

Watch Out 101

Chapter 101: mediating !

Mr. Zhou obviously wanted to blame song qingxiao. No one on the boat said anything. They followed Mr. Zhou's words and looked at song qingxiao with a look of criticism.

Those who were injured, in particular, were extremely displeased. They all felt that their injuries were related to song Qing's trouble.

If it wasn't for song qingxiao's terrifying display of power, everyone would have cursed out loud.

"So, Mr. Zhou, you think that I'm the one who caused this trouble?"

Faced with Mr. Zhou's criticism, song qingxiao didn't remain silent like when she first entered the mission. Instead, she asked,

"Isn't it?"

Her rhetorical question stunned Mr. Zhou for a moment. Obviously, a Big Shot like Mr. Zhou was not used to being contradicted like this. His eyes darkened even more.

"If it wasn't because you caught such a fish, it wouldn't have caused the people on the ship to be injured, and then caused these things."

Everyone obviously agreed with Mr. Zhou's statement. As soon as he finished speaking, the injured person said,

"Yeah,"

“My view is the complete opposite.”

At this point, the ship was already approaching the island. Mr. Zhou was still not prepared to reveal the truth. This situation was extremely dangerous. Song qingxiao deliberately forced him to be a little more cautious so that the people on the ship would be mentally prepared. This way, they would not be finished soon after they landed on the island.

you might not have noticed, but a few days ago, when the ship was sailing in this direction, there were occasional Shoals of fish around the ship.

As soon as she opened her mouth, even though some people were still dissatisfied, due to the strength she had displayed, no one dared to interrupt her when she was speaking.

“But since yesterday evening, the number of fish has decreased. Until this morning’s voyage reached noon, there were no more fish.”

As song qingxiao spoke, she looked in the direction of the participant. The crew-cut man seemed to be deep in thought. The old woman frowned. The scholar, the man in the suit, the young man number six, and number seven all stared at her, waiting for her to finish her sentence.

Number seven had been warned by song qingxiao, but she didn’t take it seriously at first. She thought song qingxiao was just playing tricks.

However, when song qingxiao asked this question again in front of AAr. Zhou, number seven already felt that something was wrong.

from noon to afternoon, there was no sign of any fish in the sea. This can be seen from the fact that no fish took the bait for a few hours. Song qingxiao laughed.

“Don’t you guys understand what this situation means?”

This proved that the creatures in the sea could sense the existence of danger, and their instinct to avoid danger made them not dare to approach the sea.

Then, the boat moved forward again. A few hours later, a school of fish appeared in the sea, and they were extremely fierce fish. Just one of them was enough to cause everyone on the boat to fall.

Combined with the fact that Zhou xueli had said three days ago that they would enter the island in three days, it was not difficult to figure out that this school of fierce fish lived near the island Mr. Zhou was going to.

This type of fish was abnormally fierce. They formed groups and had a ferocious appearance. It was simply unheard of.

Song qingxiao's gaze slowly swept across the people on the deck. Everyone who was looked at by her felt a substantial pressure. When she looked at them, many people subconsciously lowered their heads, not daring to look at her.

I'm not an expert in marine life, but as far as I know, I've never seen this fish before. I don't know if anyone knows anything about marine life and can give me some advice, she paused for a moment and noticed from the corner of her eye that the scholar was about to speak, but song qingxiao didn't give him the chance to speak. She continued," let's see if this fish is a new species that has never been discovered by anyone or if it has been infected by some unknown disease for some reason.

The moment she said that, the natives in the hired scene were at a loss, and the trial-takers, including number 7, had a huge change in their expressions. Mr. Zhou's expression was complicated, showing a mixture of fear and dread, plus a sense of guilt after his secret was discovered.

His reaction only lasted for a moment. Song qingxiao's words had hit the nail on the head, and he couldn't help but reveal his true emotions. Soon, he closed his eyes and looked at her.

The refined scholar couldn't hide the shock on his face. Number Seven's face was also pale. At this moment, after song qingxiao explained, she realized what song qingxiao's advice meant.

a few days ago, Mr. Zhou said that we were about to reach the island. Before we reach the island, he told us not to cause you any trouble.

Song qingxiao didn't care if her words had set off a huge wave in everyone's hearts. She had to make things clear to Mr. Zhou when he was obviously targeting her. She had to make things difficult for Mr. Zhou so that he couldn't use this matter to make an article. At the same time, she had to reveal some information to 'explain' to everyone.

She was not afraid that the natives of the hired scenario would not make a fuss. At this point, it concerned the life and death of the trial-takers, so they would not let it go easily. They would always try to get something out of Mr. Zhou.

"When will we be on the island? Is the existence of this fish a coincidence?"

With every question song qingxiao asked, Mr. Zhou's face grew uglier. Beads of sweat had already formed on his forehead. The group of scholars behind him looked at each other, not knowing what to do.

Xue Li frowned and stared at song Qing for a long time before suddenly speaking up,

"What do you want to say? If you have anything to say, we can talk later. Let's clean up the deck first."

The burly man, who was leaning against the side of the ship and vomiting, vomited for a long time before he finally stood up with a dizzy head. He wanted to please Shirley, so he deliberately changed the topic. When he saw the half-cut fish head that he had pushed to the ground, he stretched out his leg and kicked it.

"It's this thing that's causing trouble."

He was wearing flip-flops and had his toes exposed. When he kicked the fish head, an accident happened..

Chapter 102: Devouring (1)

Half of the fish's head had been cut off by song Qing, and it fell to the ground. The fish's struggling was much less than before. The burly man subconsciously thought that the fish's head was dead and did not have the ability to attack. He stretched out his leg and kicked the fish's head. He wanted to change the topic, liven up the atmosphere, and help Mr. Zhou out of the situation. He also wanted to take the opportunity to vent his anger.

He had been scared out of his wits by this strange fish, and in the end, it was song qingxiao who had saved him. He was a little embarrassed, and when he stretched out his leg to kick it, he was still smiling.

Who knew that the fish head, which everyone thought was dead, opened its tightly closed mouth the moment his foot reached out.

The sharp teeth bit the big man's toes. Even though the fish head was separated from the body, the bite force of the fish head was still overbearing.

His teeth were like hacksaws, easily biting through his nails and digging into his flesh. Blood immediately gushed out from the man's feet.

The burly man let out an earth-shattering scream. The surrounding people were all stunned by the scene.

Once the strange fish bit something, it would not let go. It was like this when it was biting the bait. Later, when it bit song qingxiao's dagger, it kept its mouth shut even though it was injured.

Even though the strange fish was already dead, its head was still biting the burly man's foot.

The burly man screamed again and again. He was in so much pain that his voice changed pitch. He couldn't vent his anger this time and was injured instead.

He desperately swung his leg, trying to shake the fish head off, but the fish's mouth was extremely tight, and as he swung his leg with all his might, it closed tighter and tighter.

With more blood flowing out, the burly man's face twisted in pain. His body fell to the side of the ship, and he shouted with all his strength,"

"Save me..."

As he shouted, he stomped his feet on the ground. The strange fish's head was forcefully rubbed against the floor, and the tiny fish scales made squeaking sounds as they rubbed against the floor.

Everyone was dumbfounded. The burly man's feet kept kicking, but after trying a few times to shake off the strange fish's head, he raised his legs and tried to reach out to break the fish's head that was biting his toes.

At this moment, the sound of water was heard, as if something had jumped out of the water.

The big man leaned against the side of the ship and lowered his head to pull the fish head that was biting its toes. He did not notice the danger behind him.

The people on the boat only saw a strange fish that looked exactly the same as before jump up from the water and pounce at the back of the burly man's head with its mouth wide open.

"Be careful..."

Someone blurted out a reminder in a moment of desperation. The burly man turned his head to look, but before he could see clearly, he felt a fishy smell rush to his face.

The strange fish bit his face and dragged him down the boat.

The burly man stood on one leg, his hands still holding onto the fish head on his leg. He didn't react at all, and the moment he saw the strange fish, he was scared out of his wits.

He was originally leaning against the side of the ship, but his upper body had already been pulled out of the side of the ship by the strange fish. In a flash, the strange fish's tail nailed to the side of the ship with a 'bang*. With a strong swing of its head, it easily dragged the burly man out of the side of the ship.

After succeeding, the strange fish loosened its grip on the cabin's tail. The burly man didn't even have time to scream before the man and fish fell into the sea with a splash.

This accident happened in an instant. There was only the sound of water under the sea, followed by screams mixed with the sound of people choking on seawater.

The sounds of animals biting and chewing when they were eating rang out in a dense manner, making people feel terrified.

The people on the cabin all shivered. Without looking, they could imagine what was happening in the sea. The smell of blood was even stronger, but no one dared to go to the side of the ship to see.

Song qingxiao frowned and walked to the side of the ship with the dagger.

A large part of the sea had been dyed red, and the burly man's body was surrounded by a school of fish, like a torn rag doll.

He was not completely dead yet, but some parts of his arms and legs had been torn apart, revealing his white bones.

"Save me ..." Every time he twitched instinctively, his blood flowed faster. The seawater was dyed red, and some torn pieces of human tissue floated in the water, which made the fish even more crazy.

With the burly man as their 'food', the school of fish was busy eating and did not jump up to attack people again.

After seeing that song qingxiao was fine, No. 7 gathered his courage and came over. The man in the sea had already breathed his last. In less than ten seconds, the fish had almost eaten half of his body. His bloodied skeleton was exposed. There were still many fish like the ones that Song Qingxiao had killed earlier circling the skeleton. The dark brown fish in the red Sea looked like demons. It was a creepy scene.

Even though he had gone through two trials and had seen life and death, he still felt nauseated when he saw this scene.

No. 7 swallowed his saliva, his expression ugly. He wanted to vomit, but he held it in. After a while, as if he couldn't hold it in anymore, he lowered his head and swallowed two dry sounds in the cabin.

Those who were timid and did not dare to come close could imagine the situation under the boat from her behavior.

Before they even reached the island, there were already dead people on the ship. This incident made everyone's heart heavy.

No one spoke. This trip to the island had caused many people who wanted to obtain a huge reward to hesitate.

Just as the atmosphere was tense, the crashing sounds under the ship suddenly stopped. The people on the ship were used to the noise, but the sudden stop did not make them feel relieved. The wind on the sea became stronger, blowing away the thick fishy smell on the deck and the sea. The gnawing sounds of the bones seemed to have stopped.

Song Qing peeked into the water. The school of strange fish in the water seemed to be satisfied after eating, and they swam into the deep sea in groups.

The big man's broken skeleton was left in the water, spinning and slowly falling.

Everyone was on tenterhooks. Since such a thing had happened, Mr. Zhou, as the main leader of this trip to the island, had to make a statement.

"This matter..."

He coughed and just as he opened his mouth to say something, someone suddenly interrupted him,”

“Guys, look over there!”

The person’s voice was shrill, and the fear in it was expressed through his out-of-tune tone. Song qingxiao subconsciously looked back at the person who spoke. It was a man in his thirties with a strong body. He looked up at the sky and pointed. Song qingxiao quickly followed the direction of his finger.

In the sky, a large group of seabirds flew over, covering the sky and earth. Each of these birds spread their wings, and there were so many of them that they covered the sky. Before they even arrived, they had already set off a strong gust of wind.

“Enter the cabin.”

Song qingxiao’s expression finally changed when she saw this..

Chapter 103: The flock of birds (1)

From the moment she caught the strange fish to the moment it was killed by song qingxiao after it injured someone, she had been calm and composed. However, at this moment, she could not hide her nervousness.

The people on the boat were already scared out of their wits when they saw the big man being eaten alive by the fish. When they heard that song qingxiao had asked everyone to enter the cabin, they scrambled to escape into the cabin at the critical moment.

“No one is allowed to move!”

The cabin was Mr. Zhou’s territory. In order to save their lives, they didn’t care about that.

The group of strange birds flew closer and closer. From the strange fish that they had caught from the sea earlier, everyone had already realized that there was something strange about these animals. They had an instinctive fear of living creatures in groups. They were afraid that if they ran too slowly, when the strange birds arrived, they would cause casualties.

Everyone wanted to push and hide in the cabin. Under the great desire for survival, Mr. Zhou was actually squeezed out.

He shouted anxiously, but few people paid attention to him. He gave an angry look, and the bodyguards beside him lined up in a row, blocking the way for everyone to enter the cabin.

“Let Mr. Zhou in first, don’t panic!”

When the bodyguard-like man first spoke, the people who were running for their lives ignored them until someone pulled out a gun.

Although a burly man had just died on the ship, and Mr. Zhou’s purpose of hiring people on the ship was not pure, they had not yet reached the island. Perhaps they still had some concerns, so the bodyguard’s gun did not aim at the crowd, but at the sky.

A loud ‘bang’ was heard, and the panicking crowd immediately quieted down.

There were terrifying strange fish under the sea, and a flock of unknown birds flying in the sky. Mr. Zhou’s side had already revealed their original ferocious appearance, and the group of employees had angry and helpless expressions on their faces.

“The staff members can go in first, the others can follow.”

As Mr. Zhou spoke, he did not stop walking. Zhou xueli strode beside him. A group of scholars kept turning their heads to look at the flock of birds flying closer and closer in the sky, their eyes filled with excitement and fear.

It was fine for ordinary people, but the participants who entered the trial scene were inevitably dissatisfied with this situation. Young man number six and the man in the suit could not help but clench their fists, as if they were about to fight-

At such a critical moment, song qingxiao suddenly said,”

“Go back to your own rooms.”

Time was of the essence. If Mr. Zhou and the others went into hiding before the others, they would definitely be injured.

As soon as the birds arrived, the aggressive strange fish that had surrounded the boat abandoned the burly man’s bones and sank into the deep sea. It could be imagined that these birds were either the natural enemies of the fish, or birds were far more ferocious than fish.

The ship was sailing on the vast sea. Once a human was attacked, he would definitely die, whether he was caught into the sky or fell into the sea.

They hadn’t reached the island yet, but they had already encountered danger when they approached the island. It was conceivable that there would be greater difficulties after entering the island.

What troubled song qingxiao was that the moment the person died, she subconsciously looked at the mission notification in her mind. However, the notification did not change at all. The hexagonal seal did not light up.

Completed? [mission: 2000 points]

In such a situation, either the person who died was wrong or the place where the person died was wrong, so the mission was not triggered.

In that case, no matter what, they should try their best to save everyone’s lives at this time and not make unnecessary sacrifices. It would be better to deal with the danger when they got on the island.

After her reminder, everyone came to a sudden realization and hurriedly ran to their respective rooms. With the sound of their footsteps, the flock of birds in the sky got closer and closer, almost blocking out the remaining light of the evening.

Everyone scattered like birds and beasts in an instant. The flock of birds was getting closer, and everyone wished they had two more legs to run into the room.

After Mr. Zhou and the others entered the cabin, they locked the cabin door with a bang. Those who had not entered the room cursed.

When Song Qingxiao was about to run into the room, she noticed the body of the strange fish that was still rolling on the ground. She kicked the bucket that was used to hold the fish. The bucket was overturned, and the water inside flowed out, washing away some of the thick fish blood on the deck.

However, the blood was extremely thick, and a portion of it remained on the deck. This action caused her to pause for a moment. The flock of birds flew extremely fast, and in a flash, they seemed to be on the deck.

As the flock of birds approached, strange cries sounded. Each of the birds was extremely large, their wings nearly a meter long, and each feather was as hard as a steel blade.

Every time it flapped its wings, it created a small hurricane that brought great pressure. Song Qingxiao felt as if she was about to be blown away by the wind.

She was a step too slow and it was already too late to enter the room. The leading Big Bird seemed to have found 'food' and accelerated, diving straight towards the ship.

At the critical moment, Song Qingxiao kicked the two-meter-long fish on the ground and sent it flying. She reached for the dagger behind her waist and stabbed it hard, then threw it out of the boat in one go.

This was her bold move. From the reaction of the strange fish to avoid the birds, she guessed that these two species should be mutually antagonistic.

As expected, her guess was quickly verified.

The flock of birds that were about to rush towards her saw the strange fish being thrown away. They flapped their wings and changed their direction in the air, flying back to the sea where the strange fish had fallen. The leading bird was the fastest. It reached out with its sharp claws and grabbed the strange fish's body firmly.

The strange fish had bone spikes on its body, and its scales were as hard as armor. When the burly man with the machete had clashed with the strange fish, his machete had been blocked by the fish's scales. Not only did it not leave any marks, but the edge of the machete had even curled up. One could only imagine how powerful the fish's scales were.

However, such a solid defense was like a piece of paper under the giant bird's claw. It could not withstand a single blow.

The pair of sharp claws easily tore the scales apart, and the second and third birds followed suit. The body of the strange fish was pulled in mid-air, just like the burly man who had fallen into the sea before.

Taking advantage of this opportunity, song qingxiao ran to her room, scanned her fingerprint, and then locked the door with a loud bang.

Before she could even catch her breath, the flock of strange birds outside seemed to have finished off the bodies of the strange fish in an instant. The sound of birds falling into the cabin was endless. With the sudden addition of so many foreign creatures, the ship could not help but sink deeper into the water, and the ship began to shake.

At the same time, there were also the sounds of birds pecking on the deck and door of the cabin on the ship. There were also banging sounds outside her door, which made her feel nervous..

Chapter 104: Force her (1)

The interior decorations of the ship were already very old, but fortunately, the door was new and many times stronger than the rotten decorations. It was also because of this that it was not easily broken by this group of uninvited guests.

However, no matter how sturdy the door was, it creaked under the heavy impact of the birds.

Song qingxiao's back and head were covered in sweat. If the door couldn't stop the birds' attacks, the birds would rush in unscrupulously once the barrier fell. The consequences would be unimaginable.

The flock of birds was huge, and there were many of them. The strength of each bird could be seen from how they tore the strange fish apart. With her current strength, she might be able to kill two or three birds, but there was no way she could kill all of them.

Moreover, these birds had an advantage. They could fly as soon as they spread their wings and were more difficult to deal with than the fish that jumped onto the deck.

The fear that she hadn't felt for a long time struck her again. Her heart was beating fast like a drum, and her forehead, nose, and body were covered in cold sweat.

Her eyes were fixed on the door, and the banging sounds were endless. With every knock, the door made of special materials would bulge inward.

Every second felt like a year to Song qingxiao. She had no idea how long the pecking outside had been going on for. Perhaps it was because the people on the deck had all left, and the fish had also fled in the face of danger, but the birds had found nothing. After destroying the ship for a while, they finally flapped their wings and left.

The ship finally stabilized after shaking for a while.

There was no sound of fish hitting each other or birds. Only the sound of the ship was still sailing. It was unusually quiet outside.

At this time, no one dared to open the door first. Song Qing carefully released her mental power to check the situation outside. Through the door, she could no longer feel the presence of any foreign creatures. The anger that had been in her heart for a long time finally subsided.

She reached out to turn the door handle and was ready to open the door, but the door had been destroyed by the birds earlier. The door panel had been deformed, and the lock was firmly held against it. She tried several times but could not open the door.

Song qingxiao took a deep breath and stepped back. She suddenly raised her leg and kicked the protruding part of the door with all her strength. With two loud bangs, the deformed part that had been hit and pecked by the bird was kicked back a little. The tilted door recovered a little. This time, she unlocked the door and successfully twisted it open.

As soon as he opened the door, a gust of sea wind mixed with the pungent smell of bird droppings assailed his nose. The birds had already left.

Even though she was mentally prepared for the situation when the birds landed on the ship, song qingxiao still had a rough understanding of the birds 'destructive power when she saw the broken side and mast.

There was a lot of bird feces piled on the ground. She took a few steps forward and saw the deck that was too horrible to look at.

The deck's floor had been deformed, especially the place where she had gotten blood from the fish she had killed. It was almost turned over.

From the way she threw the fish's corpse, the flock of birds had to fight for time to return to their rooms. It seemed like the birds were more interested in the fish than humans.

The blood of this strange fish was thick and stinky. The smell spread far and wide, and the birds might have been attracted by it.

In addition, when the birds came, the originally fierce fish seemed to have sensed danger and hid in the deep sea. Therefore, it could be inferred that the birds were the natural enemies of the strange fish.

Now that things had come to this, from the abnormal changes in the fish to the extremely fierce birds, and they were getting closer and closer to the island Mr. Zhou had mentioned, it could be imagined that the changes in these animals should be related to Mr. Zhou.

However, no matter what kind of genetic modification an animal underwent, their nature remained the same. The food chain of nature had always been tightly linked.

As she thought of this, she had an idea. Her eyes fell on the pile of bird droppings on the ground and she was about to find something to put on for an experiment.

Song qingxiao's eyes fell on the fishing rods on the deck that had been broken by the birds, and an idea suddenly came to her mind.

If her guess was right, no matter how the genes of animals were changed, the rules of nature remained the same. If she made good use of this, this mission might not be a near-death one.

She was a little excited and looked around. From the corner of her eye, she saw a door on the side of the ship not far away was slowly being pulled open, revealing the figure of a man with a crew cut who was quiet among the trial participants.

Everyone had heard the sound of song qingxiao kicking the door open, but they were not sure if there was any danger outside, so no one dared to open the door.

They were all waiting for the first person to open the door to go out. Only when there were no attacks or screams would they be sure that the birds had left, and only then would the people hiding dare to come out.

After the crew-cut man opened the door, the sound of knocking on the door came in an endless stream, and the door was opened one after another.

The cultivators with special abilities were far more powerful than ordinary people, so they came out first.

Number seven held his injured hand, frowning as he avoided the bird droppings and walked toward song qingxiao.

The other trial-takers hesitated for a moment and also approached song qingxiao. Number six's expression was uncertain, but he decided to follow the crowd after a moment.

Whether or not everyone acknowledged it, song qingxiao's performance in killing the strange fish was enough to make her one of the best in this trial.

After the flock of birds passed by, she was the first to come out. She had the courage and strength, and she was also the first to discover the existence of the strange fish. Her sensitivity and observation skills were far better than others.

The danger of this trial was far from comparable to the previous two. Just a fish and a flock of birds were enough to cause a panic. There might be even greater danger in the future.

At this time, if they had a strong ally, their chances of survival would increase a lot.

"Qing Xiao."

No. 7 greeted her affectionately, as if they had not had the little conflict a few hours ago. She also seemed to have forgotten that she had subconsciously waved the strange fish in song qingxiao's direction when the strange fish had jumped out of the sea for the first time. She seemed to have an evil intention.

"Did you find something amiss in this mission? can you analyze it with us?"

Her face was a little pale, and her scratched right hand was still shaking. Although she had treated the wound after she returned to her room, if one looked carefully, there was still blood seeping out of the gauze wrapped around the wound.

After number seven finished speaking, everyone's eyes fell on song qingxiao.

Number seven was quick-witted and reacted quickly. She raised this point in public with the intention of using the other trial-takers to show off her power to song Qing.

After all, this was a matter of life and death. Everyone was eager to know more about the situation on the island. At present, it seemed that song qingxiao had more information. If she didn't say anything, the other cultivators might not be willing to let it go and would try to force her to say it..

Chapter 105: reveal _1

Song qingxiao's individual strength was indeed very strong. In terms of one-on-one combat, she was probably one of the best among the seven trial-takers.

However, her two fists might not be able to fight against four hands. Under the joint efforts of everyone, she would eventually lose.

After number seven finished speaking, he stared at song Qing with a smile and waited for her answer.

She looked young and beautiful, and when she entered the trial, she had a lively and outgoing personality. When she had just entered the mission scene, she had also been thick-skinned enough to strike up a conversation with Zhou xueli, hoping to get some clues about the mission. Now was the best time for her to speak, saving the others a lot of trouble.

Everyone wanted to know the answer to No. 7's question, and they were also looking forward to song qingxiao's answer.

Song Qingxin was well aware of what number seven was planning.

In fact, number seven wasn't the only one with a plan. Song qingxiao had her own plan as well.

At present, because of this unexpected disaster before landing on the island, at least half of Mr. Zhou's plan had been exposed. From this person hiring poor people who had no power, no power, little knowledge, and a low sense of existence to the dangerous Island, it could be estimated that this person was ruthless.

Now that I've messed up a part of his plan in advance and caught Mr. Zhou off guard, I'm sure he'll be unhappy.

No matter what everyone was thinking, the ship was still Mr. Zhou's territory.

The most important thing was that he had money, people, and weapons. If he hated her and wanted to do something to her, song qingxiao would still be afraid of him even if the bodyguards had guns.

At this time, the trial-takers must at least show that they were United. At least, before entering the island, everyone must show that they had a mutual goal to make Mr. Zhou have some scruples.

However, even though song Qingxin had her own plans, she was not prepared to let number 7 get what he wanted.

She wanted to share some of her speculations about the island so that the trial-taker would owe her a favor and not because of number Seven's questioning. There was a certain difference between the two. After number seven finished speaking, she didn't say anything. The atmosphere became silent. Under such an atmosphere, everyone's gaze gradually changed.

Number seven was calm and composed at first. He thought that he could use the crowd's power to pressure song qingxiao and force her to give in. Who knew that when he asked such a question in public, everyone showed interest in the answer, but song qingxiao still didn't say anything? did she think that she could compete with everyone and was not going to tell them what she knew?

Thinking of this, number Seven's expression changed slightly. She was about to speak again when song qingxiao's eyes fell on her face. She seemed to be smiling, as if those little thoughts in her heart could not be hidden from her.

Number Seven's heart turned cold. Before he could react, song qingxiao had already shifted her gaze to her injured right hand that she had been holding.

That hand had been injured in the process of hitting the strange fish. She thought of the unkind things she had done before and guessed that song qingxiao was ready to settle the score with her now.

Thinking of this, number seven became vigilant and instinctively lowered the arm she was holding. The wound on her right palm was so deep that the bone could be seen. It was painful even if she didn't move. Even if she tried her best to endure it, she couldn't help but show a painful expression.

"Let me take a look at the wound on your hand."

While song qingxiao was talking, number Seven's hand was still trembling. His facial muscles were twitching in pain, and his forehead was covered in sweat.

Number seven never thought that she would ask to see his wound instead of bringing up their past.

She didn't understand what song Qingxin was thinking. She didn't know if she should raise her hand or hide it behind her back and refuse her proposal.

After hesitating for a long time, the temporary Alliance formed by the young man number six, the man in the suit, and the scholar was still present. Even if song qingxiao wanted to have any ill intentions against him, she would have to think twice.

At the thought of this, number seven endured the pain and raised his trembling hand.

"What's there to see about my injuries?"

"We'll only know if there's anything nice to look at after we see it."

As soon as number Seven's hand reached out, song qingxiao grabbed her nails. Number seven subconsciously wanted to pull her hand back, but song qingxiao's grip was so strong that she couldn't break free. Instead, she tore the wound, and more blood oozed out of the already red gauze..

Chapter 106: The answer (2)

"What are you doing?"

Number seven raised her voice in pain. Song qingxiao tore off the gauze from her hand. Some of the gauze was stained with dried blood. Number seven was in excruciating pain. He screamed and subconsciously raised his uninjured hand, ready to attack.

There were two wounds on her palm that was held by song qingxiao. It was as if it had been cut by a sharp blade. The wound had split open due to time, and the bone was visible. Blood gushed out and dripped down from the gap between number Seven's fingers.

our mission this time might be troublesome.

Number seven was still angry. Number six, the man in the suit, and the refined man didn't know why song qingxiao insisted on checking number Seven's wound. However, since they had formed an alliance, they were all wary and dissatisfied when they saw song qingxiao doing this to number seven.

At this moment, song qingxiao's expression changed and she spoke slowly. Everyone knew that she was about to get to the point.

The sound of knocking on doors could be heard from the rooms on both sides of the cabin. Several people stood on the deck of the ship that had been half-destroyed and were talking about something.

Every trial mission was a near-death experience for the trial-takers, but no one interrupted song qingxiao's words.

three days ago, I did find out something. I found out that Mr. Zhou is going to the island. From the route, it should take three days to reach the destination.

She said such an important piece of news. Even number seven, who was gasping in pain, could not help but hold his breath and look down on song Qing.

“Doesn’t that mean we’re about to reach our destination?”

The voice of the person who spoke was a little low. It was the crew-cut guy who had been silent since entering the trial space.

Mr. Zhou had mentioned that they were about to reach the island, but he didn’t mention the specific time of arrival.

“Yes, I am.” Song qingxiao nodded and lowered her eyes to hide the darkness in her eyes.

I also found out an interesting piece of information. Mr. Zhou is a very rich man with many properties under his name. However, the main body of the company is a biotechnology company. This time, he probably came to the island to collect experimental fruits.

When she raised her head, her expression had returned to normal.

The people around her were digesting the information she had provided and trying to figure out the meaning behind her words. Song qingxiao continued,” based on the fact that Mr. Zhou’s main business is a biotechnology company, I’m guessing that he’s doing some experiments and developing new products. She scratched her hair, which had been messed up by the sea breeze. The old woman stared at her, urging her to continue with her eyes.

at the same time, because Mr. Zhou has kept the destination and other key information confidential, I suspect that this experiment is abnormal. It might even be considered an illegal experiment in the world of the trial.

At this point, she paused for a moment. Number seven even forgot the pain in her hand and couldn't help but ask, far away from the crowd, on an isolated island in the vast ocean. Other than satellite search, there is no signal, and no other ships appear. An experiment that has been going on for more than ten years, combined with the nature of his company and the fact that it is shameful to be sneaky, I suspect that this experiment is related to genetic modification or causing mutations in humans and animals.

"And then?"

When Song Qingxiao said this, everyone finally understood the meaning of her words and could not help but gasp.

No. 7 couldn't help but shiver. She thought of Song Qingxiao's fishing at noon, and the fierce fish that had jumped on the boat. It had turned the boat upside down, dragged a big man into the water, and dismembered him, which attracted the group of terrifying seabirds. All of this indicated that Song Qingxiao's speculation was very likely to be true.

Your fishing in the afternoon ...

The older woman frowned and said hesitantly,"

"You want to confirm this?"

"Besides confirming this, I also wanted to see if we're really closer to the island." Just like what she had told Mr. Zhou before, animals had the instinct to seek good fortune and avoid disaster. When faced with danger, they were more sensitive than humans.

This was the magical perception that nature had given them, allowing these weak life forms to escape when danger came.

it should be near the island at noon. The nearby waters may have been infected, and those fierce fish have appeared. The Marine creatures from other waters have sensed the danger and will not come here.

That was why she didn't find anything at that time. However, after the ship entered these dangerous waters, fierce fish took the bait one after another.

I'm not sure if you've asked about the identities of the other employees on the ship.

As song qingxiao spoke, she looked at number seven. Number Seven's communication skills were the most outstanding among the participants. If she could find out song qingxiao's name on the first day of the scenario, she would definitely be able to find out the background of the mercenaries in the scenario.

As expected, after she said that, number seven continued,"

I've asked around. They're all villagers from the coastal areas. Their families are poor and they make a living by fishing for others every year. Because of their poverty, many of them don't get married when they're old. Most of them are inexperienced. They have the strength and experience of going to sea, but they don't have any schemes.

After she said this, she added," when Mr. Zhou hired them, he promised them very generous conditions. It is said that this money is enough to ensure that these people don't have to worry about food and clothing for the rest of their lives. They can get married and have children after they return, but the condition is that they must keep it a secret.

Although that was the case, there was nothing in the world that was a real secret, and everyone knew that.

After number seven finished, he saw song qingxiao smile.

what a coincidence. Our identities are also poor and ignorant. We have a simple population and low status.

Everyone was well aware of what this meant.

Mr.. Zhou was going to stir up trouble, and it was going to be big!

Chapter 107: Details (1)

None of the participants present were easy to deal with. Song qingxiao had made things very clear. According to what everyone knew, it was an illegal genetic modification experiment. Although song qingxiao said it was just a guess, the existence of the strange fish and the mutation of the birds were most likely true.

The people Mr. Zhou hired were poor people with low status, no knowledge, and no sense of existence. In other words, the people he chose would not cause any trouble even if they died.

He was so secretive about his destination that he didn't reveal it to anyone. He even kept it a secret after boarding the ship. This was enough to prove that he had ulterior motives. It was very likely that he had gathered such a large group of people just to die.

Number seven and the others 'expressions changed. The refined scholar muttered,"

"Could it be that the mission this time requires everyone to work together?"

His question was exactly what song qingxiao wanted. She had said so much, it was impossible for these cultivators to cover up their own situation and just try to get information from her.

"Yes or no, we'll have to see what your mission hint is."

She had said those words earlier so that she could wait here.

Song qingxiao followed the gentleman's words and asked a question. She used the way No. 7 used the situation to force people to give in and answer questions,"

"Number seven, what's your mission hint?"

Number Seven's face stiffened when she asked this question so frankly.

Of course, the other cultivators would not speak up for her at this moment. In fact, song qingxiao's question was also what everyone was eager to know.

Now that song qingxiao had explained the general situation of the trial, the only thing left was to see if everyone's mission direction was the same.

If everyone's quest hint was the same, it was very likely that it was just as the scholar had said. The quest environment this time was very dangerous, and they would need to work together to survive.

And if everyone's mission hints were different, it might be inevitable that they would fight each other during the trial.

At this time, whoever gave the mission hint first would be taking a risk.

It was fine if number 7's mission hint was the same as everyone else's, but if her mission hint was the slightest bit different from the other trial-takers present, it was possible that the person with the opposite mission would find a way to get rid of her.

However, she had no choice but to say it. This matter concerned everyone's life and death. If she didn't want to say it, the other cultivators probably wouldn't have a choice either.

Even though it was a temporary Alliance, the cultured scholar, the man in the suit, and the others were all looking at her, waiting for her answer.

Number seven was a smart person. She understood the cause and effect of the situation. She knew that she was in a passive situation where song qingxiao was at a loss of what to do. The tables had turned. Song qingxiao was using the same method to force her to do what she had previously done.

“I...”

Number Seven’s mouth was bitter as she stared coldly at song Qing. Song Qing looked straight into her eyes and said with a fake smile,” “You’ve said what you wanted me to say. To show your sincerity, shouldn’t I at least ask you to leak some information?”

“Number seven, what’s your mission hint?”

As soon as song qingxiao finished speaking, the man with the crew cut stepped forward and asked.

He wasn’t as polite as song qingxiao. He had a threatening look in his eyes, as if he would attack if number seven didn’t obey.

The older woman frowned and took a step forward silently. She was obviously on the crew-cut man’s side.

“Don’t blame me for being impolite. Everyone has seen how dangerous this mission is.” As the crew-cut man spoke, he pointed to the deck and side of the ship, which had been scratched beyond recognition by the birds, we haven’t even reached the island yet, but the fish and birds we’ve encountered are so fierce. No one knows what kind of danger we’ll face when we get on the island.

His eyes were gloomy, and the aura on his body gradually changed, making him look much more dangerous.

it’s good to know more about the mission before we go to the island. For the good of all of us, I advise you not to hide anything.

After the crew-cut man said this, number seven felt indignant.

When she revealed the mission hint, it wasn't for everyone's own good. It was clear that the others would benefit more.

However, the situation was not in her control. Number seven suppressed her anger while the refined scholar, number six, and the young man in the suit stood on the crew-cut guy's side. It was obvious that they wanted to get something from her. She took a deep breath and looked at song qingxiao. After a while, she suppressed her anger and smiled.

"You're all speaking very well, so of course I understand."

She had suffered a loss from song Qing and was gritting her teeth in hatred, but she had already made a decision in her heart.

my quest notification is a hexagonal magic seal. It didn't light up, so the quest shouldn't have been triggered.

She steeled her heart and told them about her mission. At the same time, she also looked at the others' expressions, trying to see if there was something wrong with their faces.

Once her words made someone's expression strange, it was very likely to prove that this person's mission was in the opposite direction of her. She could shut up in time and also raise her vigilance.

However, after number seven slowly said those words, she did not see anyone's eyes reveal any wariness. Instead, they all looked relieved.

Seeing this, number Seven's heart, which had been in his throat, returned to its original place. From everyone's reaction, the mission prompt this time was probably the same. Just like what the refined scholar had said earlier, this mission was probably dangerous. The trial space required the trial-takers to form an alliance and work together.

However, even if number seven had guessed this, she still kept it in mind. After saying this, she rolled her eyes and said, there's also a mission hint. Brother Zhao, why don't you tell us to be fair? "

The person she was staring at was the man with the crew-cut hair who had threatened her earlier. It seemed that this man's surname was Zhao.

After being called out by number seven, the crew-cut man was silent for a while. Perhaps it was because the hint that number seven had given earlier had calmed everyone's heart down. Then, he said,"

"I do have two hints. Granny Zhou, what about you?"

He slyly threw number Seven's question away and turned to ask the older woman. The older woman's expression did not change and she nodded in admission,"

"Me too,"

The two of them seemed to be asking and answering questions, but in fact, what they were saying was all nonsense.

It was very hypocritical for the trial-takers to be on guard against each other. Even if this trial required everyone to cooperate, it was unlikely for everyone to work together. They had to be careful of this group of despicable people stabbing them in the back.

Song qingxiao blinked her eyes.

Number seven was young and could not hold her temper. Even though she knew that these people were shameless, she was still shocked by the way the crew-cut guy threw out the question. The corner of her mouth twitched twice, and she looked at number six while holding back her anger.

This man was in an alliance with her, and they had a good conversation before, but when she was being forced, he did not say a word. She felt hatred in her heart, and she opened her mouth to ask,

“What about you, number six? What’s the other mission hint?”

The young man, number six, originally wanted to take advantage of the situation and get some useful information from these people, but he did not expect number seven to turn around and ask him. He was immediately furious..

Chapter 108: The end (1)

The crew-cut woman and the old woman didn’t say anything, but they forced others to take it for granted. After number seven changed his target, everyone looked at number six, the young man.

Under the pressure of everyone’s gazes, number six could only suppress his anger and force out a smile,” my other mission hint is a point reward. He then looked at song qingxiao.

“Number five, what about you?”

“Me too,”

Song qingxiao nodded her head in the same way that the older woman did.

This action made number six so angry that she vomited blood. However, seeing that she had no intention of opening her mouth again, he had no choice but to divert the trouble. He looked at the man in the suit again.

“Number four, is there anything different about your other mission?”

Number six learned his lesson from the small talk he had with song Qing, so he changed his way of asking questions.

He directly called out the number of the man in the suit who entered the trial space. The man in the suit looked at him sinisterly and laughed in anger:

“My other mission hint is the same as yours.” When he said this, he saw that the others were frowning, clearly not satisfied with his answer. He suppressed his anger and added,”

“My reward is 2000 points. Number two, what about you?”

He asked the refined scholar, who seemed to have a good temper. He smiled and then pursed his lips.

The question was passed to the scholar like a drum beating and a flower beating. He obviously had no one to push the blame to, so he could only answer,” my other mission had two question marks, and it showed that I would only get 2000 points if I completed it.

Although the Alliance was formed at the last minute, song qingxiao was almost certain that the mission hint was the same.

“Me too,”

She took the lead and the others nodded.

Everyone heaved a sigh of relief. After confirming that the mission was the same, at least on the surface, everyone was on the same side.

"That's great," No. 7 smiled. Since everyone was on the same side, the chances of them killing each other were much smaller, the remaining question is to find Mr. Zhou and force him to answer about the situation on the island.

"Don't be happy too quickly."

Song qingxiao poured cold water on her.

"Just because we're on the same side doesn't mean that the difficulty of this mission will be low."

On the contrary, the trial space did not increase the difficulty of this mission scene, which in itself showed that the danger level of the island might be far higher than the killing between the trial participants.

Hearing her words, number Seven's smile froze on his face, and his heart, which had just risen, sank to the bottom again.

"You've seen the existence of the strange fish. The creatures on the island are probably not much worse than the strange fish."

When song qingxiao reached this point, number seven was a little unconvinced.

"No matter what, if we work together, we might be able to kill him." She raised her eyebrows, it's still because of the group of strange birds that scared you.

Her provocative words made song qingxiao chuckle. Her eyes stopped on her bleeding palm for a moment.

"In my opinion, the danger on the island is not necessarily the genetically modified and mutated animals or the murderous Mr. Zhou and the others."

Song qingxiao's words had a deeper meaning to them. The other trial-takers did not understand what she meant. Number seven did not have the patience to play dumb with her, so he said directly,"

"Since we need to work together now, what can't you say? what's the point of hiding your Kasaya like this?"

Everyone agreed with her. Before song qingxiao could say anything, the door that had been locked finally made a 'clang' sound. It was clear that the people inside were about to open it.

Everyone subconsciously turned to look at the cabin. General song Qing swallowed the words he was about to say. The cabin door finally opened after a few knocks. The bodyguard with the submachine gun was the first to pop his head out. After confirming that there were no dangerous creatures outside, he stepped out of the cabin door and saw the participants gathered on the deck.

The bodyguard's eyes swept over the few of them, and he quickly turned his head and said,"

"There's no danger, only a few workers are here."

After he shouted, not only did Mr. Zhou and the others in the cabin hear him clearly, but the employers hiding in the other rooms on the first floor should have also heard him clearly.

Although the employees were afraid and wanted to hide in their rooms, what had happened was too unbelievable. Many of them often went out to sea, and they had never seen such fish and birds before. Combined with what song qingxiao had asked Mr. Zhou, they had many doubts, and they wanted to figure out the whole thing as soon as possible.

The sound of the door opening could be heard. Mr. Zhou appeared at the cabin door, surrounded by a group of people.

As soon as Mr. Zhou appeared, he saw the deck that was in a mess and frowned.

The deck was in a mess, and many parts of the ship were deformed by the sharp claws of the seabirds. Bird droppings were everywhere, and a foul smell rushed into people's nostrils.

Mr. Zhou had lived a pampered life and had never experienced such a situation before. In a short while, his face turned red.

Seeing him like this, Zhou xueli took out a neatly folded clean handkerchief from her pocket and handed it to him. Mr. Zhou quickly took the handkerchief and covered his mouth and nose, as if he had finally caught his breath.

His eyes were a little gloomy. He had not even reached the island, but he had already experienced such a disaster. Almost half of the ship was destroyed, which made him lose control of his emotions for a moment.

“I told you.”

His expression was cold as his gaze swept across the few trial-takers standing together. Finally, it stopped on song qingxiao.

don't cause any trouble after you get on the boat. The boat hasn't even reached the island yet and it's already destroyed to this extent. Fortunately, the birds have left today. If you had stayed any longer, have you thought about the consequences?”

His hand was still holding the handkerchief to cover his mouth, and his voice was a little muffled from the handkerchief,”

“If the ship is destroyed, how are we going to return?”

In fact, if it wasn't for song qingxiao's extraordinary combat power and calmness in the fight with the strange fish, Mr. Zhou wouldn't have been able to figure out her background. Otherwise, he wouldn't even have said a word to her and would have attacked her directly.

When the participants saw the bodyguards beside Mr. Zhou take out these powerful guns, they became even more vigilant.

There were only two possibilities for these bodyguards to carry such guns. One was to prepare weapons for the dangers on the island, and the other was to silence them after the incident.

Everyone stood closer together, and after giving each other the mission tips, at least when dealing with the people in the scene, the trial-takers were finally United against outsiders.

“Are we the ones returning, or are you all returning?”

The young man, number six, couldn't hold it in and asked with a sneer. His attitude stunned Mr. Zhou for a moment, but after understanding the meaning of his words, the ruthless old Fox's eyes didn't even change. He asked directly, “What do you mean by that?”

“It's exactly what it means, literally.”

With the attitude of the other trial-takers, number six's confidence undoubtedly increased a lot. He asked,

Mr. Zhou, where are you taking us? what's on the island? what's the change in the fish and birds in the sea? why don't you tell us so that we can have a rough idea?”

As he said this, he put his hand on the railing that had already deformed and sunk into the hull. Mr. Zhou noticed that the railing, which had been welded with a special treatment material, slowly returned to its original place under his strong push.

When the young man number six showed his hand, Mr. Zhou looked at the group of people gathered together again. He was no longer as calm as before. “Who are you?”

When he asked the question, his eyes were sharp as he turned to look at Zhou xueli.

It was obvious that the strength number six had displayed and the scene of song qingxiao killing the strange fish had proved that Zhou xueli's words about the people who had been evaluated by the special Department were wrong..

Chapter 109: Who is it (1)

Zhou xuli's face revealed a nervous expression. According to the investigation of the original recruitment department, the group of workers hired to carry ■goods' were indeed at the bottom of the society and had no other skills.

In fact, now that things had developed to this point, it was almost out of control. Zhou xuli had been by his side for many years and knew Mr. Zhou's character very well. She immediately swallowed her saliva.

"Mr. Zhou..."

She first lowered her head and admitted her mistake. I've failed my duty.

However, in the current situation, admitting his mistake was obviously not going to help.

This group of people gathered together and each had their own magical ability. It was likely that some force had long known about the Zhou's research and had taken this opportunity to sneak in.

"To be able to avoid the investigation without anyone knowing, I'm afraid they've been deployed for a long time." Zhou xuli felt a bitter taste in her mouth. She should have been alert when song qingxiao tried to trick her into telling the truth. I'll take responsibility after we return.

Her eyelashes trembled. She didn't know if it was because of fear or the strong wind on the sea, but her voice was trembling when she spoke.

"Go back?"

This research was the Zhou consortium's many years of hard work. Just as they were about to achieve results, such a mistake occurred.

“Don’t misunderstand.”

The cultivators were all smart people. From the current situation and the conversation between AAr. Zhou and Zhou xueli, how could they not know that they had misunderstood their identities?

The refined scholar smiled and adjusted the corner of his clothes. He said with a gentle expression,”

“Our identities are different from what you’re guessing.”

His words made Mr. Zhou and the others skeptical. Scholar number two said, we don’t belong to any power or organization. All we want is to live.

At this point, he raised his hand.

“I dare to swear that if this sentence is watered down, I will die a terrible death.”

He was very confident when he said that. The participants did not belong to any of the forces in this scene, so he was very serious when he made the oath, unlike the fake one he had made in the trial space.

When he lowered his hand, number six also raised his hand jokingly.

I also dare to swear that we really don’t belong to any forces or organizations. We just want to know some facts and live well. If Mr. Zhou doesn’t believe us, we can also swear. If my words are false and make me feel like being bitten by thousands of ants, how about it?”

As soon as number six finished speaking, the man in the suit followed.

Song Qing looked at this scene coldly. It was ridiculous. The trial had only just started, but a few players had already made their vows. The people in front of them made their vows as if they were just going through the motions. When Song Qing was young, she followed the crowd and said,

“I also swear that I only want to live.”

Mr. Zhou’s expression had already calmed down, and it was unknown if he had already thought of a countermeasure.

Now that things were clear, regardless of whether these people were telling the truth or not, it was already certain that this group of people had mixed into the team.

The ship was now on its way to the isolated island, and they were about to reach it, so it was unrealistic to return now.

Among this group of people, Song Qingxiao and Number Six had already displayed their outstanding skills. The others would probably be hard to deal with if they stood together.

If they were to fight now, even if they had guns and ammunition, they were so close to them. They were afraid that something would happen if these people resisted.

In addition, the other boatmen had been incited and had already surrounded this side. In order to prevent the situation from getting out of control, fighting at sea was the last resort.

They hadn’t reached the island yet, but once they made a move, they would probably lose more than half of their men.

Most importantly, the birds had just left not long ago. Mr. Zhou was worried that the sound of the gunshot would spread far out in the sea and attract the livestock back.

The ship couldn’t take any more damage. Otherwise, once the ship sank, everyone would die in the sea with the school of fish!

Mr. Zhou didn't believe that the trial-taker's identity was as clean, innocent, and innocent as they said. However, this group of people were willing to take an oath. This was a temporary compromise and an attitude of not causing trouble. It also gave Mr. Zhou a way to step down.

After much consideration, Mr. Zhou endured the stench on the deck and put down the handkerchief covering his mouth. A smile had already appeared on his usually serious face.

"Since that's the case, we're still friends,"

He moved his finger, and the bodyguards received his signal. They pulled back their guns and pointed them at song qingxiao and the others. Although they changed their direction, their fingers on the trigger didn't move. This meant that the danger wasn't over..

Chapter 11o: Who is it (2)

Mr. Zhou said,

"How can you point your gun at your friend?"

When everyone heard this, they all laughed.

The other hired workers on the ship were confused. Mr. Zhou also laughed a few times and then gently shook his head. The few scholars behind him began to move.

"If you have anything to say, let's clean up this place first."

As he said that, one of the hired people in the scenario said uneasily,"

"Mr. Zhou..."

Everyone turned their heads. The person who spoke was a young man of about 25 or 26 years old. He was already very nervous, but under the gaze of the dozens of pairs of eyes on the ship, he couldn't speak clearly. He could only point at the sky.

It was evening, not yet dark, but the dense clouds in the sky had already darkened the surrounding light.

The sound of the waves on the sea mixed with the sound of the ship sailing, and a dull 'roar' could be heard in the air. It was probably going to Thunder.

The young man who was being stared at by the crowd licked his lips. After a long while, as if he had found his voice, he asked timidly,"

"The bird just now, would it still..."

He thought of the flock of birds and shivered. He didn't even dare to say the word 'come back', but everyone understood his intention.

Everyone was panicking. They looked around. In fact, this problem was also what most of them were worried about. Mr. Zhou also frowned. Two elegant men approached Mr. Zhou and were about to say something when song qingxiao's eyes flashed and she said loudly,

"I won't."

Her sudden words made number seven, who was standing not far from her, turn his head subconsciously, his face full of surprise.

Even the most powerful person would not be able to answer such a question. How could she be so sure?

Mr. Zhou was also surprised. Zhou xueli knew what he was thinking and asked,

"How did you know?"

“These birds were attracted by the school of strange fish.”

Song qingxiao attracted everyone’s attention and said,”

I’ve observed it. It should be the appearance of a school of fish that attracted these seabirds. When she killed the fish, the smell of blood was very strong. If the seabirds were natural enemies with the fish, it would make sense for them to smell the blood and fly over, in addition, when the workers on the ship were dragged into the sea by the strange fish, they were eaten by the fish. From this, one could already imagine the ferocity of the strange fish, but these fish abandoned the worker’s corpse and sank into the water before the flock of birds arrived.

This meant that the school of fish had sensed danger and fled.

“When the birds came, I was a step too late and threw the fish corpse over. The birds really didn’t care about me when they snatched the fish corpse.” She pointed to the place on the deck that had been scratched the most by the birds, this is the place where I killed the fish, and it’s the place that left the smell of blood.

After turning the deck upside down and making sure that there were no strange fish, the birds stopped for a moment and then flew away.

Song qingxiao looked at Mr. Zhou, who was deep in thought.

as long as the school of fish no longer appears around the ship, the bird will definitely not come back.

Her words were quite certain, and Zhou xueli couldn’t help but ask,”

“Then how can you be so sure that the strange fish won’t appear again?”

Mr. Zhou didn’t stop Zhou xueli when she spoke. It was obvious that he wanted to use Zhou xueli to ask song qingxiao this question.

Everyone was also worried about this problem. After all, the fish were as ferocious as a flock of birds. Not only did the fish hurt someone when they jumped onto the boat, but they also dragged a person into the water to share their food. It was really too terrifying.

“Yeah, what if the school of fish appears again?”

The workers were very worried. A few trial-takers also licked their lips and waited for song qingxiao's answer.

Song qingxiao's eyes fell on a few people who were busy on the deck. They were ATr. Zhou's close friends. From their appearance and temperament, they looked like experts, scholars, and scientists.

The island was full of danger. Mr. Zhou could protect his life with his bodyguards, but it would be thought-provoking if he brought these scholars.

Perhaps, the Zhou corporation's genetic experiment was related to these people.

After Mr. Zhou had 'reached' an agreement with the trial-takers, he had ordered people to clean up the mess on the deck.

Normally, this group of people should not be the ones doing the cleaning and after-sales. However, after Mr. Zhou's words, this group of people moved..
