Chapter 29 Don't Mind, Don't Think

Wang Chunhua: "Can we not digress, okay? What really bothers me is Qin Daying's behavior. Three years ago, it was she who personally knocked on the Team Leader's house to ask for Li Bao's hand in marriage for her Wei Min, and three years later, it was she again who went to the Kang Family to call off the engagement, which is truly excessive!"

After a short pause, Wang Chunhua rolled her eyes to the sky and continued, "She says she doesn't want her Wei Min to be childless, but what was she doing three years ago?!"

Cui the Loudspeaker: "You're absolutely right! What was she, Qin Daying, doing three years ago? Now she dislikes Li Bao and puts the blame on him, calling off the marriage with the Kang Family, which is utterly shameless!"

"Ah!"

Li Daniu sighed deeply and said, "We're here arguing back and forth, and I think, we are like eunuchs who are more anxious than the emperor himself."

Wang Chunhua and Cui the Loudspeaker looked at Li Daniu simultaneously: "... What are they anxious about? They don't understand.

"Why are you looking at me with such strange eyes?"

Li Daniu, feeling baffled, said, "Didn't Erhua just say that it wouldn't be long before Li Bao would be running back to her parent's home crying? I just thought that maybe Erhua will be proved right, so I can't help but worry about Li Bao."

"Are you sure it's genuine concern? I don't buy it! I think you're just like me, waiting to see the Team Leader's house become a laughingstock."

Loud Speaker Liu burst out laughing: "The Team Leader and his spouse are really clueless. Even if Li Bao was rejected by the Zhou Family and even if she's in poor health and might have trouble bearing children, that's no reason to spoil the girl by marrying her off to a twice-divorced man!"

"Well, then let's just sit back and watch!"

Wang Chunhua also laughed out loud.

Kang Family.

In the main room, Captain Kang put out his dry tobacco pipe and said to the family, "Don't mind the village gossip, especially not Li Bao. Just don't bother about it or dwell on it, and have a good life in North City with your husband."

After a long silence, Captain Kang continued, "Dad arranged your marriage and secured your marriage certificate, all out of concern for you."

Making eye contact with her father, seeing the sincerity in his eyes, Kang Li immediately shook her head: "I don't care at all what the villagers say, I know Dad means well, and besides, I agreed to the marriage with Comrade Luo myself, so let others say whatever they like."

Big Brother Kang: "Dad, you're being too serious. It's just some messy gossip. If we take it to heart, aren't we just playing into the spectators' hands? Don't worry, Dad, it doesn't bother me."

Elder sister-in-law Kang: "I'm not bothered either. Moreover, I know what kind of people mom and dad are, how much they dote on Li Bao, and as their daughter-in-law, I know these things. I won't pay attention to what others might gossip about."

Third Brother Kang, Third sister-in-law Kang, Kang Guoan, and the younger ones in the household each expressed their own views.

"Alright, whatever others say, let's just consider it as if they've farted. Now let's carry on with our own business."

Cai Xiufen addressed everyone, then looked at Kang Li and Kang Guoan, "You two haven't had your lunch yet, have you?"

"Not yet, I finished buying the things we needed, then I went to visit the fourth brother's house with my brother for a while, and then we hurried back, Who knew we would still be late past the time you specified, mom."

Kang Li, with a smile pleasing her mother, then patted the two large cloth bags placed at her feet by Kang Guoan, and said with a sweet smile, "I bought gifts for everyone, there's something for each of you!"

Picking up the two cloth bags, Kang Li walked over to the side table, placed the cloth bags on it, and began to take out "gifts" one by one.

"Mom, this jacket is for you. When the weather gets cooler, you'll be able to wear it!"
