

Uzumaki 82

Chapter 82 - Cold Morning

Early in the morning when Xin wake up, the whole place suddenly become strange to him, everything that his eyes see is all white.

The trees, roads, the roof of the house is covered with fine dust of white pure snow, you can even see children wearing thick clothes running around playing with in the snow.

Uzumaki Xin looked at the current Uzumaki Kingdom, he knew that Ninja World is entering the winter season, and surprisingly there's actually snow this year.

If he not wrong, the last time snow fall in the Fire Kingdom is three years ago, there so many death that time because of suddenly winter season, no one prepared for what is coming so the number of death is huge.

It seems snow is huge playground for the kids, but for the people in this world, Snow in this situation is a huge catastrophe.

This is the begging of their miserable life.

Although the war is over, there are still many refugees in the entire Ninja World, and those people will eventually come to the nearest place they see safest.

Uzumaki Xin don't think his self as pure or something who can't see the suffering of other, but if the situation is bad how can he help anyone.

But right now, Xin prepared plenty, Uzumaki Clan is well prepared for the surge of refugees, he have enough food and shelter to house every single refugees that will come, but there's still a certain limit he can accept.

And besides, if the Uzumaki Kingdom want to develop, these refugees are indispensable, so he need to settle everything before he visits Konoha.

What could bad happen to them.

Xin firmly believe that as long s Danzo don't do something stupid to aroused his anger, there will be basically no trouble.

Because Konoha Village is still Uzumaki Clan ally, and for sure he will definitely not dare to mess around like he did couple of timesm

Of course, even if he do some black hand thing, Xin don't care, the people he train is not vegetarian, he train them not just strength but also believe and moral.

Even if Kizaru like to work on time and never take overtime.

Even if Aokiji is lazy and like to sunbathing in the time of work.

Even if Akaino is so hot-blooded that he easily irritated when someone try to do bad things to Uzumaki Clan.

Xin is sure everything is safe, but he don't know if there's a fool want to try them, he is sure it will end ugly.

"Continue building more house, follow the plan so that we don't need to reduce it again." Xin said to the seniors of Uzumaki and seriously said.' if we want to develop, we can only attract refugees."

"At the same time we need to earn money."

"But we can't let the refugees fo nothing right?"

"That's right, that's why I prepare a job offer for anyone who can work to prevent anyone being lazy on them."

"Like?"

"Building House, Hunting, Mining, do some laborious job or odd job, everything is possible, and besides the people in the Mining site is already left, only couple of people left right?"

They all nodded.

"Then ask them to mine, mining is hard but they can earn money for their food."

"And also, tell the refugees that we only provide them three days of worth of food and accomodation, those who don't work don't eat and don't house to live."

"Only with their sweat and hardwork they can get everything they need."

The plan is good, not only that their reputation will be good but also prevent any bad things come from the mouth of refugees.

Free food and shelter for three days is enough for anyone to recover, giving job is also a form of help but also preventing idle person in the camp.

If they ever get kick out of settlement, this is not the Uzumaki problem, because they know if they work, they can eat, this is fair change between the two party.

At same time, getting job after a long year of war is harder than finding place that will take you.
