

Watch Out 441

Chapter 441: Transfer (1)

This was the base camp of the undead race, and the group of beastmen in front of him was only a negligible number.

But even so, it was already very troublesome.

There were too few trial-takers, and the humans imprisoned here had long been scared out of their wits. They did not even have the heart to resist, so they were of no use.

These beastmen were tenacious and had unparalleled strength. It was not realistic to kill them all by surprise.

And if the battle became too loud, it would probably wake up the other undead! At that time, it would not be easy to escape.

Song Qingxin was anxious, and the orcs in the distance were making urgent and noisy sounds.

“Waalawu!”

These orcs seemed to be communicating with each other. Song Qing slightly lowered her head and adjusted her posture.

While everyone else in the cage was stiff and didn't dare to move, even holding their breath, even if she moved very little, it would still make the sound of her hair rubbing against her clothes.

These sounds were particularly clear in the cage, causing song Qing to break out in a cold sweat. The hair on his back stood up, as if it was going to pick up his clothes.

She didn't know if it was because she was extremely nervous, but she felt that the moment she turned her head and made a sound, the orcs who were talking stopped.

In the silence, song qingxiao could hear his heart pounding against his chest.

Not long after, the sound of heavy footsteps could be heard. An orc carrying a Mace slowly walked over from the direction of the pool of corpses. Water was dripping from his body, and he emitted a strong stench.

As the Beastman approached, it was as if the god of death had arrived, and a violent killing intent enveloped everyone in the cage.

This place was originally in the dark, but the beastmen's aura seemed to have covered the cage with a deeper shadow.

'Dong'!' Dong!

The footsteps were getting closer and closer, and with every step, the ground seemed to tremble because of the heavy body of the orc.

Song qingxiao took a deep breath. Her whole body was as tense as a fully drawn bow, ready to spring and hurt people at any time.

One Beastman was not a problem, but the troublesome thing was that if they killed one, the other beastmen would come one after another.

With a loud bang, the Beastman had already stood still by the cage, forming a huge shadow that shrouded everyone in the cage.

He smashed the mace on his shoulder to the ground, causing the ground to shake and the cage to shake slightly.

A large drop of thick liquid fell from the sky and landed on the heads of the humans who were crouching in the cage.

“Wula!” He let out a deafening roar, and at the same time, he stretched out a big furry hand, grabbed the cage, and shook it hard!

The cage tilted, and song qingxiao tried to stabilize herself, but she forced herself to suppress her instincts. The world spun, and the people in the cage began to roll like balls with the beastmen’s strength.

The intertwined vines were tightened, and the heads hanging on them also slid left and right, making a loud noise.

“Wula!” The Beastman shouted again and shook twice before letting go of the cage. The cage was still shaking with the remaining force, and the person inside the cage was like a dead body, limp into a ball, not daring to make a sound.

Song qingxiao followed the others and curled up her limbs. Although she could not understand the beast’s roar, she could guess that the beast was looking for the trial-taker who killed the beast in the pool.

The Beastman roared twice, but no one dared to move. He then walked towards the cage in front of him with his Mace!

As soon as he walked away, the heavy pressure was suddenly relieved, but everyone still maintained the same action, not daring to make a sound for fear of attracting his attention again.

The Beastman’s breathing was heavy, showing that he was on the verge of exploding.

He walked to the side of the cage where number five was locked up, roared, and kicked the cage.

'Clang, clang, clang' several deep sounds rang out, and the wooden bars of the cage made a slight cracking sound.

Song qingxiao's eyes flickered with a cold light. If the cage was broken and the orcs started a massacre, she might have to help since number five was still in the cage.

However, after a few kicks, the Beastman charged forward in a Huff before the cage was broken.

When they heard his footsteps leaving, not only song qingxiao, but even number five, who had his fists clenched, heaved a long sigh of relief.

However, the next moment, the orc seemed to have lost his patience. He took a few steps forward, but this time, he did not shake the cage. Instead, he raised the mace in his hand and hammered the cage with force.

"Wula!"

As he roared, the mace struck down with the force of a thousand catties. With a loud 'boom', the cage was broken!

The humans in the cage were like garlic that had been pestled. They all died under the hammer without a sound.

Splinters and blood splattered everywhere!

"Wula!"

The Beastman killed a cage of people in one blow, but it was not enough to vent his anger. He raised his weapon and hammered the broken wooden cage a few more times!

Along with the clanging sounds of the punches and the sticky sound of blood mixed with minced meat, countless drops of blood splashed like raindrops, and the strong smell of blood actually covered the stench.

The beastmen walked forward with their blood-dripping maces. Everyone was silent, not daring to resist.

Then, there was another smashing sound. Clearly, another cage of prisoners had been smashed to death.

The beastmen's roars and killing had attracted the attention of even more undead. Song qingxiao, who was still in the same position, could already hear more footsteps approaching.

If this continued, it would not be easy for the three of them to escape, let alone save the others.

Just as she was feeling a headache, the other orcs had already carried the body of the orc in the pool of corpses over. Even the head of the orc was in their hands, and the water was dripping along the way.

Song qingxiao's heart skipped a beat when she heard the sound of water dripping.

These orcs didn't seem to have high intelligence. They didn't think of tracking the trial-taker's whereabouts through the water. The water dripping from the corpse should have covered her whereabouts in some way.

When she thought of this, she heaved a sigh of relief.

After killing several cages of humans, the orcs in the distance calmed down a little, and more orcs rushed over. After some discussion, song qingxiao felt that she was 'moving'!

She was shocked at first, then realized that it was not her that was moving, but the cage that was sliding forward.

The bottom of the cage rubbed against the ground and made a rough sound, as if it was driven by a mysterious force.

Could it be that a mysterious mage had appeared? Just as this thought came to her mind, she saw that the vine that was connected to cage No. 5 had been stretched into a straight line.. She reacted and realized that someone was pulling the vine and dragging the person in the cage forward!

The beastmen's shouts came from the distance. Song qingxiao slowly raised her head and looked forward. In the dark, she could only vaguely see two or three beastmen standing on one side of a cage about a hundred meters away. They were dragging the cage and moving to the other side of the valley.

It was obvious that the undead already knew that there were intruders when the orcs 'corpses were found in the pool of corpses. They were probably dragging the cages to shift their prey and find the suspects.

Although there were thousands of cages here, these orcs were powerful and there were many of them. From the sound of footsteps, it seemed that there were more people coming over. Although it would be troublesome to move all these cages, it should not take much time.

However, once they were transferred to another place, the security would definitely be much stricter than now.

The longer this dragged on, the more disadvantageous it would be for the trial-takers, so it was better to take advantage of the chaos and escape first!

Song Qingxin made up her mind and sat up.

The orcs who had come earlier had already run to the front. Perhaps they thought that the orcs who had killed several cages of prey with maces were like chickens to the monkeys, and that the people locked up in the terror Battalion were already scared out of their wits, so no one was left to guard them.

Just as she was about to get up, she seemed to hear the low roar of a beast in the distance.

Song qingxiao's pupils shrank. She listened carefully and heard a 'aowu'!

The voice sounded familiar, like the barking of a two-headed dog.

The mark of the silver Wolf on his wrist felt a slight pain, as if it had been provoked. The breath of the silver Wolf in his sea of consciousness seemed to have been awakened, and it was ready to move.

The silver Wolf's reaction confirmed song qingxiao's guess. If the orcs brought the two-headed dog to chase them, they would be in trouble!

She had dealt with the two-headed dog before, and this kind of thing was more difficult to deal with than orcs.

Although he had fought side by side with the silver Wolf and severely injured a two-headed giant dog and chased it away, it had caused too much of a commotion. Even if he were to attack together with the silver Wolf now, it would not be appropriate.

just as she was feeling a headache, the dog's roar was getting closer and closer.

Aowu...'.

The barks came one after another, and it sounded like there was more than one two-headed dog.

Song qingxiao's expression changed slightly. The people in the cage, who had remained silent when the orcs killed people in a bloody manner, began to tremble when they heard the two-headed dog.

The two-headed dog's roar was getting closer and closer. Song qingxiao could smell the dog's violent aura through the cold wind blowing in the valley.

Not long after, she saw in the darkness, two giants that were slightly taller than the previous orcs, each with a two-headed dog, appearing in her vision.

The two-headed dog ran extremely fast, almost dragging the two giants behind it. The ground shook violently, and it appeared not far away in a short time.

About 10 meters away from song qingxiao's cell, the two-headed dog at the front seemed to have smelled something and suddenly barked madly!

Woof, Woof!

It made a lot of noise, and its two huge heads showed a fierce look, as if it was going to pounce forward with all its might, almost making the giant who was pulling them unable to hold on to the rope.

"Ha! Ha!"

The two strong Giants roared angrily and pulled the rope tightly, barely calming the two-headed dog down.

Song qingxiao held her breath and frowned when the dog barked. This place was stinky and mixed with the strong smell of blood, which covered her smell. However, this smell might be able to hide from the orcs, but it might not be able to hide from the dogs' noses!

She had a different smell from the people here, and she had dealt with the two-headed dog on the side of the suspension bridge. She might have attracted the attention of this thing!

Song Qingxin smiled bitterly. The tall giant seemed to have realized that something was wrong and gradually became vigilant.

He glanced at the cells where No. 5 and Song Qingxiao were hiding. He reached into the pocket hanging on his waist and took out a large piece of bloody meat, throwing it into the air.

Attracted by the meat, the two-headed dogs that were still barking fiercely earlier raised their heads and opened their saw-like mouths. They each bit on one side of the meat and tore it apart. The meat was torn into two pieces and they swallowed it!

After the giant finished throwing the meat, he shouted again and took out a furry, broken hand.

The broken hand must have been chopped off from the orc corpse that Song Qingxiao had killed. The giant held the broken hand, and the two dog heads that had just swallowed the meat sniffed it.

“Wahhhhhhhhh!”

The giant ordered after they had smelled it.

Another giant that was dragging the two-headed dog behind him mimicked his actions. After the two dogs smelled the broken palm, their four blood-red eyes revealed a fierce light. They bared their teeth, and a large amount of bloody saliva dripped from their mouths.

“Ha!”

The giant in front gave the order, and the two-headed dog barked loudly as if it had received the order.

Truly, misfortunes never come alone!

First of all, killing someone had caused such a huge commotion. Now, not only had two giants appeared in succession, there were even two extremely difficult to deal with two-headed dogs.

Number one was currently hiding in the dark, while number five was in another cage. Even if the three of them joined forces, these guys would not be easy to deal with.

However, there was a silver lining. Although these two giants were taller than the orc, they were much shorter than the giant with the axe. They should not be as difficult to deal with as the giant with the axe.

When the two-headed dog passed by the cage where number five was hiding, it stopped for a moment. The noses on both of its heads twitched slightly, and it slowly approached the cage.

When the two-headed dog approached, it snorted loudly, causing the people in the cage to start trembling.

Song qingxiao was so focused that she didn't even dare to blink. If the dog found number five, she wouldn't be able to escape.

At that time, they would join forces and escape to save their lives!

In an instant, dense beads of sweat seeped out of her forehead and gathered into a small stream that flowed into her eyes.

Her eyes were dry and bitter after not blinking for a long time, and now that they were soaked in sweat, they felt even more unbearable.

'Ha ...' A dog head let out a low growl. Number Five's heart was beating like a war drum when he saw this little movement.

At this moment, number Five's cheeks and back were covered in sweat. It was as if he had been placed on top of a pot of oil, unable to go up or down.

He had to clench his teeth tightly to prevent the slight sound of his teeth moving up and down from attracting the two-headed dog's attention. The two-headed dog seemed to have noticed something and sniffed very carefully. This situation made number five and song qingxiao feel as if their hearts were being squeezed tightly, and they felt breathless.

At this moment, time seemed particularly long. The movements of the two dog heads were infinitely slowed down, making the two feel very sad.

The two dog heads sniffed softly, and every subtle movement made song Qing carefully shake.

She could still calm down with great difficulty, but under such torture, number five seemed to be unable to bear it any longer, and moved slightly.

The giant's expression gradually became serious. Just as he was about to take a step forward, the two-headed dog raised its head for some reason and looked in the direction of song qingxiao's cage. Then, it slowly picked up its pace..

Chapter 443: Escape (1)

'WuuuWuwuwu

Before it even got close, it seemed to have sensed something. The two dog heads grinned, revealing their white fangs, and let out a threatening growl.

This appearance was clearly very different from his previous performance.

The giant who was about to walk towards cage five changed his expression and slowly walked towards the cage where song qingxiao was hiding.

'Wuuu...' Wuuwu...'

With every step the two-headed dog took, it barked even more ferociously. It lowered its head and its two pairs of blood-red eyes stared straight at the cage.

The situation suddenly reversed. Number Five's crisis was temporarily lifted, but on the contrary, song qingxiao was in great trouble.

The two-headed dog growled as it moved closer to the wooden cage.

Song qingxiao was lying in the cage like the others, but she was ready to fight back.

She could feel the two big dog heads sniffing through the cage, and the fishy smell from the dog's nose made the people in the cage tremble instinctively.

The two pairs of blood-red eyes on the giant dog's head exuded a sinister gaze. It seemed to have discovered her. It let out an uneasy roar from its throat and its two front paws began to scratch the ground.

With a 'Woof' sound, the giant with the two-headed dog seemed to have already pulled out his weapon and was ready to attack.

At this time, under the provocation of the two-headed dog, the silver Wolf, which was originally in a sleeping state in the sea of consciousness, was awakened again.

Before the giant could sense it, the barking two-headed dog had already sensed the terrifying aura of the level suppression and its barking immediately changed!

'Woof...' The two large heads that were close to the cage suddenly moved back. Even their limbs subconsciously moved back.

"Lu?" The two-headed dog's abnormal reaction caused the giant to let out a puzzled sound. The dog seemed to have met its natural enemy and actually showed a bit of fear.

However, this was absolutely impossible. The people locked up in the cages were ordinary humans. They had been eating humans all year round, so how could they be afraid?

The dog was still barking, but it refused to move forward. This scene was really too strange.

The giant took a big step forward and reached out to grab the cage.

His movement made Song Qingxiao's eyes turn cold. Before she could move, her divine sense caught a light 'whoosh' sound of something breaking through the air.

Her heart skipped a beat, and in the next moment, a 'plop' sound was heard, as if an arrow had pierced into the flesh. The two-headed dog's low growling suddenly turned into a fierce bark,

Woof... Woof woof woof... Wuwuwu..."

The two-headed dog seemed to have discovered its prey and was enraged, desperately charging forward.

Before the giant's raised hand could reach the cage, the dog's frenzied strength drove the giant to stumble in the direction he came from. He ran two steps and bumped into the giant who was holding the dog, causing a commotion.

"Ha! Ha!"

The giant finally managed to stand firm and let out an angry shout to stop him.

In the dark night, the sound of arrows being shot out was drowned out by the dogs' roars and the sounds of the skulls being hit.

The giant was tall and strong, but his vision, smell, and perception were far inferior to a dog's. They only saw the two-headed dog seemed to have gone crazy and began to chase the way it had come from. It was barking wildly, as if it had discovered something important, or was angered by something.

These dogs were ferocious and brutal, and when they were angry, their strength was extraordinary. The two giants felt that they could not control them. As they roared, they were dragged away by the two-headed dog.

They came quickly and left even faster. Song qingxiao's mood was like a roller coaster, full of ups and downs.

At the critical moment, number one used the uniqueness of his ability to turn invisible and lead the giant away.

The dog's barking was fierce and intense. The giant's berating and the beastmen's roars were mixed in. From the direction of the sound, the giant and the two-headed dog had already run a hundred meters away. If they didn't run now, when would they?

She turned around and stood up. She estimated the distance between the top of the cage and herself. The cage was more than two meters high. Even if she raised her hand, she might not be able to touch it.

If he jumped up, he could grab the top of the cage and flip it over, but it was easy to make a sound.

Although there was a disturbance ahead, he should try not to attract the attention of the orcs. The more critical the moment was, the more cautious he should be.

At this thought, song qingxiao grabbed a human who was curled up in a ball.

The man's back was arched high, his four limbs were wrapped around his stomach, and his head was retracted. He let her grab him, not daring to make a sound or roar, like a puppet without a soul.

Song qingjiang dragged him over and stepped on his back. She reached out and grabbed the top of the cage. With a light push, the cage lid creaked and was pulled open.

The noise was not loud, and it was soon drowned out by the clacking of the skulls, the Mad yells of the dogs, and the angry rebukes of the undead.

Even so, song Qing's movements paused and he became even more relaxed.

She opened the lid and gently jumped out of the cage. Then she gently put the lid down. The person under the cage that she had grabbed as a stepping stone was still in the same position and did not move.

She frowned and raised her head to look ahead.

After getting to a higher altitude, the scene in front of them became clearer.

The inside of the valley was quite large, and the dozens of orcs who had come here earlier should have been divided into several teams of two or three people each. Each team was dragging a chain of cages forward, forming a huge Dragon in the dark.

However, at this moment, her team had been rammed by two two two-headed dogs that had gone crazy for no reason, and they were already in chaos.

Quan went crazy because of number one's provocation, but number one's special stealth ability played a wonderful role in this time.

The undead couldn't see number one's figure, and their noses weren't as sensitive as the two-headed dogs', so they thought that the two-headed dogs had gone crazy.

And these dogs were abnormally fierce. Once they went crazy, even two strong Giants would be unable to keep them at Bay.

The other orcs quickly stepped forward to help control the cage. The cage that was sliding forward suddenly stopped, and the front was in a mess.

The barking became even more intense. This was the best time to escape. Song Qing gathered her spiritual force and jumped into the cage.

She jumped four to five meters away and landed steadily on the cage where number five was hiding. She lifted the cage cover and reached down. Number five stood up and raised his hand as she moved. She caught him.

Song qingxiao lifted number five up with ease. Number five nodded at her. The two of them exchanged a look. He jumped to the side of the cage. After landing lightly, his body quickly grew in size. Then, he grabbed the vines on the side of the cage and pulled with force!

However, to number Five's surprise, when he pulled, the vines on the cage trembled. The sound of the skeleton hitting the chain was heard, but the vine chain seemed to have been cast with magic. It did not break when he pulled.

Number five was shocked. He had great strength after transforming, but he couldn't break the vine rope.

The sound of the skull hitting the skull was like a signal, and it attracted the attention of an orc in the distance. The orc subconsciously turned his head to look..

Chapter 444: Yaoyao (1)

The moment the Beastman turned around, song Qing kneeled on the top of the cage, not moving.

Number five didn't have time to Dodge and was caught by the Beastman.

He's dead!

Number Five's mind went blank. A deep sense of despair welled up in his heart, causing his body to start trembling uncontrollably.

But the next moment, the orc did not shout. The dark night became number Five's best cover. After transforming, his appearance and height were very similar to that of an orc. Many things had happened tonight, and many orcs had appeared.

When the orc who turned around saw him, his suspicions were dispelled. In the distance, the two-headed dog's roars became even more intense. The two giants couldn't hold it back, causing an even greater commotion and attracting the attention of the orcs again.

Once the crisis was over, song qingxiao got up from the cage again. Number five looked up at her, his eyes filled with anxiety.

The cultivators had come back to save some people, but the cages were connected to each other by vine ropes. If they could not break the vine ropes, it would be a little troublesome to save these people quickly.

just as his lips moved, he saw song qingxiao pull out a dagger from behind her waist.

She turned around and grabbed the vine rope. She raised her hand and cut it down with almost no effort. Number five heard a light 'bang' in his ears. The vine that he couldn't break with all his strength earlier was cut off by her with a light cut!

Number Five's face was filled with shock, but this was not the time for him to be in a daze. Song qingxiao nodded to him, and he took the broken rope and carefully placed it on the ground.

The skulls on the chains slid down one after another, and the shaking stopped. Without the noise, number five grabbed the cage with both hands and slowly tilted it forward.

The people inside were shocked by their series of actions. They all slowly raised their heads in unison, their eyes revealing a look of hope.

As soon as the cage fell, number five removed the cover and waved his hand, signaling for the person inside to come out.

He had originally thought that if these people still did not know what was good for them, he would just abandon them.

However, perhaps it was because of the commotion caused by the trial-takers tonight that the orcs were preparing to move their prey away, making the imprisoned people feel the threat of death.

It was also possible that the desire to escape from the terrorist camp had overwhelmed other emotions. The opportunity was right in front of them. Number five waved his hand, and the people who were previously hugging each other shakily climbed out one after another!

They didn't even need number five to tell them to be careful. After many years in the terror Battalion, these people had long developed a cautious personality. When the group of people climbed out of the cage, there was no sound at all, as if they were a group of ghosts.

The people in one of the cages were released. Song qingxiao leaped up again, and her body was as light as a bird as she jumped to another cage in front of her.

Taking advantage of the commotion ahead, she and No. 5 did the same thing and knocked down six to seven cages in a row. After releasing a large group of refugees, they finally stopped.

There were too many humans imprisoned here, and it was unrealistic to save all of them. He could only stop before going too far.

The distance between song qingxiao and number five and the orc was not far. The giant and the orc's angry roars were endless, and the two two-headed dogs' fierce roars reverberated in the valley, which was extremely ear-piercing.

He couldn't take the risk to continue forward. Although the two two-headed dogs had caused a commotion with number one's interference, the two giants and a group of orcs would eventually calm the commotion.

If the time was delayed too long, everyone might end up dead.

A group of escapees had gathered together, and there were probably close to a hundred of them.

Song qingxiao jumped out of the cage and left two rattan ropes around her wrists as backup weapons.

Number Five's face showed some hesitation. This was the best time to retreat, but number one was still nowhere to be seen.

If it was any other time, he would have naturally slipped away without a second word.

But in this trial, the three of them had worked together until now. In the previous dangerous situation, number one had even stepped forward to lure the two-headed dog away. Now that he had abandoned number one and fled, number five was a little hesitant.

Song qingxiao tilted her head. Her spiritual sense sensed that there was an aura rapidly approaching from more than ten meters away.

The corners of her mouth curved up, and not long after, the breath rushed over, and number one's figure appeared. He clutched his chest and leaned against the cage, gasping silently like a fish out of breath.

"Let's go," he said. Song qingxiao moved her lips and made a hand gesture. The group of people in the dark began to move silently in the direction of the previous cauldron.

The fugitives who had been locked up in the terror Battalion for many years were very familiar with the route. Since they were the 'leaders' who brought song Qing and the others to the terror Battalion, they naturally led the three of them out.

In order to protect these 'leaders', the trial-takers were split into two. Number one and number five were in charge of clearing the way, while song qingxiao stayed at the back.

The bonfire at the pool of corpses was still burning, but because the two-headed dog's commotion had attracted the attention of all the undead, no one was guarding it.

The large group quietly went around the still boiling cauldron and went into the darkness.

Song qingxiao followed the team and quickly retreated. Seeing that the orcs in the distance had not noticed the movement here, she decisively turned around and ran with the team.

After escaping the shroud of light and shadow, darkness became the best protective color for the group. Everyone began to walk quickly, and then ran wildly.

The rapid wind blew past their ears, and everyone opened their mouths to take deep breaths. The wild heartbeats formed a passionate song, increasing the tension in the atmosphere.

This terror Battalion seemed to be extremely large. After fleeing for a long time, they still did not see any light.

The tense string in his mind was bouncing non-stop, and his blood was flowing. It formed a noisy sound with his heartbeat and the wind blowing past his ears.

Song qingxiao tried her best to get rid of the disturbance caused by her nervousness and tried her best to listen to the two-headed dog's barking to determine how far away they were from the terror Battalion.

After running for a while and using up all their energy, the team's speed gradually slowed down.

At this time, they were quite a distance away from the terror Battalion. The roars of the two-headed dog, the giant, and the orcs were barely audible. Moreover, the dog's barking was not rushed or sharp, as if it had not noticed that a group of prisoners had escaped.

There was a commotion in the group. Number Five's thin figure appeared at the end of the group. When he saw that song Qing was young, he heaved a sigh of relief and turned to walk side by side with her.

we don't know how long this road is, and we don't know where the undead are. Number one scouted the road ahead for a while, but he didn't see any exit.

His expression was barely calm, but his tone was anxious as he threw out several questions.

The path seemed to be endless. After the fugitives escaped from the cage, they rushed forward with their heads lowered, just like the people who had encountered them when they entered the trial..

Chapter 445= The snake Lake_I

The strange silence and the faint barking of the dogs made everyone nervous, and it was difficult to keep calm.

The dark and tense atmosphere was wearing away at people's patience. Number one and number five wished they could grow wings at this moment and fly to the exit of the mountain range to complete the trial and leave the scene.

The two of them were somewhat uneasy. Although everyone had escaped, this was the undead race's base camp. Once they discovered that someone had escaped, they would definitely chase after them.

Although the team had the advantage in numbers, ordinary people would not be able to fight back against the undead at all. Moreover, due to the large number of people, the team's progress was slow.

On the other hand, the undead beastmen and Giants were tall and strong, and they would catch up to them soon with their ferocious two-headed dogs.

Number one couldn't help but go forward to explore the way, but he couldn't find the direction or exit in the surroundings. It was foggy and he didn't know which direction to go. Moreover, he was afraid of getting lost if he went too far.

Thus, the two of them became even more worried after several failed explorations.

"I'm just worried ..." After number five said this, he paused for a moment with worry, after the undead race finds out, they'll chase after us, and then ...

In the dark, song qingxiao could feel him looking up at her.

She knew what he was going to say. Number five was just worried that the scene of him being chased by the two-headed dog and the giant in the bloody tunnel would happen again.

Back when the trial-takers were being chased down along with the fugitives in the bloody tunnel, it was only through their combined efforts that they managed to kill the giant and force the two-headed dog to retreat.

However, number four was dead, and number six and seven had parted ways with the rest. They were no longer the same people, and only three of the seven trial-takers remained.

If they were attacked from both sides again, No. 6 and No. 7, who might not be on the same side, would stop them from escaping.

"Number three..." The more number five thought about it, the more uneasy he felt. Thus, he turned around to discuss with song Qing.

"Shh!" As he spoke, song qingxiao's divine sense seemed to have caught a trace of movement.

The two-headed dog, which had been barking non-stop earlier, now barked even more sharply. The terror Battalion seemed to be in turmoil.

Number Five's expression changed, and he didn't dare to make a sound.

Her primordial spirit sensed her thoughts and released her divine sense. The voice was transmitted into her consciousness even more clearly. There was a continuous 'dang dang' sound among the beastmen's roars and dog barks, as if a cage had been broken.

Just as she retracted her divine sense, an earth-shaking roar sounded,

“Roar!”

This time, she didn’t need to say anything, number five also heard it clearly!

This roar was different from the angry roar from before. When it traveled over from afar, it still carried a powerful force that shook people’s hearts, causing them to tremble with fear.

“We’ve been discovered?” Number five asked in a hoarse voice.

“Let’s go!” run! song qingxiao shouted in a low voice. The team, which was moving slowly, seemed to have regained their strength the moment the roar rang out. They started running again.

However, what surprised song qingxiao was that the commotion in the terror Battalion did not die down quickly. Instead, it became more and more intense.

The beastmen’s roars and the two-headed dogs’ pursuit and the clanging of objects rang in their ears. It was as if someone had caused trouble there and caused the undead to hunt them down.

However, other than the undead, the terrorizing Battalion only held humans who had long lost their will to resist.

Other than himself, participant No. 1, participant No. 5, and the other two, who else would dare to cause such a huge commotion in the terror Battalion?

While song qingxiao was running, a thought flashed through her mind. Before she could catch it, number one shouted in surprise,”

“I’ve found something!”

Number five, who was running with his head down, was overjoyed when he heard this.

Ever since the previous roar, he had been acting like a snake. The sound of the wind in his ears sounded like the footsteps of pursuers. Now that he heard that there was a way ahead, he was overjoyed and hastened his steps.

The person in front seemed to have entered the middle of the mountain, his footsteps echoing.

The mountainside was narrow at first, but after walking for about three to four minutes, it suddenly opened up.

Some unknown crystals on the stone wall above his head emitted a faint light and shadow, and he could vaguely see the surrounding environment.

At this moment, song Qing's small nose smelled a fishy smell. As the cold wind blew over, it made his scalp numb and uncomfortable.

This smell was not just the smell of blood, but also a mixture of rancid smell, accompanied by a 'hissing' sound.

The further they walked, the more they smelled a damp and rotten smell of the air that had not circulated for many years. The fishy smell became more obvious, and the hissing sound became louder. It was like a huge ensemble of several sounds, so noisy that it made people dizzy and their ears ring.

The voice was as dense as a drizzle, and it was continuous. Suddenly, a voice rang out in song Qing's small mind,"

■After leaving the terror Battalion, we will reach the snake cave'.

She recalled the words of the old man on the altar. From the sound and smell, number one's discovery ahead was most likely the snake cave!

“Snake cave!” There was joy in her eyes, and the words she said were heard by number five, who was running.

If the snake cave was really ahead, it meant that a ‘guide’ was needed to escape from the terror Battalion.

This also proved that they had all escaped from the terror Battalion and had taken the right path!

As soon as she finished speaking, number one’s trembling voice rang out from the mountainside, “

No. 3, come and take a look. There, there, there, there are so many snakes ...

A snake... A snake ... A snake...’

Number one’s voice was not loud, but the mountainside was like a natural loudspeaker, amplifying his voice.

In addition to the strange silence of the others, number one’s exclamation was extremely piercing.

The group that was moving forward seemed to have encountered the most obstacle and stopped.

Song qingxiao and number five squeezed through the crowd and saw number one standing at the front of the group. He had a sad face and a huge pit in the direction he pointed.

The pit was dozens of meters deep, and the two banks were about a hundred meters apart.

The two sides were hidden in the darkness, and their exact positions could not be seen. It was like an extremely large chasm, blocking everyone’s way out of the terror Battalion.

At the bottom of the pit were countless snakes of all sizes. They raised their heads and coldly looked at the escapees standing by the pit, hissing and flicking their tongues.

As the snake wriggled, one could vaguely see the piles of corpses that had not completely rotted. Maggots crawled on them and they emitted a foul smell.

“What do we do?”

Number one asked with a tingling scalp. He had yet to retract his hand.

Not to mention whether these snakes were poisonous or not, just the number of them was daunting.

The snakes were densely packed, and at a glance, it was like a sea of snakes with no end in sight.

There was no suspension bridge here, and there were no tools to cross. Unless they had wings, even someone as strong as Song Qingxiao would not be able to jump over on their own..

Chapter 446: Level-1

After the group escaped from the Terror Battalion, they had been running around like headless flies. Number one had no idea where they could run to.

Therefore, when he heard the sound of the snake, he immediately thought of the snake cave that the old man on the altar had pointed to.

The existence of the snake cave proved that they had indeed escaped from the Terror Battalion and were led in the right direction by the fugitives.

However, the moment he saw the snake cave, Number one's heart turned cold. The joy of finding the right path instantly turned into a huge shadow that shrouded his heart.

“Why don’t we take a detour?” Number five also had a difficult expression as he suggested.

The snake cave was like a solid barrier, preventing the refugees from escaping the terror Battalion.

The snakes hissed and hissed like a demon. Under the dim light, these snake heads were extremely ferocious, making people tremble in fear.

No. 5 could barely hold on against the skeleton army that was besieging the altar at that time, but at this moment, he also admitted that he could not hold off these snakes.

It was impossible to force their way in. The corpses of the snakes that had not completely rotted and the White bones below reminded everyone that this was a dead end!

They couldn’t move forward here, but they couldn’t retreat now. Number five hesitated, looked at song Qing, and tried to ask.

Number one’s eyes lit up when he heard this. He was about to agree when song qingxiao shook her head.

“That’s impossible.”

Her words were resolute and decisive, like a bucket of cold water poured over number one and number Five’s heads, directly drenching their hearts.

“Why not?”

Number one was a little anxious, it’s a dead end to advance or retreat here. We can only take a detour!

He thought that song qingxiao wanted to force her way through the road to save time and avoid the pursuers behind her, so he quickly said,”

“Number three.” He tried to persuade her. I know that you have extraordinary strength and think that this is a shortcut, but we have to know how to give and take. I’m afraid that it’ll be a real waste of time if we continue to delay here.”

He pointed behind him and said without turning his head,”

you see, there are so many snakes here. It’s impossible to get through ...

Before number one could finish his sentence, a thin purple-black shadow shot out from the pit as fast as lightning and pounced in the direction of number one’s finger.

The snake shadow approached at lightning speed. Number one was standing at the side of the pit and did not notice it at all.

The thin purplish-black snake opened its mouth and revealed its fangs. Just as it was about to bite number one’s fingertip-

Song qingxiao held the dagger tightly and swung it forward.

Number one saw her action and was shocked, thinking that she wanted to kill someone.

He hurriedly turned his body to the side in an attempt to Dodge, but when he took a step, he had already stepped on the side of the pit.

The irregular gravel at the edge of the pit was loosened by his steps and fell down with a ‘Sha Sha’ sound. Number one suddenly remembered that he was still standing at the edge of the pit. If his step missed, he would fall into the snake cave!

“Number three, you...”

In a moment of desperation, he cried out in alarm, but the next moment, the dagger passed through his side. He heard a soft ‘Puchi’ sound in his ears, and the sharp edge of the dagger cut something into two.

Song qingxiao reached out with her other hand and accurately caught the snake's head that she had just cut off.

Cold sweat broke out on No. 1's back. He turned around and happened to see half of the snake's tail struggling to fall down with a few drops of black blood.

Seeing this scene, how could number one not understand? his face was pale. He did not even have the time to thank her before he quickly avoided the side of the pit, afraid that the same thing would happen again.

The snake cave was extremely deep. He didn't expect the snake to jump so high, and he almost lost his life because of his carelessness.

Number five also hurriedly followed and took a step away from the side of the pit. The two of them then looked at the snake in song qingxiao's hand.

The snake had strange purple-black stripes, about the thickness of a thumb, and two small edges on its head. It was obvious that it was poisonous.

At this time, the snake's body had been cut in two by song Qing. The seven-inch part was pinched by her. Blood was flowing from the wound, and it was hissing and sticking out its tongue.

How could an ordinary snake fly so high? number one had just escaped death and was still in a state of shock. He emphasized again,

"We can't take this path."

The more number one looked at the purple-black snake, the more scared he felt. However, for some reason, song Qing Xiao was not afraid of the snake at all.

That thin snake's broken body stuck close to her hand, and she even felt a little displeased after being offended. The small snake that was still struggling seemed to have sensed her displeasure and suddenly did not dare to move.

Song Qingxin's heart skipped a beat. During the trial on the demon Island, she had once absorbed the blood of a flood Dragon and fused it with the evolution potion.

At that time, the flood Dragon was already a creature that had evolved to the peak of its level on the demon Island. After she had sucked the flood dragon's blood, her body had mutated, and her energy had gone berserk. She had to rely on the trial space to seal that terrifying energy before she could survive.

After seeing a top-notch giant snake and having fused with the genes of a flood Dragon, she always had an inexplicable sense of certainty when she caught this little snake.

Song qingyoung spread out his hand and placed the little snake in his palm.

As soon as number one's voice fell, he saw her action from the corner of his eye and immediately sucked in a breath of cold air. Before he could scream, he saw the little snake, who had regained its freedom, curl up its broken body with all its might. Its head lay on her palm, as if it had been tamed, and it did not move.

"You, how did you do it?"

The snakes in this trial scenario were raised with human 'flesh', so it was needless to say that they were extremely fierce, which could be seen from the previous attack.

It was obvious that the snake was venomous. Song Qing dared to play with it on her palm, but what was even more surprising was that the snake was very cooperative at this time. It was unusually obedient on her palm, as if it did not dare to attack, as if it was firmly suppressed by her Qi.

Song qingxiao's guess was confirmed. She suppressed her joy and clenched her fist. Spirit energy gushed out of her palm. In an instant, the snake was frozen into an ice block. She crushed it into pieces and threw it into the snake's cave.

She didn't answer number one. Seeing that she didn't say anything, number one tactfully stopped asking.

"We can't take a detour!" She felt more confident now, and her tone became more determined.

Number one was a little anxious. Just as he was about to say something, Song Qingxiao put the dagger behind her waist. I know what you want to say.

Without waiting for number one and five to speak, she pointed at the escapees and said,

"Guys, take a look."

Her words stunned the two excited people. They looked in the direction of her finger and saw the fugitives standing on the edge of the snake cave like marionettes.

No. Its lesson was still fresh in their minds. The snakes in the snake cave were extremely aggressive, but these escapees did not seem to be aware of it at all. They did not Dodge or hide.

the 'escapees' are leading us back to the fear camp. Similarly, if we want to escape from the fear camp, we also need to follow these 'escapees'.

the only way out of the terror Battalion is to follow the leader," he said, the only way out is to follow the leader..

Chapter 447: Suppression (1)

I

Song Qing understood what number one and five said. If it were any other time, she would admit that they were right.

In a situation where it was not easy to break into the snake cave, the safest way was to take a detour.

However, in the current situation, it didn't matter if she understood. The attitude of the fugitives was the most important.

These escapees were unwilling to take a detour, and there was no way to communicate with them. If the three trial-takers were prepared to look for another strange path, the result might be that they would part ways with the 'escapees'.

Without the 'leader', the three of them were stuck in a dilemma. In the end, they would only be lost in the terror Battalion, unable to find their way out'. "Unless we have heaven-defying luck and another group of escapees happens to appear." but the chances of that happening are too low," song qingxiao stated calmly, without any accidents, these people would not have had the chance to escape from the terrorist camp.

And the trial-taker was that accident, both number one and number five knew that.

what's more, even if there's such a coincidence," song qingxiao paused for a moment. Number one and number Five's faces were already quite ugly, as if they could guess what she was going to say next, another group of escapees has appeared, but the result will not change.

These escapees had identified this path at this time and were prepared to break into the snake cave. When the next batch of escapees appeared, they would still choose the same old path.

In other words, no one had a choice at all.

Number five fell silent, while number one's face was ashen.

"Then what do we do?" Number one mumbled. Song qingxiao and number five both looked at him.

He belatedly thought of something. The Snake Pit was too big, and with their current strength, it was impossible to jump over it by force.

If the escapees were determined to break into the snake cave, the only way was to make a path for everyone to pass.

They had no tools and time was of the essence, so it was impossible for them to conjure a bridge out of thin air in such a short time.

If they wanted to pass through, they only needed to...

Just as this thought flashed through number one's mind, he heard number five say,"

"Someone jump down and clear a path for everyone to pass through."

After he said that, he turned to look at number one. Number one's face turned pale, and his teeth clattered.

"No... No... No, no, no..." He understood what number five was trying to say, and before number five could say his request, he shook his head like a rattle-drum, ""Brother, brother, I can't..."

It's useless to call me brother! Number five squeezed out a smile.

"But no one is more suitable than you at this moment."

Among the three of them, number one had the ability to become invisible. After he became invisible, he would jump into the snake cave, move away the entangled snakes, and quickly clear a path.

"I really can't!" Number one wanted to cry but had no tears. His invisibility skill was originally his greatest reliance in the trial, but he did not expect that at this time, he would have to bear a huge blame for nothing.

"I'm scared." At this point, number one could no longer care about his pride, let alone the consequences of exposing his weakness,"

I really can't. There are so many snakes ...

Number Five's face was filled with sincerity. I know, I know there are many snakes here.

His eyes were filled with encouragement and comfort, if I could go in your place, trust me. I would do it for you without any hesitation. But now, only you can do it!

".."Number one glared at him speechlessly. Number five made it sound like he was going to shower him with heavenly flowers, but he still didn't change his mind about coaxing him into jumping into the snake's cave.

The two of them struggled, and neither could convince the other.

Song qingxiao stared at the snake cave. In the sound of the snakes, she seemed to hear panicked footsteps.

Ever since they entered the snake cave, the noise from the terror Battalion had been drowned out by the snakes. The footsteps they heard now were most likely the approaching pursuers.

However, the footsteps seemed to be quite hurried, with a sense of urgency that made it seem like they were not chasing after him, but rather like a fugitive being chased.

But other than them, how could anyone else from the terror Battalion escape?

She frowned and suppressed the complicated thoughts in her mind.

No matter what, he could not delay any longer!

She moved her wrist, formed a hand seal, and said,"

“Stop arguing!” The moment she spoke, number one and number five both stopped talking.

I’ll go down at the same time as number one. Number five, get ready to bring up the rear.

Previously, she had allowed number one and number five to argue without making a sound, but now that she had spoken, it proved that she had already made up her mind. There was no room for number one to beg for mercy.

“I think I hear footsteps.”

After she said that, number one, who was about to put up a last-ditch struggle, could no longer speak.

If the pursuers were about to arrive, then it would really be a double disaster, and they really couldn’t delay any longer.

Number one gritted his teeth and tried to convince himself. He was a man a man of characters few little snakes’, what was that? Besides, song qingxiao had already said that she was going to go down with them.

“Can I?”

Number five was a little worried. Number one had the ability to become invisible, but song qingxiao did not. There were many venomous snakes in the snake cave. No matter how strong she was, it would not be a joke if she was bitten.

This escape route had just begun, and there was still a long way to go. There were still number six and number seven blocking the road ahead. Song qingxiao was the strongest, and if he were to fall here, the road ahead would be even more difficult with him and number one.

“Let’s try.” Song qingxiao knew what he was thinking, but she didn’t say much.

She made a hand gesture and the primordial spirit in her divine soul also had a serious expression on its face. It said in unison,”

“As solid as a rock, solid!”

As his spiritual sense and spiritual power moved at the same time, faint blue scales appeared on the back of song Qing’s hand and neck. The scales were shining with a faint luster.

As soon as the scales appeared, song Qing’s small pupils turned vertical.

The thin flood Dragon bloodline in her body was activated under the effect of her spiritual power. Number one and number five only saw the changes on her hands and neck. However, the moment her flood Dragon aura appeared, the group of snakes in the snake cave was attacked. They seemed to be greatly frightened and lowered their heads in unison.

No one noticed the change in the snakes. Number one and number five were still in a daze, while song qingxiao felt the change in her body when the ‘Zhe’ token was used.

She stretched out her fingers and touched the back of her hand. The skin on the back of her hand was not smooth and delicate, and she could feel the lines of scales.

In the past, when she used the ‘swordsmen’ token, although there were scale patterns, the patterns were more like shadows floating on the surface. They looked good but were useless. If she encountered a strong enemy, they would be like a layer of tinfoil, which would break with a poke.

However, the scales were stronger than before.. Song Qing was confident that the ‘swordsmen’s token’ would be able to withstand a full-force attack from her, who had not yet advanced to the next realm!

Chapter 448: Safety (1)

There were also scales on his neck, but the scales became smaller and smaller as they got closer to his cheeks.

The skin on her face was still smooth, but even so, song qingxiao was very satisfied with the effect of the 'man' token after her Ascension.

"You ..." She lowered her head and didn't notice that number one and five were surprised by the scales on her body.

Without waiting for number one to finish speaking, she clenched her fists, took a deep breath, took a step forward, and jumped into the snake's cave!

Before number one could finish his sentence, he saw a shadow flash in front of him. When he came back to his senses, he saw song Qing's body falling straight down into the pile of snakes with a plop!

The densely-packed snakes seemed to be frightened after being attacked. They hissed and began to wriggle wildly.

Even though number one had already mentally prepared himself before song qingxiao spoke, he still felt his scalp go numb and his face twitched when he saw this scene.

The group of snakes was brightly colored, and they looked like a rolling kaleidoscope as they wriggled and struggled. It was a shocking sight.

Number one didn't expect song qingxiao to be so decisive. She jumped without hesitation.

If there were only a few snakes, it would have been fine. However, number one had entered the trial of gods and could be considered a person who had experienced life and death. He was not as afraid of snakes, insects, rats, and ants as ordinary people.

However, the number of snakes in the snake cave was simply unimaginable. When groups of snakes of all sizes flicked their tongues and bared their fangs, even the most courageous person would feel their legs go soft.

The more he looked, the more terrified he felt. The weak determination that had just formed in his heart began to waver again under this extremely horrifying scene.

However, he could no longer retreat in this situation. He steeled his heart, closed his eyes, and took a step forward.

He stepped on thin air and his body fell. Number one let out an earth-shattering cry,”

“Ah...”

As soon as the voice rang out, his figure quickly disappeared in the air.

Song qingxiao fell into the group of snakes with a ‘bang’, as if her body was stuck in a ball of cotton.

Her legs sank rapidly, and she was wrapped up by the cold snakes.

Her ears were filled with hissing sounds. The scene of the frightened snakes attacking her did not happen. Instead, the snakes seemed to be very afraid of her and did not dare to offend her. They struggled and began to move to the sides.

Not long after, the snakes beneath and beside song qingxiao slithered to the sides like a tide. Because the snakes had fled, she didn’t need to do anything. The open space around her had already been cleared, revealing the piles of bones covered by thousands of snakes.

Without the snakes covering them, the corpses that had not completely rotted gave off a suffocating stench of decay.

Under the bodies were all kinds of bones, most of which were human bones. The bottom ones had rotted into bone powder, and the maggots that fell were crawling on the ashes in fear.

The existence of a large number of venomous snakes and carrion all year round caused the bottom of the snake cave to be filled with a poisonous fog that would not dissipate for years.

Song qingxiao held her breath and watched as the snakes slithered into the ashes and disappeared without a trace.

Song Qing was stunned by this scene. She raised her head, and wherever her eyes went, the snake heads that had escaped from her side would stick to the ground in a docile manner.

This should be because she had the bloodline of a flood Dragon in her body. Under the suppression of her level, these snakes did not dare to have any thoughts of attacking.

Such a thought flashed through her mind, but this was not the time for her to look into it. Song Qing calmed herself down and then took the initiative to walk in the direction of the snakes. She raised her leg and hooked them. The snakes of all sizes let her kick them around meekly. They did not dare to move rashly under the aura of the flood dragon's bloodline.

Number five, who was on top of the snake cave, saw everything clearly. If he had not seen how number one was almost ambushed by the thin snakes, and how there were still many undigested bones in the ground, he would have thought that the snakes that were blocking the first checkpoint outside the terrorist camp were naturally docile.

For some reason, the snakes didn't attack song qingxiao. It was probably because living creatures had an innate ability to detect danger, so they were afraid of her.

Song qingxiao quickly cleared out a large area and turned around to wave at number five who was above her.

Seeing her gesture, number five suppressed the strange thoughts in his mind and said in a low voice,"

"Let's go!"

The escapees ignored the trial-takers at first. They did not speak or respond to their questions..

Chapter 449: Safety (2)

At this moment, number five had thought that it would take some more effort to get them to move.

However, just like when they were rescued from the terror Battalion, after the snake cave was cleared out, the group of escapees 'moved' one after another when number five gave the order!

The group of people started to climb down the Snake Pit in the direction that number five was pointing at. When song qingxiao saw this, she turned around and walked forward to clear the way!

Wherever she went, the snakes would hurriedly retreat.

The invisible number one appeared in the snake cave. The terrifying scene he had imagined did not happen. Other than the countless cold eyes staring at him, which made his back numb, the current situation was much better than he had expected.

As for the rotting corpses and white bones on the ground, although they were terrifying, they were not worth mentioning compared to the snakes.

The group of snakes, big and small, that were staring at him, flicked their tongues and made hissing sounds, transmitting their greed and hunger. They looked at him as if they were looking at food.

However, for some reason, under such circumstances, the snakes that were emitting a terrifying aura seemed to be suppressed and did not move.

Even though the escapees came down one after another, and the human aura rushed in, the snakes were still on both sides. Song qingxiao forced a path through the middle.

While number one was still in a daze, she was still moving forward. A large snake that was slow to escape was held in her palm, as if she was catching a toy.

Standing at number one's position, he could only see the endless sea of snakes in the green miasma fog that could not be dispersed. Song qingxiao's back was almost drowned.

If he had not seen it with his own eyes, number one would not have believed it even if he was beaten to death.

Could it be that these snakes were only good looking but useless? With this thought in mind, he picked up his crossbow and walked in the direction of the snakes.

When he approached the snakes, a red light suddenly appeared in the group of snakes. Number one instinctively aimed at the light and pulled the trigger.

With a 'whoosh' sound, the arrow shot through a small snake, bringing with it a string of blood.

The small snake was hit by the arrow and fell to the ground with a 'plop'. Blood gushed out of the wound and stained the ashes, but it still swam quickly in the direction of number one.

Seeing this, number one broke out in a cold sweat and hurriedly shot another arrow. The arrow hit the small snake again, but the snake seemed unaffected and continued to rush towards number one, causing number one to retreat in a sorry state.

It was not until he shot several arrows in succession and nailed the snake's head to the ground that he stopped the snake from slithering forward.

However, although the snake was small, its life force was extremely tenacious. It did not die, but struggled with all its might.

The ground was hit by the snake's body, raising a small cloud of dust. The arrow made a sound as it was pulled, and thick beads of blood gushed out.

Seeing that a thin snake was so fierce, the other snakes were also a little restless.

Now that number one had tried, he didn't dare to take any more risks. He wiped the cold sweat from his forehead. Under number Five's silent and disdainful gaze, he felt embarrassed and cursed,"

"F * ck! It seems that this thing is just like a human, it also bullies the good and hates the evil."

"..''Above the snake cave, number five, who was originally filled with uneasiness, anxiety, and worry, was rendered speechless by number one. He could also vaguely hear the slight tremors from the ground, and the occasional panting sound.

This proved that song qingxiao was right. There was indeed a group of people coming this way, and from the sound, they should not be far from the snake cave.

He listened to song qingxiao's arrangement and stayed at the back. This job that had made number one jealous before was now full of danger.

As song qingxiao walked further and further away, the pressure on the snakes gradually weakened.

Under the stimulation of a large amount of fresh blood and flesh, these cold-blooded creatures that had been entrenched in the snake cave all year round were a little restless.

The safe zone cleared out by song qingxiao was gradually shrinking. When he finally entered the pit, the safe zone would be even smaller.

Coupled with the fact that the pursuers were approaching, the anxiety in number Five's eyes could no longer be hidden.

At this moment, number one was still playing around. There were more than a dozen escapees slowly climbing down the pit, and there were also people climbing up the edge of the pit.

His sharp eyes noticed that a few black pythons were crawling towards the edge of the pit, and their intention to hunt was clear at a glance.

“Stop playing!”

Number five said helplessly. Then, his body began to expand. After transforming, he grabbed two escapees who were waiting to enter the snake cave and jumped down.

He used the time he took to slow down in the middle of the pit wall to kick one of the Pythons away. In the end, he landed on the ground with a ‘bang’.

When number five spoke, number one also noticed the movements of the Pythons. He immediately raised his crossbow and pulled the trigger.

A few snakes were shot by the arrows, making a ‘shua’ sound and rolling on the ground one after another. The sneak attack had failed.

But even so, it already showed that the people walking behind were in great danger.

There were too many escapees, and the people in front had already walked halfway.

“Jump down!” As soon as No. 5 landed, he let go of his hand. The fugitive who had jumped down with him slowly followed the footsteps of the person in front of him.

He raised his hand and shouted. The survivors standing above the snake cave heard his words and jumped down like dumplings.

Number five caught everyone in succession. After everyone got down, number five heaved a sigh of relief and followed behind the team.

The group trembled as they walked through the snake cave. Venomous snakes flicked their tongues on both sides of the path, watching the delicious food slip past them with sinister eyes.

Under such circumstances, number five could fully understand how terrifying number one was. As the circle of snakes shrank, the fear he felt grew deeper.

Number five had thought that the magical scene of the skeleton siege at the altar was the scariest and most horrifying scene she had ever experienced in her life. However, at this time, number five had to overturn her previous knowledge. In God's trial, even more bizarre and terrifying scenes could happen at any time.

He could smell the rancid smell of the corpses and the strong stench of the snakes. With every step he took, the back of his feet would sink in and be buried in the ashes. He seemed to be able to hear the sound of the maggots struggling under his feet.

All the footsteps and breathing he had heard earlier were drowned out by the hissing sound of the snakes flicking their tongues and the sound of the snakes intertwining and rubbing against each other. The cold eyes of the snakes from all directions exuded greed and desire, as if they would pounce on him at any time to tear his flesh and blood, making him break out in cold sweat.

The cultivators in the team were highly focused. Occasionally, one or two escapees could not resist the temptation and were bitten by the poisonous snakes that sneaked over, falling on the road..

Chapter 450: get through _1

Song qingxiao, who was at the front, could feel that the number of snakes was gradually decreasing. Without the interference of the snakes, a cold wind with moisture blew in her face. She heard the sound of running water.

The old man on the altar had once said that after leaving the terror Battalion, they would enter the snake cave, which was connected to the underground river.

If he did not hear it wrong, the sound of water should be the underground river.

She paused and turned her head. Behind her, the fugitives had formed a long black line and were passing through the snake cave in an orderly manner.

At the end of her line of sight, the snakes that had been driven away by her were wriggling and closing again. From a distance, she could only see a green miasma fog, as if there were countless pairs of eyes staring in her direction.

The pursuers could no longer be heard. Song qingxiao walked another 20 to 30 meters, and the number of snakes decreased. There were only a few left.

The miasma fog was already thin, but the wind was blowing with a 'Wu Wu' sound, and the White dust in the wind formed a new fog color.

The ground under song qingxiao's feet was no longer the wet and soft ground of the snake cave. Instead, it was like a layer of crispy biscuit skin. With every step, there was a light 'ka ka' sound.

She looked down and saw that the ground looked like a beach, but the surface seemed to be frozen by a thin layer of ice. When she felt the power, it cracked open, revealing the sand below that was full of water.

It was pitch-black in the distance, hidden in the White mist, but the sound of water flowing was much clearer than before.

The person behind her was still a short distance away. Song qingxiao slowed down her pace and waited patiently for the person behind her to catch up.

The closer they got to the underground river, the lower the temperature was. The wind whirled, making a mournful sound.

She removed the swordsman's token, and as the secret technique and spirit power seal were released, the lines on her arms and neck slowly disappeared.

Song qingxiao spread out her hands and blocked the wind that was blowing towards her.

The wind blew past both sides of her cheeks, leaving some white spots as fine as sand in her palm.

She rubbed it with her fingertips, and the White dot gradually melted, finally turning into a moist water and disappearing without a trace.

At first, song qingxiao thought that it was fine sand blown up by the wind, but now, it looked like frost and snow.

It was probably very cold here. The escapees who arrived later snuggled up to each other, their bodies trembling.

“It’s so cold ...” Not long after, number one, who was walking in the middle, also arrived. There was already a large group of people standing on the beach. Song qingxiao stood alone on one side. The fugitives seemed to be in awe of her and did not dare to get too close to her, making her stand out among the group of people.

She had already returned to her previous appearance, but her expression was a little cold. Number one hurriedly sneaked up to her,”

“We’ve passed the snake cave?”

There was a hint of excitement in his tone. This was originally a life-and-death juncture, but because there was someone leading the way in front of him, he actually passed it easily.

“Yes.” Song qingxiao nodded. There was still a small section of the team that had yet to leave the snake cave. They slowly moved forward.

The number of escapees didn't seem to have decreased significantly. It was clear that when passing through the snake cave, there were not many accidents.

"You ..." Number one had never dreamed that he would be able to pass through the snake cave in such a way. At this moment, he felt both excited and excited. He had wanted to ask her how she could make the snakes fear her, but he had just started his sentence when he saw her cold eyes and realized in time.

The fact that she was able to do this must have been due to her own secret technique. Asking too much about this kind of thing could easily become an inquiry about her background. It might cause her to be suspicious, and that would not be good.

Number one swallowed the words he was about to say and changed it to,"

"It's so cold here,"

Song qingxiao could tell that this was probably not what number one wanted to say. However, she did not intend to answer any of his questions, so she pretended not to understand his intention.

"We're about to enter the underground river."

The temperature here was extremely low, and the river water should be even colder.

However, song qingxiao's spiritual power had unexpectedly gained the frost attribute because of the dragon's blood, so her resistance to the cold was much stronger than the average trial-taker.

Number one crossed her arms in front of her chest and shivered. She didn't feel anything when the wind with ice and snow blew on her.

The crowd slowly appeared on the beach. Number five, who was walking at the back, had also arrived.

When he saw the two of them, his tensed face relaxed a little. He walked quickly towards song qingxiao..
