

A WARRIOR UNDEFEATABLE/

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4256

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4256-Taking Over The Small Island Upon hearing Ernesto's words, the multitude of alchemists fell silent. In their hearts, hope was kindled. They hoped that Wyatt and his group would come to attack Sky Slasher Sect.

Upon falling into the hands of Wyatt and his associates, it wouldn't result in becoming their captive. After all, the main culprit was Thaddeus, who was already beaten and cowering in a corner, barely hanging on.

One of the alchemists was livid. In the past, he would have unleashed a flurry of punches and kicks on him, but he refrained from beating him to death. After all, this guy still had his uses. When the time came, he could be handed over to Wyatt and the others to atone for his sins.

Boom!

Suddenly, a massive tremor struck, causing the entire small island to shake violently.

The defensive array surrounding the small island collapsed in an instant, and the vibrant, multicolored spiritual light vanished. At the heart of the island, the Divine Bell also shattered with a resounding crash at that moment.

"Kill!" Upon seeing the collapse of the defensive array, Wyatt immediately led a group of alchemists toward the people from Sky Slasher Sect, ready for the attack.

These alchemists were desperately giving their all, tapping into their full potential. They understood that, before Ventus and the others could arrive, if they couldn't secure the island, their lives would be in grave danger.

Under the pressure of impending death, these alchemists unleashed extraordinary combat abilities.

Upon witnessing the situation, the numerous disciples of Sky Slasher Sect had no choice but to rise and engage in battle. However, the highest-ranking among them was only an enforcer, whose combat abilities were simply no match for these alchemists.

Besides, Kai and the people from Duad Formation Sect were also there. The members of Sky Slasher Sect were simply subjected to a one-sided slaughter.

“Show no mercy to anyone! Leave no survivors!” Kai ordered loudly.

Kai knew that if he left any survivors, these guys would definitely stir up trouble when Ventus and his crew arrived. If they ended up attacking from both sides, it would spell trouble.

Kai was no saint. If his safety was threatened, the threat had to be eliminated.

Wyatt, upon hearing Kai’s orders, roared, “Kill every single one of them!” The members of Sky Slasher Sect were slaughtered, and they were wailing and howling. Seeing this, Sinclair was already scared out of his wits and hastily made his way toward the dungeon.

He was still an alchemist at that moment, so as long as he mingled with other alchemists, his life wouldn’t be in danger.

He knew that people like Wyatt could never kill all the alchemists. After all, many of them had worked together in the past.

All he needed to do was apprehend the masterminds, Thaddeus and Ernesto.

However, when Sinclair rushed anxiously to the dungeon, he was dumbfounded.

This was because he saw Thaddeus, beaten to within an inch of his life, curled up in a corner of the dungeon.

When Ernesto and the others saw Sinclair rush into the dungeon in a state of panic, they all instantly became thrilled.

“Haha! This guy is so flustered. Someone must have broken in from outside!”
“Eliminate all the b*stards from Sky Slasher Sect! Not a single one can be spared!” “Sinclair, you’ve deceived us. Now, it’s time for your comeuppance.”
The multitude of alchemists reveled in the misfortune, hurling insults loudly.

Sinclair hadn't anticipated that these alchemists would be so violent. They had even taken down Thaddeus, the president of Alchemist Guild.

Listening to the commotion outside, Sinclair was left with no choice but to seek refuge in a cell.

At that time, outside, Kai and his group had already annihilated every member of Sky Slasher Sect. They had begun their search for Thaddeus and the others.

"Mr. Chance, we've scoured the entire island, but there's still no sign of Thaddeus and the others: Could it be possible they were never on this island?" Wyatt asked.

"That's impossible. We're far from the mainland here. Aside from this small island, they had nowhere else to go," Hartwin said.

"President Chance, could you please lead some people to check if Sky Slasher Sect has any basements or secret tunnels? I'm certain that's" where Thaddeus and his associates must be hiding. I, along with the people from Dual Formation Sect, will set up a defensive array on the small island. Once Ventus and his crew arrive, the defensive array can hold them off for a while!" Kai exclaimed.

"All right! I'll go and search!" With that, Wyatt led his team to continue the search.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4257

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4257-Afraid To Look Up Kai, along with Carlo and others from Dual Formation Sect, began setting up the defensive array.

The entire island was quite expansive, covering a distance of a few kilometers.

Setting up such a large arcane array in a short amount of time was indeed a challenging task.

Therefore, Kai and his team were working tirelessly. Kai first set up the core of the arcane array on the small island. After that, Carlo, accompanied by the people from Duad Formation Sect, circled the island, laying down the array runes.

Wyatt, along with all the alchemists, scoured every inch of the land in search of secret rooms or hidden tunnels.

Everyone was hustling. Not a single soul was idle. They all knew they were racing against time.

Suddenly, an alchemist shouted, "President Chance, here's a secret room!" Wyatt immediately led his team over, venturing into a dimly lit tunnel.

Below was dark and damp, lit only by the faint flicker of firelight. Rows of cells were visible, clearly indicating that this was a dungeon.

Upon seeing Wyatt and the others enter, the alchemists who had been confined in the dungeon became extremely excited and began to shout loudly, "President Chance! President Chance!" This gave Wyatt quite a scare. Only when he got closer did he realize it was unexpectedly Ernesto and his group.

Upon witnessing this scene, Wyatt was momentarily taken aback before bursting into laughter.

"Ernesto, weren't you allied with Sky Slasher Sect? How have you ended up in the dungeon at this point?" Wyatt asked with a hearty laugh.

Ernesto's face was flushed with shame as he quickly responded, "President Chance, I was deceived by Thaddeus. We all were blinded by his lies, and we followed his words. Now, we've managed to subdue Thaddeus. Please, open the prison door and let us out!" After Ernesto finished speaking, he stepped aside, revealing Thaddeus, who was barely breathing.

Watching Thaddeus in that state, Wyatt felt a wave of satisfaction wash over him. It's all because of this guy that we've ended up in this predicament!

"You guys are really reap what you sow. Of all the people to collaborate with, you had to choose those from Sky Slasher Sect. They are incredibly cunning.

Otherwise, they wouldn't have ended up in this godforsaken place!" Wyatt gave a cold huff.

“Absolutely, President Chance! You’re right in admonishing us. We indeed deserved it, and we now realize our mistakes. We kindly request that you let us go, President Chance. Let’s join forces and wipe out those b*stards from Sky Slasher Sect!” Ernesto pleaded.

“President Chance, please let us out. We’ve truly realized our mistakes.”
“Let’s team up and take down the people from Sky Slasher Sect. Let’s reduce this place to ruins!” “President Chance, we’ve worked together for many years. I’m begging you...” Numerous alchemists began to appeal to Wyatt fervently.

Upon seeing the situation, Wyatt couldn’t bear it in his heart, so he swung open the prison door.

However, as he reached out, a flash of white light zipped by, forcefully repelling Wyatt away.

“President Chance, there’s an arcane array here. We must break it before we can get out,” Ernesto cautioned.

Upon seeing the situation, Wyatt immediately ordered someone to fetch Kai. He was incapable of breaking an arcane array. Only Kai could do it.

At this point, Kai had already set up the core of the arcane array, simply waiting for Carle and the members of Duad Formation Sect to complete the arcane array.

Upon learning that Wyatt was looking for him, Kai immediately rushed over.

“Mr. Chance, this dungeon is shielded by an arcane array. We must break this arcane array,” Wyatt said.

Kai glanced at the dungeon before turning his gaze toward the numerous alchemists within it.

Upon seeing Kai, everyone lowered their gaze, not daring to meet his eyes directly.

Although Kai was only a Sixth Level Tribulator and many of the alchemists present held higher cultivation levels, they did not dare to meet his gaze directly.

Kai's commanding presence was so overwhelming that it kept these people from raising their heads.

Even though everyone knew that Demon Seal Alliance had offered a hundred-year offering to hunt Kai down, not a single person dared to entertain any thoughts at that moment.

Kai's capabilities were evident to all. He defeated Stanton, charged into the storm, and came out unscathed.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4258

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4258-Making Excuses The fact that Kai had taken over the island left everyone deeply astounded.

Kai slowly extended his hand, quickly encountering a slight resistance.

Immediately after, the array began to flicker, sending a surge of power rushing toward him.

Suddenly, a burst of golden light erupted from Kai's palm, causing the dungeon's array to collapse in an instant.

It shattered like an eggshell, with fragments scattering across the ground before dissipating into nothingness.

With the formation broken, figures like Ernesto sprang into action with tremendous force.

The dungeon door was immediately smashed open; without the protection of the array, there was no way this ordinary prison door could withstand the likes of Ernesto and his crew.

"Thank you for your timely rescue, Mr. Chance. We were naive and deceived by Thaddeus. We promise never to make such foolish decisions again. From now on, we will follow your lead, Mr. Chance," Ernesto, the head of the Boucher family, said, bowing respectfully, hoping to win Kai's favor with his ingratiating words.

Kai was so accustomed to such flattery that he barely paid it any mind.

“Mr. Chance, what should we do with Thaddeus?” Wyatt asked, pointing toward the barely conscious Thaddeus, who was covered in injuries and filled with desperation.

“Don’t kill me! Please spare me! I beg you!” Thaddeus pleaded, his eyes brimming with fear. At that moment, all he wanted was to stay alive; the ambition of dominating the medical world had lost its appeal.

However, Thaddeus’ fate lay entirely in Kai’s hands.

“When you were scheming against your people, did you ever consider giving them a break?” Kai’s gaze was icy cold.

He felt no pity when dealing with someone like Thaddeus.

With a gentle wave of his hand, he cast a wisp of extreme fire onto Thaddeus’ body.

Screams of agony erupted from Thaddeus, the sound unnervingly piercing.

The sight sent a shockwave through the alchemists, who involuntarily jolted back in disbelief.

This was exactly the effect Kai aimed for. He needed to intimidate these alchemists; otherwise, their loyalty would waver like grass in the wind. If they were to turn against him during the impending battle with Ventus and his crew, they would be in grave danger.

Under the gaze of the crowd, Thaddeus was incinerated into ashes. Throughout the ordeal, Kai’s expression remained eerily cold.

“Let’s go. Ventus and his group will be back soon, and a fierce battle is about to begin,” Kai remarked slowly.

Suddenly, Ernesto stepped in and said, “Mr. Chance, there’s one more person we need to deal with!” “Who?” Kai was momentarily taken aback.

He believed that since everything had been orchestrated by Thaddeus, eliminating him would resolve the issue. Little did he know that there were others who needed to be taken down!

“It’s Sinclair. He’s the one who devised the plan that led you all into the storm prone sea. He was also the one who brought us here, resulting in our capture by the Sky Slasher Sect. Sinclair has already become a part of the Sky Slasher Sect...” Ernesto explained urgently.

Hurrying, Ernesto led Kai and the others deeper into the dungeon. At the very end of the prison, they found Sinclair.

Ernesto, what on earth are you babbling about? I stood against you for exploiting our people and you all ostracized me. How can you pin all the blame on me?’ Desperate to bluff his way through, Sinclair quickly conjured up excuses.

Upon hearing Sinclair’s words, numerous alchemists began to reproach him, some even hurting insults. Yet, at that moment, Sinclair appeared extremely aggrieved and patient.

Kai was left utterly bewildered about who this man really was.

Sinclair was merely a Ninth-Level Tribulator, and he lacked any notable skills.

That was why, during their journey to Medicine God Island, Kai had not paid any attention to him.

Sinclair, you’ve been away from the Foster family for years | never m thought I’d find you here!” Winona suddenly emerged from the crowd, addressing Sinclair.

Upon seeing Winona, Sinclair’s expression instantly soured.

“Winona, you know this guy?” Kai asked, his tone laced with confusion.

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4259

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4259-The Onset Of The Great Battle “Of course. He was from the Foster family in the central region. However, he had a fondness for alchemy and would often travel to various Alchemist Fairs to hone his skills,” Winona replied.

Upon hearing that Sinclair was from the Foster family, Kai felt a surge of irritation.

Imperial Fox City, once ruled by Catina, had been seized by the Foster family.

Now, whenever Kai encountered anyone from the Foster family, he was filled with such loathing that he wished he could strike them down with a single blow.

“D*mn it. Get out!” Kai stepped forward and pulled Sinclair out.

“W-What are you going to do?” Sinclair asked, his expression tense.

“Did the Foster family join the Demon Seal Alliance and become their lapdogs?”

How dare the Fosters take over Imperial Fox City? Today, I’m going to vent my frustrations on you!” Kai bellowed, glaring fiercely at him.

“I-I swear, if you dare to lay a hand on me, the Foster family will—” Before Sinclair could finish his sentence, Kai swiftly smacked him down with a forceful slap.

The impact was so powerful that it crushed Sinclair’s skull and brain, resulting in his absolute demise.

Upon witnessing this scene, every alchemist present drew in a sharp breath.

What a ruthless and decisive man! He didn’t even give Sinclair a chance to finish his sentence!

“Mr. Chance, the people from the Sky Slasher Sect have arrived!” Carlo shouted from outside.

Hearing this, Kai and his companions rushed out of the dungeon to see a spirit ship rapidly approaching from the sea.

As the spirit ship drew closer, Ventus and the members of the Sky Slasher Sect sprang into action.

All the alchemists watched with grave expressions.

A wave of anxiety washed over the alchemists. After all, no one dared underestimate the prowess of the Sky Slasher Sect.

The disciples of the Sky Slasher Sect unleashed their energy, each radiating a murderous aura.

Dozens of cultivators in both the Tribulation and Ultimate Realm stages, all well versed in array craft, were not something these alchemists could contend with!

Moreover, Wyatt and his group had just emerged from a battle, significantly draining their energy.

Some of the alchemists trembled slightly, acutely aware that their lives were on the line!

Whether or not they could survive and leave the island depended on the outcome of this battle.

Though the alchemists outnumbered their opponents, they simply couldn't match the combat prowess of the disciples of the Sky Slasher Sect.

Had it not been for Kai and the members of the Duad Formation Sect, Wyatt and his group wouldn't have been able to mount any defense against them.

At that point, they could only place all their hopes on Kai and the Duad Formation Sect.

Meanwhile, Ventus realized he had arrived a moment too late as he surveyed the multitude of alchemists on the island.

"Guys, try not to harm those alchemists. They will be important assets to our Sky Slasher Sect. But feel free to wipe out that young man and everyone from the Duad Formation Sect!" Ventus commanded the numerous disciples of the Sky Slasher Sect.

To Ventus, as long as they could eliminate Kai and the members of the Duad Formation Sect, the remaining alchemists would no longer pose a threat to them.

Wyatt looked up at the menacing disciples of the Sky Slasher Sect, each radiating an aura of deadly intent. He bellowed, "Prepare for battle and swallow your pills!" One by one, the alchemists retrieved the medicinal pills they had on hand and swallowed them.

The pills were designed to expedite their recovery and replenish their energy.

If the Sky Slasher Sect had captured them, they would have taken the pills anyway. Therefore, it was better for the alchemists to consume them now.

After the alchemists ingested the pills, their energy surged at a lightning-fast pace!

Ventus knitted his brows and waved his hand. "Charge!"

The numerous disciples of the Sky Slasher Sect launched their attacks against the island's defensive formation!

For a fleeting moment, the earth quaked beneath them, and the sky erupted with ominous crackles of energy.

The island swayed back and forth, teetering on the brink of chaos.

"Mr. Chance, I'm afraid this defensive formation won't hold up for much longer!" Carlo turned to Kai.

The defensive formation couldn't withstand the enemy for long, as it had been hastily erected.

If Kai had been given a month, he could have reinforced the defenses to make them as solid as a fortress!

Kai glanced at the multitude of alchemists busy consuming pills to restore their energy. He then said, "Try to buy as much time as possible."

"We need to give these alchemists more time to prepare!"

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4260

A Man Like None Other Chapter 4260-No Escape Carlo, along with the men from the Duad Formation Sect, was desperately holding up the defensive array.

However, it was clear that the men from Sky Slasher Sect were going all out, relentlessly hurling spiritual light at the arcane array.

Boom!

Finally, after fifteen minutes, the defensive array shattered with a thunderous rumble, disappearing instantly.

Considering how hastily the defensive array was set up, it was quite impressive that it managed to hold up for such a long period.

The formation shattered, and the numerous disciples of Sky Slasher Sect began to unleash various techniques, all aimed at Kai and his group. Moreover, a series of shackling arrays enveloped Wyatt and the others.

Ventus was intent on capturing these alchemists, including Wyatt, alive.

“Fellow cultivators, the time to go all out has come...” With a loud roar, Wyatt began his counterattack.

For a moment, the small island was consumed by thunderous roars, as the heaven and earth trembled beneath the collision of various magecraft.

Ventus charged directly at Kai, disregarding the latter’s status. His priority was to defeat Kai.

Even if Kai was truly a prince of Allardland, he didn’t care. After all, dead men told no tales.

Kai watched as Ventus approached him, and he promptly leaped into the air.

He couldn’t afford to engage in a fight with Ventus on the tiny island, fearing it simply couldn’t withstand the impact.

Kai’s body hovered in mid-air, surrounded by wisps of flaming energy. They slithered around him like serpents made of spiritual energy.

Kai’s body was tightly enveloped by Golem Body, while Dragonslayer Sword was firmly in his grip.

When confronted with Ventus, Kai dared not let his guard down at all.

In response, Ventus cautiously raised his hand, unleashing a breathtaking surge of spiritual energy.

This potent aura, much like a flash of lightning, instantly crossed the void, crashing toward Kai with a resounding force.

Rumble... Rumble... With a loud bang, the flaming energy surrounding Kai scattered in all directions.

The sky was filled with a brilliant blaze, plunging the heavens into a sea of fire.

However, with a slight gesture of Kai's hand, the flaming energy once again gathered around him. Like serpents of fire, they coiled around Kai, continuously circling him.

Ventus' pupils slightly contracted upon witnessing the sight before him.

Behind Kai, a faint figure appeared. This was a shadow clone of Kai himself, except it was surrounded by an aura of flames.

Kai's body merged with his shadow clone, radiating an aura reminiscent of an ancient immortal.

From the divine aura exuded, it felt as if an immortal had graced Kai with its presence.

At that moment, Kai was suspended mid-air, akin to an immortal.

Every single bone and meridian in Kai's body, including his veins, were faintly visible.

Kai was merely a Sixth Level Tribulator, yet his current aura was as overpowering as that of a deity, too intimidating for anyone to look at.

"What kind of cultivation technique is this, to possess such an aura?" Staring at Kai, Ventus was completely blown away.

At that moment, he became even more certain that Kai was indeed a scion of some great family. Even if he wasn't a prince of Allardland, he was still someone of significant influence.

At the rate things were going, it became imperative for Ventus to ensure that Kai didn't fade away.

Otherwise, Sky Slasher Sect would face consequences they couldn't afford to bear.

"Kid, I don't care if you are a prince of Allardland or not, you're not leaving this place alive today!" Ventus's eyes narrowed slightly before he dashed toward Kai.

"You actually think you can stop me?"

Kai's eyes were filled with indifference, as his True Fire Spiritual body was already in motion. He was set on letting Ventus experience the power of internal flames.

A single type of internal flame might not be enough to deal with Ventus, but Kai possessed more than just one kind.

Furthermore, after obtaining True Fire Spiritual body, these internal flames would constantly refine and fuse together.

Thus, the internal flame that Kai was now unleashing was no longer of a singular kind.

Upon seeing Ventus, who had already rushed up to him, Kai raised his arm and pointed into the void.

Boom!

Waves of flame surged forth, engulfing the sky and sweeping toward Ventus.