

Chapter 196

103 - Kennedy

"Oh! My girl! How are you?!" Sarah is bustling towards the SUV as we step out. Or, I should really say, as Ryker steps out. He still won't put me down. Bennet is walking close enough to brush my foot with each swing of his arm.

"I'm okay Sarah. Just a few bumps and bruises." Ryker and Bennet both huff at the same time. I roll my eyes. "I am fine. See," I gesture towards my face which is already feeling better. "Being this close to Ryker has me healing in record time." 2

"Well, we need to get you a good hot meal and a visit with Doctor Bradshaw, then straight to bed." She commands. 1

"No, I want to go to my office. We need to know what Amy is up to, we need to know what Claude is up to and I don't want to do that from our bed. I am sick of being bedridden because of other people trying to get to you through me." I look at Ryker. "It makes me look as weak as they assume I am. I know I look like sh*t, but I am truly okay. My physical being can't be more important than the pack and, right now, there are at least two people trying to harm our pack as we speak." I move to get out of Ryker's arms and he whines. 2

"Thanks mom." He lets me down slowly.

"Why your office girlie?" Sarah asks me, completely ignoring her son.

"I'm clearly not going alone and my office has the space to fit multiple people. Ryker's office isn't as inviting." She smiles at me.

"Can we at least compromise and I can have Cindy bring you some food?"

"Sure. The boys need to eat too. I'm sure you've heard, but we have a whole rogue camp joining us. They need to eat too and they probably need general care. I will let Cindy take care of us and let Doc Bradshaw check me out once they are settled." I raise my eyebrow at her daring her to try and negotiate again. Surprisingly she doesn't. She just nods and turns to walk away. 1

I move to follow her into the house. I want to sit down and go through all the attacks now that we know Amy was at the head of them, or at the very least one of the decision makers. With this new perspective we have to be able to figure out how they have been getting around the pack unnoticed. Copyright © 2024 Miss L Writes and Ember Mantel Productions 1

Sarah heads for the kitchen, I'm sure to let Cindy and the other kitchen omegas know what's going on. Robin walks by us as we head towards my office..

"I will give you a full list of the rogues staying with us once they have all been accounted for. There were two pregnant she-wolves I had moved to the dorms so their mates could stay close but under watch. The healers are seeing to them first. Anything else you need, Alpha, Luna?"

"No. Thanks Robin." Ryker's timber tells me how close he is. 2

"Robin, once all the rogues have been accounted for I want you to sleep. We will need you tomorrow."

"But..."

"That's an order." I command and continue walking. She would do all the work and burn herself out if I didn't force her.

Pushing my door open, I stop short. "Oh! What is all of this?" 2

"All of what?" Ryker steps in behind me.

"All the extra books everywhere. That's what!"

"Josh and I brought these the other night, do you not remember them being here?" He pushes through with Danny, Bennet and Josh right behind. 1

"Uh, no." I step over to a pile of the oldest looking books. "Where did these come from?"

"Your alpha stole them from Claude after he insulted you." Josh laughs. "Actually the one you're holding, he took right out of Claude's hand."

I smirk as I flip through the pages. "Why would you take his books? Insulting me doesn't really seem like a good enough reason."

"Well, it is and he and his b*tch Rick were looking for something. The office looked like a tornado had ripped through it. They were looking for something in a hurry and after acting like assholes we decided to lighten their burden." 1
