

Watch Out 42

Chapter 42-helpless

It was already half-past eight when the two returned to the dormitory.

After Zhang Xiaoyu finished washing up, song qingxiao went into the bathroom and locked the door.

The area on her left arm where she had been whipped was now inflamed and red. When she took off her nurse's uniform, the yellow water that flowed out of the wound stuck firmly to her skin. When song qingwei tore the sleeve off her left forearm, she felt as if a piece of her skin had been peeled off.

Her whole body was shaking, and the sweat on the top of her head had soaked the ends of her hair. Zhang Xiaoyu was still outside, so she did not even dare to breathe loudly. She could only take small breaths and endure the pain.

The most troublesome part was the whip-stained wound on his left palm and the crisscrossing wounds on his palm. Fortunately, they were in a hospital. There was a small Emergency Medicine box in the bathroom, which contained all kinds of disinfectant.

She took out a small clip, dipped a cotton ball in alcohol, wiped it, and picked out the glass shards in her palm.

Zhang Xiaoyu was shouting outside,"

"Qing Xiao, are you going to the canteen?"

The two of them went straight back to the dormitory after work At that time, Zhang Xiaoyu was in a heavy mood, and song qingxiao was in a hurry to come back and treat her wound, so they were not in the mood for breakfast. Zhang Xiaoyu suddenly remembered and asked. Song qingxiao gritted her teeth and said after a while, ""I'm not eating. I want to sleep for a while after my shower."

As she spoke, she turned on the tap in the bathroom. Zhang Xiaoyu seemed to have said something in the sound of water splashing. Not long after, the door of the dormitory was opened and then closed gently.

When she was the only one left in the dormitory, song qingxiao let out a long sigh of relief and leaned against the sink.

After treating her wound and applying medicine, song qingxiao hurriedly cleaned herself up and rolled up the soft whip that she had taken from number four and hid it at her waist. When she came out, Zhang Xiaoyu had not returned yet. She lay on the bed and wanted to sleep after Zhang Xiaoyu came back, but she was so sleepy that her eyes closed as soon as she lay down.

Song qingxiao was in a deep sleep. She did not even have a dream, probably because she had exhausted her mental power in the fight with number four. Zhang Xiaoyu woke her up in the end.

When she opened her eyes, she was still in a daze, but she had already sat up vigilantly.

“Are you alright?”

Zhang Xiaoyu was a little worried. Song qingxiao blinked her eyes and quickly regained her senses.

The lights in the dormitory were already on, and the sky outside was getting dark. Her gaze fell on the table in the corner of the dormitory. There were two steamed buns on the table, which had already turned cold.

In the corner of his vision, the number was still counting down. It was 6531:26.

She had been sleeping since she came back from work in the morning and treated her wound.

She felt much better than she did in the morning, and her wound was still aching. She immediately noticed the notification in her mind: Protect the people and kill them if they fail.

[ mission completed: 800 points ]

The number had not changed since doctor ou's last death, which proved that no one died in the hospital while she was asleep.

She heaved a sigh of relief, but at the same time, she felt wary. She had already felt the aftereffects of overusing her mental power, and she would not be so reckless next time.

Anything could happen in the scenario. Fortunately, she had not been attacked while she was asleep.

She glanced at Zhang Xiaoyu. Unlike her, who had a good rest, Zhang Xiaoyu did not look like she had a good sleep. The dark circles under her eyes were very obvious.

"You're sleeping pretty soundly," She did not look well, but she seemed to have calmed down from the grief in the morning. "You were already asleep when I brought you breakfast."

While speaking, Zhang Xiaoyu pointed to the cold steamed buns on the table.

Song qingxiao smiled and thanked her. She went into the bathroom and splashed her face with cold water. She changed into the nurse's uniform that she had washed in the morning. When she came out, she looked much more energetic.

She and Zhang Xiaoyu were still on the night shift tonight, so they didn't have time to work. She grabbed two steamed buns and ate them as she walked. Then, she remembered what happened last night.

A total of five people had died the night before. They were the burly man with the gun, the female patient in Room 19, the security guard on duty on the fourth floor, doctor ou, and the red-whip woman, number four.

He was certain that the security guard died in the hands of red whip number four, and he killed number four himself. The only unknown causes of death were the burly man with the gun, the woman in Room 19, and doctor ou.

First, he ruled out doctor ou's death. There were two victims on the fourth floor. One of them was a participant, and the other was a patient from the hospital who was treated as prey by the participant. At that time, he was the only one on the fourth floor. Excluding the spectacled man who came up from the second floor's safety passageway, there were participant No. 4 and participant No. 6 on the second floor.

If he wasn't the one who killed these two, then it must have been either number four or number six.

From the fact that No. 4 killed the security guard and then attacked without any hesitation, this person's mission should be the opposite of his own. Her main goal was to hunt. The big man with the gun and the patient in Room 19 might die in her hands.

However, judging from the time, it was almost impossible for No. 4 to knock out everyone on the fourth floor, kill the armed man, the patient, and take the security guard into the elevator in a short time.

Unless someone cooperated with her directly or indirectly and knocked out the people on the fourth floor first, it would be easier for her to move.

Number six was the complete opposite of number four.

This person was agile and was a dangerous person.

When he went up to the fourth floor, she was hiding in the dark. When No. 4 was hiding in the elevator, waiting for an opportunity to make a move, she might be the one who turned off the light on the fourth floor.

It was very likely that she did this with the intention of taking advantage of the fight between the Sandpiper and clam to benefit as a fisherman, but she did not take action in the end.

Number six was hiding on the fourth floor. She was very skilled. When the patients, nurses, and security guards on the fourth floor lost consciousness, she did not take the opportunity to kill them. Song qingxiao had a feeling that number six's mission might be the same as hers, which was to protect the people.

If that was the case, then some of her guesses made sense.

After killing number four, she was exhausted. If number six's mission was to hunt, he should have taken the opportunity to kill her.

Unless number six was also a protector, song qingxiao would not have been surprised by doctor ou's sudden death after the battle between song qingxiao and number four. Number six must have received the notification as well, which was why he changed his original plan.

No. 6 was an ally, and No. 5 was still unknown. The mission time was still counting down, which meant that the 'source of danger' in the hospital had not been completely eliminated, so the mission to protect the people could not be considered a success.

The bespectacled man was most likely the Hunter. Since he appeared last night, he had been detained. More than ten hours had passed since then, but nothing had happened in the hospital. This was enough to prove how suspicious he was.

Now that things had come to this, the only way to leave this scene was to eliminate all the sources of danger. Without the existence of these 'viruses' in the hospital, it would naturally return to its previous order. Without the existence of killers, the people would no longer need protection.

She drew up a list of dangerous people in her heart, and the bespectacled man would be the leader, the first of the people she decided to eliminate!