

Watch Out 381

Chapter 381: Brand-new__1

Song qingxiao wanted to ask Captain an to think of a way to let her see nurse Lin's body after nurse Lin's death was over.

She wanted to confirm if nurse Lin's fatal injuries were the same as the wounds she had on the day she was killed. She also wanted to know if the person who killed nurse Lin was the same person who had killed her!

Although she had left the guard Station, it was a blessing in disguise that Captain an had been promoted to the municipal Center after his injury. If he wanted to, it would not be difficult for him to take her to see nurse Lin's body.

Captain an was a little surprised by her request. Nurse Lin and song qingxiao had no relationship. They had only met once.

Due to his professional intuition, he felt that song qingxiao was too concerned about this matter. She probably already knew something that he had not yet grasped.

He was a man of principle. If it was anything else, even if song qingxiao had saved his life, he would have rejected it if it crossed the line. However, this was different. It involved nurse Lin's life.

"I'll think of a way." He paused for a moment before agreeing, but then he asked seriously,

"But I want to know the reason."

‘■I can’t be sure until I see nurse Lin’s fatal wound.” When song qingxiao made her request, she had already guessed Captain an’s reaction, but let me remind you, if my guess is right, you’d better not get involved in this case. Otherwise, it might lead to mishaps.

The killing intent she had felt in the Imperial hospital had been from the Shi family.

The Shi family was the Emperor of a reclusive family clan. The person who attacked them was at least a strong practitioner in the Dao comprehension realm and above, and might have countless connections with the imperial family.

Just these two points alone made it difficult to deal with.

No matter how capable Captain an was, he was still an ordinary person. In front of cultivators, he was no different from an insect that could be easily crushed.

It wasn’t easy for him to escape from Qian Shan’s hands and save his life, so it was best not to get involved in these things.

This was a piece of advice from song Qing, who had underestimated him for helping him.

“I understand what you mean,” He was silent for a long time. Perhaps it was because he had also thought of the scene of meeting Qian Shan on the autumn Festival road that day, and also guessed that there might be some secrets behind nurse Lin’s death.

“In his position, he plans. I don’t care who the murderer is, but it’s my duty to find out the cause of the victim’s death. There are some things that you can’t back down just because you’re afraid. Someone has to do it. I’m a guard.

His tone was firm, and it was clear that he had no intention of backing down. Song qingxiao knew that she couldn’t convince him, but she respected his decision, so she didn’t continue the topic. Captain an didn’t want to continue either, so he changed the topic and brought up the things he had arranged for her.

Perhaps Captain an had guessed that she wanted to hide for a while, so he fabricated a new identity for her and hid her as a substitute member of the preparatory class of the Shi family's guard team.

the procedures have been completed. You can just report to work tomorrow. By now, the Shi family was no longer the actual ruler of the Empire, but their influence was still significant, and they had a deep prestige in the hearts of the Empire's people.

The Shi family had a large number of guards, divided into different types, but it was still a place where many outstanding talents in the Empire would fight to enter.

The most outstanding descendants and elites of the various great clans of the Empire were gathered there.

After joining the guard team, not only would they have a high salary, but it also meant that they would have unlimited possibilities in the future.

If they were talented and performed well, and were recruited during their service, they would be able to enter the higher power center of the Royal guards.

If their performance was only average, after their service, these members who had been trained by the Shi family would still be the most welcomed talents in the Empire, and their future would be promising.

This place was like a staircase that led to heaven, tempting many people of the Empire to advance one after another.

But at the same time, the high standards of the guards kept many people outside.

The strict assessment put an end to those who tried to rely on their family background and tried to pass themselves off as good-for-nothing, and the large number of elimination systems urged the team members to always maintain a Wolf-like fighting spirit.

The bi-annual recruitment of the Shi family's private guards was a Grand occasion for the Empire, but the limited number of slots caused many people who were not outstanding enough to return in defeat.

Under such circumstances, in order to placate the people who thought they had the strength but had no opportunity, the Shi clan's spokesperson 30 years ago announced to the outside world that the Shi clan's reserve forces had been established in various parts of the Empire.

These Reserve members were not officially part of the Shi family's private guards but they could receive the guidance of the teachers sent by the Shi family. After a large amount of training, they had the opportunity to challenge the members of the Shi family's private guards once a year and apply to join the Shi family's Army.

It was because of this rule that places for the preparatory class were in high demand.

Before this, song qingxiao had never thought that Captain an would arrange such a spot for her.

Even if it was only a spot for a substitute member of the preparatory class, Captain an must have spent a lot of effort to get it.

After entering the reserve team, her past information would be recorded into the Shi family's reserve team and would be processed secretly.

Even if the city center investigated the case through the phone call at Autumn Festival road that day, it would be difficult to find any clues.

Captain an had helped her a lot this time, and she owed him a favor.

To song qingxiao, the opportunity to enter the reserve team was indeed better than simply leaving the capital.

"I owe you a favor." Song Qing whispered.

"You can't count a favor like this." Captain an forced himself to be alert and laughed."After all, if it wasn't for you, I'm afraid I wouldn't have had the opportunity to help."

Captain an could tell that the guard Department would not be able to keep her. It would be a pity if a talent like her were to be lost and not used by the Empire. Although Captain an had fainted before he could see her attack when they were facing Qian Shan that night, he felt that song qingxiao was not an ordinary person.

He guessed that the reason why she didn't apply to join the Shi family's Army after graduation but instead went to the guard Department was because of the criminal record her father had left behind, which had stopped her from developing.

When he thought of this, he felt a little pity for song qingxiao.

Without the city center's approval as an obstacle, she could do her best, moreover, I'm only providing you with an opportunity. Whether you can enter the reserve team and eventually join the Shi family's Army will depend on your own strength, little Qing, the competition there is far more intense than you can imagine," Captain an said seriously, back then, I had to work hard for six years before I could get into the team from the reserve team. If you let your guard down, there will be many people who want to pull you down and step on you."

"I hope you can go further in the future without the family background check." Song qingxiao understood what Captain an meant, but she didn't correct him. She hung up the phone after chatting with Captain an for a while.

If it was in the past, joining the reserve team was something that she would not even dare to think about. It was enough to change her life. However, times had changed. Joining the reserve team now was only to temporarily avoid the pursuit of the underworld family and get rid of trouble.

As for how she would be in the future, she had no idea..

Chapter 382:

In the afternoon, Captain an asked someone to send song qingxiao her new identification card. According to him, the welfare of the reserve team was good. She didn't need to bring anything except for her identification card and registration information.

This house had not been bought for long, so it did not have her personal aura. The decorations in the house were still the same as when Zhou ye had tidied it up and handed it to her. She had only lived here for a few days, so she did not feel that it was a pity to leave.

As for Tang Yun, Luo Wu had paid for a year's worth of expenses for her. At least for this year, she would not have to worry about her mother having nowhere to go.

She laid on the bed to rest. The half-closed door was opened by a long, sharp mouth, and the silver Wolf came in quietly. When it was close to the bed, it bent its limbs and lay down beside her.

Its body was huge, but its movements were very light. After lying down, it tidied up its fur, and when its tongue licked the thick fur, it made a 'shua shua' sound.

The silver Wolf was proud and aloof, and it wasn't very close to song qingxiao. However, every night after she went back to her room and lay down, the silver Wolf would follow her and lie beside her, no matter where it was hiding during the day.

Song qingxiao thought about it carefully. This habit of hers should have started when her aura suddenly disappeared from this world and she entered the trial space.

In this world, she wasn't the only one. In fact, thinking about it, it was the same.

After leaving the trial space and losing its pack, it was still a lone wolf, and the person it was most familiar with might be him.

Her original plan was to slowly tame the silver Wolf and make it her own.

However, plans could not keep up with changes. Captain an's suggestion forced her to change her previous plans.

To report to the reserve team, bringing the silver Wolf along was naturally not as convenient as traveling alone. It had not been completely tamed by him and was difficult to control.

Not to mention that she was in too much trouble now, and bringing the silver Wolf along would really attract too much attention.

She stretched out a hand and lowered it to the side of the bed. Her palm just happened to fall on the back of the wolf. The silver Wolf, who was combing its fur, was shocked by her action.

The muscles under its palm quickly tensed up. The silver Wolf raised its forelimbs in an attempt to get up and Dodge, letting out a warning sound from its throat.

Song qingxiao heard its whimpers, but she didn't pull her hand away. Instead, she clutched its long and thick silver fur with her fingertips and forced its upper body back to the ground!

This action made the silver Wolf's threatening growl even louder, but song qingxiao ignored its growl. Taking advantage of the fact that it was being suppressed, she ran her fingertips through its dense fur and touched the silver Wolf's back again and again.

The wolf tried to escape several times, but song qingxiao pulled it back by its fur. After a few times, perhaps because she did not hurt it, it did not try to escape even though it was still on guard.

"I'm leaving, where are you going?" As the silver Wolf whimpered in warning, she asked softly, "this is not your forest, not your Kingdom. There are too many dangerous people here.

Its entire body was a treasure. Its evolved genes and poisonous teeth might attract the covetous eyes of others. Without anyone to take care of it, it was unknown if it could adapt to this world.

However, it was smart and cunning, and its strength was outstanding. If it was careful and stayed away from the city, it could still survive with its advantages.

In fact, she hadn't known it for long, and the wolf wasn't very docile, but she was a little hesitant at this time.

This kind of emotion made her feel a little surprised. In fact, she was indifferent to feelings. Perhaps it was because she had never had it, so she did not care about losing it.

In this world, there was no eternity other than himself.

Friends and classmates would be separated, and parents were not inseparable. The 'companions' in the trial space were just stabbing each other. It was just a Wolf, so being separated was not a big deal.

The Wolf's fur stood on end. It was obvious that it had not let its guard down. However, her fingers grabbed its fur again and again. After a few times, she did not have any intention of hurting it. The Wolf's bent back gradually became flat, and its raised forelimbs slowly lay back down. Although its mouth still issued a warning, it was not as full of killing intent as before.

After a while, its tensed body began to relax, and its erect silver hair smoothened down. It turned back and began to comb its hair again. It even hesitantly turned back and began to tidy up the fur on its back that had been messed up by song qingxiao.

Naturally, she did not get a response from the silver Wolf, but a few breaths blew on the back of song Qing's hand, and a cold and soft nose tried to touch the place where her finger was..

Chapter 383:

Song qingxiao turned her palm over, and a warm tongue licked her palm, leaving a wet trace.

The silver Wolf's action stunned her for a moment, and the wolf also paused for a moment. Then, it licked her hand for her, then moved its huge head away to lick its hind legs.

She had always thought that the silver Wolf was not close to her, and there was a clear line between the man and the wolf. Perhaps it was because she was too cautious and refused to let down her guard easily. Therefore, she had never thought that in the silver Wolf's heart, she and it might not be forced to temporarily live together. It was very likely that the moment she took it out of the trial space, they had already become companions.

She had always thought that this Wolf was too proud and aloof, and not easy to get close to or tame. Now, it seemed that the one who was more guarded was not the wolf, but herself.

The wolf was used to being scratched and rubbed by her, so it fell asleep by the bed.

Song qingxiao opened her eyes before dawn.

She retracted her hand from the silver Wolf's back and her expression became calm again.

Captain an would get someone to send her to the reserve team this evening. She had already packed her things. Yesterday, she had borrowed a car from Zhou ye. She was prepared to send the silver Wolf out of the capital First, and then rush to the place she had agreed to meet Captain an.

Song Qing looked down on the time. After taking a shower and changing his clothes, he went out, but the silver Wolf was nowhere to be seen. He didn't know where it was hiding.

However, she knew that it must be in a corner of the house, staring at every passerby with vigilance.

She released her divine sense, and sure enough, she found the aura of the silver Wolf on a balcony on the roof.

This wasn't the first time the human and Wolf traveled together, but the first time she brought the wolf to move house, she didn't have the intention to let it go back to the jungle. This time, she brought it with her to send it out of the city.

It was still early, and there were not many cars on the road. The place she was going to send the silver Wolf to was the 'sea of stars'.

More than a hundred years ago, as the Empire developed too quickly, it brought about a lot of destruction. Forests were cut down too much, and wild animals were reduced sharply. It was like a star that had been sharply reduced, attracting the attention of the relevant people.

Under the protest of many people, the Imperium had no choice but to make concessions and divide a region as a place for the wild animals to live. The plan was called 'project Galaxy' back then, and it was also the name of the forest later.

She sped all the way and spent more than four hours before she reached her destination.

After more than a hundred years of recovery, the environment of 'Galaxy' that had been damaged had been repaired very well. The coverage of the forest far exceeded the estimation of the proposer of the 'Galaxy' plan.

In front of 'Galaxy', there was a huge stone tablet with the words: Humans, stop!

The purpose of the city center of the Empire allocating such a large piece of land was to isolate the distance between humans and animals and to give wild animals a free territory.

However, it was difficult to draw such a clear line when there were people around.

With the expansion of the 'sea of stars', human beings' curiosity about the 'sea of stars' rose again and again. Many people even went into it and disappeared without a trace, ignoring the warning.

There were often human adventurers who entered the 'sea of stars' and were buried in the mouths of beasts.

In order to reduce such disasters, the municipal Center of the Imperium proposed a tour plan sixty years ago, which was to expand buildings above the 'sea of stars' and lead directly to the belly of the 'sea of stars', so that people could walk in the safe buildings and see the animals in the 'sea of stars' within the stipulated range.

When the plan was proposed, it received the support of many people. However, not long after the project started, when it entered the hinterland of 'Galaxy', a large number of workers had accidents, and the project was forced to be suspended.

This matter had even alarmed the imperial family back then. The Shi family had sent people to investigate, and finally decided to build the tour around the periphery of the 'sea of stars', not to go deep.

A hundred years ago, humans were still able to return to animals. A hundred years later, humans were no longer in charge here!

Back then, it had caused a huge commotion, adding to the legend of the 'starry sea'. Since then, very few people dared to risk their lives to enter the starry sea.

Song qingxiao drove all the way into the forest. The deeper she went, the denser the forest became, and the more concentrated the nature essence in the air became.

It was not until she could no longer see the modern buildings and left the sky eye surveillance behind that she opened the door and motioned for the silver Wolf to get out.

She thought about it and felt that this was the best place for the silver Wolf to belong.

It came from the forest, so it should naturally return to the forest.

"Come down," She stood by the door and the silver Wolf jumped out.

It could be seen that after returning to the forest, it was much more comfortable than when it was trapped in the garden.

It was like a king who had returned to the forest, vigilantly looking around, looking to the East and sniffing to the West, without any signs of uneasiness.

Song Qing looked down on the way it patrolled its territory. He pursed his lips and stood there for a long time before getting back into the car.

The silver Wolf didn't seem to notice her actions. Its figure shuttled through the forest. She looked at it for a long time before she started the car and turned it around.

The silver Wolf, which was originally heading deep into the forest, seemed to have heard the sound of the car. It turned its head abruptly, and the image of the car shrank in its pupils. In the blink of an eye, it had already driven a distance away.

In the rear view, the silver Wolf's shadow was getting further and further away, and shrinking smaller and smaller. A branch of a tree hit the car and streaked across, and the silver Wolf's figure was almost out of sight.

Song Qing chuckled, but he felt a little regretful.

She originally thought that she could have more allies, but in the end, she was the only one who could walk this path.

She threw away the distracting thoughts in her heart and drove even faster.

About two minutes later, she could already see the covered bridge in the air in the distance. The car was about to return to the safety zone when she suddenly heard the sound of branches being hit behind her, accompanied by the wind of something running quickly.

She subconsciously looked up at the rearview mirror. In the mirror, there was a silver dot flying through the bushes blocking the road and chasing in the direction of the car, accompanied by the silver Wolf's low growl.

The little silver dot was getting closer and closer. In the blink of an eye, it was already more than ten meters behind the car. The silver Wolf kicked its hind legs and jumped with its forelimbs. Its body rose into the air and pounced over. With a 'clang', its claws grabbed the back of the car.

Its sharp nails scratched the door of the car trunk and fell to the ground. After rolling two times, it got up again and chased after him.

Song Qing was stunned for a moment. She thought that the silver Wolf would be very happy when they returned to the jungle.

The city was too small for it to live in. It was a product of genetic mutation. It had the genes of the Dragon and the evolution drug in its body. It was already a top Hunter in the food chain.

It was in trouble, and following her would not be good for either of them.

When she first saw it return to the forest, it was clearly at ease. She didn't expect it to chase after her again after she left.

It still wanted to chase after her. Song qingxiao stopped the car with a complicated feeling. She opened the door and got out of the car. The silver Wolf pounced on her and squeezed into the seat through the open door.

I've given you a chance," song qingxiao grabbed the door and stood at the door. She looked at the silver Wolf sitting in the seat and couldn't help but reach out to grab its head.

"If you don't leave this time, I'm afraid it won't be so easy to leave in the future!"

Chapter 384: Reporting to 1

I

The silver Wolf's return disrupted song qingxiao's initial plan. Since it refused to leave alone, she naturally had to bring the wolf with her.

Captain an had mentioned some taboos in the reserve team, but he had never mentioned that pets were not allowed.

However, this Wolf's appearance was eye-catching and extremely intimidating.

After it recovered from its injuries, it was willing to eat the food that Song Qing threw at it. Its body was strong, and it looked fierce and explosive.

Its fur was extremely thick, and its fur was extremely long. It was raised until it was glossy, which made its body look even more amazing. Its pair of eyes were deep and distant, making people feel intimidated. Seeing it would definitely leave a deep impression.

This time, the person who came to pick her up to the reserve team was arranged by Captain An. If she saw the silver Wolf, she would inevitably mention it to Captain An.

In the past, if Captain An didn't know about Song Qing's background, she wouldn't be afraid.

However, before the death of Zhao Xian at the autumn Festival road had completely subsided, Qian Shan's sneak attack had appeared, which allowed Captain An to see some clues.

At this time, if he found out that he had raised a giant Wolf, Captain An would most likely connect it to the death of Zhao Xian and Liu Li.

The case was still pending. Because it involved people from a hidden family clan, the higher-ups might have felt pressure and had been pursuing it closely. Captain An was a person who separated work and private interests. Even if he was indebted to him, it was hard to guarantee that he would do something under the principles of principle.

Song Qing thought about it and decided to buy a pair of scissors on the way back. She caught the silver Wolf and used her own blood as bait to cut its fur.

After doing all this, she called Zhou Ye and asked him to help take care of her house.

The car she had borrowed from Zhou Ye had been damaged by the silver Wolf, so the compensation money had already been transferred from her card.

Zhou ye was a little curious about her leaving after moving into the new house not long ago and naturally thought of the rumors of the house being haunted.

However, because the house was bought from him, he inevitably felt a little guilty and did not dare to ask more. During their conversation, he vaguely revealed that he was willing to find another house for her.

Naturally, song qingxiao could not reveal too much to him. After sending him away, she rushed to the place where she had agreed to meet Captain an.

Captain an had arranged for a thin man in his 50s to pick her up.

The man was plain-looking and had no special features. He was the type that they had met once, but it would be difficult to recognize him in a crowd.

However, his eyes were bright. Song qingxiao did not deliberately release her divine sense, but she could feel that this man had been secretly sizing her up.

He introduced himself as soon as he arrived. His name was Zhao he, and he was an old acquaintance of Captain an. He had received help from Captain an, and he was here to return the favor.

The man was driving a car that was almost scrapped. When he saw song qingxiao, he was a little stunned.

He knew that he was going to send song qingxiao to the reserve team, but those who could enter the reserve team were mostly burly and strong.

No matter how he looked at it, song qingxiao had nothing to do with being strong and brave.

She was tall and slender, and her shoulder-length hair was tied up, revealing a delicate face. She didn't look like she was lethal.

Her lips were light and her skin was fair, but her eyes were outstanding.

It was like a calm lake, clear and bright, less of a young girl's gentleness, but more of a biting cold, making people not dare to look directly at it.

When the man's eyes met hers, he felt that he had nowhere to hide under her gaze and instinctively turned his head away.

She had brought a huge 'dog'. It looked old, with white and pockmarked fur. It seemed to have lost a lot of fur in some places, and it looked very Haggard. However, he had only taken a few more glances when this 'ordinary-looking' dog seemed to be offended by his gaze. It grinned unhappily, vaguely revealing the sharp and extraordinary teeth under its mouth.

The moment the 'dog' narrowed his eyes, a chill ran down his spine, causing him to subconsciously take a few steps back and get into a defensive posture.

"Don't make a scene."

Song qingxiao felt the killing intent from the silver Wolf and the fear from the man after a moment of shock. She reached out and touched the silver wolf's head.

After being comforted by her, the silver Wolf, which had shown hostility to a stranger, lazily put away its fierce look.

"This..."

The man swallowed his saliva. The pressure that the silver Wolf had displayed earlier was not like that of an ordinary 'dog'. The moment he was stared at by it, it was as if it would rush up and bite his throat in the next moment.

He boasted of his ability to read people and had dealt with countless different kinds of people in his life. He could guess whether a person was good or evil, and what ability they had at a glance. However, he could not see through this girl with the 'dog'.

"Don't worry, it won't hurt you." Song qingxiao smiled and looked at the man with a dark expression. She comforted him, ""It might be a little worried when it sees someone it's not familiar with."

The silver Wolf lowered its ears and turned its head away when it heard her words. As soon as it looked away, the man who was being stared at until he couldn't breathe finally breathed a sigh of relief.

Along the way, he kept feeling a chill on his back, and it was hard for him to ignore the 'dog' that looked so disheveled.

Its gaze was quite intimidating, and when it stared at him, it always made men shudder.

There were a few times when he was nervous under the silver Wolf's gaze, which led to distraction and almost caused an accident.

Song qingxiao grabbed the silver Wolf along the way, trying to minimize its presence. When the car stopped at the reserve position, the sky was already dark.

As soon as the door was opened, a cool night breeze came in. Song Qing raised his hand and the silver Wolf in the car rushed down like an arrow.

With this flick, the car shook twice. The man who had been sitting in front for a long time felt the force of the silver Wolf's kick and was even more horrified.

This place was different from the high-rise buildings in the imperial capital. The most eye-catching thing was the almost endless field under the night sky and the houses that stretched out in the distance.

The man brought song Qing to her room and gave her some things.

miss song, Captain an asked me to give this to you. He pointed at a building on the side of the field, before you came, Captain an has already completed the procedures for you. You just have to report to the office.

Song qingxiao nodded, took the things, and thanked him. She called the silver Wolf and walked in the direction the man pointed.

As soon as she left, the man in the car hesitantly picked up his phone and made a call.

Song qingxiao closed her eyes and released her divine sense. She heard the man talking to Captain an in a low voice about his 'dog'. He mentioned that there was something wrong with the silver Wolf, but he couldn't explain it. In the end, he only said a few words and left it at that.

Captain an must have been suspicious of song qingxiao and her Wolf from the phone call. He didn't connect her and the silver Wolf with the murder on autumn road. When song qingxiao heard this, she retracted her divine sense..

Chapter 385: A new _1

Even though it was already late at night, there was still a group of people gathered together on the field. There seemed to be two people in the middle competing with each other, and cheers erupted from the surroundings from time to time.

When song qingxiao and the silver Wolf entered the venue, they attracted the curiosity of the group. She felt several gazes falling on her with scrutiny.

The person in charge of receiving her was a bespectacled lady in her thirties. She was slightly shorter than song qingxiao. After taking her information and registering her, she led song qingxiao to the room that she had been assigned, all three meals are provided for free. All the dojos and equipment here can be used at will.

The lady explained the basic situation of the team to song qingxiao, looking at her with a hint of curiosity and sympathy.

In the identity information that Captain an had made for song qingxiao, her 'father' had once been a member of the Shi family's Combat Team, who had died in an accident during his service.

The Shi family had always provided preferential treatment to the guards and their family members. Captain an took advantage of this and sent her directly to the reserve team of the reserve team, unlike ordinary people who had to go through five trials and six generals to go for interviews.

The lady seemed to have dealt with this situation many times and handled it with ease. She explained the situation of the reserve team clearly in a few words.

Including song qingxiao, there were seven members in the reserve force, four men and three women.

One of the girls had a similar background to song qingxiao. They were both guards who used to serve the royal family. They joined the reserve force with the glory of their parents. However, this woman's background was real, while song qingxiao's background was fake.

Apart from them, the other five were all commoners who had entered the reserve team through their own abilities.

Although the reserve team wasn't an official member of the reserve team, they were still included in the list of royal guards.

Every month, they would receive a monthly stipend of 6000 Empire dollars, as well as additional benefits and stipends. If they could get into the reserve team, their benefits and stipends would be doubled.

there are no rules here, and it's not forbidden for members to spar with each other," the lady said as she pushed up her glasses. As if to comfort song qingxiao, she added,"

"But don't worry, in an informal battle, the team is not allowed to have any major casualties."

Song qingxiao nodded. The corner of her mouth twitched, revealing a fake smile. "The reserve team will be assessed once a year, and those who perform well will be selected to join the guards. "The reserve team will be assessed once every season. Those who pass the assessment will be able to enter the reserve team."

"As for the specific assessment content, it will be decided by the captain of the reserve team. As for the captain, you'll see him often in the practice field in the future." She finished her sentence in one breath and asked again,

"Is there anything else you need to know?"

"No, I didn't," Song qingxiao shook her head. The woman smiled."Alright, he said. As soon as she finished speaking, her expression changed, and her eyes fell on the silver Wolf with messy fur next to song qingxiao. miss song, we don't have strict rules that forbid you from keeping pets here ...

She seemed to be considering her words.

"But there are many people here, and most of them are not kind.

As people who wanted to enter the Shi family's guard system, most of the reserve team members here maintained a strong fighting spirit and a valiant aura, not to be trifled with.

"I understand that you don't want to be separated from your pet, but if you want to keep one, you have to keep a close eye on it. Otherwise, if something happens, it may not be life-threatening, but it may be difficult for the team to help you solve some disputes."

Song qingxiao couldn't help but laugh at her words.

"I understand. But what if someone provokes it and it hurts them?"

"Hurt people?" When the lady heard song qingxiao's words, she laughed even louder than her, as if she had just heard an ignorant and innocent child say something that had no common sense.

“No, no, no, it’s impossible,” She shook her head, you may not know this, but the people here have a deep fighting Foundation. The nearby mountains and forests are dangerous, and there are even wild beasts in the no man’s land behind. But sometimes, they are also one of the assessment targets for the reserve team.

The meaning behind her words was clear. Song qingxiao was not angry at all.

She still smiled and said,”

“I understand what you mean, but there’s always a” what if “in everything. What if someone provokes me and my pet hurts someone?

She insisted on asking this question. The woman laughed for a while, there’s no ‘if’ or ‘what if, but since you insist on knowing the answer,” she pushed her glasses up and held back her laughter.

then if someone takes the initiative to provoke you and your pet retaliates and hurts someone, it’s also because they’re not as good as you. It’s not your fault. The captain will double their training!

Although she said that, she obviously didn’t believe that song Qing’s dog could hurt these elites who were going to join the Shi family’s guards in the future. She couldn’t help but laugh as if she had just heard an extremely funny joke. Song qingxiao got the answer she wanted, so she didn’t continue.

The two didn’t talk anymore. The place was huge, and song qingxiao followed the lady for nearly 20 minutes before stopping in front of a row of houses. The lady took out the key and handed it to song qingxiao. She briefly explained the situation in the house before leaving in a hurry.

There were quite a few houses here, and under the cover of the night, there was a short distance between each house. However, because of the small number of members of the reserve team, this place was quite deserted compared to the previous training ground.

Song Qing opened the door and entered. There was simple furniture inside.

The house was equipped with a bathroom. It wasn't very big, but there was a large indoor practice field at the back. Some equipment for training was placed there. Compared to the old facilities in the house, it was new and clean.

She walked around. The silver Wolf had just entered a new place and was sniffing around. Song qingxiao ignored it and went to the table to open the backpack that Captain an had packed for her. When she was about to check the items inside, the silver Wolf that was in the training ground in the back room suddenly jumped out and growled.

Song qingxiao paused in the middle of unzipping. She released her divine sense, and her Silver Wolf pounced toward the door. There were soft footsteps coming from the corridor outside. It seemed that someone was coming.

Just as she was about to open the door, song Qing heard a familiar voice in her mind.

"Enter the trial of God."

It had not even been a month since the last Zombie's revenge trial. She did not expect to receive the notice to enter the trial again so soon. Song Qing's heart tightened. The silver Wolf that was pouncing at the door felt that something was wrong. It suddenly braked and stopped its forward charge. In a hurry, it flashed its claws and scratched the floor to stabilize its body. It forcibly turned around..

Chapter 386: Totem (1)

The silver Wolf turned into a rapid shooting star and pounced in song qingxiao's direction.

In the next second, song qingxiao felt the silver Wolfs breath. It opened its mouth wide and bit her wrist. Its sharp teeth pierced through the spiritual power that instinctively protected her body when she was attacked. It tried to drag her back with its strength.

The pain on her wrist made Song Qing suck in a breath of cold air, but the existence of the trial space could not be disobeyed. She raised her hand and instinctively reached for the silver wolf's head. As soon as the system announcement in her mind disappeared, the scene in front of her distorted, and the silver Wolf that was dragging and biting her disappeared from the room!

The raised palm did not land on the silver Wolf. Instead, it landed on her wrist. Song Qingxiao exhaled and appeared in the training space.

The silver Wolf that had been biting her wrist had disappeared. She clearly remembered that before she entered the trial, the silver Wolf had been dragged in with her by God's trial.

Song Qing clutched her wrist, her expression uncertain.

The silver Wolf was brought out by her from the trial space. Could it be that when she came in again this time, it had been automatically swallowed back by the trial space?

She held back the suspicion in her heart and quickly looked around.

In the gray space, there were two men sitting cross-legged on her left and right.

Perhaps the sound of her slap when she came in was unusually loud in such a quiet environment, the two of them raised their heads in unison and looked at her.

She expressionlessly glanced at the two of them, grabbed her wrist, and walked towards the upper part of the trial space. She mimicked the two of them and sat cross-legged, then closed her eyes.

Two different spiritual powers fell on her, as if trying to figure out her background.

Song Qingxin's heart trembled. It seemed that as the number of trials increased, her strength increased, and so did the strength of the other participants.

The auras of these two people were not weak. They had already formed their divine sense, and were far from what number three from the last trial could compare to.

One of the spiritual forces seemed to be trying to invade her sea of consciousness. Song qingxiao immediately split off a wisp of her spiritual consciousness and snorted coldly."Hmph!

She had already cultivated to the state of enlightenment. After the last trial, because of her diligent cultivation, her state was very stable, she had abundant spiritual power, and her divine sense was also deep.

This cold snort was accompanied by pressure. The moment the two peeking trial-takers heard her voice, their sea of consciousness felt as if it had been pierced by fine needles. Their mental energy was shaken and they had a terrible headache. The true Qi in their bodies seemed to be affected by their mental energy and was somewhat chaotic.

The two of them turned pale and couldn't help but withdraw their spiritual energy at the same time to resist her counterattack!

Song Qing stopped after his first move.

Her purpose was to intimidate the two of them not to have any ulterior motives, but going too far was as bad as not enough. If she were to go too far, it was very likely that the two of them would be so afraid that they would form an alliance to eliminate her first.

After suppressing the two of them, there were no longer two annoying mental disturbances. Song Qing touched his wrist. The skin there was smooth, and there were no wounds.

Before she was summoned into the trial space, the silver Wolf had bitten her wrist. However, her skin was smooth and there was no blood.

Song qingxiao opened her eyes and pulled up her sleeves. What she saw left her dumbfounded!

A Silver Wolf Totem suddenly appeared on her originally fair and delicate wrist, as if it was a wonderful tattoo!

The wolf Totem had a ferocious expression and sharp eyes. Its proud expression was exactly the same as the silver Wolf.

She thought for a moment and came to an unbelievable conclusion!

She didn't have any tattoos on her body. Before entering the trial space, the silver Wolf suddenly attacked and was pulled in with her, but after entering, the silver Wolf disappeared without a trace.

The wound on her wrist disappeared and was replaced by the totem of the silver Wolf. It was very likely that the moment she was pulled into the trial space, the silver Wolf that bit her was sealed on her wrist.

This was the only way to explain the series of events that had happened in a flash.

She stretched out her finger and let go of her divine sense to touch the totem on her wrist. A fierce and violent aura came from the totem, and the howling of a Wolf sounded in her sea of consciousness, with Zhang Yang and the howling of the wolf!

The moment the wolf howled, Song Qing raised the corner of his mouth and revealed a smile of relief.

It seemed that the silver Wolf was indeed sealed in her wrist for some unknown reason, and had entered the trial with her!

Although she did not know how to get it out, she was relieved to know that the silver Wolf had not disappeared.

If she could find a way to get the wolf out later, the silver Wolf might be a great help to her in the trial.

She touched the totem on her wrist again, but she couldn't think of any useful ideas for a while. She tried to use her spirit power to drive it, but the moment she put that little spirit power in, it was swallowed up by the silver Wolf Totem. This situation was somewhat similar to the blue blood seal in the middle of her heart, but it was also not quite the same.

Song qingxiao could not think of a solution in such a short time, so she had to give up.

At this moment, the spiritual Qi in the trial space fluctuated again, and another person entered. This time, it was a man with a strong body.

The man was about 30 years old and was wearing a black tight-fitting shirt and pants that perfectly outlined his well-defined muscles.

After he entered, he stood in the middle and turned his neck. The bone Xun made a 'ka ka' sound as it turned.

The man looked at song qingxiao and the two men who came in first. Then, he stepped back without saying a word. After seven or eight steps, he bent his legs and sat down on the ground.

He sat opposite of song qingxiao and was far away from the other three, forming a square.

Song qingxiao focused her mind and meditated before the trial began. She didn't spare any extra spiritual sense to observe the new number four.

About ten minutes later, there was another strange movement in the spiritual energy in the trial space, and the people who had come first opened their eyes at the same time. This time, the person who came in was completely different from number four. It was a short and extremely thin man.

His skin was dark, and his hands were hanging down, already reaching the middle of his thighs. His eyes were shining like a monkey!

When number five entered, he was the first to notice song qingxiao. When he saw that someone had already entered the trial space, he quickly turned around and noticed the other three.

When he moved, song qingxiao realized that he was agile and sharp. His movements were in sync, which was very rare.

There were already people sitting down in all four directions of the trial space. This monkey-like man paused for a moment, then his eyes turned, and he turned his head to the right and walked down.

On one side of him sat the muscular number four, and on the other side sat the man who had been stabbed by song qingxiao's divine sense.

No. 5 stood between the two of them and sat down with his legs crossed. He closed his eyes and ignored the other people's gazes..

Chapter 387: Escape _1

I

The moment number five sat down, the scene became a little comical. He was much shorter than the people on both sides of him, and the three of them seemed to form a 'V shape.

However, no one in the trial space laughed. Number four pursed his lips, his expression solemn.

He was only one step ahead of number five, so he was not clear about the strength of the few people who came first. He also did not know that number one and number two were at a disadvantage when they tried to test song Qing.

However, when number five came, he sat beside her and another man, away from song qingxiao and the other man.

Everyone had the instinct to seek good fortune and avoid disaster. This was enough to prove that in number Five's heart, he and the other man were easier to deal with than song Qing and the other man!

Number Four's eyes were gloomy. She glanced at Song Qingxiao and the man sitting on her right. Finally, her eyes stopped on Number Five for a while before she closed her eyes like Number Four.

Song Qingxiao could feel the vigilance and hostility in Number Four's eyes. She rubbed the silver Wolf Totem on her wrist and lowered her eyes to hide her killing intent towards Number Five.

This Number Five had casually sat down and successfully pushed himself into the eye of the storm. He really couldn't be underestimated.

Everyone squinted their eyes, but they were all silently sizing up the people around them.

Time passed by. About half an hour later, Number Four's eyelids twitched and he suddenly stood up with his hands on the ground.

The originally quiet crowd was shocked by his action and subconsciously looked up at him. Number Four stretched his muscles and said,

"It seems that this trial should not..."

Before he could finish his sentence, the spiritual Qi in the trial space changed. A wide shadow suddenly appeared in the middle again.

Number Four's voice came to a screeching halt. When the cultivator who had entered later solidified, it was actually two people standing side by side!

This scene caused the others to be shocked, and even Song Qingxiao was surprised.

Ever since she entered the trial of God, this was the first time she had seen two trial participants enter at the same time. Was this a coincidence?

If it was a coincidence, then so be it. But if it wasn't, did this mean that the two people who entered the trial at the same time were very likely to know each other?

As soon as the two of them appeared, they swept their gazes around the trial space and looked at the other five.

The two new challengers were a man and a woman. They were both very young, about 24 or 25 years old.

The woman's long hair was tied into dreadlocks, and her eyes were closed, her expression cold.

The young man was thin and tall, with his hands folded in front of his chest. "Oh, there are so many people." The man's eyes scanned the trial space. After seeing where the few people were sitting, his gaze stopped on another man for a moment, and finally landed on Song Qing. After a while, he smiled and said, "You two, together?"

Number four pointed at the silent woman before asking the man.

"It's a coincidence, a coincidence." The man laughed.

The others didn't believe what he said, but no one refuted him under such circumstances. They were all secretly on guard.

"It seems that there are seven participants in this trial. How long have you been here?" The man who came in later stood in the middle, and the woman who was with him stood quietly on his left and right with her eyes closed.

One of them was too quiet, while the other seemed to have a lot to say. He didn't know what was wrong with the woman, but she kept her eyes closed the whole time.

I've been here for about 30 to 40 minutes. After that, Monkey came. The muscular Number four pointed at Number five who was sitting not far from him.

He had casually given Number five an extremely disrespectful nickname. However, Number five closed his eyes and seemed to be in a meditative state. He did not get angry at his teasing attitude.

There was a deep fear in the young man's eyes, but on the surface, he seemed to be amused by his words.

"If he's a monkey, then you're King Kong?" "From its appearance, you can say so." Number four also laughed out loud. Number five, who had been silent the entire time, finally opened his eyes after being teased by the two of them in front of everyone. He glanced at number four and grinned.

His dark skin made his eyes look even brighter. When he grinned, his eyes were half-closed, making him look even more ridiculous. Number four couldn't help but laugh even louder.

"Who was it before I came?"

After number four finished laughing, she looked at song qingxiao and the two men who came first. Song qingxiao said, ""It's me," he said.

"Then you're number three." Number four looked at song qingxiao with a more cautious expression, not as frivolous as he had been with number five.

"I'm number one." The man sitting on the right of song qingxiao chimed in, I've been here for more than an hour.

He was the first to enter, which was enough to prove that the trial space had been open for more than an hour. The man who entered last said, " "It's possible that no one else will come in after such a long time." As soon as the man finished speaking, a mission notification appeared in their minds at the same time: Escape from the terror Battalion!

[mission completion: 2000 points]

Other than that, there were no other mission notifications. It was obvious that if he failed the mission, he would die.

Song qingxiao noticed that the reward for this mission was 1000 points less than the last trial of the 'dead Qin feichu'.

Logically speaking, it was impossible for such a slip-up to happen in the trial space. She quickly remembered that during the last mission of 'kill Qin feichu', after number three died, the points were divided between her and number two. It seemed that the points awarded for this trial were very likely to be the same as the previous one. If there were a total of seven people in this trial, then the total awarded points should be more than 14000 points.

How much they could get in the end depended on how many people survived. Only then would they be able to divide this final prize.

In other words, in this trial, other than escaping from the terror Battalion, they also had to be on guard against other trial-takers plotting against each other for the sake of points!

The temptation of points was too great. If only one person survived in the end, the person who survived would be able to enjoy the huge amount of points. Even song qingxiao was tempted when she thought of the 14000 points. The others should have received the mission notification. Number one pondered for a while and stood up from the ground. He looked at the others and said calmly,"

"It seems like everyone has received the quest notification." When everyone heard what he said, they neither admitted nor refuted. Seeing that everyone was silent, number one continued, ""If there are no accidents, everyone's mission should be similar, right?" This time, the young man with his hands in his sleeves replied, "There's a word in my mission, 'escape'." He looked at the others with a smile, but still no one answered. He was not discouraged. He turned to the woman who had been silent with her eyes closed the whole time.

"Seventh Sister, what about you?"

The woman closed her eyes and nodded.

With the two of them taking the lead, number four heaved a sigh of relief and responded,"

"Me too,"

“Escape,” number one followed.

These few people had expressed their opinions, and Song Qing also nodded, “It’s the same,”

After everyone was in the same position, only number two did not say anything. Everyone’s eyes fell on number two in unison, “Number two, what about you?” Number six asked with a smile.

“I’m the same..”

Chapter 388: Tunnel_I

Number two’s voice was a little hoarse. As soon as he finished speaking, number six’s smile deepened. He exchanged a look with number four and then turned his face away.

The quest notification had appeared, which meant that the quest had officially started.

The thick fog around the trial space was gradually dispersing. When the fog was gone, they would probably be directly inside the mission scene.

“Since we have the same mission objective, shouldn’t we work together for the time being?” Although number six was still smiling as he spoke, his Adam’s apple bobbed twice as the thick fog became thinner and his expression turned serious.

The woman beside him with her eyes closed leaned closer to him as a way of expressing her stance.

Song Qing looked down on them and took the lead to nod his head in the silence.

Her actions surprised number six. He looked at Song Qingxiao with a smile.

After the three of them had come to an agreement, the others also agreed to number six's request to temporarily cooperate.

At this time, the mist in the trial space was already very thin, and the light in the gray space was slowly weakening. Song Qing's consciousness seemed to catch a faint wailing and angry roar.

'Hu ... Hu... Hu...' Heavy and messy panting sounded in their ears. The fog dissipated completely, and the surrounding light suddenly dimmed!

The sudden change in the scene made Song Qingxiao's heart shrink. She instinctively reached for the dagger on her waist and grabbed it.

The surrounding scene was a little blurry, and the air was filled with a strong smell of blood, mixed with the stench of decay.

She remembered the mission's hint-escape from the terror Battalion! This mission was probably different from the previous ones. Since the mission required her to escape from the start, it was very likely that she was already in the terror Battalion when she entered the mission!

Before Song Qing's eyes could get used to the light, she felt someone walking forward from behind. She instinctively turned to the side, but someone bumped into her from the other side, brushed past her shoulder, and took her a step forward subconsciously.

This was no small matter. Fortunately, the person who bumped into her did not make any unnecessary movements. She subconsciously took two steps forward and looked around at the same time. She seemed to be in a narrow and cramped passage.

The ceiling of the tunnel was not high, and it was uneven. There were many pointed cone-like maroon stalactites hanging from it.

The ground was uneven, as if something extremely hard was standing on it. From the current environment, she should be in a cave in the middle of the mountain.

There was no end to the passage, and there was no sound of wind around. The air was slightly thin, and the thick smell was nauseating. Obviously, the exit was still far away.

There were people all around her, and she was mixed in the crowd, following the aimless movement of the group.

Fortunately, she quickly got used to the light here. In the process of looking around, a gaze seemed to sweep across her body.

She followed the aura and turned her gaze over, immediately finding the short and thin number five among the crowd.

He was much shorter than the people around him because the passage was narrow and there were many people. If he didn't take the initiative to look at song qingxiao, song qingxiao probably wouldn't have noticed him for a while.

He had a hunched back, dark skin, and a short figure, which was his unique protection in such an environment. It allowed him to successfully blend into the group without being out of place.

When song qingxiao looked over, he didn't have the time to look away. When their eyes met, number Five's eyes flickered, and then he lowered his head. After burrowing into the crowd, he quickly disappeared.

However, once song qingxiao noticed him, she would not let him escape.

The points from this mission were a huge temptation. In order to prevent other trial-takers from targeting him, he naturally had to keep track of their whereabouts.

She split a part of her divine sense to watch number five and at the same time, she turned her head to look at the surroundings again. She noticed a problem. The people here were almost all dressed in rags, looked Haggard, and had numb expressions. They had a kind of lifelessness. The entire team was filled with a kind of deathly silence and cowering, as if shrouded in silent fear.

In this way, the trial-takers were easily discovered. She saw that number six and seven were about two meters away from her.

Number Seven's eyes were still closed. Under such circumstances, she had not opened her eyes at all, as if she had an eye disease. She allowed number six to pull her along. From this, it was clear that these two trial-takers were indeed old acquaintances.

To be able to establish such a tacit understanding and trust in the trial, it proved that the relationship between the two was not shallow and would not be easy to deal with.

Soon after, song qingxiao also noticed number four and the others. After she noticed the trial-takers, number six also noticed her.

He paused for a moment, then lowered his head and whispered a few words to the woman beside him. Then, he began to squeeze toward song qingxiao.

The people around him were pushed away by him, but they didn't open their mouths to complain. Instead, they lowered their heads even more, as if they were afraid of being discovered.

Number six quickly pulled number seven over and stood beside song Qing. it seems like we've been on the run since we came in.

His voice was directly transmitted to song qingxiao's mind, but there was only the sound of heavy breathing around them. No one else could hear what number six had said. It was obvious that number six was also good at using mental power.

Song qingxiao nodded slightly. Number six's eyes flickered.

"We should cooperate."

The path ahead of this trip was uncertain. Since the mission in the trial space required him to 'escape from the terror Battalion', it proved that this journey would not be smooth. It would be best if he could have an ally to help him.

"Did you notice?" Number six pulled number seven and walked forward unhurriedly as he said, "there are not many people in front, and their footsteps are slow. On the contrary, the people behind are constantly pushing forward."

Song qingxiao had also noticed this phenomenon. The people who were pushing forward were unwilling to move forward after they reached the halfway point. However, they were constantly pushed to the front by the people behind them who tried to push forward.

"I'm afraid there are pursuers behind and an ambush ahead!" Number six said in a low voice. Number four and the others also noticed the presence of song Qing and the others.

Number four remained in his old position and did not move, number two watched quietly, only number one hesitated for a moment, but he also squeezed in the direction of the few people.

He pushed away the person beside him. The person swayed a little, as if he was not standing steadily. There were people pushing forward from behind, and with this sway, he actually fell over to the person in front.

As the line moved forward, the person who was pushed away by number one fell to the ground. The people behind him did not seem to notice that someone had fallen and continued to move forward.

The person who came later stepped on the person who had fallen to the ground. The person let out a muffled groan and tried to get up with all his might, but he was quickly stepped on by a second and third person!

The sound of bones being broken came from the ground. Not only were the people on the ground holding back the pain and not speaking, but the other people who were stepping on them were also stupefied, as if they had only stepped on dust and not a living person!

The person who had been pushed down was still moving, but he gritted his teeth and did not speak.

The trial-goers had been through a lot, but this scene was still creepy. Even number one, who was the first to push the person, was shocked. He could not help but say,”

When number one spoke, all the people who had their heads lowered and had numb expressions on their faces raised their heads. Their eyes were filled with suppressed fear as they stared at him and said in unison,”

“Shh!”

‘Shh!’

The long line of people hissing at the same time was terrifying. The sound came from the tunnel and was transmitted back in the tight space, turning into waves of sound.”Shh!”

It was like the sigh of a demon!

Chapter 389: Escape 1

Even though number one was someone who had seen many things before, he still felt that this was ridiculous.

In the dark tunnel, countless eyes filled with fear were fixed on him, as if he had committed a terrible crime and would lead to disaster. Under this gaze, number one shuddered.

After the loud ‘shush’, the people behind him squeezed even more urgently. The person who had fallen to the ground and was wriggling to get up gradually stopped breathing after being stepped on by the crowd.

A strong smell of blood gradually spread, and with the death of the person who fell, the commotion that had just been caused subsided in an instant.

Apart from the remnants of the loud 'shush' sound, the tunnel instantly fell into a deathly silence.

After the group of people had made a sound to stop number one from speaking, they seemed to have a tacit understanding and no longer made a sound at the same time. They lowered their heads and even their breathing seemed to be restrained.

In such a strange silence, song qingxiao seemed to hear the squeaking sound of flesh being stepped on. Her bones were broken one by one, and thick blood seeped into the ground, spreading in all directions.

She couldn't help but be pushed forward by the crowd. The soles of her shoes seemed to be stained with blood and were a little sticky, and when she lifted them up, her feet felt a little heavy.

At this moment, she finally understood what the thick smell of blood that she had smelled when she entered the trial space was all about.

After a while, the crowd had been pushed forward by a large distance. The person who had fallen earlier had disappeared, but there was a pungent miasma unique to ruptured internal organs coming from the tunnel. Because the tunnel was long and narrow and not ventilated, it could not be dispersed for a long time, making people feel more and more disgusted.

The other people's faces were indescribably charred, as if a storm was coming. Because of the previous commotion, number one had been quiet for a moment and did not dare to act rashly. He was still stuck in the crowd and did not dare to move. However, number six's expression was solemn, and the smile on his face gradually disappeared.

song qingxiao ignored the others and walked forward with her head down. Soon, there was a slight chaos in the crowd. After the person behind song qingxiao was pushed away, a thin and short figure appeared.

"This line is more than ten meters long." Number five squeezed his way over and lowered his voice.

However, in such an environment, even if he spoke with a strained voice, the people around him could still hear his voice clearly.

The few people beside song qingxiao turned their heads and stared at number five. Number Five's expression did not change.

"It's like a group of escapees."

His thin and short body became his advantage in such a situation. He agilely weaved through the crowd and completed the whole process.

However, song qingxiao thought of the man who had been squashed to death and saw number five walk around unscathed. She suddenly had a new understanding of number Five's strength.

Number six had also heard number Five's words. Before he could say anything, a gust of wind blew from the front, causing the few people walking in front to ' shiver. They subconsciously stopped in their tracks and no longer moved forward!

The people behind did not know what the people in front were thinking and continued to push forward. Song qingxiao was squeezed in the crowd and could not help but move forward, pushing the people in front to move forward.

As the situation became chaotic and everyone started to crowd around, song qingxiao immediately raised her guard.

She was in an extremely disadvantageous position, with number five, six, and seven behind her.

The mission rewards of the trial space were very likely to tempt others to take the risk and secretly plot against their fellow travelers to obtain points.

As soon as the crowd squeezed in, she was worried that number five and the others would stab her in the back. Before the crowd could squeeze in, she nimbly turned to the side and used the force of the crowd to squeeze to the front, putting some distance between her and number five and the others!

Her reaction was extremely fast. Before number five and the others could do anything, she had already squeezed to the front.

Number six frowned, as if he was trying to figure out the meaning of her actions. However, he didn't have the time to think about it anymore, because the crowd behind him was getting more and more urgent.

These people were rushing forward in a frenzy, and the people in front were stomping on the ground. It was inevitable that the people in the middle would touch each other. He, number seven, and number five could feel that these people's bodies were trembling non-stop.

Song qingxiao had noticed this as well. She was like a Savior to the people in front of her. They all hid behind her as if it was a conditioned reflex, treating her as a safe shelter.

As soon as this thought appeared in her mind, she released her divine sense and sharply caught a 'whoosh' sound!

From one side of the tunnel, something was flying towards her. It was extremely fierce and fast, and in the blink of an eye, it was right in front of her. In a daze, she vaguely saw that the thing was extremely large from the corner of her eye. It was in the shape of an axe, but it was far beyond her knowledge. Song qingxiao subconsciously turned to the side, and the thing brushed past her cheek, bringing with it a strong wind that stung her cheek. With a clang, the thing landed on one of her shoulders.

Half of the man's shoulder was cut open, and a huge gash seemed to have been torn under his neck. His head drooped down powerlessly, and hot blood spurted out of his blood vessels like a fountain, splashing the minced meat everywhere.

Under the huge impact, the body was pushed back quickly until it hit the person behind it with a bang!

This sudden change shocked all the trial-takers. There was an attack in front of them.

“F * ck!” Number six was standing at the front. When the blood spurted out, it was inevitable that he was also splashed all over.

He wiped his face and couldn't help but curse. He subconsciously took a step forward, wanting to see what the thing that suddenly flew out and cut people was. The people in front of him tried to push back like crazy.

Even after such an unforeseen event, this group of people still remained silent.

The silent fear was far more intimidating than shouting and shouting. It was like a plague, causing the hearts of number six and the others to sink.

The power of the axe was amazing. The body that was unfortunately cut by the axe had not fallen to the ground yet. Song qingxiao stared at the direction of the tunnel in front of her with her eyes wide open. Just as she was about to prevent another sneak attack from the air, something shocking happened!

After the huge axe that had struck the unlucky fellow hit its mark, the corpse fell backward. However, it was as if a pair of invisible hands had lifted the axe up!

Pulling axe pulled himself out from the corpse, bringing with him a large amount of blood rain. Then, he immediately flew back into the crowd!

Number six was bending over to check the condition of the body. He did not expect such a strange thing to happen. When the axe flew out, it almost cut his neck.

F * ck!” Number six wasn't the only one who was scared out of his wits. Even number four and the others in the crowd couldn't help but exclaim..

Chapter 390: Human lives (1)

Number seven, who had been standing beside number six with his eyes closed, suddenly moved when number six was in danger!

Her long braids seemed to come alive. Like tentacles, they wrapped around the neck of number six, who was bending over to look, and pulled him back!

The axe grazed past the side of his neck by a hair's breadth. Number six was lucky enough to avoid the attack, but the people behind him were not so lucky.

When the axe flew out, it hit the man's face. With a crisp sound, the man's head was smashed into pieces, like a watermelon being smashed by an explosive force. Red flesh and white pulp fell like a shower!

Number Five's figure was short, and he was close to them, so when the foul wind and rain of blood fell on his head, his entire body was covered in broken bones and flesh.

The axe did not stop after its successful strike. Instead, it began to wreak havoc in the crowd, like a tiger pouncing on sheep. Wherever it went, blood and flesh flew, reaping a large number of lives!

The previously overcrowded passage was instantly cut down by the spinning axe, and a large number of escapees fell!

This scene made song Qing's pupils shrink. His heart stopped beating for half a beat, and his body trembled instinctively.

She had experienced several trials and had seen many bloody scenes, but none of them had been as shocking as this scene.

What made her hair stand on end was that in such a situation, those people in the dangerous Whirlpool did not shout for help.

Fear spread in the narrow tunnel, and the smell of death and blood filled every corner of the tunnel.

A rain of blood floated in the air. It was as if a large number of beads of blood were absorbed into the body with every breath. It was nauseating.

Song qingxiao couldn't help but hold her breath. The axe spun around in the tunnel and then flew back in the direction it came from, dripping with blood.

The flying axe came from the road ahead, which meant that there was danger ahead and he could not go on!

"Retreat!" Number six had yet to recover from the shock. He spoke after he had stabilized his footing.

The flying axes killed in an instant, and the bodies in the tunnel piled up like a mountain.

Large amounts of blood gushed out from the ground like a blood fountain.

As he spoke, he gasped and his voice trembled. He felt a burning pain on the side of his ear. He reached out and touched it, only to find that the flying axe had brushed past his neck. Although number seven had pulled him away in time and allowed him to avoid the disaster, half of his ear had been cut off by the strong wind caused by the flying axe!

At this moment, half of his ear was dripping with blood, and one side of his face was wounded. However, because he was too shocked and nervous, he didn't feel any pain for a while.

Number five wiped his face and head. His current appearance was extremely terrifying. His eyes, nostrils, and every gap in his hair was covered in blood, making his originally short and comical figure look unusually ferocious.

"It's not good to retreat!"

As he spoke, he lowered his head and spat on the ground. Perhaps it was because the two sides of the tunnel, the ground, and the air were all covered in blood, but under the reflection of the blood, the saliva he spat out was dark red.

Number five used his hand as a comb and grabbed his hair. The pieces of flesh that were mixed in the ends of his hair slipped out and were thrown to the ground.

Song qingxiao noticed that his wrists were extremely thin, but his fingers were extremely long, which was quite eye-catching.

Number six covered her ears. Before she could say anything, song qingxiao's divine sense caught a 'Dong Dong' sound.

"They're here!"

She said in a low voice. Number six's heart tightened and he asked in a hoarse voice,"

"What's here?"

As soon as he finished speaking, number Seven's body trembled.

Song qingxiao didn't need to answer. Number six knew what she was trying to say!

At the back of the tunnel, there was a sudden 'Dong Dong Dong' sound. The sound was getting closer and closer, as if something was running at high speed.

It was so powerful that the cave was buzzing.

Number six's expression froze and he laughed bitterly,"

"Looks like they're indeed fleeing!"

In this trial, everyone entered the scenario as a group of escapees. There were pursuers behind them and ambushes in front.

Number one and the others had also noticed that something was wrong. Number one, number four, and number two, who were previously at the back and refused to move forward, now began to push forward with all their might after hearing the movement behind them.

Fortunately, the flying hatchets had taken many lives and created some space in the narrow tunnel.

Even though the crowd was like ants on a hot pan, number 1 and number 4 still managed to squeeze through easily and meet up with the other participants.

No. 2 was the furthest away from them. Earlier, in order to avoid the attack of the flying axes, he had relied on his tyrannical strength as a trial-taker and squeezed to the back, so he was unscathed.

However, there were many people behind him, and it would not be easy for him to squeeze through in a short time, so he was temporarily alone.

“Which way do you think we should go?”

Number four came over and asked anxiously.

At this point, even if the trial-takers were envious of the points awarded by the trial space missions, this was not the time for them to kill each other.

Even if everyone had their own plans, they needed to work together and escape from this place before making any plans.

“Forward!”

Song qingxiao took a big step forward as she spoke.

Number one, who was asking the question, was stunned for a moment when he saw her action. He stood in place hesitantly and did not move.

“Forward?”

He raised his voice, and his voice reverberated in the tunnel. However, because the crowd was in a mess, everyone was scared out of their wits, and no one stopped him like before.

This situation was just too strange. Such a terrifying massacre had happened earlier, but these people who were being slaughtered did not make a sound.

Even if someone was injured and fell to the ground, they gritted their teeth and didn't dare to make a sound. It was as if something more terrifying would happen if they made a sound.

Therefore, a funny and horrifying scene happened. The Asura arena was silent, and the people in the trial scene collectively lost their voices. The injured endured the pain and silently got up.

They could clearly speak and listen. This could be seen from the scene of number one being rebuked by the crowd when he spoke before the attack.

However, they didn't dare to make a sound. They were afraid that if they made a sound, something more terrifying than the attack of the flying axes might happen.

No one could answer number one's question. Number six's expression was uncertain. Song qingxiao had already taken two steps forward.

Number five, who was standing in the middle of the group, paused for a moment and chose to follow song qingxiao.

Number Five's actions caused number six's eyes to flash and he frowned.

There were soldiers in front of them, and they were not weak. There were enemies behind them, but they did not know how many of them were chasing them.

At this time, it was a little strange for number five to follow number three without a word.

Song qingxiao walked alone. If there was any danger ahead, she could act as a warning. She would be the first to face the danger. Everyone could stay behind and preserve their strength.

This was also the reason why everyone in the previous line was afraid to walk at the very front and did not want to stay at the back. They only wanted to be caught in the middle..
