

Weak B 105

Chapter 105 The one in the white shirt is Dad

Su Man felt very vexed and thought she shouldn't have fanned the flames just now because of jealousy and started the conversation!

She made up an excuse and hurried away with her basket of groceries.

Watching her leaving figure, the woman who she had thought she had a good relationship with suddenly "sneered" and said to the people around her, "We are really foolish, just now a youngster played us."

"What do you mean by that?"

"It's simple. We have no deep grudge against Professor Luo's new wife, so why gossip about her? Even if she is sickly, what's that to us?"

Besides, with her good looks and figure, what does it matter if she doesn't have children? As long as she holds Professor Luo's heart, does she have anything to worry about in this life?

Moreover, just because she's weak now doesn't mean she won't have her own children in the future. Even if she doesn't, even if Professor Luo's previous wife's three kids don't look after their stepmother in old age, isn't there still the state-run nursing home!"

"How come you changed your tune all of a sudden? You used to be quite close to Xiao Su!"

“I didn’t know before, but now I see that she’s not good to get along with.”

“What do you mean by that...”

“I don’t like being used as a pawn by others.”

At this moment, someone interjected, “Haven’t you noticed there’s something strange about Xiao Su’s walk?”

The woman who was on good terms with Su Man replied, “What’s so strange about it? She’s pregnant and will soon be holding her own child.”

“...”

The other women were all stunned for a moment, and after a while, someone regained their composure and couldn’t help saying, “With her own child, can she still be good to those three kids left by Wen Siyuan’s ex-wife?”

“That’s hard to say.”

“I have to go, you guys chat.”

Seeing that someone beside her also found an excuse to leave following Su Man, within a short while, the group of women who had gathered together all changed their expressions and then dispersed.

...

Kang Li walked into the Song Family Courtyard with her basket of groceries and immediately saw a kindly old man with silvery temples, spirited and amiable, squatted down and talking to her three little ones and Song Xuan.

“Mommy!”

Upon hearing footsteps approaching, Xiao Ming Han turned to look and seeing it was Kang Li, he quickly stood up and ran towards Kang Li with his short little legs.

Xiao Ming Wei followed close behind.

“Mommy, you’ve come back from buying groceries! Grandpa Song said Daddy is already at our door, are we going home?” Xiao Ming Han looked up and asked.

Kang Li smiled and nodded, “Of course we’re going home. Otherwise, how could Daddy get into the courtyard if he doesn’t have the keys to our house?”

“So you are Comrade Kang Li.”

Elder Song slowly stood up, accompanied by both Xiao Ming Rui and Song Xuan standing up by his side, one on each side of Elder Song.

The statement Elder Song made was not a question but declarative.

“Hello, I am Kang Li.”

Kang Li met Elder Song’s gaze and said, “Please tell Auntie Qi that I will take the children home now so their father doesn’t have to wait too long at the courtyard gate.”

Elder Song said, “Hmm, go on back. When you have time, bring the kids over with Little Luo for a visit.”

“Sure.”

Kang Li responded and then took Xiao Ming Wei’s hand and called for Xiao Ming Rui to take his brother Ming Han. They said goodbye to Elder Song and turned to leave the Song Family Courtyard.

Outside the Luo Family courtyard gate, Luo Yanqing and Wen Siyuan were talking face to face, well, it was mostly Wen Siyuan talking, while Luo Yanqing listened silently.

“Mommy, which one standing at our courtyard gate is Daddy?”

Almost less than ten meters from their own courtyard gate, Kang Li was startled by Xiao Ming Wei’s baby voice and said, “The one in the white shirt is Daddy.”