

Watch Out 44

Chapter 44: Coming (1)

Although all the patients in the hospital had been moved to the third floor, the male and female patients were still divided into left and right.

There were a total of five nurses who were supposed to be on duty tonight. Perhaps it was because the five-day time limit was almost up, but the nurses in the scenario were on the verge of 'getting off work' and going home, so the few who were supposed to be on duty tonight volunteered to stay and help.

After working for a few days, coupled with the many things that had happened, no one had slept well. Everyone had heavy dark circles under their eyes and a pale face. Under the energy-saving lamp, they looked lifeless.

Song qingxiao, Zhang Xiaoyu, and the other two were assigned to the female patients 'area to deliver medicine, while the other nurses who volunteered to stay and help went to the male patients' area.

The atmosphere in the hospital was currently heavy. Under such a working environment, even normal people would find it hard to endure, not to mention the patients who were often trapped on the third floor with nowhere to go.

In the past two days, the number of patients who had lost control of their emotions had gradually increased, and they were not willing to cooperate when they were being fed medicine.

Song qingxiao, Zhang Xiaoyu, and Zhu xiaoke worked together to push the cart into the first Ward. The ward was not big. There were only two beds in the past, but because of the room constraints, the cabinet and the TV on the wall had been removed, and there were four beds in the ward.

Zhu xiaoke stood guard at the door to prevent the patients from locking the door when they made a fuss, making it difficult for song qingxiao and Zhang Xiaoyu to escape. The two of them pushed the cart into the ward. When the patients in the ward saw the three of them enter, they instantly fell silent.

A few pairs of eyes stared at them at the same time. Their expressions were stiff and their eyes were cloudy because they had been taking drugs for a long time. This gave Zhu xiaoke a lot of psychological pressure.

Song qingxiao was the calmest of the three. The moment she entered the room, she noticed bed four in the corner. Bed six was wearing a blue and white striped patient's uniform. He sat quietly on the bed and stared at her.

In the past two days, song qingxiao had sent her medicine twice, but the two of them didn't talk. Every time song qingxiao sent her medicine, she would quietly swallow it.

The first person to be fed the medicine was the patient in bed one. She stared at Zhang Xiaoyu with a stiff expression for a long time until Zhu xiaoke, who was standing at the door, felt a chill run down her spine. The patient in bed one was forced to swallow the medicine by the two nurses.

When they arrived at bed 2, the patient refused to cooperate.

"What is this? Is it poison? Are you guys here to harm me?"

The woman threw out several questions in a row. Zhang Xiaoyu patiently said, " we're not here to harm you. This is medicine that can help you. You'll get better after taking it, and you'll be able to leave this place in the future.

"You're lying to me," She said coldly, her tongue not very flexible when she spoke, are you trying to kill me and seduce my husband? "

Suddenly, she was furious. She jumped up from the bed and pulled Zhang Xiaoyu's hair. Zhang Xiaoyu was caught by her. Song qingxiao reacted in the next moment and wanted to push her away, but she grinned, revealing her white teeth. She bit on a sharpened toothbrush head and stabbed it at Zhang Xiaoyu's face.

Although Zhang Xiaoyu turned her head to the side to avoid it, she did not expect the patient to hide such a thing in her mouth. No matter how much she turned her head, the tip of the toothbrush, about two centimeters long, still cut her right cheek, leaving a long and deep wound.

“Ah...”

Zhang Xiaoyu let out a cry of pain. The sudden change made the patients on the other beds unable to sit still.

Fortunately, Liu Yichen arrived quickly from the on-call room, and several other nurses quickly settled the small incident and did not let it escalate into a big disaster.

The patient fell asleep after being tied up and injected with a tranquilizer. Zhang Xiaoyu covered her face and trembled.

After her accident, it was not suitable for her to continue working for the time being. When Song Qingxiao came back from distributing medicine to all the patients, she sat at the nurse's desk with a piece of gauze in her hand to cover her wound. The blood from the wound had already soaked the gauze, dyeing her finger stitches red.

Big sister Xiaoyu refused to move. Her wound is very deep, and Dr. Liu said she needs stitches.

A few nurses sat around her, not knowing what to do.

“Are you alright?”

Song Qingxiao leaned over. Zhang Xiaoyu's eyes moved the moment she heard her voice. After a long time, her eyes finally focused on Song Qingxiao. She tried to smile and comfort Song Qingxiao that she was fine, but after trying a few times, her mouth twitched a few times, probably because of the pain on her cheek. Finally, she gave up and shook her head.

“It's fine, I'm fine.” Her eyelids drooped, and her eyelashes trembled slightly. “They're patients. They didn't mean to hurt me.”

In the end, Zhang Xiaoyu was persuaded to clean her wound and get stitches. She kept silent and did not speak again.

The atmosphere in the hospital was particularly heavy tonight. From one end of the corridor, she could see the window at the end of the corridor. It was dark outside, and there seemed to be no moonlight.

Song qingxiao looked calm as she sat behind the nurse's desk, but her heart was already beating fast. She kept her hand on the long whip at her waist.

The TV on the wall opposite the nurse's desk was playing silent content on loop. Song qingxiao had already memorized the program by heart. The patients around them had already fallen asleep. The nurses usually didn't move, but they were forced to get up and do something. They subconsciously lightened their hands and feet, which made the whole hospital feel a terrible dead silence.

In the extreme silence, the 'da da da da' sound in song qingxiao's mind became more and more abrupt. The time was counting down. The nurses on duty during the day didn't want to go back to the dormitory at this time for some reason. They couldn't stand it anymore and went to the lounge to rest.

Song qingxiao had been paying attention to Room 1, and at the same time, she took some time to pay attention to the men's room at the other end of the corridor.

Looking at the time, it was already past two in the morning. Another girl on duty with her at the nurse's desk was drowsy and supported her head with one hand.

Time was running out.

Song qingxiao had waited patiently for this moment to strike when everyone was at their lowest.

Before she could stand up, she heard a soft 'click', as if the door had been unlocked, followed by two muffled 'Dong Dong' sounds. She was in a state of high concentration, so even the slightest sound was very sensitive to her. She stood up with a 'whoosh', and this sudden movement woke up the nurse beside her. She sat up straight and got up, but her movement was so big that her lower leg slid back against the chair. In such an environment, the sound was very ear-piercing and uncomfortable.

"W-what's wrong..." The nurse looked a little confused and stammered. Song qingxiao didn't have time to hide her personality. She said in a low voice, "Don't be noisy!" She could vaguely hear something.

The nurse saw her serious expression and was intimidated by her aura. She held her breath and did not dare to make a sound. The next second, song qingxiao could hear someone shouting, ""Help me..."

The voice was very thin and weak, and it sounded in the middle of the night, adding a sense of bitterness and horror.

"Help me..."

She listened to it one more time to make sure it wasn't an illusion, because the nurse beside her had obviously heard it too. Her eyes were wide open, and her pupils were dilated as if she had seen a ghost. Her mouth was wide open, but she didn't scream. However, song qingxiao saw extreme fear in her eyes.

The sound didn't come from the third floor. The fourth floor had been emptied because it was damaged, and there was no one there.

"Something happened on the second floor!"

Song Qing's heart sank and she said coldly. At the same time, the notification that had been in her mind for a few days finally changed again.

Protect the people and kill them if they fail.

[mission completed: 750 points]

The man in glasses was indeed a Hunter!

As the notification changed, song qingxiao ran to the emergency exit without thinking. The nurse came back to her senses and remembered what song qingxiao had said earlier.

"Help me..."

The voice rang out again, and the nurse quickly called for help, waking up Liu Yichen and the others in the on-call room. When Song Qing ran down to the second floor, the prompt in her mind changed again.

Protect the people and kill them if they fail.

[mission completed: points: 700]

It had been less than ten seconds since she came downstairs. Even though Dr. Hu and security guard Huang had been guarding him for a few days and were exhausted, the bespectacled man had killed two men guarding him in a short period of time. Song Qingxiao had to be more vigilant..