Chapter 98 - Heavy News

Knock!

Knock!

"Come in."

Click!

The door open, a Uzumaki Shinobi come in with bunch of paperwork on his hand.

"Is this all the report?"

"No Young Master, the other paper as you order is left for the Patriarch and Elders to work, this is just small portion of all."

Xin look at the stack of paper that is thicker than a book and helpless sight, how can this work how can he go out and do some important things if he is being held here doing all this paperwork.

"Start your report."

"Yes!"

The Shinobi pick a paper and pass to Xin and start to speak.

"The current food we have is enough to conduct another huge transaction, the third Elder said that the grain you want is already develop and right now it's being grow in the Sector 20, Food Resources Facility."

"Tell Elder later that there's a new batch of Wood Release Shinobi that will be added to his part, I pretty sure he will glad to have new people there."

"Yes."

"School." Xin asked.

"The enrollment end, the number of Shinobi who want to join on the side of Civilian and Refugees is still low."

"There's only fifty four in the civilians side while there's hundred twenty one in the Uzumaki Clan side."

"That's good, I never expect our Clan will send their children after the war, it seems they enlightened this time."

"It's all because of Young Master, the school not only train them to become a Ninja but also give them a choice on their own on what type of job they want in the future."

"And just like you order, the Patriarch and Elders meet everyone family to tell them not to push their own children to become Shinobi."

"That's right, in the future we don't need our people to fight for us, it's already fine that we are strong without the outside world knowing that we are strong."

"We will use the money we accumulate to pay for the Ninja outside to do our own work while our future generations is busy doing more meaningful things and not going out licking blood."

Xin plan is simple, make the children of Uzumaki a Second Generation Rich Kid but slightly different from his previous world.

He want them to be rich but also have ability to protect their self to prevent any lazy and waste on the Clan.

It's fine if you hire workers using the money you earned, but still you are need to strong to hold the money you earned to use.

A simple but meaningful thing, if you want to be lazy, but you need to be strong to be lazy, if your weak and want to be lazy, then you need to at least have contribution in the Clan.

You are laziness is everyone's illness, but this is not reason to be burden for everyone.

Xin know that everyone is not genius like him who understands many things, but hardworking genius is also kind of genius for those who did not born as genius.

Sometimes hardwork can defeat those prodigy, so hard work is more important than those so called genius.

"Theres also news on the other side of the war."

"?"

"Second Mizukage died mysteriously before the end of the war with Iwagakure, no one know how he died and how killed him."

"No need to asked, it's the Second Tsuchikage who did this, I'm sure he also dead after fighting Mizukage."

"....?"
