

Uzumaki 60

Chapter 60 - County Development Plan

War is more than money, people and resources.

In addition to the fact that there are not many people and resources, the country of Uzumaki is still easy to control with money.

After all, one village is a country, and the high-level people are basically still people of Uzumaki Clan.

The resources they use is not waste, they suing it to their own people and not anyone so using more to help the Uzumaki People is a huge investment.

Compared to other Great Shinobi Village.

If one of them asked to apply fund with their own Daimyo to buy resources or even food for their own Village, they need to wait until the Daimyo accept it, and if not, they need to wait.

It's strange that Great Shinobi Village actually trust such stupid method.

Isn't it just saving money for the country's military defense?

Is it because Ninja can do task to make money?

Xin don't understand why the people in this world is thinking, they are going for the Daimyo to help their own Village when they need.

How can they think so stupid, can they just work ont herinown and be self-sufficient?

Ninja can do various job and earn huge amount of Money, who can people choose something dangerous for small amount of money.

Farmer earn more than the Ninja who risk their life for couple of change.

And they are also stupid, those Ninja Village is guarding the border of each country, this job is not them at all but the job of the people form Daimyo Mansion.

Payment is also included, they are guarding the territory of Daimyo so it's normal to get paid, but asking for money to help their village seems not proper.

It's the job of leader of the Country to provide food and shelter to everyone inside of the territory, whatever they are normal citizens or Shinobi.

This kind of thing made the whole Shinobi World a huge mess, waiting those who have money to send help when they have strength to get money on their own without asking those weak people.

The One County and One Village policy is stupid, this is separating the Great Village from the actual County.

The military power comes from the Great Shinobi Village, the one who defending the country all come from Great Ninja Village.

Not even the Daimyo Mansion send people help reclaiming or protecting their own land.

The find comes from the Country, while the Military Power is in the Ninja Village.

Once there is a conflict between two, isn't it over?

And how can Ninja get million of bounty when the Ninja Village don't hold the funds of the Military?

Isn't that obvious? The people who put huge bounty to Ninja comes from the Country and not from Village.

Overall, if you want to stand with the giant, become giant first, be the one who hold the funds and not the one who pled for penny.

...

The establishment of a unified political power is necessary for the stability, prosperity, and harmony of the county.

At the same time, the state power of the Uzumaki Kingdom is not only his advantage but also the disadvantage.

The advantage is that a clan can be said to have low contradictions to a certain extent, and the right to speak as a Daimyo or Clan Leader is also fair and just.

Well, Uzumaki Kingdom is being hold by Uzumaki People so there's no disparity between two.

While the disadvantage is that the population is too small, and this is normal, there's no single Clan who can hold huge amount of population, they all have certain range of people they can hold.

Gaining population need a certain amount of money to use, and money is the greatest resources everyone badly need.

There's also the number of Ninja.

Everyone know becoming a Ninja is not easy and not everyone can become one, not even Uzumaki Clan can produce 100% Shinobi within their clan.

There are some people who have Chakra Deficiency, those who can't sense Chakra even if they have huge amount in the body.

Not everyone who have Chakra can become Shinobi, even if you have Chakra and you can't use it, then it was useless.

A resource that cant be use can't count as resources at all, and that's the truth.

But now it's different, Xin is Uzumaki People, with his knowledge he can help those who don't have qualification to become a Shinobi to open a new path for them.

One of this is Taijutsu, weaker than Swordsmanship, but stronger in longer fight.

Not everyone can become Might Guy, but they can become him if they follow Xin.

Having a Body of Shadow Level Shinobi, and a Strength of Shadow Level Shinobi is already enough to become powerhouse even if you hey don't know how to use Ninjutsu.

And there also education, the knowledge in this world is so low, almost non-existent.

Xin need to create a brand new education to enchant the overall strength of the whole Kingdom.

Someone said that the strength of a Country comes from the well educated children.
