

"Okay, we will." Alex and Ben nodded their heads.

"Good boys."

Molly kissed the two boys.

On the other side, Lesley held Logan's hand tightly. Her eyes were red as well.

Logan leaned in and kissed her forehead. He then pulled her into a tight embrace and whispered, "Molly's right. I'm going to head back to see you very soon."

"Okay." Lesley also hugged Logan tightly as well. It was as if she wanted to fuse with him so that they weren't going to separate ever again.

Everyone was unwilling to part. That was until half an hour later. Only then did Mr. Ballard and Lesley leave with the children.

Kara also left with them this time as well.

When everyone had gone, the environment immediately became quiet.

Molly wasn't used to things being so quiet. She always felt that something was missing.

At the same time, she was a little worried as well.

At the moment, the docks on the island were all closed. No one could enter or leave. Molly wondered if everyone would be able to get off the island safely.

Sean could see that Molly was worried. He held her hand to comfort her. "Don't worry. Since we're letting them leave, then I'm confident about what I'm doing."

After hearing those words, Molly turned around and locked gazes with Sean's dark eyes. It seemed to have calmed her down a little.

Sean then smiled. "Didn't I tell you that not all the checkpoints on the island belonged to the base? They don't have total control of the island anymore."

With that said, Molly was finally able to relax.

"Okay, I believe you." She then leaned in Sean's embrace and mumbled, "You need to get well soon, so that we can finish things off over here. That way, we can head back as well."

Thinking of the way the three children looked when they were leaving, Molly felt upset again.

"I will."

Sean held Molly in a tight embrace.

The two of them were hugging for a while and only parted when Molly calmed down a little.

"I'm fine. You should get some rest," said Molly.

"Okay." Sean smiled. He held Molly's hand and looked at her passionately.

"You're coming with me."

Molly smiled as well. She didn't say anything but nodded her head.

Chapter 1595-s were off the island.

Later on, Tony came rushing over.

As soon as Molly saw him, she stood up.

“How did it go?” she asked desperately.

Tony replied with a smile, “They’re off the island. There’s nothing to be worried about, Mrs. Anderson.”

“That’s great to hear!”

Molly was finally able to feel at ease. She finally didn’t have to be worried anymore.

Seeing this, Sean couldn’t help but smile helplessly. “You don’t have to be worried now, do you?”

“That’s right.” Molly stuck her tongue out playfully. “I had faith in you. It’s just that I’m I couldn’t help but feel worried.”

“I know.” Sean gently caressed her hair.

“Oh!” Molly seemed to have remembered something as she turned to look at Tony. “What’s happening outside?”

Tony looked at Sean and said honestly, “The people from the base are searching door by door. Selseey even appeared in person as well.”

When the name “Selseey” was mentioned, Sean cocked his brows.

It seemed that things were messier than he had expected.

Tony then continued, "They're more unreasonable than previous times as well. If they were suspicious of anything, then they would just take that person away.

Everything's a mess out there."

Molly frowned. "They're being way too domineering. They're so unreasonable."

People from the base were unreasonable to start off with, but she still felt that they had gone too far.

After all, other citizens on the island were innocent.

Sean cocked his brows. "That's actually quite good news."

"What?" Molly thought she had misheard.

"The more chaotic, the better. The public would accumulate anger due to their actions. When the time comes..." Sean squinted his eyes. "If they resist, the people from the base probably would not be able to control the crowd."

After hearing those words, Molly nodded. "You have a point. Do we need to move to a new place as well?"

"There's no need. They won't find this place. It doesn't matter even if they do."

Sean looked at Tony with his dark eyes and said, "You know how to take care of them, right?"

The latter nodded. "Yes, I do."

After Tony had left, Molly felt puzzled and asked, "Why won't they be able to find their way here? Haven't they already come once before?"

Sean curved his lips. "That's in the past. Now, the people of the base have already believed that this house is under their control."

Molly was gobsmacked.

She didn't know how Sean managed to pull things off, but she still complimented him. "You're awesome, Mr. Anderson. n "Of course."

Sean felt excited and lowered his head to kiss Molly on the lips.

Meanwhile, the island was already in chaos.

Inspectors of the base could be seen all over the place.

Every one of them looked fierce.

As soon as they bumped into someone, they would grab them and interrogate them about every detail of their life.

On the other side, a few people from the base kicked open the door to a store before charging inside.

"Everyone get out!" shouted the person leading the group of people.

Faced with such force, the other party could only raise their hands and walk out slowly.

One of them complained, "We're not suspicious people.

You're going too far!"

Chapter 1596-want?"

"Let go of me."

Some individuals attempted to resist defiantly, but in the next instant, they were knocked down and pinned to the ground, where they were beaten mercilessly.

It was inhumane.

For a moment, the air was filled with wails of agony.

This scene was witnessed by many. Some wanted to intervene and rescue those being beaten, but they were held back by those around them and forced to stand in place.

The base's personnel had long been known for their rudeness and lack of reason, but this was the first time they had displayed such brutality.

It was as if human life meant nothing to them.

"If it goes on like this, we may all be killed!"

"What can we do? We can't even leave this place!" The port was closed and under watch. Now even swimming away was not an option.

Fear gripped everyone as they wondered if they would be the next victims.

Selseey approached and surveyed the crowd's reaction, his eyes flickering with calculation.

Suddenly, he shouted, Recently there have been individuals deliberately causing trouble on the island. If anyone has seen any suspicious activity, report it to the base!"

The crowd erupted into a flurry of conversation.

"Who could it be? How dare they cause trouble on the island? Even if they have a death wish, don't drag us into it!" "It must be someone powerful to cause trouble here. How can we find them?"

"Is this even true? Maybe it's just an excuse for the base to deal with us!"

Selseey continued, "If you report any information, we'll reward you and even let your families leave the island safely.

What?

The promise of safe passage for their families was what everyone had been hoping for.

The crowd couldn't help but be swayed.

Selseey had struck a chord with the masses. If he could motivate them to help find those causing trouble, there was no way they could continue to hide.

She had overheard their conversation from outside the door.

Those people from the base were truly shameless!

They treated the masses as dirt and sought to take advantage of them.

They should be dealt with mercilessly.

Sean and Blackrose both looked over at her.

“Madam.”

Blackrose greeted her respectfully.

Molly smiled, saying, “Thank you for gathering the information.”

She placed the fruit on the table before looking up to meet Sean’s gaze.

His stern expression softened instantly as he asked warmly, “What do you have in mind?”

Chapter 1597-Molly pondered for a few seconds before saying slowly, “Since they want to incite the masses, we can do it too.”

“Oh?” Sean raised his eyebrows and showed an interested expression.

“We can spread rumors to the public, saying that the base has abused and killed many people, and the news that some people intentionally caused trouble and informants got rewards are all lies.

“In this way, the masses will only become more hostile to the base. No matter what, the masses cannot be won over.”

When saying this, Molly’s beautiful eyes sparkled.

After Sean heard this, a touch of admiration flashed across his eyes.

“This is indeed a good idea,” he said approvingly.

Blackrose, who was at the side, said hastily, "Madam, you've done us a big favor."

Then, she looked at Sean and offered, "Master, I've been idle lately. I can do this."

Recently, she often felt bored if she had nothing to do. Was that some kind of syndrome of middle age?

Sean did not reject her proposal. He asked, "What about the things I ordered you to do before?"

Blackrose smiled, "Don't worry. I've already done it! I guarantee I'll give you two a surprise."

Molly was confused, thinking, 'You two? Surprise? Are we talking about the same thing?' She threw a questioning look at Sean.

"Go ahead," Sean said to Blackrose.

The latter took orders and left quickly.

As soon as Blackrose disappeared, Molly asked, "What did you order Blackrose to do?"

Sean did not answer, but held her hand, gazed deeply into her eyes, and said softly with a smile, "You will know when the time comes."

"You keep me guessing again.' Molly glared at him.

But she didn't ask further. Anyway, she knew it wasn't something bad.

The next morning, an outrageous rumor spread around the island.

“I heard that the base abused and killed the doctors there cruelly, some of which were even dismembered!”

“Have you heard of that? In addition to the doctors who jumped into the sea before, quite a few doctors in the base died, so the base has been keeping the relatives of the dead doctors from meeting them.”

“And in fact, the news that some people intentionally caused trouble and informants got rewards are all lies. The base is just blaming their evil deeds on people who do not even exist.”

“Oh my! Those doctors work for them and end up so miserable. The base is simply crazy!”

“I wonder if my darling is still alive.”

“Me too...”

Hearing the rumors, the relatives of some doctors were worried and even cried.

At once, people on the island panicked.

When some base members came over to search as they had done a few days ago, several people couldn't stand their unreasonableness and rudeness anymore.

“If you dare lay a finger on us today, we will fight you to death!”

Some people took chairs and vases as if to fight those base members.

Yet the base members didn't take them seriously at all, and they even said arrogantly, “Don't forget who is in charge of this island. Be obedient if you want to live.”

These words reminded these people of the tragic death of the doctors. They were instantly enraged, swinging the chairs toward the base members.

Chapter 1598-The security guards from the base were not expecting people to fight them at all. They were unprepared and did not dodge the chairs people threw at them.

Several security guards' foreheads were smashed and bleeding.

"Don't you bully us!" A man in the crowd snapped, and the others also spat at the guards.

After several men threw chairs at the guards, others were encouraged to do the same.

They started hurling things at the guards.

Whatever they grabbed, they smashed it at the guards.

If they didn't grab anything, they punched the guards with their fists.

People had been resenting the base for a long time. But as their families were in the control of the base, they used to keep silent.

But they wouldn't allow the base to do whatever they wanted!

Today they all erupted into fury!

"Everyone, don't be afraid! There are many of us. As long as we work together, there is nothing to fear!" Someone in the crowd shouted, and everyone was inspired.

It was chaotic.

Selseey was enraged to see people resisting and some of the security guards getting hurt. How could he stand people resisting the base?

“You’re out of your mind! Arrest them!”

After Selseey’s words, the security guards started to confront the crowd.

The security guards were specially trained and brutal, and how could the ordinary people win over them?

“Watch out!” A man shouted.

A security guard raised his knife and rushed towards the crowd.

The knife was about to plunge into a person. Suddenly, a man appeared and grabbed the guard’s wrist.

The guard was shocked. After a second’s freeze, he snapped back to his senses.

Just as he was about to lash out, the man nimbly twisted the guard’s hand behind his back and kicked him in the waist.

The man’s action was so quick that people were all stunned. When they came back to their senses, the guard was wailing on the ground.

“Thank you! Thank you so much.” The man who had almost been stabbed repeated.

The man just nodded and didn’t say anything.

Meanwhile, at the beach house, Blackrose reported to Sean, “Master, I’ve spread all the bad words against the base as you instructed. And I have sent our men to secretly protect the crowd.”

Sean was sitting on the sofa, no expression on his handsome face. He was calm about Blackrose's report. Everything was under control.

Since they had used the crowd, they had to protect them and keep them from getting hurt.

"Well done." Sean looked up at Blackrose, a look of appreciation in his eyes.

Blackrose smiled as she tucked her long hair behind her ear. She didn't say anything.

"Everything is going well." Sean narrowed his eyes and said, "Continue with the plan."

"Yes." Blackrose responded and then left.

After she was gone, Molly approached and asked, "Did you guys start carrying out the plan?"

Sean didn't answer right away. He beckoned at her. "Come here."

Molly walked over to him.

When she came up beside him, he seated her on his lap and wrapped his arms around her waist.

Molly blushed as she was enveloped by his scent. She asked again, "I'm expecting an answer from you!"

Sean buried his face in her neck and replied, "Yes. I don't want to put you in danger anymore, so the plan has been started as fast as possible."

Chapter 1599-With the covert help of Blackrose's men, the crowd had the upper hand at that moment.

The security guards couldn't do anything to them. They were almost defeated by the crowd.

The crowd was passionate. More and more people joined the protest.

Inside the research base, Selseey ran into his office with a flustered face.

“Mr. Lopez, it’s chaos out there. Our men can’t take the rioters down.” Selseey reported to Ward what was going on.

Ward had been sipping his tea leisurely. When he saw Selseey come in, he thought it was good news. He did not expect Selseey to bring such bad news.

Abruptly, he slammed the cup at Selseey and snapped, “Idiot! IV Selseey did not dare to dodge. The cup hit him hard.

It hurt so much that Selseey let out a muffled grunt and clenched his fists.

Ward walked towards Selseey. His chest heaved with anger. He spat through clenched teeth, “Useless! How could your men lose to ordinary people! You’re humiliating the Martial Art Union!”

“Mr. Lopez, I... I didn’t expect things to turn into this.” Selseey complained, “People are acting crazy. There are rumors that we killed their families...”

Before Selseey could finish, Ward snapped abruptly, “You idiot!”

Selseey shivered in fear. He immediately shut up and stopped talking.

“You’ve been working at the base for so long. Don’t you see what’s going on?”

Ward didn’t expect Selseey to be so stupid. He wondered why Selseey had been put in charge of the island’s security. Couldn’t this useless guy do anything right?

Cold sweat broke out on Selseey's forehead. He forced a wry smile, "Of course, I'm not as smart as you."

"Don't try flattering me now!" Ward gave him a cold glare. Although he was angry, he analyzed the situation for Selseey.

"From what has happened, I believe that someone is behind the curtains against us.

"They let out rumors to slander the base. They're trying to make chaos on the island. Don't you understand?" Ward narrowed his eyes, a fierce glimmer in his eyes.

Selseey nodded repeatedly. "Yes, I know that. But they're in the dark, and we're in the light. They're cunning. It's hard to find them out. There's a riot going on right now."

Selseey knew someone was behind the curtains and he had his men looking into it, but they couldn't find out anything.

Therefore, Selseey didn't know what to do.

"A riot?" Ward's face darkened. "Resort to force! Don't be nice to them!"

The Martial Art Union was always cruel to those who rebelled against them.

Hearing Eard's words, Selseey hesitantly asked, "You mean?" His heart tensed.

Ward glanced at him and snorted, "They are nothing! Since they believe we killed their families, we'll do that." Ward's tone was extremely cold.

Selseey was stunned.

He had never killed anyone directly since he was in charge of the island's security.

“What are you waiting for?” Ward shouted sternly.

Selseey hurriedly collected his thoughts and bowed his head. “Yes, sir. I’ll do that!”

Then he hurriedly left.

Chapter 1600-In the evening, in the basement of the seaside villa, Molly pulled out the venous retention needle on the back of Sean’s hand and then indicated with her eyes that he should use a cotton stick to press the injection point.

Sean looked at her with a gentle smile.

“Why do you keep looking at me?” Molly glanced at him and threw the infusion bottle and tube into the medical waste trash can next to her.

“I just like looking at you,” Sean’s voice was lower than usual and sounded sexy.

Although Molly had gotten along with him for so long, she still blushed.

“All right, don’t look,” She raised her hand to cover his eyes.

Sean held her hand and pulled her closer to him with a little force.

They stared at each other, and their breaths intertwined. The atmosphere became enchanting.

“Master!” At this time, Blackrose came in.

Molly was startled and subconsciously pushed Sean away. Then she unnaturally raised her hand to stroke the hair beside her cheek.

A trace of displeasure flashed across Sean's eyes. He turned to look at Blackrose and asked in a deep voice, "Haven't you been taught to behave politely?"

Blackrose was stupefied. A moment later, she saw Molly and immediately understood the current situation, so she bowed her head quickly and said, "Master, I'm sorry. I was in such a hurry that I forgot to knock first."

Blackrose muttered in her heart, 'Damn! I come at a bad time!' "What's the matter?" Sean asked coldly.

Hearing this, Blackrose became serious and replied, "The base is going to take action."

Sean raised his eyebrows, "Take action? Are they going to do something to civilians?"

Blackrose nodded.

"Do what to civilians?" Molly's expression changed, and her tone was a little flustered, "The base really doesn't take human life seriously. What should we do now? We spread the rumors. If any civilians are killed by them, then we are..."

She put forward that proposal because she wanted to disturb the situation on the island, but now it threatened the lives of civilians.

She didn't want to see that happen.

"Don't worry," Sean took her hand and soothed her softly, "I had expected what the base would do before I told Blackrose to spread the rumors."

Hearing his words, Molly asked tentatively, "It means... You've figured out a way to deal with such a situation, haven't you?"

Sean smiled and said, "Yes, I have already prepared the countermeasures."

After getting an affirmative answer, Molly finally breathed a sigh of relief, "That's good."

With Sean, she didn't need to worry about the lives of the people on the island.

"Blackrose, start the plan," Sean looked at Blackrose, "Do it tonight. Remember, don't kill anyone."

Blackrose nodded, then turned around, and left quickly.

By nighttime, the island, which had been noisy all day, went quiet.

Suddenly, a loud noise shook the whole island.

"What happened?"

"Is it an earthquake?"

Many people were scared to wake up. They put on their clothes and ran outside the house, but what they only saw was the fire in the distant dock that lit up most of the sky.

"What just exploded?"

"It's a good thing it's in the dock, or we'll all suffer."

There were a lot of talks and all kinds of speculations about the explosion.

At the same time, in the base, Ward was also awakened. He rushed out of the room, grabbed one of his men, and asked harshly, "What happened?"

“The dock was blown up, and even the only hidden passage out of the island was destroyed.”
